Woman Also Is Released

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong today released two American engineers and a Filipino woman who had pleaded to be captured when guerrillas seized her husband six months ago. The United States announced it would release 48 captured Chinese fishermen.

South Vietnam also was reported ready to free a number of North Vietnamese prisoners of war on Tet, the Asian lunar New Year celebrated in early February. But there was no immediate indication of any link between the operations.

The American civilians freed from more than six months captivity were Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoras, Pa., and Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Brooklyn and Bellport, N.Y.

The Filipino woman was Mrs. Ophelia Baza, the wife of an employee of Air America, a cargo airline supported by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Her husband died in Viet Cong captivity only a week ago.

An American spokesman said the three captives were picked up by a Vietnamese Popular Force company near the village of Xuan Loc in Bien Hoa Province about 40 miles east of Saigon. The spokesman said the trio apparently was "not in too good of a shape." All were hospitalized for examination.

An American spokesman announced plans to release the Chinese fishermen from the Chinese island of Hainan in the Gulf of Tonkin off the south coast of China. They were taken aboard an American destroyer on Dec. 4 but the pickup was kept secret for several weeks.

While the State Department tried to figure out what to do with them the Chinese were fed, given innoculations and clothes. Their junk was repaired and fully outfitted for a sea voyage.

PLANNED RELEASE

It was understood the United States planned to release the Chinese today but that the Peking government had raised certain objections which delayed their release.

The Americans freed today were employees of Pacific Architects and Engineers, an American firm under contract to the government. They disappeared May 27, 1966, en route from Saigon to the southern coastal resort city of Vung Tau, 40 miles south of Saigon. Scales' closest relative was listed as Mrs. Helen Scales of Mataporas and Monahan's as Mrs. Elizabeth Monahan of Bellport.

The Viet Cong had announced plans to release the trio as a New Year's good will gesture.

In other actions U.S. military sources disclosed today that fighter-pilots have been given a go-ahead more actively to pursue Communist MIG jets. Pilots were told they could attack any of the Soviet built planes sent aloft over North Vietnam, but MIG bases themselves remained "off limits."

RULES ON MIGS

"The rules now say we can hit them (the MIGS) the instant their wheels leave the runway," one official said. "So you can look for more of this sort of thing."

U. S. Navy and Air Force pilots flew 80 missions against North Vietnam yesterday, hitting highways, fuel dumps and supply areas, spokesmen said. The raiders also reported damaging or sinking 111 sampans and cargo junks and leaving a North Vietnamese torpedo boat lying dead in the water.

In other parts of South Vietnam, terrorism appeared on the rise. In Saigon last night, and American soldier and a Vietnamese child were killed by a terrorist's grenade. Five other Americans were wounded in the attack near the Ton Son Nhut airbase.

Russ Newsmen Claim Peking Aides Vanish

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three Soviet journalists expelled from Red China said today some Chinese party and government leaders "have disappeared without a trace."

The newsmen told a Moscow news conference the Red Chinese expelled them because of "their fear of facts."

The three Soviets were expelled from China last month on charges of sending out "anti-Chinese slander."

Three other Soviet journalists remain in Peking and three Red Chinese journalists are currently in Moscow.

The expulsions followed a hard-hitting Soviet press campaign detailing the excesses of China's cultural revolution, reporting vividly on mob violence and casualties and poking fun at the adulation present-day China heaps on Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-Tung.

Expelees Yuri Kosyukov, of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, Andrei Krushinsky, of the Young Communist newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, and Girgory Arslanov, of the Soviet news agency Tass, arrived here Dec. 30 claiming the "anti-Chinese slander" charges were groundless.

Today Kosyukov said, "It apparently did not suit the Chinese propagandists that Soviet correspondents, in their dispatches from Peking, stressed the real aims of the cultural revolution."

Kosyukov denied claims the cultural revolution was merely a campaign of criticism. "Not a few prominent Chinese party leaders and statesmen have disappeared without a trace," he said.

Anti-Reds Hoist Flags In Macao

MACAO (AP)—Anti - Communist labor unions hoisted Nationalist Chinese flags in Macao today in defiance of an order from the colony's Portuguese government.

The tiny six-square-mile colony on Red China's doorstep was quiet but apprehensive. Many of its 275,000 people feared the Nationalist flags would lead to rioting between militant Communists and Nationalist Chinese.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to increase the maximum limit on home loans to California veterans was introduced today in the Senate.

The bill by newly elected Sen. George E. Danielson, D-Los Angeles, would raise the maximum from $15,000 to $20,000.

Arab Boasts Of China Aid Against Jews

CAIRO (UPI) — Ahmed Shukeiry, leader of the militant Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), said today Communist China had supplied arms and was training PLO recruits for the task of liberating Israel.

He said the PLO's newly formed Revolutionary Council is "taking revolutionary steps to remove all obstacles which stand in the way of our objective." He did not mention Jordan's King Hussein by name but has threatened to overthrow him.

"If any stumbling block or person stands in the way it becomes necessary to brush it aside, remove it, uproot it," he told UPI in an interview.

Reminded of speculation that overthrow of Hussein might lead to an Israeli attempt to move eastward into Jordan Shukeiry said, "we do not fear the Israelis. We do not stand alone. We have with us a whole Arab nation of 100 million people."

"Our militant friendship with China will come to our support," he added. He said recruits for the PLO "liberation army" are now being trained in China and that Peking has supplied light weapons, ammunition, hand grenades, pistols and rifles.

Bad Weather Blocks Dakin Bodies Recovery

High seas and 50-knot winds continued today to hamper efforts to remove from a Baja California beach and identify six bodies, believed to be members of the Dakin family of Belvedere, whose chartered plane disappeared Dec. 20 on a flight from San Diego to La Paz.

Waiting offshore aboard a Mexican Coast Guard cutter was George Millborn, a friend of the missing family, whose positive identification is necessary under Mexican law before the bodies can be removed from that country.

Earlier reports that identification had been made were called premature by Capt. Paul Morse of Western Air Search and Rescue headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base. Morse, in touch by radio with the rescue effort, said two men had reached the desolate beach yesterday and taken photographs, but that Millborn had been unable to make the identification from these.

The pictures were taken by an unidentified U.S. airman who was set down on a primitive landing strip about three miles from the beach by a Mexican Air Force pilot flying a small plane. The two men then made their way on foot through what they said was very rugged terrain.

A U.S. Coast Guard report of their efforts said it had been impossible to identify either the wreckage or the bodies. "There was no part of the aircraft from which identification could be made," said the Coast Guard.

San Diego Deputy Sheriff Robert A. Morse, who first sighted the bodies from a small plane Sunday, insisted, however, that there was "no doubt in my mind" that the bodies were occupants of the missing plane.

The 10 persons aboard the ill-fated Lockheed Lodestar were: Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Dakin of Belvedere and four of their five children, Alexandria, 16; Zachery, 15; Matthew, 5, and Roger, 4 months; Roger Dakin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Y. Dakin of San Francisco, former Belvedere residents, and two crew members from Alameda, pilot Elton C. Stone and co-pilot Dennis Seitz.

Ruby's Brother, Sister Say Dallas Officials Negligent

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jack Ruby's brother and sister charged today that the killer of Lee Harvey Oswald was neglected by Dallas authorities for months before his death Tuesday. (See also story, page 2.)

The sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, broke into tears at the funeral home where Ruby's body lay as she charged "there was plenty of neglect there."

A brother, Earl, of Detroit, told newsmen "Jack was definitely neglected by the police in Dallas. Jack Ruby was throwing up in jail for four months and they neglected him for that time."

The relatives accompanied Ruby's body from Dallas to Chicago, Ruby's native city, early today and detailed plans for a private Friday burial at a noon news conference.

Both said Ruby, 55, died of "mental anguish" over the thought that people believed his killing of Oswald was part of a conspiracy linked to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Chicago police manned an around-the-clock guard at the Original Weinstein and Son Funeral Home on the Northwest Side where Ruby's body lay in a pine crate.

Rumors circulated during the day that the Ruby family might attempt to bury him in secret in order to avoid publicity and sensation. However, Earl Ruby said plans for the funeral would proceed as previously announced.

Bill Proposed As Curb For U.C. Regents

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The first legislative reaction to recent student unrest at the University of California's Berkeley campus appeared in the Assembly today.

Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City, introduced a constitutional amendment that would sharply curtail the power of the UC Board of Regents and give it to the legislature.

The amendment would have to win two-thirds legislative approval before going on the ballot.

The measure would leave it entirely up to the legislature to delegate powers to the board, which now is entrusted by the constitution with guiding the nine-campus system.

It also would cut from 16 to four years the terms of regents appointed by the governor, starting in 1969.

Hanoi May Be Shifting Policy On Negotiations

Premier Discusses Northern Demands

NEW YORK (AP)—Premier Pham Van Dong of Communist North Vietnam says his government's four-point demands, in the Vietnam war are not necessarily conditions for peace talks but rather a "basis of settlement of the Vietnam problem." the New York Times reported from Hanoi today.

The Hanoi premier's statement, in an interview with correspondent Harrison E. Salisbury, raised speculation that North Vietnam had shifted in some measure from a hard-line all-or-nothing stand which blocked the path to a conference table.

Salisbury quoted Premier Dong as saying:

"The big question is to reach a settlement which can be enforced.

FIRST STEP

"The party which has to make the first steps is Washington. We have no doubt on this point. We cannot press history forward. If this does not come about today, it will come about tomorrow. It's no use to make haste. If we show haste, the question will be put wrongly and we will have to wait again. So let the situation ripen."

FOUR POINTS

Hanoi's four-point demands have been these: recognition of the rights of all Vietnamese to peace, independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity; pending peaceful reunification, strict adherence to the terms of the 1954 Geneva agreements which divided Vietnam after the French were expelled; settlement of the internal affairs of South Vietnam by the Vietnamese people "in accordance with the program" of the National Liberation Front which is the Viet Cong's political arm; and reunification without any foreign interference.

THE INTERVIEW

The program of the Liberation Front is virtually identical to the four points. Recognizing the front in advance would just about assure a Communist takeover in the South. It seems a question whether the North Vietnamese premier was hinting that this point now is negotiable.

In the interview, described by the correspondent as a detailed discussion of North Vietnam's views, the premier was represented as emphasizing that once hostilities were brought to a close, it would be possible to "speak of other things."

HINT OF SHIFT

"The moment the United States puts an end to the war, we will respect each other and settle every question. Why don't you think that way?" Dong was quoted as saying.

Some U.S. foficials regarded the premier's remarks as hinting a significant shift in Hanoi's stand on peace talks, although some others said they believed the four-point demands never had been intended as conditions to peace talks.

The premier was quoted as stressing once again that North Vietnam was prepared to fight 10 years or even 20 years or more in what he called its "sacred war."

White House Remains Firm On Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's official spokesman said today he had no evidence to indicate Hanoi would respond on a reciprocal basis to any halt in American bombing of North Vietnam by de-escalating its own military activities.

Bill D. Moyers, Johnson's press secretary, was asked if the United States had any "hard information that a cessation of the bombing would lead to a positive response from Hanoi."

Moyers replied: "We have said before that the question of a cessation of bombing involves reciprocity—that is, a willingness of the North Vietnamese to respond in one way or another to a cessation of the bombing."

Moyers went on to say that he knows of no response from any source that indicates a willingness on the part of North Vietnam to respect the reciprocal aspect of that proposition.

The press aide said the American position has not changed since Johnson, at a news conference last Saturday, said the U.S. government is willing to meet Hanoi "more than half way," in searching for peace. Moyers said the government would hope Hanoi would take a similar position.

Lost Plane's Wreckage Found

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The wreckage of an Avianca Airlines DC3 missing for 11 days with 28 persons aboard was found today in the mountains between Bogota and Pasto. There apparently were no survivors.

The wreckage was spotted near the source of the Cascabel River, a tributary of the Caqueta River, in the extreme southern part of the country. It was found by the pilot of an Aerotaxi plane, a subsidiary of Bianca.

The pilot reported the wreckage was in an accessible area and that a ground search party would reach the scene shortly. Airline officials also planned to land a helicopter at the site to confirm no one survived.

White House Remains Firm On Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's official spokesman said today he had no evidence to indicate Hanoi would respond on a reciprocal basis to any halt in American bombing of North Vietnam by de-escalating its own military activities.

Bill D. Moyers, Johnson's press secretary, was asked if the United States had any "hard information that a cessation of the bombing would lead to a positive response from Hanoi."

Moyers replied: "We have said before that the question of a cessation of bombing involves reciprocity—that is, a willingness of the North Vietnamese to respond in one way or another to a cessation of the bombing."

Moyers went on to say that he knows of no response from any source that indicates a willingness on the part of North Vietnam to respect the reciprocal aspect of that proposition.

The press aide said the American position has not changed since Johnson, at a news conference last Saturday, said the U.S. government is willing to meet Hanoi "more than half way," in searching for peace. Moyers said the government would hope Hanoi would take a similar position.

Lost Plane's Wreckage Found

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The wreckage of an Avianca Airlines DC3 missing for 11 days with 28 persons aboard was found today in the mountains between Bogota and Pasto. There apparently were no survivors.

The wreckage was spotted near the source of the Cascabel River, a tributary of the Caqueta River, in the extreme southern part of the country. It was found by the pilot of an Aerotaxi plane, a subsidiary of Bianca.

The pilot reported the wreckage was in an accessible area and that a ground search party would reach the scene shortly. Airline officials also planned to land a helicopter at the site to confirm no one survived.

Actor Called To Vietnam Duty

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor Glenn Ford, a commander in the U.S. Navy Reserve, has been called to active duty with the Marines and will leave tomorrow for a special assignment in Vietnam.

Ford

A Marine Corps spokesman would not divulge the nature of Ford's assignment, but said it would last "approximately 30 days."

He said Ford would report to the commanding general, 3rd Amphibious Force, Vietnam. The 50-year-old actor took the assignment voluntarily, he added, and would be able to tour Vietnam on a flexible schedule and visit any area he chooses.

Ford, who was married to actress Kathryn Hays, 32, last March, enlisted in the Marine Corps on Dec. 13, 1942.

Madrid Police Hunt Assassin

MADRID (AP)—Spanish police searched today for two gunmen who assissinated Mohamed Khider, Algerian political exile accused of absconding with $11 million from the treasury of Algeria's ruling National Liberation party.

Khider

The 53-year-old former secretary-general and treasurer of the FLN—Algerian National Liberation Front—was riddled with bullets as he left his Madrid apartment house last night with his wife and brother-in-law.

Police believed the dispute over the missing FLN funds triggered the slaying of the former nationalist leader, a key figure in his country's revolt against French rule.

Independence leader Ahmed Ben Bella, who was overthrown as Algerian premier in 1965, had accused Khider in 1964 of making off with the $11 million and putting it in Swiss banks.

Khider counter-charged that Ben Bella took the money, but in an interview after Ben Bella's overthrow as much as admitted that he had taken it.

25th Amendment Nearing Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new 25th amendment—to cover emergencies arising when a President is unable to handle the duties of his office—should be written into the constitution within a few weeks.

A total of 31 states already have ratified the amendment, which was passed by Congress in July, 1965. Seven more states will bring the number to 38, three-fourths of all states, the number needed to make it a part of the constitution.

Fifteen of the state legislatures that have not yet acted on the amendment are convening this month. Since it has not run into any serious opposition so far, it appears to face a smooth ride once the legislatures are cranked into motion.

Strong Earthquake Recorded In Greece

PATRAS, Greece (AP) — A strong 10-second earthquake rocked parts of central Greece and the Peloponensus peninsula this morning. First police reports said seven persons were injured.

Reports from 10 villages and towns in the region north and south of Patras said more than 200 houses collapsed or were damaged. A second tremor of moderate strength came an hour later.

Cemetery Marijuana

JALISCO, Mexico (UPI) — Federal agents found a flourishing marijuana plantation in the Jalisco Municipal Cemetery yesterday.

All Paintings Recovered In Big Art Theft

LONDON (AP) — The $7 million worth of paintings stolen from the Dulwich College Gallery have all been recovered, police said today.

The eight paintings included three Rembrandts, three by Rubens and one each by Gerard Dou and Adam Elsheimer.

One of the Rembrandts was the "Girl at a Window," said to be worth $2.8 million. All the Rembrandts and Rubens were world famous.

STOLEN FRIDAY

Scotland Yard, announcing that the paintings had been recovered, said they were identified by the curator of the gallery.

The paintings were stolen Friday night from the college art gallery, the oldest public gallery in Britain.

It was the biggest art theft in history.

Police said they recovered Rembrandt's "Girl at a Window" and his portrait of his son Titus as well as the "Three Graces" by Rubens on Monday night. The other five paintings were found last night.

All the paintings were recovered in London. Officials said some were damaged but the damage was comparatively slight.

SEVERAL QUESTIONED

The announcement of the recovery did not say how the paintings were traced or whether anyone had been arrested.

Scotland Yard announced earlier that several persons were being questioned.

The Yard did not announce the recovery of the first three paintings for fear the thieves might destroy the others.

A hoard of other stolen property and some weapons was found with some of the paintings.

Scotland Yard said inquiries were continuing in an attempt to establish the identity of the art thieves.

The thieves removed a panel from a seldom-used door in the Dulwich Gallery, and one of them was small enough to slip through it. He apparently handed the paintings out to his confederates. Those on canvas were removed from their frames and those on wood panels were lifted off their racks.

Damage At Nursery

More than $100 damage was inflicted on plants and merchandise sometime during the weekend at Egger's Nursery, 234 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, police reported yesterday. Vandals overturned 75 plants, sprayed yellow paint on pots and plants, mutilated 18 plants, and ripped open 65 bags of peat moss, police said.

Ruby To Be Buried Friday In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Ruby, who grew up on Chicago's tough West Side, returned home in death today after gaining international notoriety as the slayer of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin. He will be buried beside his parents.

The plane carrying Ruby's body landed at O'Hare International Airport shortly after midnight after a flight from Dallas, where he died yesterday at Parkland Memorial Hospital—the same hospital in which Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died.

His death from a blood clot in the lungs forever clouded the international doubts surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy. Until the end, Ruby insisted he acted alone in fatally shooting Oswald.

Ruby, 55, had extensive cancer, but Dr. Earl Rose, the Dallas County medical examiner, said it was a massive blood clot that would probably have killed him even if he had not been weakened by cancer. Rose said, however, that cancer would be listed on the death certificate as a contributing cause.

Rose, who performed an autopsy, said the blood clot apparently formed in Ruby's leg Tuesday morning and traveled through the heart to the lungs.

Ruby's coffin was taken from the plane as soon as the doors were opened. Twenty policemen quickly placed it in a hearse for the drive to a North Side funeral home.

Ruby's brother, Earl Ruby of Detroit, and two sisters, Eileen Kaminsky of Chicago and Eva Grant of Dallas, accompanied the body on the plane.

They appeared composed as they walked quickly and silently past a waiting crowd of some 50 newsmen.

Hershey Weinstein, president of the Original Weinstein & Sons Chapel, said services and burial would be held Friday morning.

Weinstein said that only Ruby's parents were buried in the large family plot in Westlawn Cemetery.

Auto Industry Talks Shutdowns On Safety Plans

DETROIT (UPI)—The four major U.S. car makers warned yesterday the auto industry faces possible shutdowns if all of the proposed federal safety standards are put into effect for 1968 models.

The next move in the car safety campaign is up to the National Traffic Safety Agency which will study the reports from the auto makers and issue final standards.

Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. told Dr. William Haddon, administrator of the safety agency, that they cannot possibly meet five of the 23 proposed standards.

Chrysler Corp. said it would be unable to comply with 10 and American Motors listed eight standards which the company will be unable to meet.

HUMAN WEAPON SAYS PRAYER SAVED HIM

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Pvt. Ramon Escalera, the Marine who had a live rifle grenade removed from his throat, says he credits prayer with helping to bring him through his ordeal in Vietnam.

Escalera is being treated at San Diego Naval Hospital for wounds suffered in a battle near Da Nang Dec. 20.

Escalera, 20, of Los Angeles, was helped by two hospital corpsmen after being hit in the throat and the leg.

"I just lay there choking and tried to keep breathing. I thought I wouldn't make it. I thought I would choke to death. But the corpsman told me to pray to God and I did," he said.

Escalera said he waited about four hours before an evacuation helicopter removed him to a hospital in Da Nang, where the grenade was removed. He said he didn't know at the time he was carrying a live explosive in his throat.

Train Accidents Claim One Life

DAVIS (AP) — Two separate Southern Pacific train accidents in Northern California killed one man and 18 cattle yesterday, highway officers reported.

Noel H. Hawthorne, 58, Sacramento, was killed when his car and a switching train collided at a rural Rocklin crossing, police said. Visibility was described as good.

At a fog - enveloped crossing near Dixon, south of Davis, a freight train and a cattle truck collided, killing some cattle but leaving the truck driver, George Wells 40, Dixon, uninjured.

Federal Rent Subsidy Plan Proposed To Marin Agency

A federally assisted program to lease 300 housing units scattered throughout Marin County for low-income residents was recommended yesterday to the county housing authority by E. M. Schaffran, San Francisco housing consultant.

The housing authority would lease units from private owners for up to five years and guarantee payment of rent. The units would be rented to low-income families and older persons who would pay a portion of the rent. The federal government would make up the difference.

No action was taken on the recommendation because commissioners George C. Goheen and Herman J. Hale were absent.

Commissioners also switched the housing authority's seven maintenance men from construction to maintenance wage rates set by Laborers' Union Local 291, director Donald O. Stutsman reported. He said the change in job classification will cut wages received by three of the men by 15 to 48.5 cents an hour, but will increase those of three men by 17.5 to 30 cents an hour.

The union has protested the change in the past, but did not appear at last night's meeting, Stutsman said.

Commissioners took no action on a letter from H. Joe Edgington, superintendent of Reed School District, indicating the district would like to buy the 15.5-acre Hilarita housing project property. The site has been appraised at $250,000 to $275,000, Stutsman said.

Commissioners approved plans by Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, for 28 units of low-cost housing in Homestead Valley. The plans were submitted for approval to the federal government and county planning department.

Election of new officers was deferred to Feb. 7.

Houlihan Goes To Prison For Estate Theft

OAKLAND (UPI) — Former Oakland Mayor John C. Houlihan today was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison for embezzlement of $95,799.

The sentence was passed by Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats after Houlihan, 55, had completed 90 days of confinement at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

At Vacaville, Houlihan was given a psychiatric study ordered by the judge to help him in determining the proper penalty.

The judge received a 14-page report from Vacaville's associate superintendent J. W. Neiswonger, which recommended against giving Houlihan probation.

Houlihan pleaded guilty to taking the money from the estate of Mrs. Sarilla Whitlock, widow of Safeway Stores executive, while he was administrator. Mrs. Lillian Searle of 731 Del Mar Avenue, Novato, one of Whitlock's sisters, was among the heirs of the estate.

Staats said Houlihan, an attorney, had taken sums from other estates over a period of 10 years, and later replaced the money.

Houlihan became mayor, a part-time job paying $7,500 a year, in 1961, and resigned last year in the middle of his term, saying he wasn't making enough.

He gained national publicity when Oakland refused to permit a massive parade protesting U.S. policy in Vietnam and put a wall of police at its border to keep demonstrators from entering the city from Berkeley. The parade was later held by order of a U.S. District Court.

The 40 residents in Muir Beach continued to boil their tap water today as Marin County health officials tested the water for further bacteria.

A high bacteria content was discovered in the community's well water last Tuesday, and residents were urged to boil their water before consumption to prevent nausea.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said tests run daily on the water have shown a continued high bacteria content. The cause of the bacteria is not known.

Judge Orders Mental Test In Morals Case

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today suspended sentencing of John C. Livesay, 44, convicted of three counts of lewd and lascivious behavior with children, pending a 90-day observation period at Atascadero State Hospital.

Livesay, of Petaluma, was found guilty by a jury Nov. 9 of committing the acts with children aged 7 to 9 last July in San Anselmo. He also was found guilty of a fourth count of committing an unnatural sexual act.

Deputy Sheriff Russell Hunt said he was on patrol about 6 p.m. when the deer jumped in front of the car. He was uninjured. The car got minor damage.

Manzanita Appraisal Is Ordered

County Redevelopment Agency commissioners last night authorized Director Donald O. Stutsman to have Development Research Corp. of San Francisco appraise the Manzanita community center site.

The site is to be sold to Marin City Community Services District, which plans to renovate the center.

Commissioners budgeted $1,200 for the appraisal, which is to be done within 30 days.

Commissioners agreed to allow California Development Co. to sell 13 lots on Braun Court to private developers, but stipulated that the company could not make a profit on the sales since the redevelopment agency had helped finance the cost of improvements. Stutsman estimated selling price of the lots, averaging 10,000 square feet, at $4,500.

Election of new officers was deferred because chairman George C. Goheen and Commissioner Herman J. Hale were absent.

Officers Stymied In Body's Identity

Sheriff's inspectors today were stymied in their efforts to identify the body of a woman found on a Tiburon peninsula embankment Dec. 18.

They earlier gained identity of a woman answering her description and who had stayed for several days at Tiburon Lodge and had been a patient at Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute in San Francisco. However, a Federal Bureau of Investigation check disclosed she was not the person whose body was found.

Federal Rent Subsidy Plan Proposed To Marin Agency

A federally assisted program to lease 300 housing units scattered throughout Marin County for low-income residents was recommended yesterday to the county housing authority by E. M. Schaffran, San Francisco housing consultant.

The housing authority would lease units from private owners for up to five years and guarantee payment of rent. The units would be rented to low-income families and older persons who would pay a portion of the rent. The federal government would make up the difference.

No action was taken on the recommendation because commissioners George C. Goheen and Herman J. Hale were absent.

Commissioners also switched the housing authority's seven maintenance men from construction to maintenance wage rates set by Laborers' Union Local 291, director Donald O. Stutsman reported. He said the change in job classification will cut wages received by three of the men by 15 to 48.5 cents an hour, but will increase those of three men by 17.5 to 30 cents an hour.

The union has protested the change in the past, but did not appear at last night's meeting, Stutsman said.

Commissioners took no action on a letter from H. Joe Edgington, superintendent of Reed School District, indicating the district would like to buy the 15.5-acre Hilarita housing project property. The site has been appraised at $250,000 to $275,000, Stutsman said.

Commissioners approved plans by Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, for 28 units of low-cost housing in Homestead Valley. The plans were submitted for approval to the federal government and county planning department.

Election of new officers was deferred to Feb. 7.

Houlihan Goes To Prison For Estate Theft

OAKLAND (UPI) — Former Oakland Mayor John C. Houlihan today was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison for embezzlement of $95,799.

The sentence was passed by Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats after Houlihan, 55, had completed 90 days of confinement at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

At Vacaville, Houlihan was given a psychiatric study ordered by the judge to help him in determining the proper penalty.

The judge received a 14-page report from Vacaville's associate superintendent J. W. Neiswonger, which recommended against giving Houlihan probation.

Houlihan pleaded guilty to taking the money from the estate of Mrs. Sarilla Whitlock, widow of Safeway Stores executive, while he was administrator. Mrs. Lillian Searle of 731 Del Mar Avenue, Novato, one of Whitlock's sisters, was among the heirs of the estate.

Staats said Houlihan, an attorney, had taken sums from other estates over a period of 10 years, and later replaced the money.

Houlihan became mayor, a part-time job paying $7,500 a year, in 1961, and resigned last year in the middle of his term, saying he wasn't making enough.

He gained national publicity when Oakland refused to permit a massive parade protesting U.S. policy in Vietnam and put a wall of police at its border to keep demonstrators from entering the city from Berkeley. The parade was later held by order of a U.S. District Court.

The 40 residents in Muir Beach continued to boil their tap water today as Marin County health officials tested the water for further bacteria.

A high bacteria content was discovered in the community's well water last Tuesday, and residents were urged to boil their water before consumption to prevent nausea.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said tests run daily on the water have shown a continued high bacteria content. The cause of the bacteria is not known.

Manzanita Appraisal Is Ordered

County Redevelopment Agency commissioners last night authorized Director Donald O. Stutsman to have Development Research Corp. of San Francisco appraise the Manzanita community center site.

The site is to be sold to Marin City Community Services District, which plans to renovate the center.

Commissioners budgeted $1,200 for the appraisal, which is to be done within 30 days.

Commissioners agreed to allow California Development Co. to sell 13 lots on Braun Court to private developers, but stipulated that the company could not make a profit on the sales since the redevelopment agency had helped finance the cost of improvements. Stutsman estimated selling price of the lots, averaging 10,000 square feet, at $4,500.

Election of new officers was deferred because chairman George C. Goheen and Commissioner Herman J. Hale were absent.

Mayor Blasts Utility Firm On Power Pole

The high cost of eliminating a single utility pole in front of Sausalito's handsome new corporation yard drew a blast from Mayor Mel Wax last night at Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s "complete disdain for any aesthetic values."

Max's attack came after a report by City Engineer Norman Wohlshlaeger that the utility company had estimated cost of undergrounding lines now strung from the pole at $3,175. Eventual addition of three-phase power to serve heavy-duty electric motors at the yard would cost up to $700 more if utilities were underground, he added. Cost of a "streamlined" pole was estimated at $800, Wohlshlaeger reported, plus up to $800 more to add three-phase power later because streamlined poles cannot carry the heavy power.

PG&E has shared the cost of undergrounding and streamlining in some other cities, said Wohlshlaeger, but Robert Figone, district representative for North Bay Division of the company, said sharing was "up to management."

"If you sat down for a year," Wax declared, "you couldn't find a worse possible location for a pole."

Requesting City Mgr. George W. Patterson to ask PG&E to share the cost of removing the pole, Wax remarked that the company "is beginning to get a little sensitive about that fact that they're destroying California."

Between the ages of one to 37 years, more people die from accidents than natural causes.

Sausalito Sets March Bond Election For New Library

Sausailto City Council last night voted unanimously to hold an election March 14 on authorizing a $250,000 bond issue to finance a new library on the city-owned sand spit northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

Total cost of the library, including furnishings, architect Aaron Green's fee, landscaping, and a 10 per cent contingeny fund, is estimated at $424,732.

A special council meeting will be held sometime next week to approve an application for state and federal grants to cover one-third of the cost. The city has $80,000 accumulated in the library fund. Deadline for the aplication is Jan. 15.

Councilmen urged citizens to attend the organizational meeting of a citizens' committee to promote the bond tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Campbell Hall, Santa Rosa and San Carlos avenues.

City Mgr. George W. Patterson was asked to prepare an argument for the bond measure to be mailed voters with sample ballots. Deadline for submission to the city clerk of arguments for and against the measure is Jan. 27.

The council agreed to review Patterson's argument at its next meeting, Jan. 17, but suggested the citizens' committee also prepare an argument. Only one argument up to 300 words on each side of the issue may be used.

Applications for absentee ballots will be available at city hall from Feb. 6 to 28.

Green's preliminary plan for the library is for an airy wood and glass structure in a park, with a low, angled silhouette to conserve views of the bay from Bridgeway.

About half of the site is leased by the city to Madden and Lewis until 2002, but City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is negotiating to reacquire the property, sub-leased to Mac-Marin, operator of the Spinnaker Restaurant.

Sausalito City Council also:

1. Set up a hearing Jan. 17 on an appeal by the Trident Restaurant from Community Appearances Advisory Board's denial of a proposed double-faced sign.
2. Deferred to Jan. 17 dedication to the city of the Glad Hand Restaurant property in exchange for a lease to the restaurant of city property east of the present site, the exchange required for widening of Bridgeway.
3. Set for hearing Jan. 17 amendment of the zoning ordinance to provide for payments in lieu of required off-street parking
4. Heard Supt. of Public Works Norman Wohlschlaeger report an open house will be held late in February at the new corporation yard.
5. Confirmed Wax's reappointment of George C. Hoffman to the planning commission. No action was taken on the expiring term of Mrs. Richard Phillips.
6. Continued to Jan. 17 action on requirements for off-street parking to convert the Gate Theater to shops and a restaurant.
7. Accepted for maintenance subdivision improvements on subdivision improvements on Mead Terrace.

Corte Madera Town Council Rejects Architect For Park

The Corte Madera Town Council last night turned thumbs down on the town park and recreation commission's request that a landscape architect be hired to plan a wilderness park in Mariner Highlands.

The 10 acres, in two parcels, dedicated to the town by San Clemente Land Co., developer of Mariner Highlands, is for the most part steeply sloping land with limited access except from private property, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told the council.

"I think our immediate responsibility is to complete development of the town Park," Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said.

"All the parks and recreation commission is asking for is an architect to draw up a long-range plan," Councilman Holmes S. Norville said. "We would have plenty of time to implement it."

"That kind of plan costs a sizable chunk of dough by itself," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst noted. "We haven't even decided whether we want to use it as a park or leave it as it is."

"The limitations of the area are rather compelling," Usher commented. He suggested the town staff could more economically see what can be done with the property.

Pendleton's motion to deny the commission's request passed 3-to-1, Norville opposing. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff arrived late.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Approved plans for a flood control dike extending from the railroad tracks to a ponding area next to the bay. The dike will be seven feet high, 50 feet from the ends of Echo Avenue and Harbor Drive, and will have a road on top.

2. Approved annexation to Corte Madera of a parcel containing the tidegate at the end of High Canal, and an area on Williams Avenue, both now in Larkspur.

3. Appointed Henry I. Fox of 5461 Paradise Drive, Mrs. Richard B. Fiscus of 274 Sausalito Street, and J. H. Southerland of 230 Chapman Drive to the park and recreation Commission.

4. Postponed an appointment to the planning commission to the next council meeting.

5. Set a special dinner meeting of the council, department heads and elected and appointed town commissioners for Jan. 31 at 6:30 p.m. at Bob's of Marin.

6. Authorized Usher to attend a League of California Cities meeting in Palo Alto Feb. 8-10.

7. Authorized Arthur N. Morrison, director of public works, to attend a League of California Cities meeting Jan. 28 at Santa Rosa.

School Recorder Found By Boys

Two Novato boys found a tape recorder, valued at $150, belonging to Rancho School, in Arroyo Vichi yesterday, Novato police reported.

John Michael Szostak, 13, of 12 Plaza Demira and Glenn Allen Trice, 11, of 15 Plaza Demira, showed the recorder to police, who surmised from its condition that it must have been there for some time.

Rex Rolle, principal at Rancho School, said it was on of two in the school but that he did not know when it was taken.

Talks To Resume

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiations in the two month old electricians strike against major San Francisco, Portland and Seattle shipyards will be resumed at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Fourth Aide Quits College For East Bay

A fourth College of Marin official is leaving the college to take a job with the Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County.

The Marin Junior College District board of trutees will consider the resignation of Ward Blanchard, head librarian, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room G3 of the physical education complex.

Blanchard asked to resign as of Feb. 1, to become director of libraries at the East Bay College. His contract with the Marin Junior College District runs through June.

Acting President Irwin P. Diamond said he understood Blanchard had been offered three or four thousand dollars a year more than his $12,283 a year salary at College of Marin.

Stephen E Epler resigned as president of College of Marin last June to become president of Fremont-Newark; James Duke resigned as director of planning in September to become vice president under Epler, and William Collins, administrative assistant in charge of government projects, resigned in November to take a similar position at the East Bay college.

Diamond said he will recommend to the board that Blanchard's resgnation be accepted.

Diamond will also recommend that the college building at 139 Kent Avenue, used for business offices, be vacated and razed immediately. He said a structural survey report on the building last week showed it is unsafe for use and beyond repair.

He said the report also showed repairs needed in a building at 20 Laurel Avenue, but the repairs can be made by college employees.

The board will not have a dinner meeting preceding the regular meeting, as was the practice during the Fall. Diamond said the two-hour dinner meetings were making board meetings too long, so they are being discontinued.

The board will consider purchase of a fourth parcel for the north campus for $158,000. The district has already purchased three of six parcels planned for the 300-acre campus.

Two courses proposed for the prison college project at San Quentin, a course in sociology offered in the fall semester and a new course in United States history, will be considered.

The board may award a contract for the 1967-68 college catalogue. Bids were taken today at 3 p.m.

Bagley Authors Skeleton Bill To End Spoils Setup

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a bill in the state Assembly that would abolish the inheritance tax appraiser system.

Bagley said he submitted a get it in early." The bill will be amended within a week or two to fill in the details, Bagley said. "We've already drafted 35 pages of amendments, but we didn't have time to review all the technical aspects."

Under present law, the state controller appoints the more than 150 inheritance tax appraisers in the state.

New Controller Houston I. Flournoy promised during the campaign that he would abolish the system. Assemblyman Bagley, a longtime foe of this "spoils system," has been working with Controller Flournoy to devise a new method, which is basically a self-appraisal system.

Bagley said that he, and Assemblymen Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, and Don Mulford, R-Oakland, are the main authors of the bill, but the authorship includes "the total leadership of both parties in the Assembly "including Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

Haiti, discovered by Columbus in 1492, is the only French-speaking republic in the Americas,according to the 1965 World Almanac.

Leake Presents Revenue Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Paul R. Leake, new chairman of the state Board of Equalization says California revenue agencies should be placed under the board's jurisdiction.

Leake said yesterday he would give his "wholehearted support" to Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to streamline state government, reduce expenditures and eliminate waste

But he said Reagan's proposal to create a single revenue agency with a director appointed by the governor would "restrict the power of the people."

"The consolidation of tax agencies could be accomplished under the state board without cumbersome constitutional changes," Leake said. "It merely takes legislative action."

Corte Madera Town Council Rejects Architect For Park

The Corte Madera Town Council last night turned thumbs down on the town park and recreation commission's request that a landscape architect be hired to plan a wilderness park in Mariner Highlands.

The 10 acres, in two parcels, dedicated to the town by San Clemente Land Co., developer of Mariner Highlands, is for the most part steeply sloping land with limited access except from private property, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told the council.

"I think our immediate responsibility is to complete development of the town Park," Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said.

"All the parks and recreation commission is asking for is an architect to draw up a long-range plan," Councilman Holmes S. Norville said. "We would have plenty of time to implement it."

"That kind of plan costs a sizable chunk of dough by itself," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst noted. "We haven't even decided whether we want to use it as a park or leave it as it is."

"The limitations of the area are rather compelling," Usher commented. He suggested the town staff could more economically see what can be done with the property.

Pendleton's motion to deny the commission's request passed 3-to-1, Norville opposing. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff arrived late.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Approved plans for a flood control dike extending from the railroad tracks to a ponding area next to the bay. The dike will be seven feet high, 50 feet from the ends of Echo Avenue and Harbor Drive, and will have a road on top.
2. Approved annexation to Corte Madera of a parcel containing the tidegate at the end of High Canal, and an area on Williams Avenue, both now in Larkspur.
3. Appointed Henry I. Fox of 5461 Paradise Drive, Mrs. Richard B. Fiscus of 274 Sausalito Street, and J. H. Southerland of 230 Chapman Drive to the park and recreation Commission.
4. Postponed an appointment to the planning commission to the next council meeting.
5. Set a special dinner meeting of the council, department heads and elected and appointed town commissioners for Jan. 31 at 6:30 p.m. at Bob's of Marin.
6. Authorized Usher to attend a League of California Cities meeting in Palo Alto Feb. 8-10.
7. Authorized Arthur N. Morrison, director of public works, to attend a League of California Cities meeting Jan. 28 at Santa Rosa.

School Recorder Found By Boys

Two Novato boys found a tape recorder, valued at $150, belonging to Rancho School, in Arroyo Vichi yesterday, Novato police reported.

John Michael Szostak, 13, of 12 Plaza Demira and Glenn Allen Trice, 11, of 15 Plaza Demira, showed the recorder to police, who surmised from its condition that it must have been there for some time.

Rex Rolle, principal at Rancho School, said it was on of two in the school but that he did not know when it was taken.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiations in the two month old electricians strike against major San Francisco, Portland and Seattle shipyards will be resumed at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Fourth Aide Quits College For East Bay

A fourth College of Marin official is leaving the college to take a job with the Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County.

The Marin Junior College District board of trutees will consider the resignation of Ward Blanchard, head librarian, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room G3 of the physical education complex.

Blanchard asked to resign as of Feb. 1, to become director of libraries at the East Bay College. His contract with the Marin Junior College District runs through June.

Acting President Irwin P. Diamond said he understood Blanchard had been offered three or four thousand dollars a year more than his $12,283 a year salary at College of Marin.

Stephen E Epler resigned as president of College of Marin last June to become president of Fremont-Newark; James Duke resigned as director of planning in September to become vice president under Epler, and William Collins, administrative assistant in charge of government projects, resigned in November to take a similar position at the East Bay college.

Diamond said he will recommend to the board that Blanchard's resgnation be accepted.

Diamond will also recommend that the college building at 139 Kent Avenue, used for business offices, be vacated and razed immediately. He said a structural survey report on the building last week showed it is unsafe for use and beyond repair.

He said the report also showed repairs needed in a building at 20 Laurel Avenue, but the repairs can be made by college employees.

The board will not have a dinner meeting preceding the regular meeting, as was the practice during the Fall. Diamond said the two-hour dinner meetings were making board meetings too long, so they are being discontinued.

The board will consider purchase of a fourth parcel for the north campus for $158,000. The district has already purchased three of six parcels planned for the 300-acre campus.

Two courses proposed for the prison college project at San Quentin, a course in sociology offered in the fall semester and a new course in United States history, will be considered.

The board may award a contract for the 1967-68 college catalogue. Bids were taken today at 3 p.m.

SELF-SERVICE POST OFFICE FOR CORTE MADERA

Work began yesterday on erecting a $15,000 experimental self-service automated post office in the Corte Madera Shopping Center. The post office, with no attendant but with telephonic connection to the main Corte Madera Post Office, will dispense stamps and money orders and have slots for mailing letters and packages. It is scheduled to go into operation Jan. 14.

Supervisors In Favor Of Services Merger

Marin County supervisors yesterday favored merger of the city-county services committee with the Local Agency Formation Commission, but delayed taking a stand on the proposal.

Wanted first were the views of the commission and the committee and the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The proposal to merge the groups was made two weeks ago by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows reported yesterday that merger would be possible and that Local Agency Formation Commissions in other counties already were taking on some of the duties that have been performed in Marin by the City-county services committee.

The committee was formed two years ago with two supervisors and two city councilmen as members, to study means of increasing tax equity and improving services. Among the committee's recommendations was a structural fire tax for property owners in unincorporated areas. This shifted some of the burden of support for the county fire department from city to rural taxpayers.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

1. Adopted covenants designed to keep the residential density of 3.5 homes per acre and the land uses proposed in Marincello. With the agreement is deed to the county by Gulf Oil Corp. and Frouge Corp, of 100 square feet on Wolfback Ridge. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said this county ownership will give the county a stronger position in forcing compliance with the covenants.

2. Learned that S. J. Hugh Allen and Thomas C. Nelson do not wish reappointment to the board of trustees of the Marin County Law Library.

3. Approved an additional $1,088 per month for the cost of the county's janitorial contract. The increase was needed due to an escalation clause in wages paid by the contractor.

4. Approved transfers from reserve of $3,000 to cover cost of psychopathic examinations ordered by the courts and $1,299 to cover conflict of interest defenses for indigents accused of crime. The public defender is not allowed to defend more than one defendant in a case.

5. Delayed for four weeks further debate on the Bolinas Lagoon Master Plan prepared by the Bolinas Harbor District, to allow the district staff and county planning staff time to work up cost figures on further studies.

6. Set over until next Tuesday the appeal of Signal Oil Co. from planning commission denial of a permit for a service station at Pinehill Road and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley.

7. Hired Kathleen J. Bailey and Hiroko Uratsu as intermediate clerk-typists in the elections department at $362 a month; Perry J. Valconesi as fire warden at $562 a month; Eugene R. Fontaine as assistant coroner at $753 a month; Janet G. Golden as intermediate clerk in the welfare department at $362 a month, and Morris L. Peltz as part-time psychiatrist in Community Mental Health Services at $800 a month.

8. Promoted James B. Soetaert from director of field service in the probation department at $1,111 a month to director of probation services at $1,166, effective Feb. 1.

9. Agreed to drop further study of the proposal to put a covered walk and bicycle lane on top of the Coyote Creek Canal, after County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported the cost would run from $119,000 to $211,000. Joe Allen of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club had asked study of a covered channel from Ross Drive to Ash Street.

10. Adopted a resolution which would provide space in a county building for the Marin Independent Insurance Agents Assn. to process claims in the event of a major catastrophe in the county.

11. Authorized payment of $75 to Charles Frederick of San Francisco to cover the loss of his gold watch, used as evidence in the Donald G. Corbett murder case.

12. Approved a $700 a month lease with St. Francis Episcopal Church, Novato, for space for the county's second child care center.

13. Adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

Sharp temperature rises are associated with the areas of the sun where solar flares occur.

Reagan Aides Say Tax Hike Is Expected

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Some of the top men in the Reagan administration indicated today taxes must go up this year to balance the budget and finance local property tax reductions.

They made their comments following a meeting in Reagan's office late yesterday on California's fiscal crisis.

Reagan and his top aides also discussed the possibility of charging tuition at the University of California and the state colleges, but made no decisions.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said "as far as I feel, to face up to the budget problem and provide for substantial property tax relief, you can't avoid increasing state taxes."

Flournoy, who was at the meeting, said he wasn't speaking for the administration.

But Reagan's finance director, Gordon P. Smith, did speak for the governor when he said "there is a probability" of higher taxes to offset a $473 million deficit he predicted for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said additional state taxes would be used for another reason — funneling money to local governments to offset revenue losses from property tax reductions and reforms promised by Reagan.

The new administration concentrated on money problems as the 1967 legislature went into its third day. Some of the propoals supported by Reagan are already before the lawmakers. Among them are repeal of the state open housing law and tightening of antipornography statutes.

The state has enough money to run its operations during the present year, Smith said.

New taxes, Smith said, will be imposed "as a last resort." Asked if he would say there would be no new taxes, he said "I wish I could say yes, but I just can't say it."

Tuberculosis Tests Slated For Children

Tuberculosis skin tests will be offered to children of Lagunitas School on Feb. 27, the Lagunitas School District Board agreed last night.

The board set that date for the Marin County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. to test all children whose parents approve, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board also adopted a policy describing the new vice principal position, held by Harry Roche.

According to the policy, the vice principal is in charge of student affairs and student discipline, as well as any other duties assigned by the superintendent.

Lagunitas School District Board also:

1. Declared Jan. 27 a local holiday to allow teachers to attend the Marin County Teachers Institute.

2. Adopted resolution changing precinct numbers listed in the resolution, previously adopted, which set Feb. 14 as date for the district's bond and state loan election.

3. Heard a report that a staff committee is considering ways of inserting a merit rating system into the district salary schedule. Last year's salary schedule included provision for a $500 merit bonus.

Trustee Leslie Stone was absent.

Hospital Strike Hearings Put Off

OAKLAND (AP) — Alameda County officials and the hospital workers' union, unable to end a strike at two public hospitals, have put off further hearings until Jan. 10.

Meanwhile, Highland Hospital in Oakland and Fairmont Hospital in San Leandro continue to hire replacements for 350 members of the AFL-CIO East Bay Municipal Employees Union Local 390.

Bagley Authors Skeleton Bill To End Spoils Setup

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a bill in the state Assembly that would abolish the inheritance tax appraiser system.

Bagley said he submitted a get it in early." The bill will be amended within a week or two to fill in the details, Bagley said. "We've already drafted 35 pages of amendments, but we didn't have time to review all the technical aspects."

Under present law, the state controller appoints the more than 150 inheritance tax appraisers in the state.

New Controller Houston I. Flournoy promised during the campaign that he would abolish the system. Assemblyman Bagley, a longtime foe of this "spoils system," has been working with Controller Flournoy to devise a new method, which is basically a self-appraisal system.

Bagley said that he, and Assemblymen Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, and Don Mulford, R-Oakland, are the main authors of the bill, but the authorship includes "the total leadership of both parties in the Assembly "including Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

Haiti, discovered by Columbus in 1492, is the only French-speaking republic in the Americas,according to the 1965 World Almanac.

Leake Presents Revenue Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Paul R. Leake, new chairman of the state Board of Equalization says California revenue agencies should be placed under the board's jurisdiction.

Leake said yesterday he would give his "wholehearted support" to Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to streamline state government, reduce expenditures and eliminate waste

But he said Reagan's proposal to create a single revenue agency with a director appointed by the governor would "restrict the power of the people."

"The consolidation of tax agencies could be accomplished under the state board without cumbersome constitutional changes," Leake said. "It merely takes legislative action."

JOAN DASMAN
To Kenya with Peace Corps

She Leaves For Kenya To Teach

Joan Dasman of Larkspur left yesterday for Kenya, where she will work with the Peace Corps in that African nation's secondary education system.

Joan, 24, graduated last June from San Francisco State College. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Dasman of Marina Vista Drive.

During her recently completed 13 weeks of training at Columbia University, Miss Dasman joined 85 other volunteers studying Swahili, East African history and culture, and world affairs.

Her arrival in Kenya will bring to 245 the number of Peace Corps volunteers at work in that country.

Tiburon Planners Select New Zoning For Railroad

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in Tiburon will be placed in the interim zone, if the city council accepts the planning commission's recommendation of last night. The property has been in residential and agricultural zones.

The commission decided to have a sign ordinance rewritten in simpler form. Commissioners Peter MacGowan and Joseph C. Marshall will work with planning administrator Phil V. Scott on the new ordinance.

A tree ordinance was recommended to the council as appropriate for regulating trees on undeveloped property.

Discussion of a motel definition for the zoning ordinance was postponed to Feb. 6.

Commissioner MacGowan reported he is working on criteria for the selection of park site names by the city.

New member of the commission, Donald J. O'Leary, was sworn in by City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose. Chairman Stephen N. Nash appointed O'Leary to serve on the Board of Adjustments.

Celebrating the new year is as old as mankind. The Babylonians and Egyptians whooped it up; so did the Romans and Greeks in celebrations surprisingly similar to those of today.

Entertainer Faces Ouster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Topless entertainer Yvonne D'Angers may save herself from deportation for a couple of more years.

Her attorney and a federal judge agreed informally on that point yesterday after the judge officially refused to grant the 44-21-36 Miss D'Angers an injunction against deportation.

They said that she might appeal to the U.S. Immigration Service. And once that channel is closed, there is the possibility of a Supreme Court appearance.

Judge Oliver J. Carter of U.S. District Court ordered from the bench, however, that Miss D'Angers, 22, leave the country by Jan. 5 or be thrown out.

Weird Accident Kills Motorist On Freeway

ATASCADERO (AP) — A motorist was fatally injured early today when his car struck another parked in the roadway without lights, throwing him onto the pavement where he was hit by a third travelling the wrong way, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Jose Saucedo, 36, of Soquel, was pronounced dead at a hospital. His passenger, Raymond Haunte, 35, Watsonville, suffered major injuries.

The CHP said Saucedo was northbound on Highway 101 a mile south of here when, in the darkness, his car hit one standing in the northbound lane with two men sitting in it. The CHP said they were Lonnie Thomas, 33, the driver, and his brother, Sherman, 37, both of Grover City.

Saucedo's car spun around and overturned. The CHP said that as he lay on the pavement he and his car were hit by a car going south in the northbound lane, driven by Thomas Casselberry, 21, Berkeley.

The Thomas brothers and Casselberry suffered minor injuries.

White ostrich feathers that used to be used for trimming hats came from the male bird's wing or tail.

Generous Store Owner Is Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Aronian, 67, owner of a liquor-delicatessen store, was known for his generosity.

"When he made you a sandwich, he always put something extra on it," said a youth who patronized the place.

"He'd charge a quarter and then give you about 20 cents change."

Yesterday, a robber shot and killed him for his wallet and the money in his cash register.

Supervisors In Favor Of Services Merger

Marin County supervisors yesterday favored merger of the city-county services committee with the Local Agency Formation Commission, but delayed taking a stand on the proposal.

Wanted first were the views of the commission and the committee and the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The proposal to merge the groups was made two weeks ago by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows reported yesterday that merger would be possible and that Local Agency Formation Commissions in other counties already were taking on some of the duties that have been performed in Marin by the City-county services committee.

The committee was formed two years ago with two supervisors and two city councilmen as members, to study means of increasing tax equity and improving services. Among the committee's recommendations was a structural fire tax for property owners in unincorporated areas. This shifted some of the burden of support for the county fire department from city to rural taxpayers.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

1. Adopted covenants designed to keep the residential density of 3.5 homes per acre and the land uses proposed in Marincello. With the agreement is deed to the county by Gulf Oil Corp. and Frouge Corp, of 100 square feet on Wolfback Ridge. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said this county ownership will give the county a stronger position in forcing compliance with the covenants.

2. Learned that S. J. Hugh Allen and Thomas C. Nelson do not wish reappointment to the board of trustees of the Marin County Law Library.

3. Approved an additional $1,088 per month for the cost of the county's janitorial contract. The increase was needed due to an escalation clause in wages paid by the contractor.

4. Approved transfers from reserve of $3,000 to cover cost of psychopathic examinations ordered by the courts and $1,299 to cover conflict of interest defenses for indigents accused of crime. The public defender is not allowed to defend more than one defendant in a case.

5. Delayed for four weeks further debate on the Bolinas Lagoon Master Plan prepared by the Bolinas Harbor District, to allow the district staff and county planning staff time to work up cost figures on further studies.

6. Set over until next Tuesday the appeal of Signal Oil Co. from planning commission denial of a permit for a service station at Pinehill Road and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley.

7. Hired Kathleen J. Bailey and Hiroko Uratsu as intermediate clerk-typists in the elections department at $362 a month; Perry J. Valconesi as fire warden at $562 a month; Eugene R. Fontaine as assistant coroner at $753 a month; Janet G. Golden as intermediate clerk in the welfare department at $362 a month, and Morris L. Peltz as part-time psychiatrist in Community Mental Health Services at $800 a month.

8. Promoted James B. Soetaert from director of field service in the probation department at $1,111 a month to director of probation services at $1,166, effective Feb. 1.

9. Agreed to drop further study of the proposal to put a covered walk and bicycle lane on top of the Coyote Creek Canal, after County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported the cost would run from $119,000 to $211,000. Joe Allen of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club had asked study of a covered channel from Ross Drive to Ash Street.

10. Adopted a resolution which would provide space in a county building for the Marin Independent Insurance Agents Assn. to process claims in the event of a major catastrophe in the county.

11. Authorized payment of $75 to Charles Frederick of San Francisco to cover the loss of his gold watch, used as evidence in the Donald G. Corbett murder case.

12. Approved a $700 a month lease with St. Francis Episcopal Church, Novato, for space for the county's second child care center.

13. Adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

Reagan Aides Say Tax Hike Is Expected

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Some of the top men in the Reagan administration indicated today taxes must go up this year to balance the budget and finance local property tax reductions.

They made their comments following a meeting in Reagan's office late yesterday on California's fiscal crisis.

Reagan and his top aides also discussed the possibility of charging tuition at the University of California and the state colleges, but made no decisions.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said "as far as I feel, to face up to the budget problem and provide for substantial property tax relief, you can't avoid increasing state taxes."

Flournoy, who was at the meeting, said he wasn't speaking for the administration.

But Reagan's finance director, Gordon P. Smith, did speak for the governor when he said "there is a probability" of higher taxes to offset a $473 million deficit he predicted for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said additional state taxes would be used for another reason — funneling money to local governments to offset revenue losses from property tax reductions and reforms promised by Reagan.

The new administration concentrated on money problems as the 1967 legislature went into its third day. Some of the propoals supported by Reagan are already before the lawmakers. Among them are repeal of the state open housing law and tightening of antipornography statutes.

The state has enough money to run its operations during the present year, Smith said.

New taxes, Smith said, will be imposed "as a last resort." Asked if he would say there would be no new taxes, he said "I wish I could say yes, but I just can't say it."

Tuberculosis Tests Slated For Children

Tuberculosis skin tests will be offered to children of Lagunitas School on Feb. 27, the Lagunitas School District Board agreed last night.

The board set that date for the Marin County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. to test all children whose parents approve, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board also adopted a policy describing the new vice principal position, held by Harry Roche.

According to the policy, the vice principal is in charge of student affairs and student discipline, as well as any other duties assigned by the superintendent.

Lagunitas School District Board also:

1. Declared Jan. 27 a local holiday to allow teachers to attend the Marin County Teachers Institute.

2. Adopted resolution changing precinct numbers listed in the resolution, previously adopted, which set Feb. 14 as date for the district's bond and state loan election.

3. Heard a report that a staff committee is considering ways of inserting a merit rating system into the district salary schedule. Last year's salary schedule included provision for a $500 merit bonus.

Trustee Leslie Stone was absent.

Hospital Strike Hearings Put Off

OAKLAND (AP) — Alameda County officials and the hospital workers' union, unable to end a strike at two public hospitals, have put off further hearings until Jan. 10.

Meanwhile, Highland Hospital in Oakland and Fairmont Hospital in San Leandro continue to hire replacements for 350 members of the AFL-CIO East Bay Municipal Employees Union Local 390.

Papers Move To Queen's Aid

LONDON (AP) — Three London newspapers today urged Parliament to repeal George III's royal marriage law so Queen Elizabeth II won't have to decide whether her first cousin can marry the mother of his illegitimate son.

The Royal Marriages Act of 1772 was denounced on all sides as a museum piece of royal spite. It was brought to public attention again by the Earl of Harewood's announcement Monday that he is being divorced for adultery and wants to marry a former model who bore him a son two and one-half years ago.

The 43-year-old earl is 18th in line of succession to the throne. His 40-year-old wife is expected to bring her divorce petition before the courts next month.

Girl Blamed In $70 Service Station Theft

A cash box containing $70 was stolen last evening from Mill Valley Shell Service, 77 East Blithedale Avenue, police reported.

William Schraps, attendant at the gas station, said an unidentified girl, about 16 years old, was seen running down Forrest Street with the box. She wore a blue coat and light pants and had long, dark hair.

Tiburon Planners Select New Zoning For Railroad

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in Tiburon will be placed in the interim zone, if the city council accepts the planning commission's recommendation of last night. The property has been in residential and agricultural zones.

The commission decided to have a sign ordinance rewritten in simpler form. Commissioners Peter MacGowan and Joseph C. Marshall will work with planning administrator Phil V. Scott on the new ordinance.

A tree ordinance was recommended to the council as appropriate for regulating trees on undeveloped property.

Discussion of a motel definition for the zoning ordinance was postponed to Feb. 6.

Commissioner MacGowan reported he is working on criteria for the selection of park site names by the city.

New member of the commission, Donald J. O'Leary, was sworn in by City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose. Chairman Stephen N. Nash appointed O'Leary to serve on the Board of Adjustments.

Celebrating the new year is as old as mankind. The Babylonians and Egyptians whooped it up; so did the Romans and Greeks in celebrations surprisingly similar to those of today.

Entertainer Faces Ouster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Topless entertainer Yvonne D'Angers may save herself from deportation for a couple of more years.

Her attorney and a federal judge agreed informally on that point yesterday after the judge officially refused to grant the 44-21-36 Miss D'Angers an injunction against deportation.

They said that she might appeal to the U.S. Immigration Service. And once that channel is closed, there is the possibility of a Supreme Court appearance.

Judge Oliver J. Carter of U.S. District Court ordered from the bench, however, that Miss D'Angers, 22, leave the country by Jan. 5 or be thrown out.

Weird Accident Kills Motorist On Freeway

ATASCADERO (AP) — A motorist was fatally injured early today when his car struck another parked in the roadway without lights, throwing him onto the pavement where he was hit by a third travelling the wrong way, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Jose Saucedo, 36, of Soquel, was pronounced dead at a hospital. His passenger, Raymond Haunte, 35, Watsonville, suffered major injuries.

The CHP said Saucedo was northbound on Highway 101 a mile south of here when, in the darkness, his car hit one standing in the northbound lane with two men sitting in it. The CHP said they were Lonnie Thomas, 33, the driver, and his brother, Sherman, 37, both of Grover City.

Saucedo's car spun around and overturned. The CHP said that as he lay on the pavement he and his car were hit by a car going south in the northbound lane, driven by Thomas Casselberry, 21, Berkeley.

The Thomas brothers and Casselberry suffered minor injuries.

White ostrich feathers that used to be used for trimming hats came from the male bird's wing or tail.

Generous Store Owner Is Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Aronian, 67, owner of a liquor-delicatessen store, was known for his generosity.

"When he made you a sandwich, he always put something extra on it," said a youth who patronized the place.

"He'd charge a quarter and then give you about 20 cents change."

Yesterday, a robber shot and killed him for his wallet and the money in his cash register.

A Tasting Of Seafood, Wine

A new kind of party blending the delicate tastes of seafood and wine has come into vogue in the city across the bridge. Combinations of seafood and wine are grouped on separate tables so guests can move from one to the other, tasting and savoring en route. Two outstanding delicacies among seafood recipes are Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip. These are nicely complimented with pinot chardonnay and vin rose for an attractive and tempting buffet offered against the Telegraph Hill Skyline.

SECOND SECTION Wed., Jan. 4, 1967 13

GRILLED LOBSTER TAILS
(Serves 4)

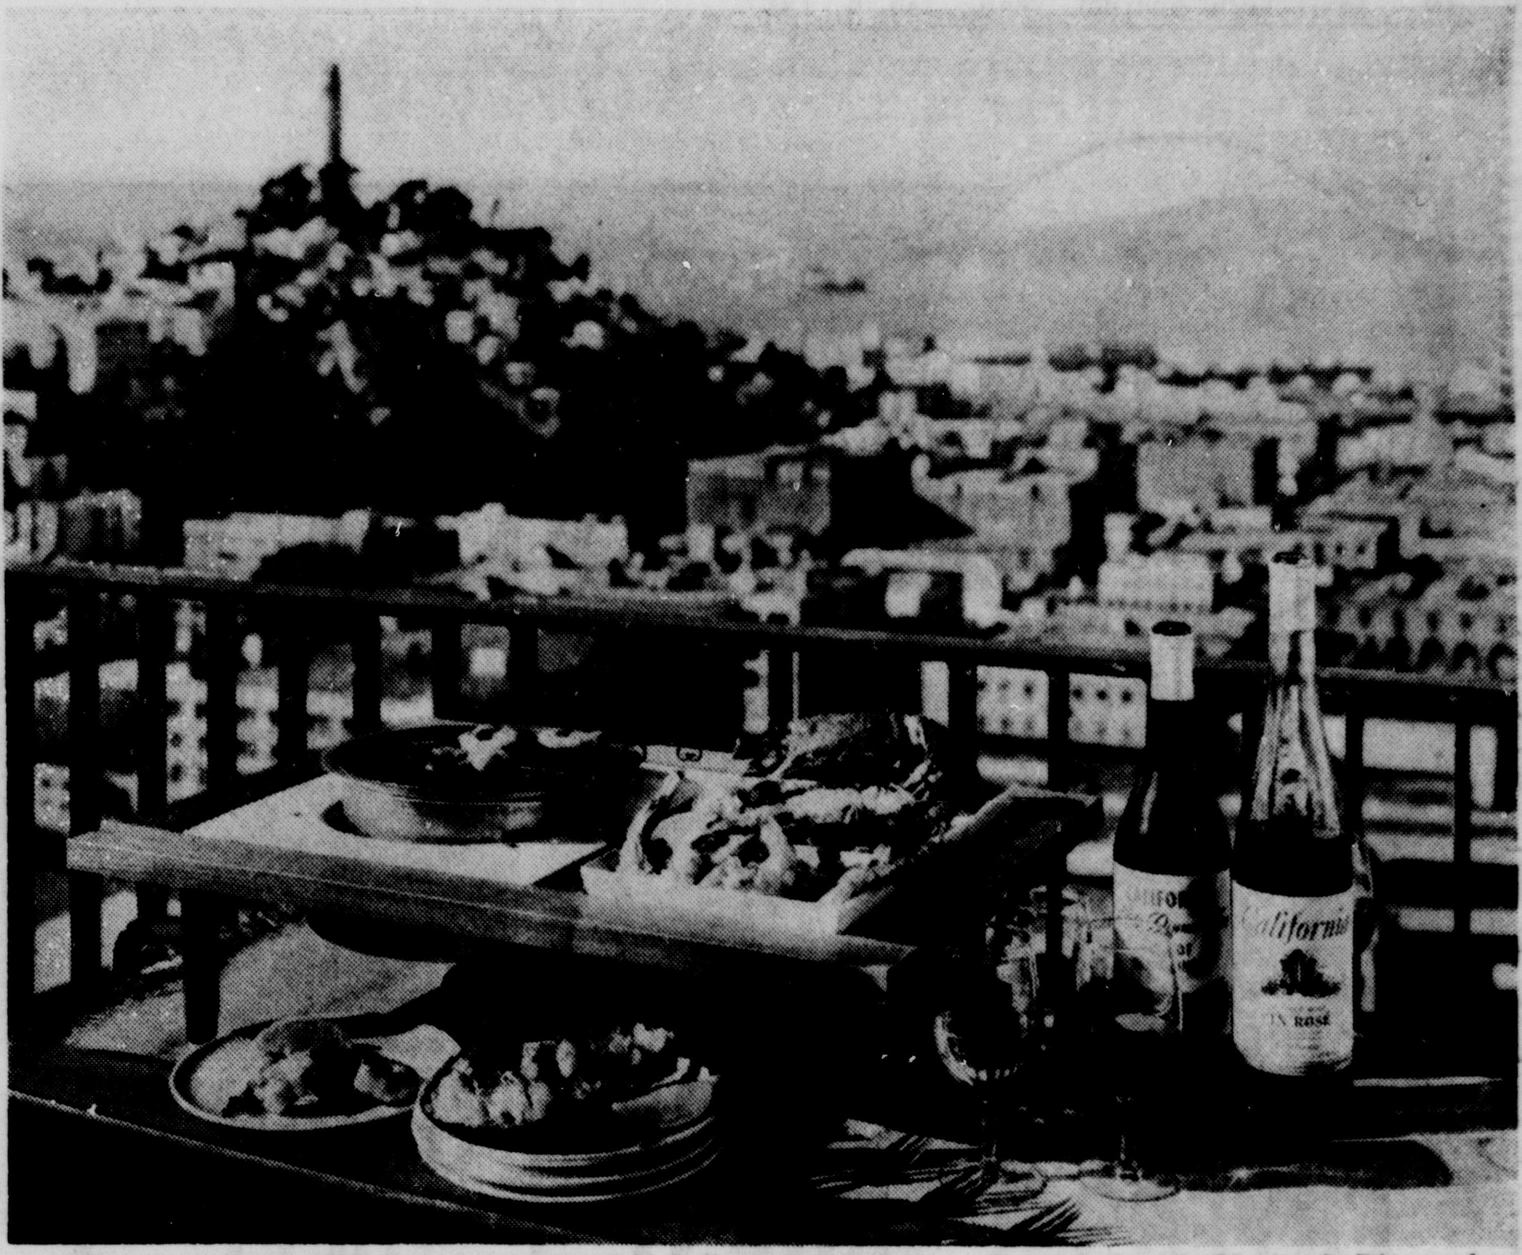
8 rock lobster tails (frozen)
1/3 cup melted butter
1/4 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt

Thaw tails. Cut away and remove underside membrane. Bend tails back far enough to crack so they won't curl while cooking. Place lobster tails on broiler pan, shell side up. Broil 4 or 5 inches from heat for 3 minutes. Turn and brush meat liberally with mixture of butter, wine and seasoning. Continue broiling until meat is tender and looks opaque, about 3 or 4 minutes longer. Brush again with any remaining butter mixture. Serve 2 tails for each person, when served as the main course.

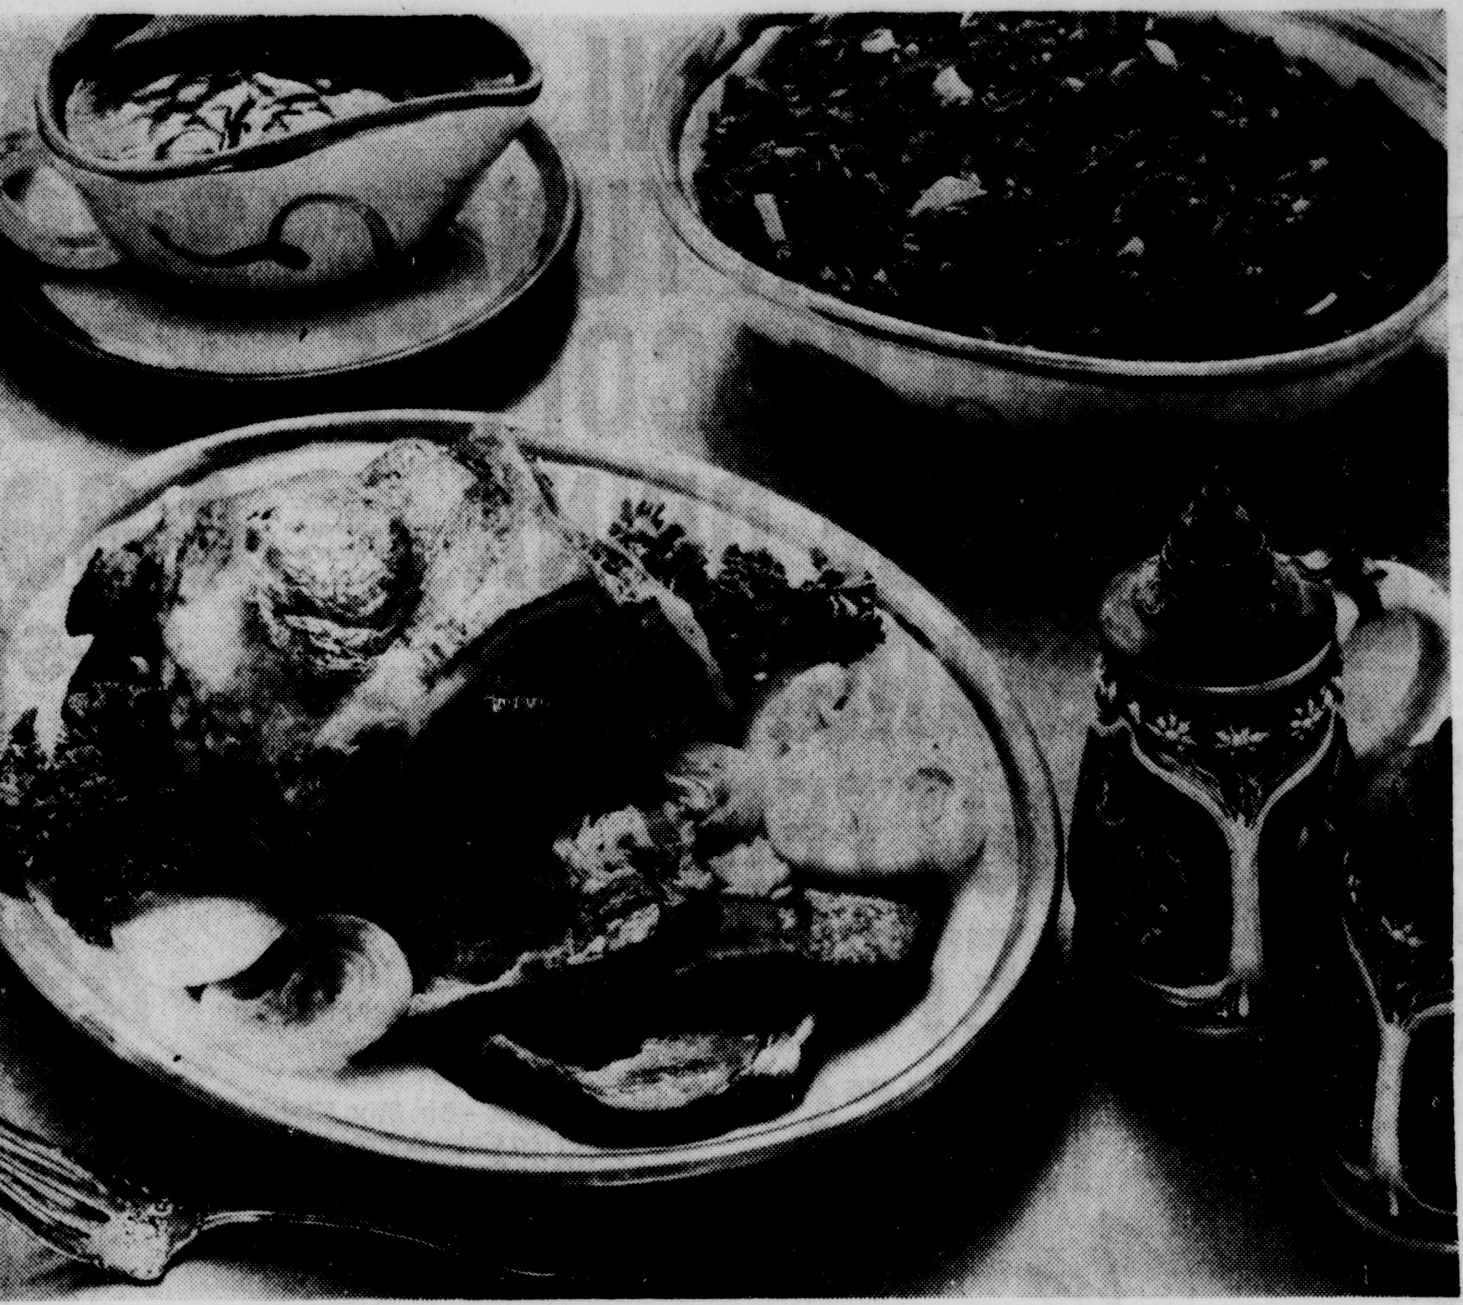
MAINADE-DIP FOR PRAWNS
(Makes about 1½ cups)

1 cup Rose or white dinner wine
1/3 cup catsup
1/4 cup salad oil
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 pounds large shrimp, shelled and deveined

Combine wine, catsup, oil, soy sauce and mustard until well blended. Pour ½ cup over shrimp, stir to mix marinade with shellfish. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour. Broil or grill over coals. Use remaining wine marinade for dipping sauce.



COMPLIMENTING THE TEGEGRAPH Hill skyline is this balcony buffet of Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip to be savored with pinot chardonnay and vin rose.



BAVARIAN POT ROAST comes from the Dutch oven with rich and spicy aroma. This economical cut of meat can be served with red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and thin slices of fruit cake.

Bavarian Pot Roast—A Winter Treat

Real Sauerbraten taste takes hours — even days — to perfect. This Bavarian Pot Roast has much of that good German flavor but doesn't demand so many time-consuming steps.

One of the most thrifty and flavorful cuts of beef, a chuck roast, is used for this German-style meat. An important "instant" seasoner-sauce enhances the whole — canned tomato sauce with mushrooms. Other ingredients are ginger, allspice, cloves, red wine, vinegar, onion, sugar and bay leaf.

With Bavarian Pot Roast serve red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and fruit cake. Wonderfully fragrant cooking to come home to on a cold winter's evening.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST

3 lb. lean, boneless chuck roast
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon alspice
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce with mushrooms
¾ cup water
½ cup red wine
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
1 bay leaf

Coat roast with flour mixed with seasonings. Brown well on both sides in pure vegetable oil in Dutch oven; remove excess fat. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; simmer 2½ hours or until tender. Remove roast to platter and thicken liquid for gravy. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pinata Pie A Mexican Surprise

PINATA CHEESE AND CHILI PIE

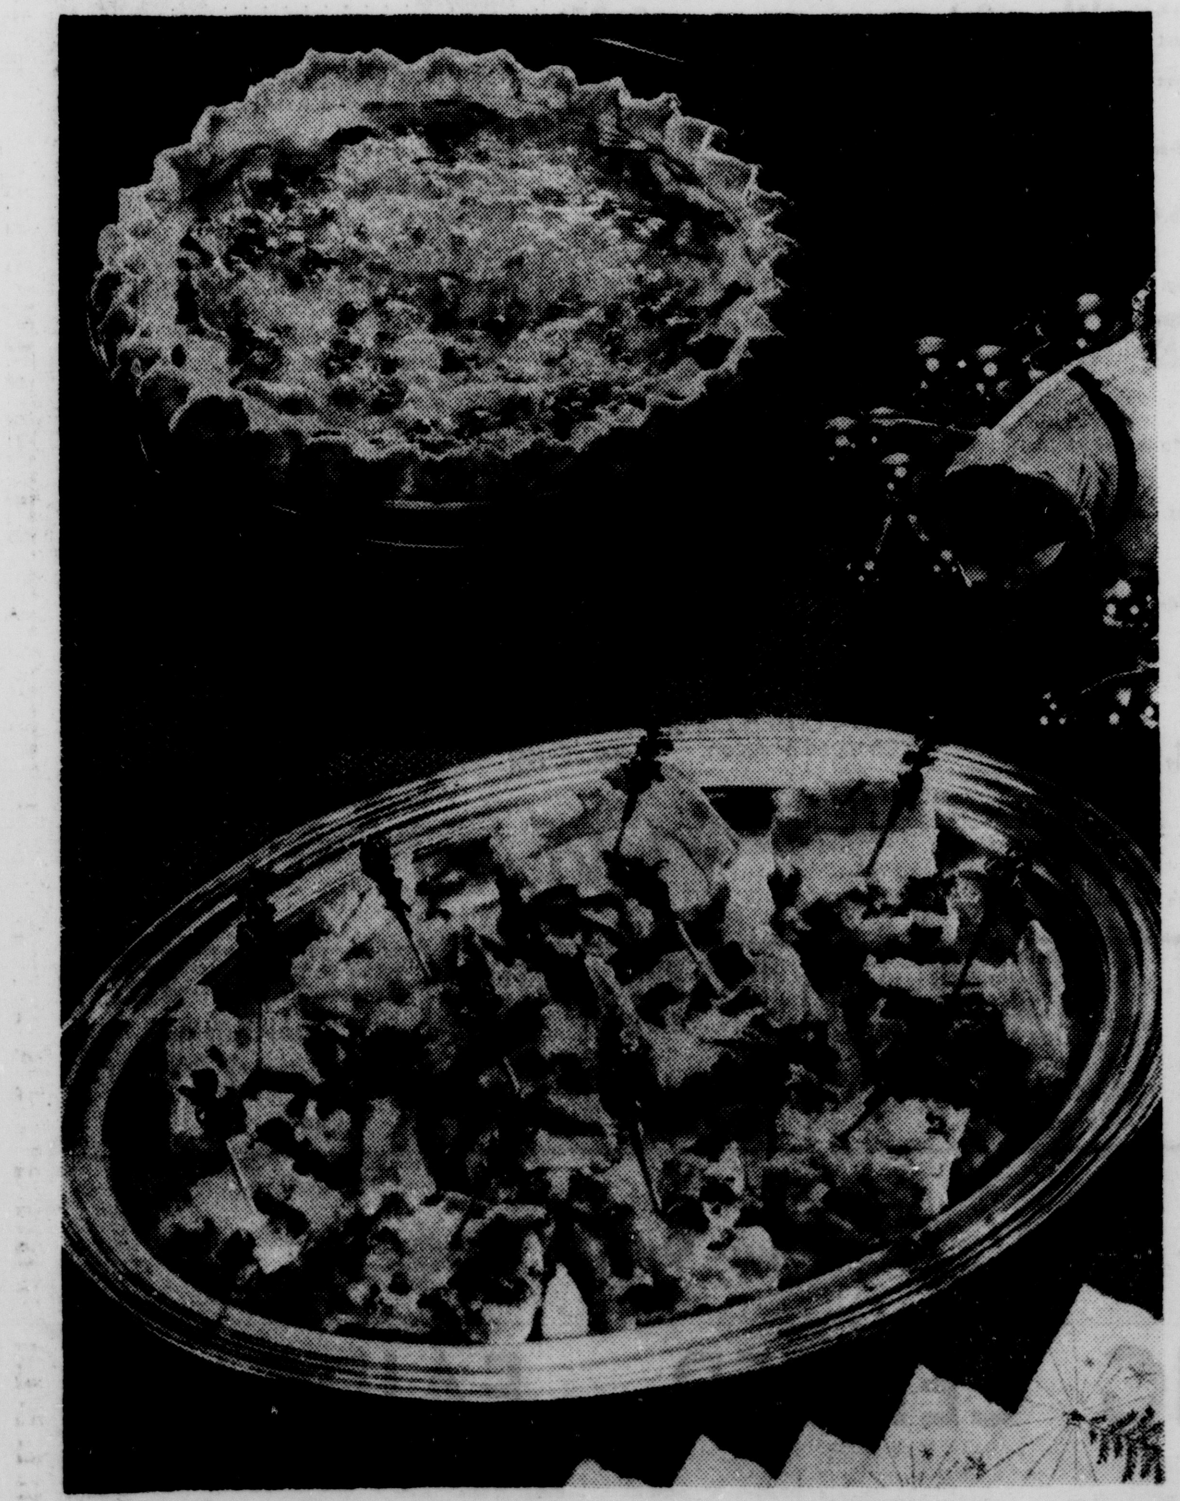
6 tablespoons butter
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
1 cup grated medium or sharp Cheddar cheese
1 can (4-ounces) green chilies, seeded and chopped
1 jar (2-ounces) diced pimientos
3 eggs
1 cup (½ pint) half and half
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut butter into flour and salt until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Mix in beaten egg with a fork until mixture holds together. With hands, shape into a ball. Roll out dough on lightly floured board. Fit into 9 or 10 inch pie pan. Flute rim. Chill while preparing filling ingredients.

Sprinkle all of Monterey Jack cheese and half the Cheddar cheese over prepared pie crust. Distribute chilies and pimiento over cheese. Beat eggs until frothy; add half and half and salt. Pour into pie crust, sprinkle with remaining Cheddar cheese. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 35 to 40 minutes longer or until center of pie is set. Allow pie to cool 10 to 15 minutes before cutting.

PINATA CANAPES

For 32 bite-size servings double all ingredients in above recipe. Fit double recipe of pie crust into 10 x 15 x 1 inch jelly roll pan (it is easier to roll out dough in two sections and pat together in the pan). Prepare filling and proceed as above. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes, reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 25 to 30 minutes or until set. Cool before cutting into pieces.



FLAVORFUL PINATA Cheese and Chili Pie is filled with pleasant surprises including Monterey Jack and Cheddar cheese and green chilies and pimientos.

EARLE M. MARSH
Heads twin rograms

Patient Care Study Headed By Dr. Marsh

Dr. Earle M. Marsh of Mill Valley was appointed yesterday to head parallel programs, at the University of California School of Medicine and Franklin Hospital in San Francisco, aimed at improving patient care by closer work between physicians and para-medical personnel.

George D. Monardo of Mill Valley, executive vice president at Franklin Hospital, announced the appointment of Dr. Marsh as the hospital's vice president for medical and community relations. At the school, he will be consultant for allied health professions to the dean and the chancellor.

Dr. Marsh is now assistant clinical professor of gynecology and obstetrics at University of California and head of the Franklin Hospital department of gynecology.

Papers Move To Queen's Aid

LONDON (AP) — Three London newspapers today urged Parliament to repeal George III's royal marriage law so Queen Elizabeth II won't have to decide whether her first cousin can marry the mother of his illegitimate son.

The Royal Marriages Act of 1772 was denounced on all sides as a museum piece of royal spite. It was brought to public attention again by the Earl of Harewood's announcement Monday that he is being divorced for adultery and wants to marry a former model who bore him a son two and one-half years ago.

The 43-year-old earl is 18th in line of succession to the throne. His 40-year-old wife is expected to bring her divorce petition before the courts next month.

Girl Blamed In $70 Service Station Theft

A cash box containing $70 was stolen last evening from Mill Valley Shell Service, 77 East Blithedale Avenue, police reported.

William Schraps, attendant at the gas station, said an unidentified girl, about 16 years old, was seen running down Forrest Street with the box. She wore a blue coat and light pants and had long, dark hair.

A Tasting Of Seafood, Wine

A new kind of party blending the delicate tastes of seafood and wine has come into vogue in the city across the bridge. Combinations of seafood and wine are grouped on separate tables so guests can move from one to the other, tasting and savoring en route. Two outstanding delicacies among seafood recipes are Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip. These are nicely complimented with pinot chardonnay and vin rose for an attractive and tempting buffet offered against the Telegraph Hill Skyline.

GRILLED LOBSTER TAILS
(Serves 4)

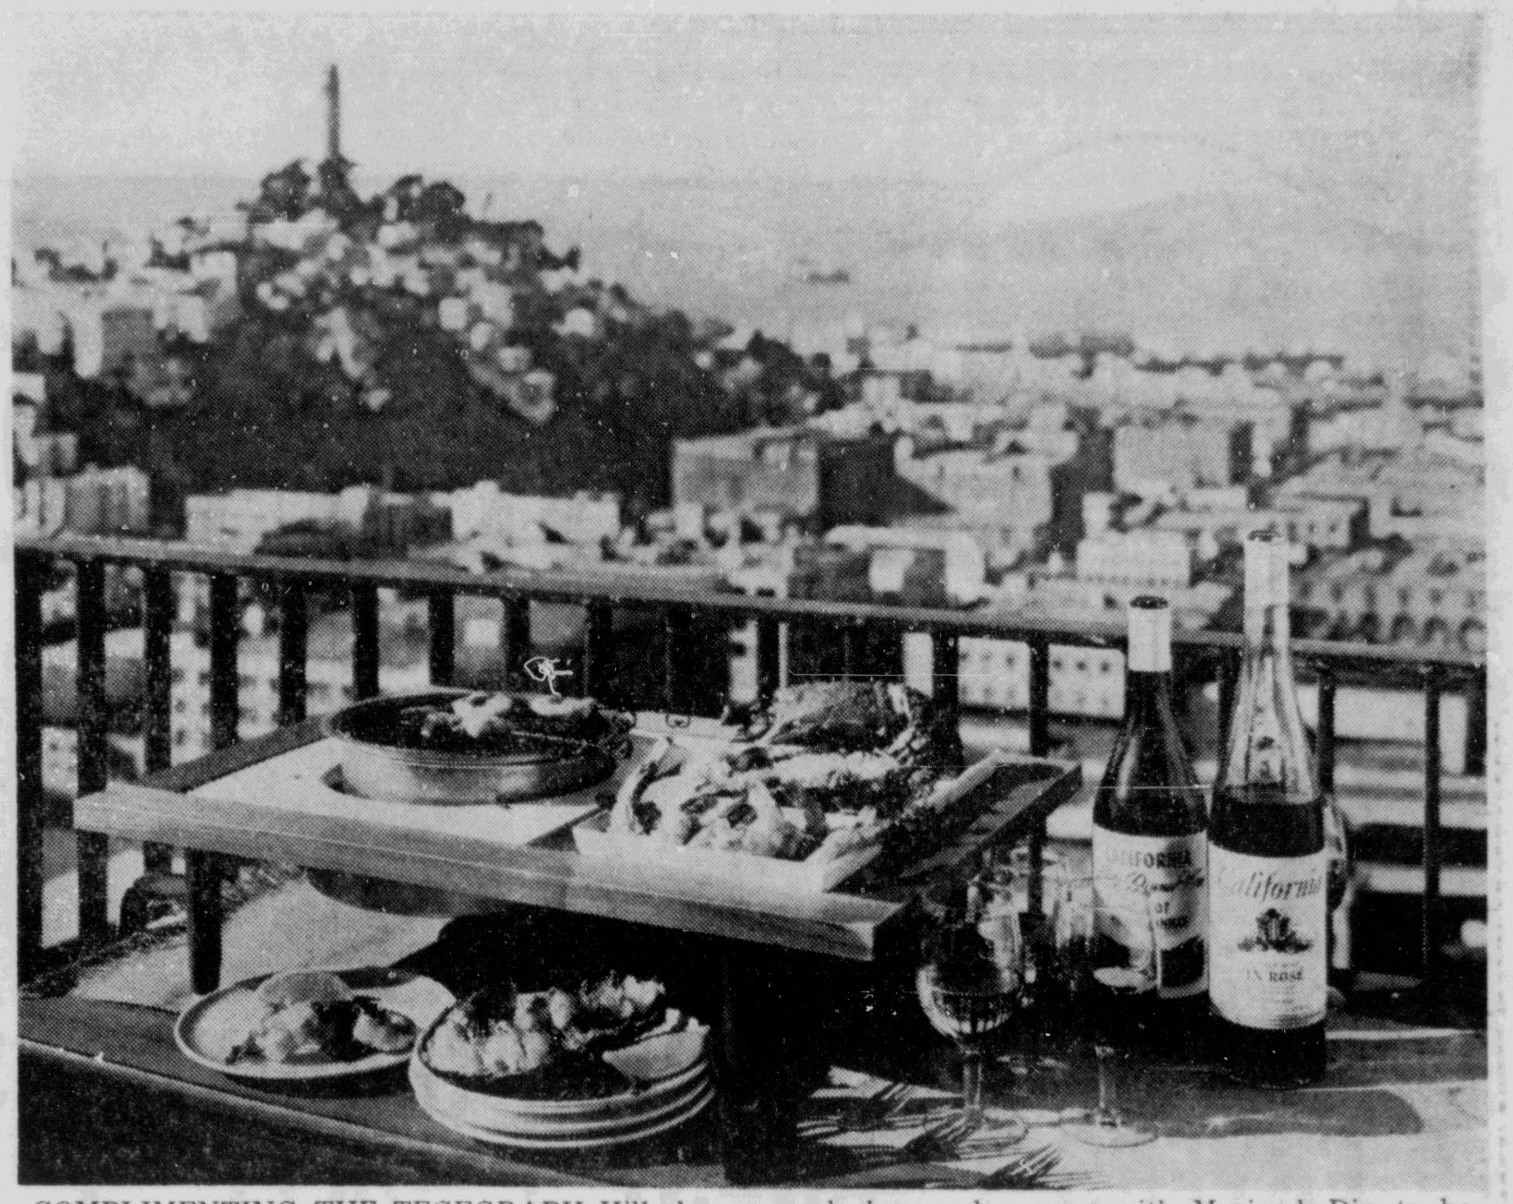
8 rock lobster tails (frozen)
1/3 cup melted butter
1/4 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt

Thaw tails. Cut away and remove underside membrane. Bend tails back far enough to crack so they won't curl while cooking. Place lobster tails on broiler pan, shell side up. Broil 4 or 5 inches from heat for 3 minutes. Turn and brush meat liberally with mixture of butter, wine and seasoning. Continue broiling until meat is tender and looks opaque, about 3 or 4 minutes longer. Brush again with any remaining butter mixture. Serve 2 tails for each person, when served as the main course.

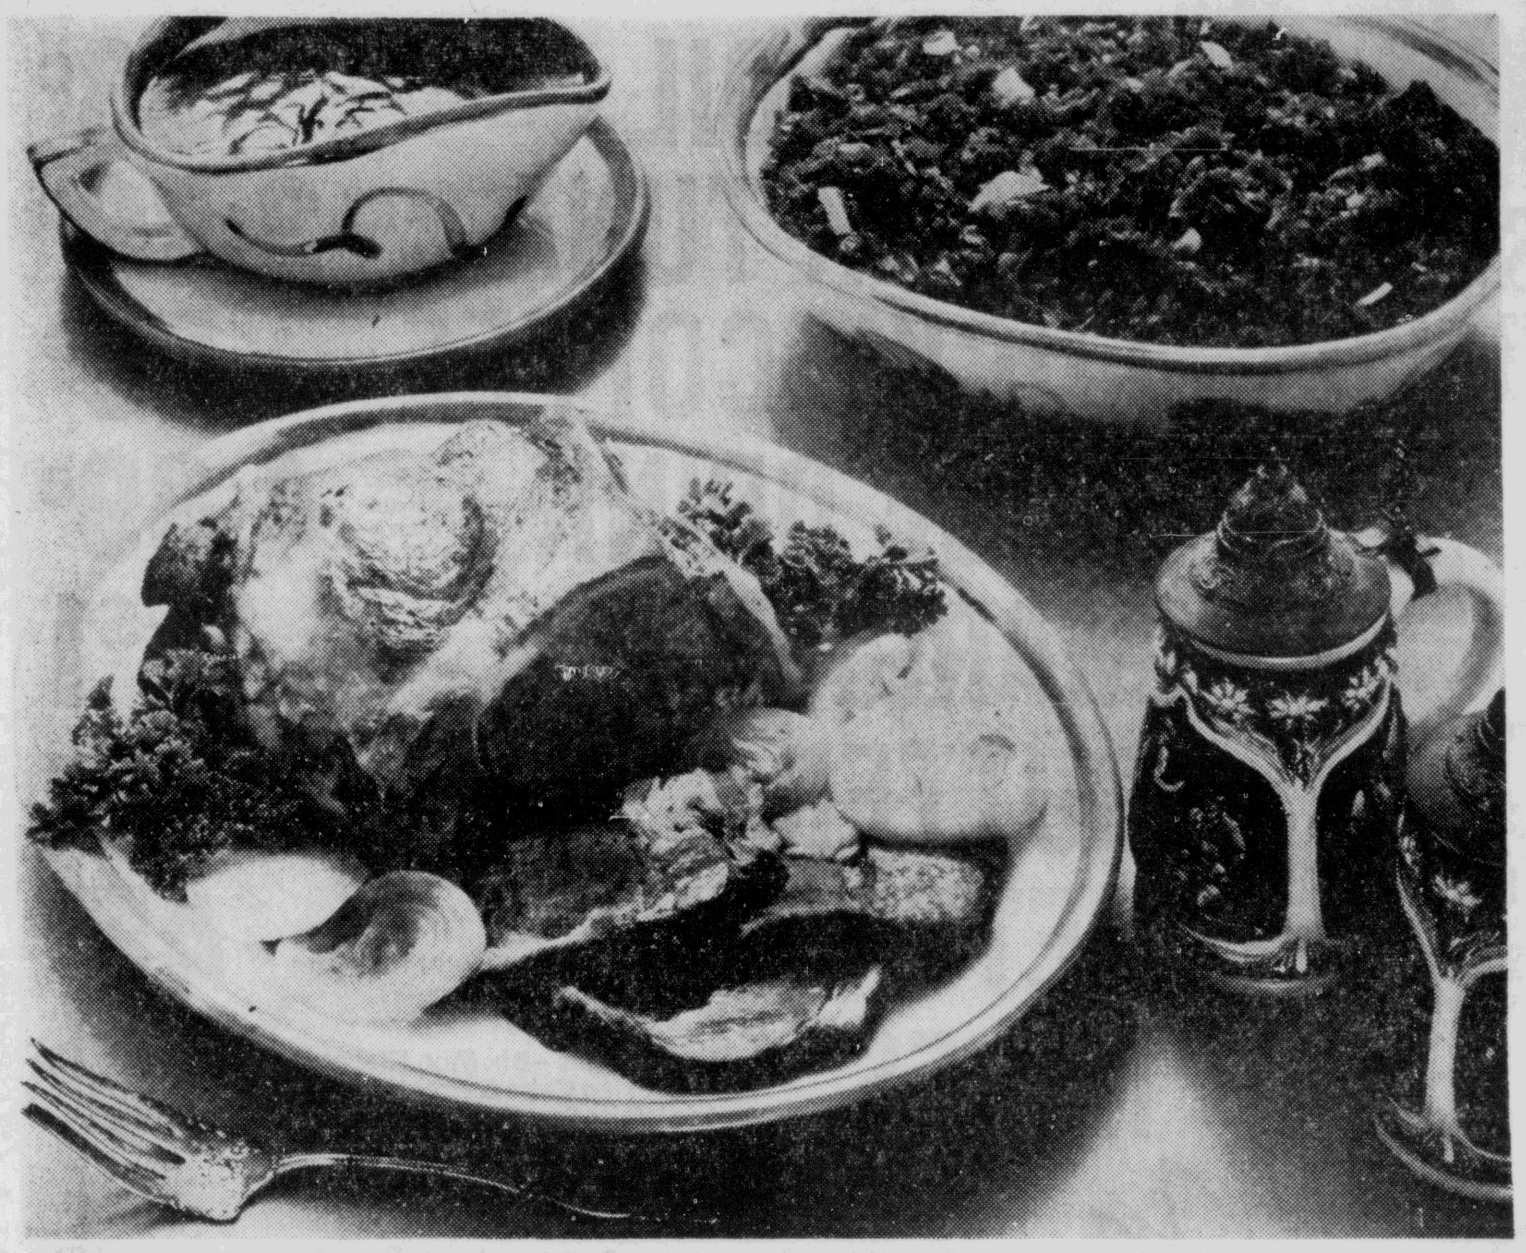
MAINADE-DIP FOR PRAWNS
(Makes about 1½ cups)

1 cup Rose or white dinner wine
1/3 cup catsup
1/4 cup salad oil
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 pounds large shrimp, shelled and deveined

Combine wine, catsup, oil, soy sauce and mustard until well blended. Pour ½ cup over shrimp, stir to mix marinade with shellfish. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour. Broil or grill over coals. Use remaining wine marinade for dipping sauce.



COMPLIMENTING THE TEGEGRAPH Hill skyline is this balcony buffet of Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip to be savored with pinot chardonnay and vin rose.



BAVARIAN POT ROAST comes from the Dutch oven with rich and spicy aroma. This economical cut of meat can be served with red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and thin slices of fruit cake.

Bavarian Pot Roast—A Winter Treat

Real Sauerbraten taste takes hours — even days — to perfect. This Bavarian Pot Roast has much of that good German flavor but doesn't demand so many time-consuming steps.

One of the most thrifty and flavorful cuts of beef, a chuck roast, is used for this German-style meat. An important "instant" seasoner-sauce enhances the whole — canned tomato sauce with mushrooms. Other ingredients are ginger, allspice, cloves, red wine, vinegar, onion, sugar and bay leaf.

With Bavarian Pot Roast serve red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and fruit cake. Wonderfully fragrant cooking to come home to on a cold winter's evening.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST

3 lb. lean, boneless chuck roast
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon alspice
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce with mushrooms
¾ cup water
½ cup red wine
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
1 bay leaf

Coat roast with flour mixed with seasonings. Brown well on both sides in pure vegetable oil in Dutch oven; remove excess fat. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; simmer 2½ hours or until tender. Remove roast to platter and thicken liquid for gravy. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pinata Pie A Mexican Surprise

PINATA CHEESE AND CHILI PIE

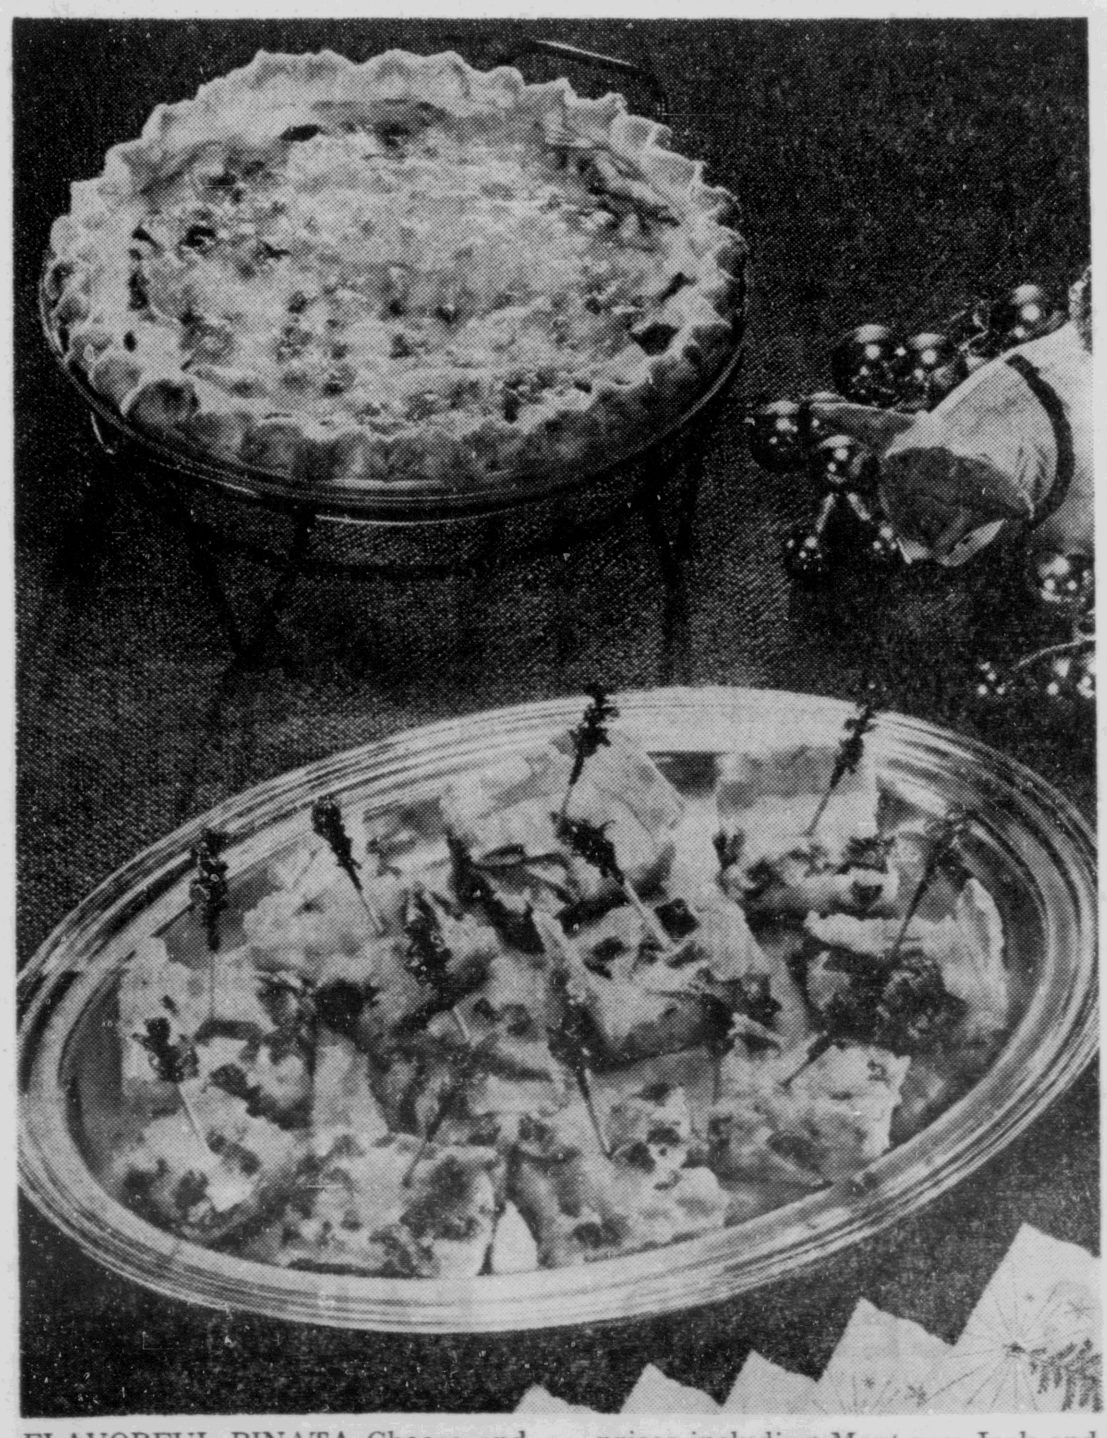
6 tablespoons butter
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
1 cup grated medium or sharp Cheddar cheese
1 can (4-ounces) green chilies, seeded and chopped
1 jar (2-ounces) diced pimientos
3 eggs
1 cup (½ pint) half and half
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut butter into flour and salt until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Mix in beaten egg with a fork until mixture holds together. With hands, shape into a ball. Roll out dough on lightly floured board. Fit into 9 or 10 inch pie pan. Flute rim. Chill while preparing filling ingredients.

Sprinkle all of Monterey Jack cheese and half the Cheddar cheese over prepared pie crust. Distribute chilies and pimiento over cheese. Beat eggs until frothy; add half and half and salt. Pour into pie crust, sprinkle with remaining Cheddar cheese. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 35 to 40 minutes longer or until center of pie is set. Allow pie to cool 10 to 15 minutes before cutting.

PINATA CANAPES

For 32 bite-size servings double all ingredients in above recipe. Fit double recipe of pie crust into 10 x 15 x 1 inch jelly roll pan (it is easier to roll out dough in two sections and pat together in the pan). Prepare filling and proceed as above. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes, reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 25 to 30 minutes or until set. Cool before cutting into pieces.



FLAVORFUL PINATA Cheese and Chili Pie is filled with pleasant surprises including Monterey Jack and Cheddar cheese and green chilies and pimientos.

Future Of Fashion Seen By Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it appears today that apparel may disappear mini-inch by mini-inch, designers still think fashion is here to stay for another decade or so.

Then what kind of styles will there be? More or less fabric? The prophetic viewpoint depends upon the couturier you ask.

In the eyes of Emilio Pucci, lord of tight silk pants and gaudy prints, homes will be sparsely furnished.

"The decor of house will be women's clothes," he says, "we will use clothes as art."

On the other hand, one of Lady Bird Johnson's favorite designers, Adele Simpson, is not so sure that the female species will be as esthetically attired as all that.

"We're approaching such a great scientific era that clothes will have relative unimportance," she says, in the same breath concluding that she of all designing people should not be saying such things. "I suspect we'll all be wearing some sort of insulated underwear and will be tying or snapping things onto this."

AND YET DESIGNERS agree about these things:

Chemical fibers as yet undiscovered will determine the kind of garments we will wear.

Costumes will generate their own heat, or will encourage the body to produce the exact healthful body temperatures needed.

The old way of stitching pieces of anything together will lose out to fusions, pressure, glues, or designs created whole or molded or knitted to form.

"The end has come to cutting a beautiful fabric into innumerable pieces and taking three weeks to sew them back together again," declares Ruben Torres, a 35-year-old designer for Warner Brothers lingeries.

For this firm he has molded bras and girdles and underwear, just the beginning for a fabulous future of stretch and molded fabrics which he foresees.

Betsy Johnson, an avant garde designer most sought after despite her mere 23 years, has already created costumes so startling to some that they are acceptable only in the sophisticated cities.

HERE ARE HER IDEAS:

"Sewing machines and expensive labor will be out. A tunic kind of thing over tights will come about, I think. Fabric houses will have to set machines to do tubular lengths and shapes.

"Leather is leather, and I wouldn't want a synthetic. But there are so many chemical substances with distinctive and potential personalities of their own—plastics tomorrow may really be breathable and malleable. . . .

"Paper dresses? I don't accept them as they are, not until they actually work as any other dress, not just as paper.

"What I hope to see is other woven materials—woven steel or lucite. Can you imagine how attractive woven colored wiring would be?

"Yes, I think heat will be built in, but I think wires and batteries will be confusing. I know batteries are campy now, but for the future I think the fabric itself will generate the bodily heat. We ourselves will be the perfect, unfailing thermostats."

America's great distaff designer, Pauline Trigere, agrees in part.

"I feel certain that materials made by man will be immediately attuned to the climate and will be very pliable.

"Women will wear some sort of body covers because they like to accumulate things. . . . I imagine that they will collect amusing frivolities to put on themselves in one way or another. Women love to decorate themselves.

"I imagine that someday our makeup will glow and we women will wear the wings of Mercury."

She didn't say "angels."

THE AMERICAN SPRING

DOTTY CULOTTES

Designer Anne Fogarty offers a white linen costume of culottes with natty black polka dots. Shaped into a dress-like outfit, the costume has the action-oriented style and practicality of shorts. (AP Wirephoto)

Seven College Conference To Sponsor Opening Night Jan. 21

When the first season of the American Conservatory Theatre opens Jan. 21 at the Geary Theater in San Francisco, the Seven College Conference will sponsor the opening and after-theater party. It will be a benefit for scholarships at the colleges — Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley.

Mrs. Charles Lester of Sausalito is chairman of the benefit. She is assisted by Mrs. Richard J. Melbostad of Mill Valley and Mrs. Harrison Dibblee Jr. of Ross. Mrs. Mark Noble is Marin County ticket chairman.

The funds from the opening and season ticket sales will benefit the scholarship funds. Moliere's "Tartuffe" is the opening play.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Man Leaves $1,000 To Wife For Stone–So She Buys A Diamond!

DEAR HELEN:

There's a joke that goes: A man left $1,000 in his will for a stone to his memory—so his wife bought herself a diamond.

There's more truth than fiction here. I happen to know my brother wanted a fine monument over his grave, and he put aside money for it. I visited his grave last week, two years after his death, and there was the cheapest of markers at it's head.

Yet my sister-in-law blossomed out with gorgeous mink stole soon after the funeral. We always wondered how she could afford it. Should I say something?—FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS:

I'm sure you will!

But unless your brother's will specified a certain amount for his gravestone, I'm afraid your s-in-l will continue wearing a "stole to his memory." She evidently got the "n" and "l" confused.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Can a husband sue his wife for divorce on grounds of "battery?" My son and his wife mix it up quite a bit, and he always comes out loser. She threw a glass at him once and he had to have five stitches. She broke his nose and put his jaw out of place in one of their battles. Last night she threw him down stairs, and he is in the hospital with a broken arm and a rupture, where she butted him in the solar plexus with her head.

Either he is so honorable he won't hit a woman or else he's no match for her, because she comes out with not even a bruise. I'm afraid, at this rate, she may "love" him into an early grave. You see, they insist they love each other. Isn't it safer for him to divorce her—if he has grounds?—CONCERNED DAD

DEAR DAD:

Grounds: yes. Inclination, no . . . . Your son evidently loves his Amazon. But I'd suggest he take a crash course in judo—and accident insurance, if any company will certify him.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have a slight problem. She works at the office with him. She's past 40 and he is 25. She keeps forcing her attentions on him.

I know he doesn't give her any encouragement; he's just too polite to say, "Beat it." It's starting to bother him because it's obvious what she wants. He wants to know if there is a way to tell her to act her age and quit bothering him without hurting her feelings.—CONCERNED WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

Sometimes the brutal truth is the only way to turn off aging females. If your husband can't cool this gal down with a mild freeze-out, then he'd better say, "Act your age and quit bothering me!"—H.

P.S. It might help to observe, "You're a lot like my mother—she's very young for 52."—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I always hoped my son would marry a good Christian wife. But he met up with this girl who never went to church before meeting him. He works through the week and preaches on Sundays. He lost one church because the congregation didn't like her. You should have heard how they talked about her at our missionary meeting. They knew she was only going to church because of him.

Now he's got another church and she sits in the back row and won't make their year-old baby behave. She lets strangers hold the baby but not me. It plays and giggles through the sermon and my son doesn't even call her down for it. She is cold and rude to me, and I told my son he couldn't serve the Lord and her, but he still gives her the world on a golden platter, while I get the back of her hand. He is a good boy and I pray for a miracle that will make him see the light. What else can I do?—YOURS IN CHRIST

DEAR YOURS:

I think you've done quite enough! Your text to study: "Love thine enemy." (And she may learn to love you.)—H.

Designers Preview The 1967 Fashionables

Future Of Fashion Seen By Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it appears today that apparel may disappear mini-inch by mini-inch, designers still think fashion is here to stay for another decade or so.

Then what kind of styles will there be? More or less fabric? The prophetic viewpoint depends upon the couturier you ask.

In the eyes of Emilio Pucci, lord of tight silk pants and gaudy prints, homes will be sparsely furnished.

"The decor of house will be women's clothes," he says, "we will use clothes as art."

On the other hand, one of Lady Bird Johnson's favorite designers, Adele Simpson, is not so sure that the female species will be as esthetically attired as all that.

"We're approaching such a great scientific era that clothes will have relative unimportance," she says, in the same breath concluding that she of all designing people should not be saying such things. "I suspect we'll all be wearing some sort of insulated underwear and will be tying or snapping things onto this."

AND YET DESIGNERS agree about these things:

Chemical fibers as yet undiscovered will determine the kind of garments we will wear.

Costumes will generate their own heat, or will encourage the body to produce the exact healthful body temperatures needed.

The old way of stitching pieces of anything together will lose out to fusions, pressure, glues, or designs created whole or molded or knitted to form.

"The end has come to cutting a beautiful fabric into innumerable pieces and taking three weeks to sew them back together again," declares Ruben Torres, a 35-year-old designer for Warner Brothers lingeries.

For this firm he has molded bras and girdles and underwear, just the beginning for a fabulous future of stretch and molded fabrics which he foresees.

Betsy Johnson, an avant garde designer most sought after despite her mere 23 years, has already created costumes so startling to some that they are acceptable only in the sophisticated cities.

HERE ARE HER IDEAS:

"Sewing machines and expensive labor will be out. A tunic kind of thing over tights will come about, I think. Fabric houses will have to set machines to do tubular lengths and shapes.

"Leather is leather, and I wouldn't want a synthetic. But there are so many chemical substances with distinctive and potential personalities of their own—plastics tomorrow may really be breathable and malleable. . . .

"Paper dresses? I don't accept them as they are, not until they actually work as any other dress, not just as paper.

"What I hope to see is other woven materials—woven steel or lucite. Can you imagine how attractive woven colored wiring would be?

"Yes, I think heat will be built in, but I think wires and batteries will be confusing. I know batteries are campy now, but for the future I think the fabric itself will generate the bodily heat. We ourselves will be the perfect, unfailing thermostats."

America's great distaff designer, Pauline Trigere, agrees in part.

"I feel certain that materials made by man will be immediately attuned to the climate and will be very pliable.

"Women will wear some sort of body covers because they like to accumulate things. . . . I imagine that they will collect amusing frivolities to put on themselves in one way or another. Women love to decorate themselves.

"I imagine that someday our makeup will glow and we women will wear the wings of Mercury."

She didn't say "angels."

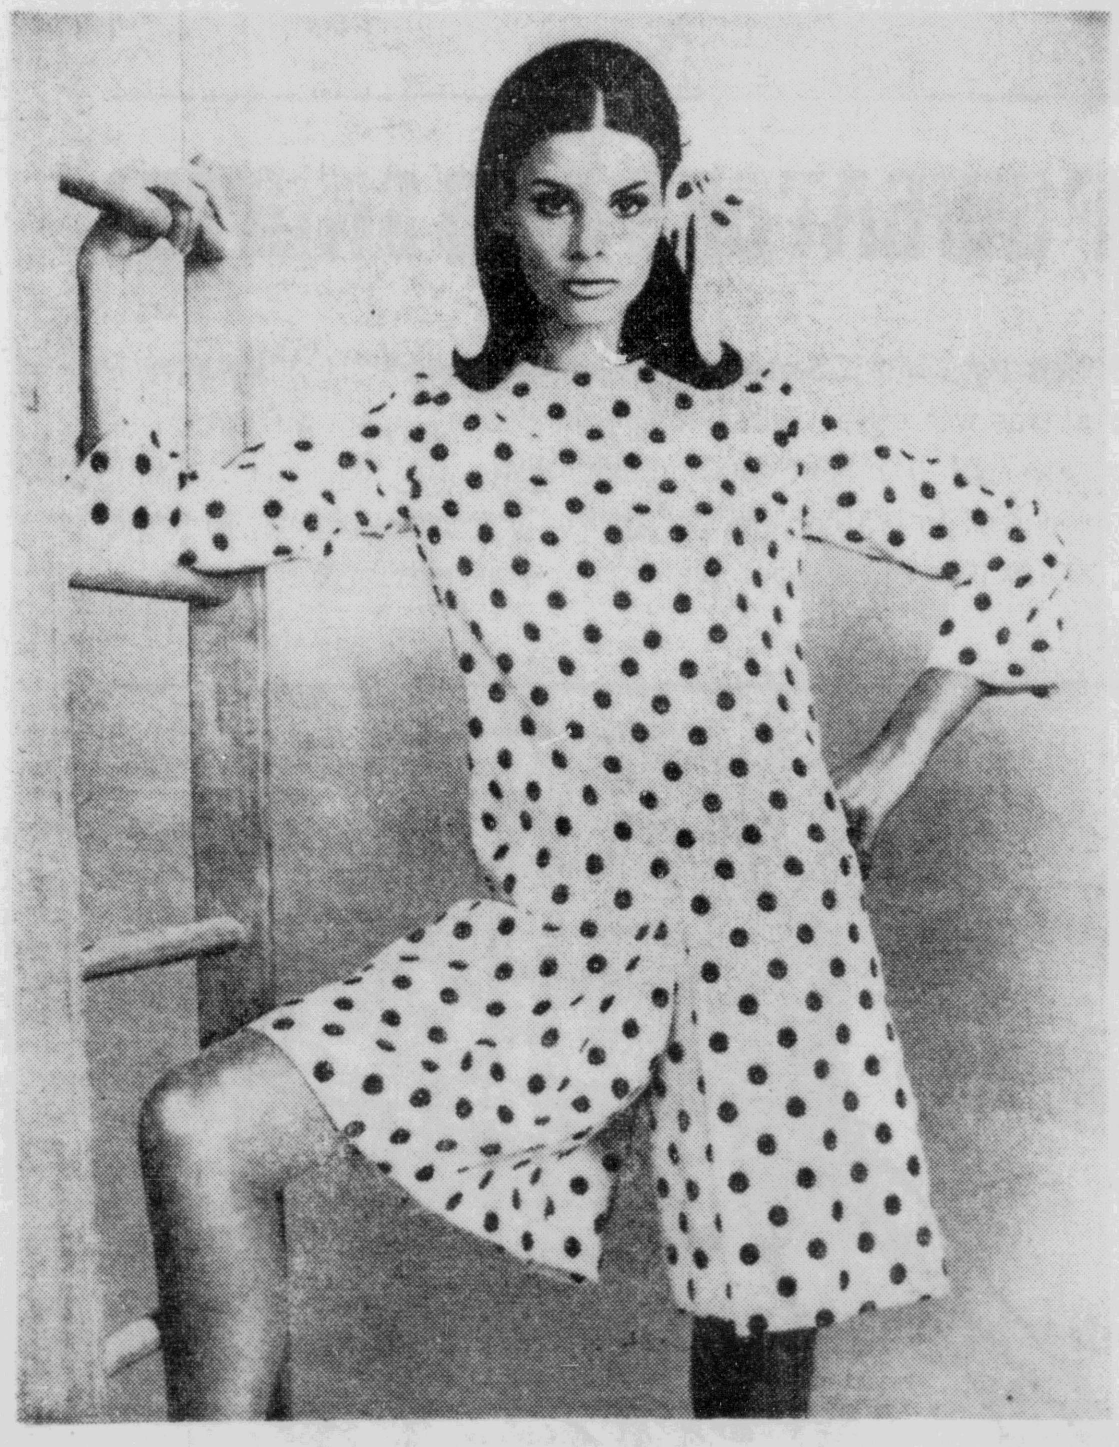
Monte Sano and Pruzan does a suit dress, at left, in orange and black squares on a white background. The top is a blending brown. Girl watcher is song writer Mike Stoller. Spring designs are being unveiled this month in New York. At center, a white cocktail dress by Hannah Troy features sculptured shoulders and slanting skirt in the silk and worsted fabric to give an air of elegance. At right is Morty Sussman's design for Jobere, a textured wool print for a swinging coat in pink, beige, and purple over shocking pink chiffon dress.



DOTTY CULOTTES

Designer Anne Fogarty offers a white linen costume of culottes with natty black polka dots. Shaped into a dress-like outfit, the costume has the action-oriented style and practicality of shorts. (AP Wirephoto)

'WHAT WOMAN'

Director Evaluates Terms Of Maturity

By BETTY FROST

"Maturity involves working without being a slave and playing without feeling you ought to be working," said Mrs. Shirley Gerke Luthman, director of counseling of the Family Service Agency of Marin, when she spoke at the "What Woman Are You?" lecture yesterday at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon.

Giving insight into the topic, "Maturity requires evaluation," the psychiatric social worker discussed some other qualification for maturity.

"The mature person is guided by long-term purposes rather than immediate desires," she explained," but we are 'grabbers,' often taking now because we think we may never have another chance. This often indicates low self-esteem, or goals that are set so far into the future their attainment seems out of the question.

"HUMANS NEED to feel that they are growing creatively," the speaker continued. She gave the following definition of "normal: Growing and performing, symptom-free." When personal development is thwarted over a long period of time, some "symptom" is bound to result. In a child it may be poor achievement at school, and an adult may take the physical form of an ulcer."

The best motivation that a parent can provide a child is the example of mature self-development within the framework of a healthy self-esteem. "Self sacrifice places the burden on others," the speaker commented.

"A mature person is able to accept the authority of others without rebellion or self-abdication," Mrs. Luthman stated." To a child, inconsistency in use of authority comes across as lack of caring.

"We can govern our behavior, but not our feelings. If we can stay with the issue in our family discussions, we will be all right. But usually arguments get involved with 'If you loved me you would mend your ways.' Then we are no longer talking about the issue (Jane should do the dishes), but about love."

"THE MATURE PERSON can accept himself as an authority without feeling rejected by minor dissension. In any position of authority the only thing that is necessary is to always be in charge of oneself," Mrs. Luthman emphasized.

She said that our most intimate relationships are involved with giving and taking. The ability to give is dependent upon the ability to take. Some find it harder to receive. The giver often has his reward in the pleasure he knows his gift will bring. A gift given "with strings" or made with great personal sacrifice can make the recipient miserable.

Everyone can accept rules if they are designed to fit an occasion and an individual rather than an arbitrary statement of right and wrong, the speaker concluded.

Childbirth Classes To Open

The Education for Childbirth program will open a nine week series of classes for expectant mothers in San Rafel on Thursday from 1 to 2:30 p. m.

Registered physical therapist Mrs. Margaret B. Farley will instruct the course at the office of physical therapist, Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown, 711 D Street Annex, San Rafael.

The nine meetings will include training in exercises for relaxation, breathing techniques and posture control. Emphasis is placed on understanding the process of pregnancy and labor as well as the importance of exercise.

The expectant mother must have written permission from her physician in order to enroll in the series. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Brown's office.

HELEN HELP US!

Man Leaves $1,000 To Wife For Stone–So She Buys A Diamond!

DEAR HELEN:

There's a joke that goes: A man left $1,000 in his will for a stone to his memory—so his wife bought herself a diamond.

There's more truth than fiction here. I happen to know my brother wanted a fine monument over his grave, and he put aside money for it. I visited his grave last week, two years after his death, and there was the cheapest of markers at it's head.

Yet my sister-in-law blossomed out with gorgeous mink stole soon after the funeral. We always wondered how she could afford it. Should I say something?—FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS:

I'm sure you will!

But unless your brother's will specified a certain amount for his gravestone, I'm afraid your s-in-l will continue wearing a "stole to his memory." She evidently got the "n" and "l" confused.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Can a husband sue his wife for divorce on grounds of "battery?" My son and his wife mix it up quite a bit, and he always comes out loser. She threw a glass at him once and he had to have five stitches. She broke his nose and put his jaw out of place in one of their battles. Last night she threw him down stairs, and he is in the hospital with a broken arm and a rupture, where she butted him in the solar plexus with her head.

Either he is so honorable he won't hit a woman or else he's no match for her, because she comes out with not even a bruise. I'm afraid, at this rate, she may "love" him into an early grave. You see, they insist they love each other. Isn't it safer for him to divorce her—if he has grounds?—CONCERNED DAD

DEAR DAD:

Grounds: yes. Inclination, no . . . . Your son evidently loves his Amazon. But I'd suggest he take a crash course in judo—and accident insurance, if any company will certify him.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have a slight problem. She works at the office with him. She's past 40 and he is 25. She keeps forcing her attentions on him.

I know he doesn't give her any encouragement; he's just too polite to say, "Beat it." It's starting to bother him because it's obvious what she wants. He wants to know if there is a way to tell her to act her age and quit bothering him without hurting her feelings.—CONCERNED WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

Sometimes the brutal truth is the only way to turn off aging females. If your husband can't cool this gal down with a mild freeze-out, then he'd better say, "Act your age and quit bothering me!"—H.

P.S. It might help to observe, "You're a lot like my mother—she's very young for 52."—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I always hoped my son would marry a good Christian wife. But he met up with this girl who never went to church before meeting him. He works through the week and preaches on Sundays. He lost one church because the congregation didn't like her. You should have heard how they talked about her at our missionary meeting. They knew she was only going to church because of him.

Now he's got another church and she sits in the back row and won't make their year-old baby behave. She lets strangers hold the baby but not me. It plays and giggles through the sermon and my son doesn't even call her down for it. She is cold and rude to me, and I told my son he couldn't serve the Lord and her, but he still gives her the world on a golden platter, while I get the back of her hand. He is a good boy and I pray for a miracle that will make him see the light. What else can I do?—YOURS IN CHRIST

DEAR YOURS:

I think you've done quite enough! Your text to study: "Love thine enemy." (And she may learn to love you.)—H.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Touch Of The Poet' Does Well By O'Neill

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO—Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" is but one portion of a huge cycle on which the prolific writer worked for the last 12 years of his life. It is the only remaining portion, since he destroyed the remainder.

Judging from this portion, the whole would have been a colossal work, tracing from the American revolution to early 20th Century the interlocked fates of a family of American aristocrats and a family of Irish immigrants.

Standing alone, "A Touch of the Poet" is a sensitive study of a man—Cornelius Melody—who tortures his wife and daughter by his insistence on living in the past, aided by an always-present bottle. The violent friction between Sara, the daughter, and her father makes for many high dramatic moments in a play which is—like all O'Neill—overly talky at times.

National Repertory Theater's production which opened at the Curran last night overcomes much of O'Neill's wordiness with the intensely sincere performances of its leading characters under Jack Sydow's perceptive direction. It is played in a superb single set designed by Will Steven Armstrong.

Basically this is a two-person play. It must stand or fall on the performances of Melody and Sara. It stands tall in this case with the work of Denholm Elliott and Jeanne Hepple.

To Elliott goes the task of making believable a man who postures before the mirror, reciting Byron's poetry one moment, and calls his daughter a peasant slut the next; who returns from incoherent drunkenness to complete lucidity in a sentence.

Elliott plays Con Melody with consummate artistry, orating, ranting, patently deceiving himself, yet never striking a false note. He presents one of the finest portrayals to grace a San Francisco stage in a long while.

Miss Hepple faces the equally difficult problem of a girl who must stand up against her overpowering father, top him at times, and yet retain our sympathy; then gradually reveal that she is beset by the same prideful character defect which she deplores in him.

This she does with continuing conviction. She is particularly good in the scene when she has just come from her lover's bed—for the first time—and sits, barely listening, as her mother rambles on. With no obvious projection of emotion, Miss Hepple manages to convey a sense of complete fulfillment.

Nora Melody, the mother is played with sympathetic understanding by Priscilla Morrill, while Sloane Shelton contributes an excellent vignette as the lover's mother. The lover, incidentally, we never see, but feel that he is someone we know through the constant reference to him.

G. Wood does well with Con's old army buddy, Jamie Cregan, after a slightly unintelligible beginning, and other small roles are played with deft accuracy by members of the ensemble.

This is a serious play with a few laughs, although there are many warm undercurrents of humor running through it. But it is a play that should be seen, if only to appreciate the incredible talent O'Neill had for revealing character.

It will alternate with "The Imaginary Invalid'' and "Tonight at 8:30" through Jan. 21, with evening performances at 8:30 except on Sundays, and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 2:30.

Dr. Aby Asks Tolerance On Remark

San Rafael City Councilman Charles W. Aby tried last night to win a little Christian tolerance.

Two weeks ago, during discussion of the banning of carol singing in the halls of San Rafael High School, Dr. Aby made the remark that objectors should remember "this was founded as a Christian nation, and others are here by sufferance."

The result, he reported at last night's council meeting, was a spate of telephone calls and letters, calling him various things including a Nazi.

"I am not opposed to religious freedom," he declared. "There is nothing in my background to indicate this.

"I am a little appalled . . . Some of the mail I have had is certainly more far out than the statement I made . . . Many of our traditions are Christian in background . . .

"I am not anti-religious in any form. I believe anyone may worship as he pleases, believe as he pleases, and demonstrate as he pleases, as long as he does not violate the law."

All other members of the council agreed that Dr. Aby's comment, made during the carol discussion had not appeared to them as a slur on anyone's religion or lack of it.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said he had read some of the letters Aby received, and wondered whether the writers "also wrote to the school and questioned the right of restricting someone's religious freedom by restricting Christmas carols."

MARIN SINGERS IN OPERAS

Nichols (left), a Fairfax school teacher, and Kenneth Rowland (right) of San Rafael. City-County Planning Idea Rejected By San Rafael

The City of San Rafael is not interested in a cooperative effort with the County of Marin toward a countywide zoning ordinance.

The city council made that plain last night by unanimously approving, with little discussion, a recommendation by the city planning commission that the county proposal be rejected.

"We are already in progress on our own new zoning ordinance. I see no reason for going in with the county,'' said Councilman Charles W. Aby.

San Marin Rec Club Looted Of $170 Cash

Someone took $170 in cash from the office of th San Marin Recreation Club at 351 San Andreas Drive, Novato, Mrs. Dorothy Weston, club director, yesterday reported to Novato police.

There was no sign of forced entry, according to police.

Fishing Proposal On Board's Agenda

A senior citizens' fishing platform proposal will be discussed by Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners tomorrow at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

New member of the group, Joseph Bacheller III, will take his seat for the first time. Hiking and bicycle trails, the budget and a policy on accepting land for dedication will also be discussed.

San Rafael's Ballot May Be Automated

Votomatic voting machines may be used in the April 10 municipal election in San Rafael.

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell proposed their use at last night's city council meeting, but said he was not sure whether it would be legal under the city charter.

He said paper ballots should be used for voting on board of education members outside the city limits, the ballot being too short to justify the Votomatic punch-cards.

In the city itself, however, there will be a long ballot — including mayor, two councilmen, police chief, city clerk and city attorney, two board of education members, and a yet-undetermined number of city charter revisions.

The council unanimously approved Cornwell's suggestion, provided City Atty. David Menary Jr. finds no charter provision preventing the punch-card voting.

Cornwell informed the council that its Feb. 6 meeting will be the last at which to put the charter amendments on the ballot. The council is to meet with the charter revision committee Jan. 11. Mayor C. Paul Bettini said councilmen will attempt to complete action on the charter amendments at its Jan. 16 meeting.

Parking On Agenda

A request by Trident Productions for relief from requirements for off-street parking at the old Purity store site will be heard today by Sausalito Planning Commission at 8 p.m. at City Hall. Small shops are planned for the site.

'WHAT WOMAN'

Director Evaluates Terms Of Maturity

By BETTY FROST

"Maturity involves working without being a slave and playing without feeling you ought to be working," said Mrs. Shirley Gerke Luthman, director of counseling of the Family Service Agency of Marin, when she spoke at the "What Woman Are You?" lecture yesterday at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon.

Giving insight into the topic, "Maturity requires evaluation," the psychiatric social worker discussed some other qualification for maturity.

"The mature person is guided by long-term purposes rather than immediate desires," she explained," but we are 'grabbers,' often taking now because we think we may never have another chance. This often indicates low self-esteem, or goals that are set so far into the future their attainment seems out of the question.

"HUMANS NEED to feel that they are growing creatively," the speaker continued. She gave the following definition of "normal: Growing and performing, symptom-free." When personal development is thwarted over a long period of time, some "symptom" is bound to result. In a child it may be poor achievement at school, and an adult may take the physical form of an ulcer."

The best motivation that a parent can provide a child is the example of mature self-development within the framework of a healthy self-esteem. "Self sacrifice places the burden on others," the speaker commented.

"A mature person is able to accept the authority of others without rebellion or self-abdication," Mrs. Luthman stated." To a child, inconsistency in use of authority comes across as lack of caring.

"We can govern our behavior, but not our feelings. If we can stay with the issue in our family discussions, we will be all right. But usually arguments get involved with 'If you loved me you would mend your ways.' Then we are no longer talking about the issue (Jane should do the dishes), but about love."

"THE MATURE PERSON can accept himself as an authority without feeling rejected by minor dissension. In any position of authority the only thing that is necessary is to always be in charge of oneself," Mrs. Luthman emphasized.

She said that our most intimate relationships are involved with giving and taking. The ability to give is dependent upon the ability to take. Some find it harder to receive. The giver often has his reward in the pleasure he knows his gift will bring. A gift given "with strings" or made with great personal sacrifice can make the recipient miserable.

Everyone can accept rules if they are designed to fit an occasion and an individual rather than an arbitrary statement of right and wrong, the speaker concluded.

Childbirth Classes To Open

The Education for Childbirth program will open a nine week series of classes for expectant mothers in San Rafel on Thursday from 1 to 2:30 p. m.

Registered physical therapist Mrs. Margaret B. Farley will instruct the course at the office of physical therapist, Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown, 711 D Street Annex, San Rafael.

The nine meetings will include training in exercises for relaxation, breathing techniques and posture control. Emphasis is placed on understanding the process of pregnancy and labor as well as the importance of exercise.

The expectant mother must have written permission from her physician in order to enroll in the series. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Brown's office.

Donna Tringali Is Bride In San Rafael

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding of Donna Anne Tringali and Ronald J. Green Jr. of Novato on Saturday at noon.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Tringali of San Rafael, Donna recited her vows wearing a full length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta with a chapel train.

Mrs. Charlotte Rocha was matron of honor for her sister, and their sister, Sharon Tringali, was the bridesmaid. The matron of honor wore a beige lace over taffeta sheath dress with pink accents, and Sharon's dress was similar with blue accents.

The bridegroom's brother, Timothy Green of Novato, served as best man. Ushers were John W. Rentz and Kevin Downey, both of Novato.

A reception was given afterward at Cloud Five restaurant in Novato. The couple left on a Lake Tahoe wedding trip and will return to live in San Rafael.

The bride is a San Rafael High School graduate and is employed with Luana's in San Rafael. She is the sister of Don Tringali, stationed with the Army in Germany, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastiano Tringali of San Anselmo.

Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Green of Novato. He is a graduate of Novato High School and College of Marin and is employed with the Novato Police Dept.

Garages Fail To Turn In Towing Bids

Nobody, apparently, wants a contract to tow away cars parked illegally in San Rafael tow-away zones.

Opening of bids on the job was scheduled at last night's city council meeting, but City Clerk W. C. Cornwell reported he had not received a single bid.

The council put the matter over for one month, instructing City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to meet meantime with garage owners and find out why none of them bid.

Shot, Cry Of Pain

Edmond A. Winkleman of 949 Tiburon Boulevard told the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station he heard a shot near his house last weekend and the cry of a dog in pain, then saw two boys running up the hill with a rifle. Since then, he said, he has not been able to locate his Australian shepherd dog.

Council Orders Revival Of Corporation Yard Plan

The San Rafael City Council last night directed the city planner to revive a two-year-old plan for rezoning the city corporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard, as a first step toward its sale.

The council recently offered to exchange part of the 7.4-acre property with the County of Marin for the courthouse square. County supervisors took no action on the proposal, and shortly thereafter received an offer of $900,000 for the square, resulting in decision to call for bids on it.

Over two years ago, consultant Daniel P. Coleman prepared a plan for the city-owned property, which lies between Francisco Boulevard and the San Rafael Canal, calling for a commercial recreation zone to be developed as a marina with parking and boat launching facilities. The plan received official commendation but the rezoning was not carried through.

Last night, the council directed City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner to revive the idea and ask the planning commission to proceed on rezoning.

Powell Plans To Meet Foes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., confident his House colleagues will not deny him his seat, plans to meet head-on any effort to strip him of his committee chairmanship.

The controversial Harlem congressman has sent word from his vacation hideaway in the Bahamas that he will attend a caucus of House Democrats Monday to fight any effort to depose him as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

C. Sumner Stone, Powell's top aide, said Powell is no longer worried that he might be denied his seat when Congress convenes Tuesday.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Touch Of The Poet' Does Well By O'Neill

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO—Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" is but one portion of a huge cycle on which the prolific writer worked for the last 12 years of his life. It is the only remaining portion, since he destroyed the remainder.

Judging from this portion, the whole would have been a colossal work, tracing from the American revolution to early 20th Century the interlocked fates of a family of American aristocrats and a family of Irish immigrants.

Standing alone, "A Touch of the Poet" is a sensitive study of a man—Cornelius Melody—who tortures his wife and daughter by his insistence on living in the past, aided by an always-present bottle. The violent friction between Sara, the daughter, and her father makes for many high dramatic moments in a play which is—like all O'Neill—overly talky at times.

National Repertory Theater's production which opened at the Curran last night overcomes much of O'Neill's wordiness with the intensely sincere performances of its leading characters under Jack Sydow's perceptive direction. It is played in a superb single set designed by Will Steven Armstrong.

Basically this is a two-person play. It must stand or fall on the performances of Melody and Sara. It stands tall in this case with the work of Denholm Elliott and Jeanne Hepple.

To Elliott goes the task of making believable a man who postures before the mirror, reciting Byron's poetry one moment, and calls his daughter a peasant slut the next; who returns from incoherent drunkenness to complete lucidity in a sentence.

Elliott plays Con Melody with consummate artistry, orating, ranting, patently deceiving himself, yet never striking a false note. He presents one of the finest portrayals to grace a San Francisco stage in a long while.

Miss Hepple faces the equally difficult problem of a girl who must stand up against her overpowering father, top him at times, and yet retain our sympathy; then gradually reveal that she is beset by the same prideful character defect which she deplores in him.

This she does with continuing conviction. She is particularly good in the scene when she has just come from her lover's bed—for the first time—and sits, barely listening, as her mother rambles on. With no obvious projection of emotion, Miss Hepple manages to convey a sense of complete fulfillment.

Nora Melody, the mother is played with sympathetic understanding by Priscilla Morrill, while Sloane Shelton contributes an excellent vignette as the lover's mother. The lover, incidentally, we never see, but feel that he is someone we know through the constant reference to him.

G. Wood does well with Con's old army buddy, Jamie Cregan, after a slightly unintelligible beginning, and other small roles are played with deft accuracy by members of the ensemble.

This is a serious play with a few laughs, although there are many warm undercurrents of humor running through it. But it is a play that should be seen, if only to appreciate the incredible talent O'Neill had for revealing character.

It will alternate with "The Imaginary Invalid" and "Tonight at 8:30" through Jan. 21, with evening performances at 8:30 except on Sundays, and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 2:30.

Dr. Aby Asks Tolerance On Remark

San Rafael City Councilman Charles W. Aby tried last night to win a little Christian tolerance.

Two weeks ago, during discussion of the banning of carol singing in the halls of San Rafael High School, Dr. Aby made the remark that objectors should remember "this was founded as a Christian nation, and others are here by sufferance."

The result, he reported at last night's council meeting, was a spate of telephone calls and letters, calling him various things including a Nazi.

"I am not opposed to religious freedom," he declared. "There is nothing in my background to indicate this.

"I am a little appalled . . . Some of the mail I have had is certainly more far out than the statement I made . . . Many of our traditions are Christian in background . . .

"I am not anti-religious in any form. I believe anyone may worship as he pleases, believe as he pleases, and demonstrate as he pleases, as long as he does not violate the law."

All other members of the council agreed that Dr. Aby's comment, made during the carol discussion had not appeared to them as a slur on anyone's religion or lack of it.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said he had read some of the letters Aby received, and wondered whether the writers "also wrote to the school and questioned the right of restricting someone's religious freedom by restricting Christmas carols."

MARIN SINGERS IN OPERAS

Featured roles in the Festival Theater-College of Marin Opera Workshop productions of "Tale of a Deaf Ear" and "Trouble in Tahiti" opening Friday will be sung by J. D. Nichols (left), a Fairfax school teacher, and Kenneth Rowland (right) of San Rafael. Performances will be Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. through Jan. 22 at Festival Theater at Bolinas Avenue and Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

City-County Planning Idea Rejected By San Rafael

The City of San Rafael is not interested in a cooperative effort with the County of Marin toward a countywide zoning ordinance.

The city council made that plain last night by unanimously approving, with little discussion, a recommendation by the city planning commission that the county proposal be rejected.

"We are already in progress on our own new zoning ordinance. I see no reason for going in with the county," said Councilman Charles W. Aby.

San Marin Rec Club Looted Of $170 Cash

Someone took $170 in cash from the office of th San Marin Recreation Club at 351 San Andreas Drive, Novato, Mrs. Dorothy Weston, club director, yesterday reported to Novato police.

There was no sign of forced entry, according to police.

Fishing Proposal On Board's Agenda

A senior citizens' fishing platform proposal will be discussed by Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners tomorrow at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

New member of the group, Joseph Bacheller III, will take his seat for the first time. Hiking and bicycle trails, the budget and a policy on accepting land for dedication will also be discussed.

San Rafael's Ballot May Be Automated

Votomatic voting machines may be used in the April 10 municipal election in San Rafael.

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell proposed their use at last night's city council meeting, but said he was not sure whether it would be legal under the city charter.

He said paper ballots should be used for voting on board of education members outside the city limits, the ballot being too short to justify the Votomatic punch-cards.

In the city itself, however, there will be a long ballot — including mayor, two councilmen, police chief, city clerk and city attorney, two board of education members, and a yet-undetermined number of city charter revisions.

The council unanimously approved Cornwell's suggestion, provided City Atty. David Menary Jr. finds no charter provision preventing the punch-card voting.

Cornwell informed the council that its Feb. 6 meeting will be the last at which to put the charter amendments on the ballot. The council is to meet with the charter revision committee Jan. 11. Mayor C. Paul Bettini said councilmen will attempt to complete action on the charter amendments at its Jan. 16 meeting.

Art Commission Voted By Mill Valley Council

Mill Valley City Council last night introduced an ordinance creating a seven-member art commission, over strong objections by Councilman George E. Wickham.

The vote was 3-1, with Wickham the lone dissenter, and Councilman Michael Wornum absent.

Wickham said he felt it was not necessary to create another city commission. He contended the city was leaning toward the point where "everything is going to be governed by some commission."

Mayor Albert E. White said the move to create an art commission was an outgrowth of the formation of a mayor's art committee last May.

Setting up a commission by ordinance would "give it access to City Hall, a voice before the council and city sanction," he said.

Wickham said, "I don't think the majority want an art commission which would require additional taxes." Some overhead costs would be charged to the commission, and in time "no doubt there would be a budget for the commission," he said.

White replied, "It's not inconceivable that the commission could pay its way."

Councilman Roderic L. Robinson said, "By passing this, we're not spending money and not increasing taxes, but encouraging arts."

Wickham replied, "Have you ever seen a program start that hasn't snowballed into costing money?"

White said the council "is not spending money in vain, and is not spending money fruitlessly."

Under the proposed ordinance, seven persons from the fields of visual and performing arts would be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council.

They would serve for three-year terms, but the initial group would have staggered terms, two serving until Feb. 15, 1968; two until Feb. 15, 1969, and three until Feb. 15, 1970.

Their task would be "to encourage, promote and foster visual and performing arts in Mill Valley."

The commission also would make recommendations on the selection, purchase and display of temporary or permanent exhibits, festivals and theater and music performances in the city.

It also would make recommendations on requests of any organization or group for use of city buildings, parks and other public facilities for art festivals, displays, exhibits, theater, music or dance performances or other art forms.

The ordinance also provides that the commission may accept monies from public and private sources to carry out its duties.

After the ordinance was introduced, White reported that a joint committee of city and Mill Valley School District officials resolved Dec. 20 that Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck, San Francisco landscape architects, do the master planning for school and recreation facilities at the Project 17 site.

School officials will negotiate the price, White said. The council agreed in October to share the cost of the master planning with the school district.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Unanimously passed an ordinance deleting a portion of a previous ordinance which forbade city officials or employees from disclosing the financial status of the Mill Valley Refuse Co., effective in 30 days.
2. Received a report that more than half of the 28 firms that had non-conforming signs have complied with the city's sign ordinance.
3. Granted Larry Brink a variance to permit a total of 158 square feet of signs at his car agency at 250 Blithedale Avenue, as compared to the 100 square feet permitted by the sign ordinance. Brink has sought signs totaling 240 square feet.
4. Instituted condemnation action against Charles H. Pearmain, 50 Shelley Drive, for a 10-foot slope and drainage easement needed for rebuilding of East Blithedale Avenue between Camino Alto and Highway 101. City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said the ditch along the south side of East Blithedale in that area is a health hazard.
5. Granted the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce permission to hang a banner across East Blithedale Avenue to advertise Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, Jan. 15-21.
6. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Jan. 16.

Marijuana Possession Charge Is Dropped

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court yesterday dismissed a felony complaint of marijuana possession against David Dodds Jr., 18, on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Anthony said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales made the decision because Dodds, of 5 Helens Lane, Mill Valley, has begun active duty in the Marine Corps. He was accused of having about two ounces of marijuana when questioned by sheriff's deputies at C's Drive In, 510 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, on Nov. 1.

Jury Trial Slated For Petty Theft

Trial by jury of Shirley Anne Ogletree, charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of March 20.

The defendant, 23, of San Francisco, allegedly took three women's suits from Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera last Jan. 31.

Conference Of Firemen To Be Held This Month

The San Rafael Fire Department will host a conference of the Northern California Firemen's Assn. Jan. 13 through 15 at the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael.

The program will include election of officers, a demonstration of fire equipment, and a wind-up banquet at San Quentin Prison.

Registration will be the evening of Jan. 13 and the morning of Jan. 14. A board of director's meeting also will be held Jan. 13.

The program Jan. 14 will feature a talk on fighting brush and forest fires, instruction of the use of fire-fighting chemicals, and a luncheon address by San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett.

San Rafael fire engineer James Kennon is conference chairman.

Businesses Asked To Keep Check On Directory Billings

Chambers of commerce in Marin are issuing their annual warnings to businessmen to look carefully at what appear to be bills from telephone, utility and similar public service companies.

They may be cleverly disguised solicitations for listing in some business directory at a fancy price.

In many instances, according to Mgr. Jack Alvarado of the San Rafael chamber, these solicitations go to bookkeepers who, mistaking them for bills for a service ordered by the company, remit the money requested.

Last week, the Associated Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors of Marin-Sonoma-Mendocino Conuties forwarded a solicitation from "Classified Business Directory" of P. O. Box 24631, Los Angeles, to Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael).

The association noted that the Southern California firm is "operating within the law," but said it "exemplifies billings we and our members have received for services or products not ordered." The association said it would support Bagley in any effort at a solution to solicitations that appear to be billings.

New Fashions For The Topless Bars

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board has revealed its 1967 fashions for the state's topless go-go bars.

Fully topless styles are out but topless attire covering the breasts with pasties, is in. This was the finding yesterday in three cases involving Southern California establishments.

Bolinas Lagoon Zoning Policy Is Challenged

Thomas J. Barfield, new director of the Bolinas Harbor District and partner in a San Francisco law firm, has challenged the opinion of Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that supervisors may zone the Bolinas Lagoon.

The county's contention, he said, "Is not only untenable but, in my opinion, a flaunting of the law and an attempt to intimidate a small number of respectful citizens."

Barfield agreed that, in some circumstances, 1965 amendments to the government code allow counties to zone public lands of the state.

The amendments, though, "presuppose that the state has taken no prior action in this regard. Here the state, by the harbor district enabling act and amendment, took prior action," he asserted.

Maloney said yesterday it is the county's position that the law gives counties the right to zone land inside special districts.

There are a few exceptions, such as school districts, but these are carefully listed, he said. "The harbor district is no different from the Marin Municipal Water District or other districts whose land the county now zones," Maloney said.

"We contend the county can zone the land and water there; they say we can't. That's what makes a horse race. That's what makes a law suit."

Barfield pointed out that the harbor district has the right of annexation and the right of eminent domain.

"As you know, this is frequently used as the criteria or test as to what agency has jurisdiction," Barfield said.

Thomas A. Edison's first "talking machine" was developed in 1877.

King's British Leanings Hit

CAIRO (UPI)—The government-owned Cairo newspaper Al Ahram today accused Saudi Arabian King Faisal of "continuing collusion" with Britain. The accusation heightened a crisis gripping the Middle East that threatens to pit Arab against Arab in open conflict.

The charge followed by a day the announcement from the extremist Cairo-based Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) that it planned to mount a wave of violence at the palace of Jordan's tough young King Hussein and the homes of his cabinet ministers.

Meeting Rescheduled

The regular meeting last night of Alto Sanitary District directors was postponed to Monday at 8 p.m. for lack of a quorum, director Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported. The board meets in the firehouse at 27 Shell Road.

MILL VALLEY TO HAVE CHESS TOURNEY

L. A. Post, president and founder of Mill Valley Chess Club, practices with Alan Benson of San Leandro for the third annual open chess tournament to be sponsored by the club Saturday and Sunday at the Community and Youth Center, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto. The five-round Swiss tournament will start at 10 a.m. on the first day.

Garages Fail To Turn In Towing Bids

Nobody, apparently, wants a contract to tow away cars parked illegally in San Rafael tow-away zones.

Opening of bids on the job was scheduled at last night's city council meeting, but City Clerk W. C. Cornwell reported he had not received a single bid.

The council put the matter over for one month, instructing City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to meet meantime with garage owners and find out why none of them bid.

Protestant Named To Jesuit Faculty

Officials at the Jesuit institution said yesterday the Rev. Robert L. Wilken, 30, a Lutheran Church historian, would join the faculty in September.

Shot, Cry Of Pain

Edmond A. Winkleman of 949 Tiburon Boulevard told the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station he heard a shot near his house last weekend and the cry of a dog in pain, then saw two boys running up the hill with a rifle. Since then, he said, he has not been able to locate his Australian shepherd dog.

Council Orders Revival Of Corporation Yard Plan

The San Rafael City Council last night directed the city planner to revive a two-year-old plan for rezoning the city corporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard, as a first step toward its sale.

The council recently offered to exchange part of the 7.4-acre property with the County of Marin for the courthouse square. County supervisors took no action on the proposal, and shortly thereafter received an offer of $900,000 for the square, resulting in decision to call for bids on it.

Over two years ago, consultant Daniel P. Coleman prepared a plan for the city-owned property, which lies between Francisco Boulevard and the San Rafael Canal, calling for a commercial recreation zone to be developed as a marina with parking and boat launching facilities. The plan received official commendation but the rezoning was not carried through.

Last night, the council directed City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner to revive the idea and ask the planning commission to proceed on rezoning.

Powell Plans To Meet Foes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., confident his House colleagues will not deny him his seat, plans to meet head-on any effort to strip him of his committee chairmanship.

The controversial Harlem congressman has sent word from his vacation hideaway in the Bahamas that he will attend a caucus of House Democrats Monday to fight any effort to depose him as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

C. Sumner Stone, Powell's top aide, said Powell is no longer worried that he might be denied his seat when Congress convenes Tuesday.

Council, Employee Debate Pay Data

Leo F. Schwab Jr. of the San Rafael Fire Department made what he said was to be a presentation of the need for another 5 per cent cost of living increase for city employees last night, but city councilmen told him he was talking about something else.

Schwab asked time at the council meeting to present figures in justification of a further 5 per cent raise. Figures he presented showed that, despite a previous 5 per cent pay hike, some city employees have less take-home pay.

Councilmen didn't dispute that, agreeing it is due to increases in federal withholding tax and employee contributions to health and welfare plans.

However, Councilman Louis H. Baar said the employees, association had promised to present figures showing the cost of living in Marin as compared with elsewhere in the Bay Area. "What you're saying is not what we talked about," he said.

Schwab then quoted several authorities as saying homes in Marin average 15 per cent more than elsewhere in the Bay Area.

"If you pay 15 per cent more for real estate, we're supposed to give you a raise?" asked Mayor Bettini. "I don't think you have an argument.'' Schwab, he contended, was talking about basic pay scales, anyhow, not a cost, of-living raise.

Upshot was agreement that a committee of the employees association will meet with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and Councilman Fred E. Jensen to discuss revision of basic salary schedules during the next three months.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Held up award of contract for hydraulic cushion flap gates for the Francisco Boulevard pump station because there was only one bid.

2. Canceled a scheduled public hearing on reversion to acreage of San Rafael Cayes Unit One, at request of the applicant.

3. Put over to Jan. 16 public hearing on an appeal from decision of the planning commission against further sewer connections in Peacock Gap Unit Six.

4. Approved a new four-year agreement with the county on development of urban thoroughfares with county gasoline tax money. San Rafael streets included in the four-year plan are the Miracle Mile section of Fourth Street, extension of Freitas Parkway to Sleepy Hollow, and D Street-Wolfe Grade.

5. Granted A. J. Bresnan Co. a 60-day extension from the Dec. 19 deadline for a completion of Santa Margarita Valley Park, but refused to release any of the final 10 per cent of the contract price until the job is complete.

6. Named Councilman Harry A. Barbier as member of the executive committee of the Redwood Empire Divison, League of California Cities, with Councilman Jensen as alternate.

7. Set public hearing Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. on rezoning of 171-177 Woodland Avenue from single-multiple family to all multiple with 3,000 square feet of lot per unit, as requested by Edward and Wilhelmina McDonnell and Phyllis M. Love.

8. Heard from City Manager Andersen that some employees had objected to the change in pay days from the 15th and last to the 5th and 20th of each month, but was told by firemen Schwab that the objection did not come from the employees association.

9. Denied claims for sewer backup damage by Harry and Ruth Rodgers, Paris and Marilyn Royo, and Mrs. Esnes Powers. The claim of Mrs. Powers was turned down 3-to-2, with Councilmen Baar and Barbier voting to pay it.

10. Held over to Jan. 16 a sewer backup damage claim by Mrs. F. Grandi.

11. Agreed to support a suggestion by County Sanitarian William Desmond for a strict ordinance banning illegal drains into sanitary sewers. Desmond wrote that he believes these are responsible for much of the sewage trouble in Marin during stormy weather.

12. Accepted, with expressions of regret, the resignation of Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota, who has taken a similar position in Sonoma County. The council also directed that a resolution of commendation be prepared, and accepted Rodota's offer to assist in finding a replacement and serve the city temporarily on a consultant basis if one is not found before he leaves Jan. 27.

13. Approved hiring Marcel Pokopek as parks department groundsman at $464 per month.

14. Agreed to discuss zoning of the courthouse square with county supervisors following a joint city-county hearing on widening San Pedro Road at 7:30 p.m. next Monday.

15. At Jensen's suggestion, ordered that cabs with heaters be installed on city street sweepers. "It's a crime to send the men out on those sweepers in this weather," declared Jensen.

Michigan Governor's Son To Be Married

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP)—Scott Romney, son of Michigan Gov. and Mrs. George Romney, will be married next December to Ronna Eileen Stern.

Miss Stern is a senior at Oakland University and her fiance is in his first year at Harvard Law School. The wedding announcement was made yesterday.

Erosion Control Pledged For Glenwood Residents

Residents along a city canal in the Glenwood District were assured City of San Rafael cooperation last night in preventing their back yards from washing away.

The city council was presented with a petition signed by 23 property owners on Knight and Cottonwood drives, asking that city funds be appropriated to control erosion along the ditch.

Daniel L. Wambach of 40 Cottonwood Drive presented the petition. He also reported in a letter that, during heavy rain on Dec. 2, a large section of his rear yard, including a redwood fence, slid into the ditch.

Another letter, from Harry E. Irwin of 44 Cottonwood Drive, reported part of his back yard slid into the ditch on the same day.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles said he had examined the damage. He said the back yards had been partially filled when the subdivision was developed, but the erosion was caused by water from higher up the canal.

Asked Councilman Fred E. Jensen, "Is it our liability?"

Replied City Atty. David Menary Jr., "Curbstone is, yes."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, with council approval, directed Rawles to complete an investigation of the damage as soon as possible "and if emergency measures are necessary, do it." He also directed Rawles to report at the Jan. 16 meeting what would need to be done to permanently correct the erosion.

Panel To View Hospital Rates

Speakers on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m. tomorrow will discuss the hike in room rates at Marin County hospitals.

Moderator Kitty Oppenheimer will host Mrs. Marion C. Ibach, president of the Marin Hospital District board of directors; Ray K. Bollinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital; Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General Hospital, and Milton Scott, administrator of Novato General Hospital.

The program also will be heard at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rafferty Says Berkeley Book Printing Illegal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State school superintendent Dr. Max Rafferty says the Berkeley School District broke federal law by using federal money to print its own copyrighted book.

But a Berkeley school representative said yesterday that the Alameda County district attorney's office advised that the district could copyright a book, paid for by federal money under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

"I think we're making mountains out of molehills," commented Dr. Thomas Wogaman, assistant to Berkeley Supt. Neil Sullivan.

Rafferty said Sullivan wasn't familiar with California school law and finance. "I'm pretty certain his mistake was an honest one, simply due to lack of training and experience."

Guilty Plea Made On Gun Charges

Guilty plea to flourishing a gun in a rude and threatening manner was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by William Franklin Knight, 27.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled sentencing for 3 p.m. Jan. 24.

Knight, of 216 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, pulled the gun from under his belt at the 2 A. M. Club, Miller and Montford avenues, Dec. 23, and ordered a bartender to serve everyone a drink.

Art Commission Voted By Mill Valley Council

Mill Valley City Council last night introduced an ordinance creating a seven-member art commission, over strong objections by Councilman George E. Wickham.

The vote was 3-1, with Wickham the lone dissenter, and Councilman Michael Wornum absent.

Wickham said he felt it was not necessary to create another city commission. He contended the city was leaning toward the point where "everything is going to be governed by some commission."

Mayor Albert E. White said the move to create an art commission was an outgrowth of the formation of a mayor's art committee last May.

Setting up a commission by ordinance would "give it access to City Hall, a voice before the council and city sanction," he said.

Wickham said, "I don't think the majority want an art commission which would require additional taxes." Some overhead costs would be charged to the commission, and in time "no doubt there would be a budget for the commission," he said.

White replied, "It's not inconceivable that the commission could pay its way."

Councilman Roderic L. Robinson said, "By passing this, we're not spending money and not increasing taxes, but encouraging arts."

Wickham replied, "Have you ever seen a program start that hasn't snowballed into costing money?"

White said the council "is not spending money in vain, and is not spending money fruitlessly."

Under the proposed ordinance, seven persons from the fields of visual and performing arts would be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council.

They would serve for three-year terms, but the initial group would have staggered terms, two serving until Feb. 15, 1968; two until Feb. 15, 1969, and three until Feb. 15, 1970.

Their task would be "to encourage, promote and foster visual and performing arts in Mill Valley."

The commission also would make recommendations on the selection, purchase and display of temporary or permanent exhibits, festivals and theater and music performances in the city.

It also would make recommendations on requests of any organization or group for use of city buildings, parks and other public facilities for art festivals, displays, exhibits, theater, music or dance performances or other art forms.

The ordinance also provides that the commission may accept monies from public and private sources to carry out its duties.

After the ordinance was introduced, White reported that a joint committee of city and Mill Valley School District officials resolved Dec. 20 that Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck, San Francisco landscape architects, do the master planning for school and recreation facilities at the Project 17 site.

School officials will negotiate the price, White said. The council agreed in October to share the cost of the master planning with the school district.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Unanimously passed an ordinance deleting a portion of a previous ordinance which forbade city officials or employees from disclosing the financial status of the Mill Valley Refuse Co., effective in 30 days.

2. Received a report that more than half of the 28 firms that had non-conforming signs have complied with the city's sign ordinance.

3. Granted Larry Brink a variance to permit a total of 158 square feet of signs at his car agency at 250 Blithedale Avenue, as compared to the 100 square feet permitted by the sign ordinance. Brink has sought signs totaling 240 square feet.

4. Instituted condemnation action against Charles H. Pearmain, 50 Shelley Drive, for a 10-foot slope and drainage easement needed for rebuilding of East Blithedale Avenue between Camino Alto and Highway 101. City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said the ditch along the south side of East Blithedale in that area is a health hazard.

5. Granted the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce permission to hang a banner across East Blithedale Avenue to advertise Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, Jan. 15-21.

6. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Jan. 16.

Marijuana Possession Charge Is Dropped

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court yesterday dismissed a felony complaint of marijuana possession against David Dodds Jr., 18, on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Anthony said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales made the decision because Dodds, of 5 Helens Lane, Mill Valley, has begun active duty in the Marine Corps. He was accused of having about two ounces of marijuana when questioned by sheriff's deputies at C's Drive In, 510 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, on Nov. 1.

Jury Trial Slated For Petty Theft

Trial by jury of Shirley Anne Ogletree, charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of March 20.

The defendant, 23, of San Francisco, allegedly took three women's suits from Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera last Jan. 31.

Conference Of Firemen To Be Held This Month

The San Rafael Fire Department will host a conference of the Northern California Firemen's Assn. Jan. 13 through 15 at the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael.

The program will include election of officers, a demonstration of fire equipment, and a wind-up banquet at San Quentin Prison.

Registration will be the evening of Jan. 13 and the morning of Jan. 14. A board of director's meeting also will be held Jan. 13.

The program Jan. 14 will feature a talk on fighting brush and forest fires, instruction of the use of fire-fighting chemicals, and a luncheon address by San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett.

San Rafael fire engineer James Kennon is conference chairman.

Businesses Asked To Keep Check On Directory Billings

Chambers of commerce in Marin are issuing their annual warnings to businessmen to look carefully at what appear to be bills from telephone, utility and similar public service companies.

They may be cleverly disguised solicitations for listing in some business directory at a rancy price.

In many instances, according to Mgr. Jack Alvarado of the San Rafael chamber, these solicitations go to bookkeepers who, mistaking them for bills for a service ordered by the company, remit the money requested.

Last week, the Associated Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors of Marin-Sonoma-Mendocino Conuties forwarded a solicitation from "Classified Business Directory" of P. O. Box 24631, Los Angeles, to Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael).

The association noted that the Southern California firm is "operating within the law," but said it "exemplifies billings we and our members have received for services or products not ordered." The association said it would support Bagley in any effort at a solution to solicitations that appear to be billings.

New Fashions For The Topless Bars

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board has revealed its 1967 fashions for the state's topless go-go bars.

Fully topless styles are out but topless attire covering the breasts with pasties, is in. This was the finding yesterday in three cases involving Southern California establishments.

Bolinas Lagoon Zoning Policy Is Challenged

Thomas J. Barfield, new director of the Bolinas Harbor District and partner in a San Francisco law firm, has challenged the opinion of Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that supervisors may zone the Bolinas Lagoon.

The county's contention, he said, "Is not only untenable but, in my opinion, a flaunting of the law and an attempt to intimidate a small number of respectful citizens."

Barfield agreed that, in some circumstances, 1965 amendments to the government code allow counties to zone public lands of the state.

The amendments, though, "presuppose that the state has taken no prior action in this regard. Here the state, by the harbor district enabling act and amendment, took prior action," he asserted.

Maloney said yesterday it is the county's position that the law gives counties the right to zone land inside special districts.

There are a few exceptions, such as school districts, but these are carefully listed, he said. "The harbor district is no different from the Marin Municipal Water District or other districts whose land the county now zones," Maloney said.

"We contend the county can zone the land and water there; they say we can't. That's what makes a horse race. That's what makes a law suit."

Barfield pointed out that the harbor district has the right of annexation and the right of eminent domain.

"As you know, this is frequently used as the criteria or test as to what agency has jurisdiction," Barfield said.

Thomas A. Edison's first "talking machine" was developed in 1877.

King's British Leanings Hit

CAIRO (UPI)—The government-owned Cairo newspaper Al Ahram today accused Saudi Arabian King Faisal of "continuing collusion" with Britain. The accusation heightened a crisis gripping the Middle East that threatens to pit Arab against Arab in open conflict.

The charge followed by a day the announcement from the extremist Cairo-based Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) that it planned to mount a wave of violence at the palace of Jordan's tough young King Hussein and the homes of his cabinet ministers.

Meeting Rescheduled

The regular meeting last night of Alto Sanitary District directors was postponed to Monday at 8 p.m. for lack of a quorum, director Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported. The board meets in the firehouse at 27 Shell Road.

Ending military career

Flying Career In Service Ends Saturday

Eugene R. Trombley, county planning commissioner and Novato hardware merchant, will end a military flying career that's spanned 24 years when he retires as an Air Force Rserve officer Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A lieutenant colonel in the reserve, Trombley is a command pilot with more than 12,000 hours of flying time. Members of the San Francisco Reserve Information Flight, to which he has been assigned, will gather at the officers club for a retirement luncheon in his honor.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Trombley was a civilian pilot when he entered the Army Air Corps in 1942 at Berry Field, Nashville, Tenn., and helped pioneer a route for ferrying B-24 bombers to North Africa.

He was separated from active duty in 1947 and joined the public relations staff of Pan American World Airways in Hawaii. Recalled to active duty in 1950, he was assigned to Military Air Transport Service at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, and after public information duty at Continental Air Command headquarters, was assigned to the 28th Air Division at Hamilton. He reverted to reserve status in 1958 when he established Trombley's Novato Hardware Co.

Trombley was chairman of the Marn County Airport Commission for seven years, and is vice chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission. He has served two terms as director of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and was a member of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission. He is board chairman of the Novato Boys Club.

Recording of sea current measurements can now be done on standard magnetic tape, allowing easy translation for computer processing.

Car Trunk Burglaries Net $4,600 In Loot

Car burglars struck three times at restaurant parking lots, making off with loot estimated worth over $4,600, sheriff's officers reported today.

Locked trunks of two were entered, apparently with master keys, since no force was evident.

John J. Ongaro of 400 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, told deputies he and his wife returned Monday evening from Lake Tahoe and parked at Marin Joe's, 1585 Redwood Highway. While they were eating, he said, four pieces of luggage containing about $4,100 in clothing, cosmetics, an electric razor, shoes, and jewelry were taken from the trunk of their car.

Fred T. Dick of 16 Council Crest Drive, Corte Madera, said he parked his car at the same restaurant Monday evening. Taken from the locked trunk, he said, were a $200 pair of binoculars, two men's jackets, and a pair of pants.

The third car, driven by Robert F. Horvath of 104 Wisteria Street, Mill Valley, was parked at the Hickory Pit cafe in Homestead Valley on Monday. Horvath told officers he locked the vehicle, but left a window partially open. When he returned from eating, he said he discovered two pair of skis and poles, and two pair of boots had been stolen.

Forced entry was not apparent, he said.

Richard A. Leber of 120 Rising Road, Tamalpais Valley, reported his locked home was entered and stereophonic equipment worth $550 was taken. Means of entry was unknown, he said.

Deputies said burglars removed a screen and broke a window to enter the administration building office at Wolfe Grade School, 25 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, but nothing was missed.

A color television set worth $400 was stolen from the home of Margarita E. Mooney at 5 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands. She told officers a door from the attached garage to the family room was forced.

Richmond Council Demands Ouster

RICHMOND (UPI) — Five of the seven members of the Richmond City Council demanded last night that City Mgr. Forrest J. Simoni resign.

Simoni, who has held the $1,978-a-month post for three years refused during a table-pounding council meeting. He demanded a public hearing on the ouster. It was scheduled for tomorrow night.

Mayor Milton Spinner and four other councilmen said Simoni "refuses to follow council policy" and has "lost the ability to work with other agencies." Simoni said the five were "politically beholden" to each other.

New Chinese Purge Seen In Hierarchy

TOKYO (AP) — Conflicting reports from Communist China indicate Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao have struck a possibly crippling blow at President Liu Shao-chi through the big Chinese labor movement.

The Soviet news agency Tass and the Czech news agency Ceteka both have announced that the 21-million member All China Federation of Trade Unions — ACFTU — has been dissolved and its official newspaper shut down.

A later report from Japanese correspondents in Peking said the ACFTU had not been disbanded but that its leadership had been taken over by a new Mao-Lin oriented group called the All-China Assn. of Red Revolutionaries—ACARR.

If either report is true, it means Liu has lost a critical round in his fight to survive mounting pressure against him.

Teen-Age Vote Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, introduced a constitutional amendment today that would reduce the voting age in California from 21 to 18. It would require a two-thirds vote before going to the people.

Board Says Disposal Not An Issue

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board said last night that sewage disposal would present no problem if 450 acres south of Paradise Drive are developed for homes.

Directors noted that the area would be divided between the Corte Madera and Richardson Bay sanitary districts, but aside from determining the boundary line, disposal would not be a problem.

A representative of Dan Coleman Associates asked that the board consider the problem as Thomas Deffebach Jr. of Mill Valley, owner of the Tiburon Peninsula property, is considering a 640-house development there.

The district received the City of Larkspur's response to a district request for assistance with flooding problems around the pumping station on Industrial Way. Larkspur replied that Industrial Way is not a city-maintained street, and property owners there are responsible for drainage.

Kennedy's Kin Cleared In Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A 17-year-old niece of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has been absolved of criminal blame in a coroner's ruling on the death of a child in a Greenwich automobile accident.

Cathleen Skakel of Greenwich was the driver of a vehicle which struck a bump on Fox Run Lane Nov. 24. The 7-year-old who fell out of the car onto the roadway was Hope O'Brien of Greenwich. She died Dec. 1 of injuries suffered in the accident, which Coroner Isadore Kotler termed a freak occurrence.

Miss Skakel is the daughter of George Skakel Jr., who was killed in the crash of a private plane in Idaho several months ago. He was the brother of Ethel Kennedy, wife of the senator.

Council, Employee Debate Pay Data

Leo F. Schwab Jr. of the San Rafael Fire Department made what he said was to be a presentation of the need for another 5 per cent cost of living increase for city employees last night, but city councilmen told him he was talking about something else.

Schwab asked time at the council meeting to present figures in justification of a further 5 per cent raise. Figures he presented showed that, despite a previous 5 per cent pay hike, some city employees have less take-home pay.

Councilmen didn't dispute that, agreeing it is due to increases in federal withholding tax and employee contributions to health and welfare plans.

However, Councilman Louis H. Baar said the employees, association had promised to present figures showing the cost of living in Marin as compared with elsewhere in the Bay Area. "What you're saying is not what we talked about," he said.

Schwab then quoted several authorities as saying homes in Marin average 15 per cent more than elsewhere in the Bay Area.

"If you pay 15 per cent more for real estate, we're supposed to give you a raise?" asked Mayor Bettini. "I don't think you have an argument.'' Schwab, he contended, was talking about basic pay scales, anyhow, not a cost, of-living raise.

Upshot was agreement that a committee of the employees association will meet with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and Councilman Fred E. Jensen to discuss revision of basic salary schedules during the next three months.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Held up award of contract for hydraulic cushion flap gates for the Francisco Boulevard pump station because there was only one bid.

2. Canceled a scheduled public hearing on reversion to acreage of San Rafael Cayes Unit One, at request of the applicant.

3. Put over to Jan. 16 public hearing on an appeal from decision of the planning commission against further sewer connections in Peacock Gap Unit Six.

4. Approved a new four-year agreement with the county on development of urban thoroughfares with county gasoline tax money. San Rafael streets included in the four-year plan are the Miracle Mile section of Fourth Street, extension of Freitas Parkway to Sleepy Hollow, and D Street-Wolfe Grade.

5. Granted A. J. Bresnan Co. a 60-day extension from the Dec. 19 deadline for a completion of Santa Margarita Valley Park, but refused to release any of the final 10 per cent of the contract price until the job is complete.

6. Named Councilman Harry A. Barbier as member of the executive committee of the Redwood Empire Divison, League of California Cities, with Councilman Jensen as alternate.

7. Set public hearing Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. on rezoning of 171-177 Woodland Avenue from single-multiple family to all multiple with 3,000 square feet of lot per unit, as requested by Edward and Wilhelmina McDonnell and Phyllis M. Love.

8. Heard from City Manager Andersen that some employees had objected to the change in pay days from the 15th and last to the 5th and 20th of each month, but was told by firemen Schwab that the objection did not come from the employees association.

9. Denied claims for sewer backup damage by Harry and Ruth Rodgers, Paris and Marilyn Royo, and Mrs. Esnes Powers. The claim of Mrs. Powers was turned down 3-to-2, with Councilmen Baar and Barbier voting to pay it.

10. Held over to Jan. 16 a sewer backup damage claim by Mrs. F. Grandi.

11. Agreed to support a suggestion by County Sanitarian William Desmond for a strict ordinance banning illegal drains into sanitary sewers. Desmond wrote that he believes these are responsible for much of the sewage trouble in Marin during stormy weather.

12. Accepted, with expressions of regret, the resignation of Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota, who has taken a similar position in Sonoma County. The council also directed that a resolution of commendation be prepared, and accepted Rodota's offer to assist in finding a replacement and serve the city temporarily on a consultant basis if one is not found before he leaves Jan. 27.

13. Approved hiring Marcel Pokopek as parks department groundsman at $464 per month.

14. Agreed to discuss zoning of the courthouse square with county supervisors following a joint city-county hearing on widening San Pedro Road at 7:30 p.m. next Monday.

15. At Jensen's suggestion, ordered that cabs with heaters be installed on city street sweepers. "It's a crime to send the men out on those sweepers in this weather," declared Jensen.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP)—Scott Romney, son of Michigan Gov. and Mrs. George Romney, will be married next December to Ronna Eileen Stern.

Erosion Control Pledged For Glenwood Residents

Residents along a city canal in the Glenwood District were assured City of San Rafael cooperation last night in preventing their back yards from washing away.

The city council was presented with a petition signed by 23 property owners on Knight and Cottonwood drives, asking that city funds be appropriated to control erosion along the ditch.

Daniel L. Wambach of 40 Cottonwood Drive presented the petition. He also reported in a letter that, during heavy rain on Dec. 2, a large section of his rear yard, including a redwood fence, slid into the ditch.

Another letter, from Harry E. Irwin of 44 Cottonwood Drive, reported part of his back yard slid into the ditch on the same day.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles said he had examined the damage. He said the back yards had been partially filled when the subdivision was developed, but the erosion was caused by water from higher up the canal.

Asked Councilman Fred E. Jensen, "Is it our liability?"

Replied City Atty. David Menary Jr., "Curbstone is, yes."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, with council approval, directed Rawles to complete an investigation of the damage as soon as possible "and if emergency measures are necessary, do it." He also directed Rawles to report at the Jan. 16 meeting what would need to be done to permanently correct the erosion.

Rafferty Says Berkeley Book Printing Illegal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State school superintendent Dr. Max Rafferty says the Berkeley School District broke federal law by using federal money to print its own copyrighted book.

But a Berkeley school representative said yesterday that the Alameda County district attorney's office advised that the district could copyright a book, paid for by federal money under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

"I think we're making mountains out of molehills," commented Dr. Thomas Wogaman, assistant to Berkeley Supt. Neil Sullivan.

Rafferty said Sullivan wasn't familiar with California school law and finance. "I'm pretty certain his mistake was an honest one, simply due to lack of training and experience."

Guilty Plea Made On Gun Charges

Guilty plea to flourishing a gun in a rude and threatening manner was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by William Franklin Knight, 27.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled sentencing for 3 p.m. Jan. 24.

Knight, of 216 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, pulled the gun from under his belt at the 2 A. M. Club, Miller and Montford avenues, Dec. 23, and ordered a bartender to serve everyone a drink.

Board Votes Minority Hiring Rule

By RICHARD LYTTLE

After long debate, Marin County supervisors voted 3-2 yesterday to require pre-bid conferences on minority hiring for the $1.3 million community mental health center to be built at Marin General Hospital.

Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis dissented, both fearing the entire project might be put in jeopardy.

Kettenhofen also argued that the existing minority hire clause covering the hall of justice construction was working adequately, with 20 per cent of the present work force being Negroes.

Robert Brauer, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, declared, however, that the Hall of Justice hiring was following "historical patterns," with the carpenters union being the only exception. Nine out of 12 laborers on the job are Negroes, he reported.

He said the clause is effective because Robert E. McKee Construction Co. is willing to cooperate. The pre-bid clause would put into writing the things McKee is doing, such as periodic reports on the work force, designation of a minority employment officer, and encouragement of apprentice and on-the-job training.

Bella H. Aarons, chairman of the human rights commission, charged that the county staff was not following the policy the board of supervisors had established. County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended against inclusion of the pre-bid clause.

Rebidding of the job is expected late in February. A lone bid was turned down several months ago and the architect has since been revising the plan.

Ray Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, told the board of supervisors that hospital directors were against the stronger clause if it meant an increase in costs. He pointed out that some of the money for the project is from private donations.

Marion C. Ibach, chairman of the hospital board, told supervisors that delays cost money.

The clause had the strong backing of Perry Howell, chairman of the Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Rev. James Simonds, head of the Marin Council of Churches.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr moved that the stronger clause be included. Supervisor William A. Gnoss seconded, saying he feared increased costs but "I hope I am wrong."

A substitute motion by Kettenhofen to continue with the same wording used on the Hall of Justice failed for lack of second.

The project will be financed by federal, state and local funds under the Short-Doyle Act. The local contribution will be made up of $150,000 from the hospital district, $150,000 in private donations, and $150,000 in county tax money. Supervisors several weeks ago agreed that an additional $100,000 would be raised by property taxes if necessary.

BENEFACTOR REVEALED

Darkened Landmark Honors Dakin Family

The night illumination of Old St. Hilary's will be extinguished the rest of this month in memory of the members of the Richard Dakin family who died in the crash of an air plane in the Gulf of California, announced Mrs. Beverly Bastian, Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society.

Mrs. Bastian also disclosed for the first time that the historic church edifice and its three-quarter acre hilltop site in Tiburon were the gift of Susanna Bryant Dakin (Mrs. Richard) to the communities of Tiburon and Belvedere and Marin County.

Mrs. Bastian said Mrs. Dakin voluntarily and anonymously contributed the full price for the purchase from the Catholic Archdiocese of California. The landmarks society was incorporated in 1959 to acquire the site, with Mrs. Dakin as one of the founding board members.

After re-dedicating Old St. Hilary's as an historic landmark, the society worked toward preserving the unique natural setting of the two acres of hillside below, and to conserve its rare wildflowers. Mrs. Dakin was a major donor in the successful campaign for funds.

During the past year, Mrs. Dakin has been editing a local history to be published by the landmarks society. Mrs. Bastian said the board intends to complete the work, as planned by Mrs. Dakin, within the year.

"We are turning out the lights in recognition that Mrs. Dakin's good works touched the whole community and that this tragedy will have an effect on its well being," said Mrs. Bastain. "We hope that the dark hillside will also remind residents that attractions of our peninsula cannot be taken for granted and that preservation and conservation depend on those, like Mr . Dakin, who are mindful of the needs."

Accountant Found Dead In His Room

Ross Howard McLeod, a 53 year-old Fort Bragg accountant, died unexpectedly early today in a room at the Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera.

Asst. County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said death apparently was due to natural causes. McLeod reportedly had a history of asthma and heart disease.

McLeod's wife, Chistine reportedly told Corte Madera police that her husband came to Marin yesterday to seek admittance to the psychiatric unit of a local hospital because he had been nervous and depressed recently. There was no room at the hospital, she said.

McLeod, a native of Canada, had been an accountant for Union Lumber Co. of Fort Bragg for 19 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Kenneth, 17, and Rod, 16.

His body was taken to Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo for autopsy.

Ex-Marinite Found Dead In Orinda

Burton A. Mancebo, former Sausalito fireman, was found hanged yesterday in an Orinda office to which he had been assigned by the janitorial service for which he worked.

Contra Costa County Sheriff's Lt. Edwin Stockman said a note was found near the body, indicating that Mancebo, 52, was despondent and had taken his own life. The body was found about 7:40 a.m. by a man arriving for work in the building.

Mancebo was born in Sausalito, where he attended school and in the early 1940s was a member of the fire department. He lived in Marin most of his life, moving about 12 years ago to Concord, where he lived at 2401 Bonifacio Street and was employed by a janitorial service.

He leaves a wife, Gertrude, and three small daughters.

Guilty Plea Made On Theft Charges

Airman 1/c Thomas Jacob Susz, 28, of Hamilton Air Force Base, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to grand theft from the Thursday Night Men's Handicap bowling league at the base.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Feb. 16. Susz, secretary-treasurer of the league, embezzled over $200 in funds entrusted to him for purchase of trophies and prizes.

Patrick Faces Libel Action By Hallinan

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer and politician, today faced the possibility of a $2 million libel suit to be brought by the newest lawyer of the county's Hallinan clan.

Terrance (Kayo) Hallinan had no sooner been sworn in to the California Bar yesterday than he announced he has already been retained by his first client for a suit against Patrick.

That first client is none other than his father, Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere.

The younger Hallinan alleged that Patrick libeled his father by calling him a paid propagandist for Fidel Castro.

"Vin doesn't mind being called a propagandist for Castro and the people of Cuba, but if he were paid he would be violating the law by not registering as an agent for a foreign government," Hallinan said.

A spokesman for Patrick said today that the unsuccessful candidate for governor has not been served notice of the suit.

Hallinan was sworn in to the bar yesterday after a year and a half delay. The Committee of Bar Examiners had denied him admission of civil rights and juvenile fighting arrests.

The State Supreme Court ordered him admitted to the bar when the decision of the bar examiners was appealed on young Hallinan's behalf by attorney Benjamin Dreyfous of Mill Valley.

Plea Shift Halts Murder Trial

Dorothy Nell Miller, 23, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter today as she was scheduled to go on trial on a charge of murder.

She had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the murder charge in the Sept. 2 knife slaying of Mrs. Bernadine Nettles.

Judge Thomas F. Keating permitted the guilty plea to the reduced charge, and scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Jan. 23. Maximum penalty is 15 years in state prison.

Miss Miller, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, stabbed Mrs. Nettles, 29, of 239 Drake Avenue, during and argument at Oaktree restaurant in Manzanita.

MENTAL HEALTH STAND EXPLAINED

Association Chief Claims 'Watchdog' Role Proper, But Denies Ouster Request

Marin Assn. for Mental Health did sent a letter to agencies in the field suggesting a meeting with county officials—but it did not suggest ouster of Dr. Clyde G. Miller as county mental health services director, the association's president said today.

Dr. William L. Bewley, president of the association, issued a lengthy statement which he said was designed to clarify the association's role in the county's community mental health services. He said the role "has been clouded and distorted as a result of two stories appearing in the Independent-Journal Dec. 28 and 29."

SERIES OF LETTERS

The Dec. 29 story reported a move by the association to oust Dr. Miller had been brought to light by a reply by Rev. John J. O'Connor, executive director of the Catholic Family Service Agency. Father O'Connor, addressing his letter to Mrs. Trude Baum, longtime spokesman for the mental health association, said his agency wanted no part of the move.

The following day, Nevada Christian, executive director of the mental health association, said letters to Father O'Connor and other agencies' directors had been written by Mrs. Baum, "who is not on the association's board this year and is not supposed to speak for us."

CONCERN SITED

Today, Dr. Bewley said the association had been concerned over lack of progress in Marin's mental health program.

"For this reason, we asked a number of agencies that have expressed dissatisfactions about CMHS (community mental health services) whether they would be willing to state their views to the responsible government officials," said Bewley. "The letter written by Father O'Connor . . . was his reply to this inquiry."

Dr. Bewley declared:

"Our association had not launched a move for dismissal of Dr. Cyde Miller as director of CMHS, and we have not made a request to the board of supervisors that Dr. Miller be asked to resign."

His statement traced the role of the association in promoting creation of the county mental health services program and its "watchdog" role since the program started.

"Over a period of about a year and a half," he wrote, "we have often heard complaints voiced by agency representatives to the CMHS director and to us about difficulty in securing services for clients in need of help . . .

BACKED BUDGET

"We unhesitantingly supported Dr. Miller's budget request for 1966-67 to the supervisors. We recommended that it be increased to make it possible for CMHS to set up vitally needed services for children . . .

"We have talked with Doctor Miller from time to time about our misgiving regarding progress. We have felt it our duty to report our findings to the responsible public officials."

Dr. Bewley said one of the group's responsibilities as a chapter of the National Assn. for Mental Health is to serve as "watchdog" of mental health services.

'CANNOT PRESUME'

"We realize that in reporting whatever information our studies and observations produce to the county government, we cannot presume to request that body to 'oust anyone,' " he continued. "This is a decision that they alone can make.

"We have endeavored to carry on our activities quietly because we did not wish our dfferences with CMHS to be interpreted as a personal attack in any sense.

"We believe, however, that the public would be ill served indeed if problems affecting a community were to be swept under the rug, instead of being faced honestly."

Rec Commission Nominates Two

Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night asked the city council to appoint as commissioners Roger Gaetjen of 21 Spring Lane and Richard McQuillan of 27 Olema Road.

They would replace Frank Salvisberg and Harold Walker, who resigned.

The commissioners also recommended that the council approve the contract with Farifax School District for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park, with minor changes.

Pending adoption of a master plan, the commission delayed action on maintenance and planting at the Fairfax Pavilion, and on placing a putting green on city-owned property off Bank Street near the baseball park.

White Hill School Bids Sought Soon

Fairfax School District Board expressed hope last night that bids could be asked the beginning of next month for construction of the White Hill School, estimated as a $512,000 project.

At the same time, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said he would go to Sacramento tomorrow to discuss with the State Department of General Services the state's allocation of $397,000 for construction. Hammond said he hoped to insure against delays in receiving the funds.

Hammond told the trustees the school site is being drained to pave the way for site development, which has been delayed because of recent heavy rains.

The Fairfax School District Board also:

1. Authorized Hammond to get an engineer to determine what further work is needed on water pipes in Manor School. Pipe repairs were completed recently, but more bad ones were found.
2. Discussed further a contract with the City of Farifax for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park .Turstees were concerned over how the property would be returned to its original condition if the board chose not to renew the 10-year contract.
3. Decided to send a representative to a conference on compensatory education. Feb. 19-21 in Sacramento.
4. Approved a request from music director J. D. Nichols for sutdents to participate in three Bay Area music festivals in April.

Some of man's earliest civilizations rose in what is now Iraq. It was in this land that Sumeria, Assyria and Babylonia flourished, and the wheel, writing and the plow probably developed.

McInnis Skeptical Of Quake Survey

The county planning department's proposal for study of earthquake rift zones and earthquake risks in Marin received a jolt yesterday from Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis, serving his first day on the board, said he was "most skeptical" of such a study. He suggested that the county might be leaving itself open to serious claims.

He argued that the risk of earthquake damage was one that should be taken by individual investors and homewoners. He cited construction on the Florida coast which goes up again and again despite hurricane destruction.

He asked County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker what he would do with the information from such a study.

Zucker said he thought the degree of earthquake risk should be known and become part of the "planning matrix," just as slide area dangers are considered now.

Zucker presented a list of five experts willing to serve on a committee to determine whether an extensive earthquake study should be undertaken.

Those proposed for appointment were George O. Gates of Menlo Park, assistant chief geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey; Karl V. Steinbrugge of San Francisco, structural engineer with the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau; Harry B. Seed of Berkeley, professor of soil engineering and director of the department of civil engineering at University of California; Bruce Bolt of Berkeley, professor of seismology and director of seismographic stations in the earth science building at U. C., and Richard C. Harlan of San Francisco, supervising engineer for Bechtel Corp.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked a week's delay on the appointments, saying he had a man he would like to propose. This was fine with McInnis, who said he wanted to sit down with Zucker and talk over the entire matter.

Supervison Ernest N. Kettenhofen said the study is "maybe a tool for another reason." He was referring to the planning department's earthquake fears raised in the analysis of the Bolinas Harbor District's plan for development of Bolinas Lagoon.

$120 In Tapes Taken

A leather case containing 20 stereophonic tapes worth $120 was stolen yesterday from a car parked at Lincoln Avenue and Laurel Place, San Rafael, owner Stephen J. Parhurst of 1215 Lincoln Avenue told police.

Theft Reported

Steve Balzan, owner of Balzan Dairy, 50 Bay Street, San Rafael, arrived at work yesterday morning to discover the theft of two batteries worth $44 and 20 feet of chain from the rear of his business, he told police.

Injured In Shower

Crawford F. Griggs, 51, of 89 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, was reported in poor condition today in Ross General Hospital with a head injury suffered at 3:47 p.m. yesterday in a fall in the shower at his home.

Flying Career In Service Ends Saturday

Eugene R. Trombley, county planning commissioner and Novato hardware merchant, will end a military flying career that's spanned 24 years when he retires as an Air Force Rserve officer Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A lieutenant colonel in the reserve, Trombley is a command pilot with more than 12,000 hours of flying time. Members of the San Francisco Reserve Information Flight, to which he has been assigned, will gather at the officers club for a retirement luncheon in his honor.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Trombley was a civilian pilot when he entered the Army Air Corps in 1942 at Berry Field, Nashville, Tenn., and helped pioneer a route for ferrying B-24 bombers to North Africa.

He was separated from active duty in 1947 and joined the public relations staff of Pan American World Airways in Hawaii. Recalled to active duty in 1950, he was assigned to Military Air Transport Service at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, and after public information duty at Continental Air Command headquarters, was assigned to the 28th Air Division at Hamilton. He reverted to reserve status in 1958 when he established Trombley's Novato Hardware Co.

Trombley was chairman of the Marn County Airport Commission for seven years, and is vice chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission. He has served two terms as director of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and was a member of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission. He is board chairman of the Novato Boys Club.

Car Trunk Burglaries Net $4,600 In Loot

Car burglars struck three times at restaurant parking lots, making off with loot estimated worth over $4,600, sheriff's officers reported today.

Locked trunks of two were entered, apparently with master keys, since no force was evident.

John J. Ongaro of 400 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, told deputies he and his wife returned Monday evening from Lake Tahoe and parked at Marin Joe's, 1585 Redwood Highway. While they were eating, he said, four pieces of luggage containing about $4,100 in clothing, cosmetics, an electric razor, shoes, and jewelry were taken from the trunk of their car.

Fred T. Dick of 16 Council Crest Drive, Corte Madera, said he parked his car at the same restaurant Monday evening. Taken from the locked trunk, he said, were a $200 pair of binoculars, two men's jackets, and a pair of pants.

The third car, driven by Robert F. Horvath of 104 Wisteria Street, Mill Valley, was parked at the Hickory Pit cafe in Homestead Valley on Monday. Horvath told officers he locked the vehicle, but left a window partially open. When he returned from eating, he said he discovered two pair of skis and poles, and two pair of boots had been stolen.

Forced entry was not apparent, he said.

Richard A. Leber of 120 Rising Road, Tamalpais Valley, reported his locked home was entered and stereophonic equipment worth $550 was taken. Means of entry was unknown, he said.

Deputies said burglars removed a screen and broke a window to enter the administration building office at Wolfe Grade School, 25 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, but nothing was missed.

A color television set worth $400 was stolen from the home of Margarita E. Mooney at 5 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands. She told officers a door from the attached garage to the family room was forced.

Richmond Council Demands Ouster

RICHMOND (UPI) — Five of the seven members of the Richmond City Council demanded last night that City Mgr. Forrest J. Simoni resign.

Simoni, who has held the $1,978-a-month post for three years refused during a table-pounding council meeting. He demanded a public hearing on the ouster. It was scheduled for tomorrow night.

Mayor Milton Spinner and four other councilmen said Simoni "refuses to follow council policy" and has "lost the ability to work with other agencies." Simoni said the five were "politically beholden" to each other.

New Chinese Purge Seen In Hierarchy

TOKYO (AP) — Conflicting reports from Communist China indicate Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao have struck a possibly crippling blow at President Liu Shao-chi through the big Chinese labor movement.

The Soviet news agency Tass and the Czech news agency Ceteka both have announced that the 21-million member All China Federation of Trade Unions — ACFTU — has been dissolved and its official newspaper shut down.

A later report from Japanese correspondents in Peking said the ACFTU had not been disbanded but that its leadership had been taken over by a new Mao-Lin oriented group called the All-China Assn. of Red Revolutionaries—ACARR.

If either report is true, it means Liu has lost a critical round in his fight to survive mounting pressure against him.

Teen-Age Vote Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, introduced a constitutional amendment today that would reduce the voting age in California from 21 to 18. It would require a two-thirds vote before going to the people.

Board Says Disposal Not An Issue

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board said last night that sewage disposal would present no problem if 450 acres south of Paradise Drive are developed for homes.

Directors noted that the area would be divided between the Corte Madera and Richardson Bay sanitary districts, but aside from determining the boundary line, disposal would not be a problem.

A representative of Dan Coleman Associates asked that the board consider the problem as Thomas Deffebach Jr. of Mill Valley, owner of the Tiburon Peninsula property, is considering a 640-house development there.

The district received the City of Larkspur's response to a district request for assistance with flooding problems around the pumping station on Industrial Way. Larkspur replied that Industrial Way is not a city-maintained street, and property owners there are responsible for drainage.

Kennedy's Kin Cleared In Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A 17-year-old niece of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has been absolved of criminal blame in a coroner's ruling on the death of a child in a Greenwich automobile accident.

Cathleen Skakel of Greenwich was the driver of a vehicle which struck a bump on Fox Run Lane Nov. 24. The 7-year-old who fell out of the car onto the roadway was Hope O'Brien of Greenwich. She died Dec. 1 of injuries suffered in the accident, which Coroner Isadore Kotler termed a freak occurrence.

Miss Skakel is the daughter of George Skakel Jr., who was killed in the crash of a private plane in Idaho several months ago. He was the brother of Ethel Kennedy, wife of the senator.

Board Votes Minority Hiring Rule

By RICHARD LYTTLE

After long debate, Marin County supervisors voted 3-2 yesterday to require pre-bid conferences on minority hiring for the $1.3 million community mental health center to be built at Marin General Hospital.

Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis dissented, both fearing the entire project might be put in jeopardy.

Kettenhofen also argued that the existing minority hire clause covering the hall of justice construction was working adequately, with 20 per cent of the present work force being Negroes.

Robert Brauer, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, declared, however, that the Hall of Justice hiring was following "historical patterns," with the carpenters union being the only exception. Nine out of 12 laborers on the job are Negroes, he reported.

He said the clause is effective because Robert E. McKee Construction Co. is willing to cooperate. The pre-bid clause would put into writing the things McKee is doing, such as periodic reports on the work force, designation of a minority employment officer, and encouragement of apprentice and on-the-job training.

Bella H. Aarons, chairman of the human rights commission, charged that the county staff was not following the policy the board of supervisors had established. County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended against inclusion of the pre-bid clause.

Rebidding of the job is expected late in February. A lone bid was turned down several months ago and the architect has since been revising the plan.

Ray Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, told the board of supervisors that hospital directors were against the stronger clause if it meant an increase in costs. He pointed out that some of the money for the project is from private donations.

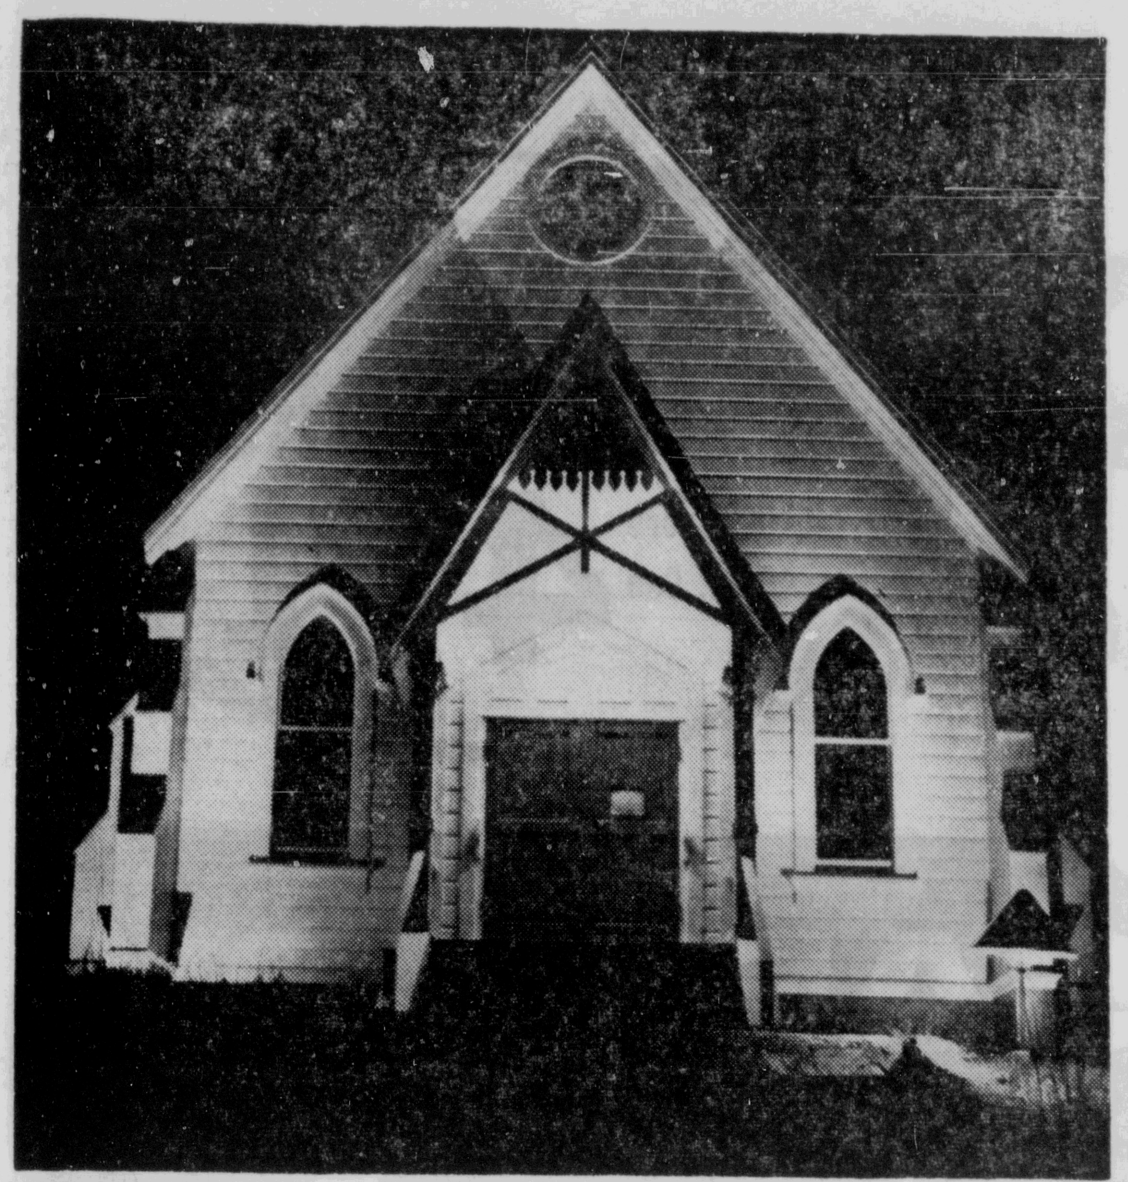
Marion C. Ibach, chairman of the hospital board, told supervisors that delays cost money.

The clause had the strong backing of Perry Howell, chairman of the Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Rev. James Simonds, head of the Marin Council of Churches.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr moved that the stronger clause be included. Supervisor William A. Gnoss seconded, saying he feared increased costs but "I hope I am wrong."

A substitute motion by Kettenhofen to continue with the same wording used on the Hall of Justice failed for lack of second.

The project will be financed by federal, state and local funds under the Short-Doyle Act. The local contribution will be made up of $150,000 from the hospital district, $150,000 in private donations, and $150,000 in county tax money. Supervisors several weeks ago agreed that an additional $100,000 would be raised by property taxes if necessary.



THE LIGHTS GO OUT — Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, which presents this floodlighted view each night, will remain dark through the rest of this month as a tribute to the Richard Dakin family, killed in a plane crash.

BENEFACTOR REVEALED

Darkened Landmark Honors Dakin Family

The night illumination of Old St. Hilary's will be extinguished the rest of this month in memory of the members of the Richard Dakin family who died in the crash of an air plane in the Gulf of California, announced Mrs. Beverly Bastian, Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society.

Mrs. Bastian also disclosed for the first time that the historic church edifice and its three-quarter acre hilltop site in Tiburon were the gift of Susanna Bryant Dakin (Mrs. Richard) to the communities of Tiburon and Belvedere and Marin County.

Mrs. Bastian said Mrs. Dakin voluntarily and anonymously contributed the full price for the purchase from the Catholic Archdiocese of California. The landmarks society was incorporated in 1959 to acquire the site, with Mrs. Dakin as one of the founding board members.

After re-dedicating Old St. Hilary's as an historic landmark, the society worked toward preserving the unique natural setting of the two acres of hillside below, and to conserve its rare wildflowers. Mrs. Dakin was a major donor in the successful campaign for funds.

During the past year, Mrs. Dakin has been editing a local history to be published by the landmarks society. Mrs. Bastian said the board intends to complete the work, as planned by Mrs. Dakin, within the year.

"We are turning out the lights in recognition that Mrs. Dakin's good works touched the whole community and that this tragedy will have an effect on its well being," said Mrs. Bastain. "We hope that the dark hillside will also remind residents that attractions of our peninsula cannot be taken for granted and that preservation and conservation depend on those, like Mr . Dakin, who are mindful of the needs."

Accountant Found Dead In His Room

Ross Howard McLeod, a 53 year-old Fort Bragg accountant, died unexpectedly early today in a room at the Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera.

Asst. County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said death apparently was due to natural causes. McLeod reportedly had a history of asthma and heart disease.

McLeod's wife, Chistine reportedly told Corte Madera police that her husband came to Marin yesterday to seek admittance to the psychiatric unit of a local hospital because he had been nervous and depressed recently. There was no room at the hospital, she said.

McLeod, a native of Canada, had been an accountant for Union Lumber Co. of Fort Bragg for 19 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Kenneth, 17, and Rod, 16.

His body was taken to Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo for autopsy.

Ex-Marinite Found Dead In Orinda

Burton A. Mancebo, former Sausalito fireman, was found hanged yesterday in an Orinda office to which he had been assigned by the janitorial service for which he worked.

Contra Costa County Sheriff's Lt. Edwin Stockman said a note was found near the body, indicating that Mancebo, 52, was despondent and had taken his own life. The body was found about 7:40 a.m. by a man arriving for work in the building.

Mancebo was born in Sausalito, where he attended school and in the early 1940s was a member of the fire department. He lived in Marin most of his life, moving about 12 years ago to Concord, where he lived at 2401 Bonifacio Street and was employed by a janitorial service.

He leaves a wife, Gertrude, and three small daughters.

Guilty Plea Made On Theft Charges

Airman 1/c Thomas Jacob Susz, 28, of Hamilton Air Force Base, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to grand theft from the Thursday Night Men's Handicap bowling league at the base.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Feb. 16. Susz, secretary-treasurer of the league, embezzled over $200 in funds entrusted to him for purchase of trophies and prizes.

Patrick Faces Libel Action By Hallinan

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer and politician, today faced the possibility of a $2 million libel suit to be brought by the newest lawyer of the county's Hallinan clan.

Terrance (Kayo) Hallinan had no sooner been sworn in to the California Bar yesterday than he announced he has already been retained by his first client for a suit against Patrick.

That first client is none other than his father, Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere.

The younger Hallinan alleged that Patrick libeled his father by calling him a paid propagandist for Fidel Castro.

"Vin doesn't mind being called a propagandist for Castro and the people of Cuba, but if he were paid he would be violating the law by not registering as an agent for a foreign government," Hallinan said.

A spokesman for Patrick said today that the unsuccessful candidate for governor has not been served notice of the suit.

Hallinan was sworn in to the bar yesterday after a year and a half delay. The Committee of Bar Examiners had denied him admission of civil rights and juvenile fighting arrests.

The State Supreme Court ordered him admitted to the bar when the decision of the bar examiners was appealed on young Hallinan's behalf by attorney Benjamin Dreyfous of Mill Valley.

Plea Shift Halts Murder Trial

Dorothy Nell Miller, 23, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter today as she was scheded to go on trial on a charge of murder.

She had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the murder charge in the Sept. 2 knife slaying of Mrs. Bernadine Nettles.

Judge Thomas F. Keating permitted the guilty plea to the reduced charge, and scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Jan. 23. Maximum penalty is 15 years in state prison.

Miss Miller, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, stabbed Mrs. Nettles, 29, of 239 Drake Avenue, during and argument at Oaktree restaurant in Manzanita.

MENTAL HEALTH STAND EXPLAINED

Association Chief Claims 'Watchdog' Role Proper, But Denies Ouster Request

Marin Assn. for Mental Health did sent a letter to agencies in the field suggesting a meeting with county officials—but it did not suggest ouster of Dr. Clyde G. Miller as county mental health services director, the association's president said today.

Dr. William L. Bewley, president of the association, issued a lengthy statement which he said was designed to clarify the association's role in the county's community mental health services. He said the role "has been clouded and distorted as a result of two stories appearing in the Independent-Journal Dec. 28 and 29."

SERIES OF LETTERS

The Dec. 29 story reported a move by the association to oust Dr. Miller had been brought to light by a reply by Rev. John J. O'Connor, executive director of the Catholic Family Service Agency. Father O'Connor, addressing his letter to Mrs. Trude Baum, longtime spokesman for the mental health association, said his agency wanted no part of the move.

The following day, Nevada Christian, executive director of the mental health association, said letters to Father O'Connor and other agencies' directors had been written by Mrs. Baum, "who is not on the association's board this year and is not supposed to speak for us."

CONCERN SITED

Today, Dr. Bewley said the association had been concerned over lack of progress in Marin's mental health program.

"For this reason, we asked a number of agencies that have expressed dissatisfactions about CMHS (community mental health services) whether they would be willing to state their views to the responsible government officials," said Bewley. "The letter written by Father O'Connor . . . was his reply to this inquiry."

Dr. Bewley declared:

"Our association had not launched a move for dismissal of Dr. Cyde Miller as director of CMHS, and we have not made a request to the board of supervisors that Dr. Miller be asked to resign."

His statement traced the role of the association in promoting creation of the county mental health services program and its "watchdog" role since the program started.

"Over a period of about a year and a half," he wrote, "we have often heard complaints voiced by agency representatives to the CMHS director and to us about difficulty in securing services for clients in need of help . . .

BACKED BUDGET

"We unhesitantingly supported Dr. Miller's budget request for 1966-67 to the supervisors. We recommended that it be increased to make it possible for CMHS to set up vitally needed services for children . . .

"We have talked with Doctor Miller from time to time about our misgiving regarding progress. We have felt it our duty to report our findings to the responsible public officials."

Dr. Bewley said one of the group's responsibilities as a chapter of the National Assn. for Mental Health is to serve as "watchdog" of mental health services.

'CANNOT PRESUME'

"We realize that in reporting whatever information our studies and observations produce to the county government, we cannot presume to request that body to 'oust anyone,'" he continued. "This is a decision that they alone can make.

"We have endeavored to carry on our activities quietly because we did not wish our dfferences with CMHS to be interpreted as a personal attack in any sense.

"We believe, however, that the public would be ill served indeed if problems affecting a community were to be swept under the rug, instead of being faced honestly."

Rec Commission Nominates Two

Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night asked the city council to appoint as commissioners Roger Gaetjen of 21 Spring Lane and Richard McQuillan of 27 Olema Road.

They would replace Frank Salvisberg and Harold Walker, who resigned.

The commissioners also recommended that the council approve the contract with Farifax School District for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park, with minor changes.

Pending adoption of a master plan, the commission delayed action on maintenance and planting at the Fairfax Pavilion, and on placing a putting green on city-owned property off Bank Street near the baseball park.

White Hill School Bids Sought Soon

Fairfax School District Board expressed hope last night that bids could be asked the beginning of next month for construction of the White Hill School, estimated as a $512,000 project.

At the same time, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said he would go to Sacramento tomorrow to discuss with the State Department of General Services the state's allocation of $397,000 for construction. Hammond said he hoped to insure against delays in receiving the funds.

Hammond told the trustees the school site is being drained to pave the way for site development, which has been delayed because of recent heavy rains.

The Fairfax School District Board also:

1. Authorized Hammond to get an engineer to determine what further work is needed on water pipes in Manor School. Pipe repairs were completed recently, but more bad ones were found.
2. Discussed further a contract with the City of Farifax for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park .Turstees were concerned over how the property would be returned to its original condition if the board chose not to renew the 10-year contract.
3. Decided to send a representative to a conference on compensatory education, Feb. 19-21 in Sacramento.
4. Approved a request from music director J. D. Nichols for sutdents to participate in three Bay Area music festivals in April.

Some of man's earliest civilizations rose in what is now Iraq. It was in this land that Sumeria, Assyria and Babylonia flourished, and the wheel, writing and the plow probably developed.

McInnis Skeptical Of Quake Survey

The county planning department's proposal for study of earthquake rift zones and earthquake risks in Marin received a jolt yesterday from Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis, serving his first day on the board, said he was "most skeptical" of such a study. He suggested that the county might be leaving itself open to serious claims.

He argued that the risk of earthquake damage was one that should be taken by individual investors and homewoners. He cited construction on the Florida coast which goes up again and again despite hurricane destruction.

He asked County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker what he would do with the information from such a study.

Zucker said he thought the degree of earthquake risk should be known and become part of the "planning matrix," just as slide area dangers are considered now.

Zucker presented a list of five experts willing to serve on a committee to determine whether an extensive earthquake study should be undertaken.

Those proposed for appointment were George O. Gates of Menlo Park, assistant chief geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey; Karl V. Steinbrugge of San Francisco, structural engineer with the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau; Harry B. Seed of Berkeley, professor of soil engineering and director of the department of civil engineering at University of California; Bruce Bolt of Berkeley, professor of seismology and director of seismographic stations in the earth science building at U. C., and Richard C. Harlan of San Francisco, supervising engineer for Bechtel Corp.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked a week's delay on the appointments, saying he had a man he would like to propose. This was fine with McInnis, who said he wanted to sit down with Zucker and talk over the entire matter.

Supervison Ernest N. Kettenhofen said the study is "maybe a tool for another reason." He was referring to the planning department's earthquake fears raised in the analysis of the Bolinas Harbor District's plan for development of Bolinas Lagoon.

$120 In Tapes Taken

A leather case containing 20 stereophonic tapes worth $120 was stolen yesterday from a car parked at Lincoln Avenue and Laurel Place, San Rafael, owner Stephen J. Parhurst of 1215 Lincoln Avenue told police.

Theft Reported

Steve Balzan, owner of Balzan Dairy, 50 Bay Street, San Rafael, arrived at work yesterday morning to discover the theft of two batteries worth $44 and 20 feet of chain from the rear of his business, he told police.

Injured In Shower

Crawford F. Griggs, 51, of 89 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, was reported in poor condition today in Ross General Hospital with a head injury suffered at 3:47 p.m. yesterday in a fall in the shower at his home.

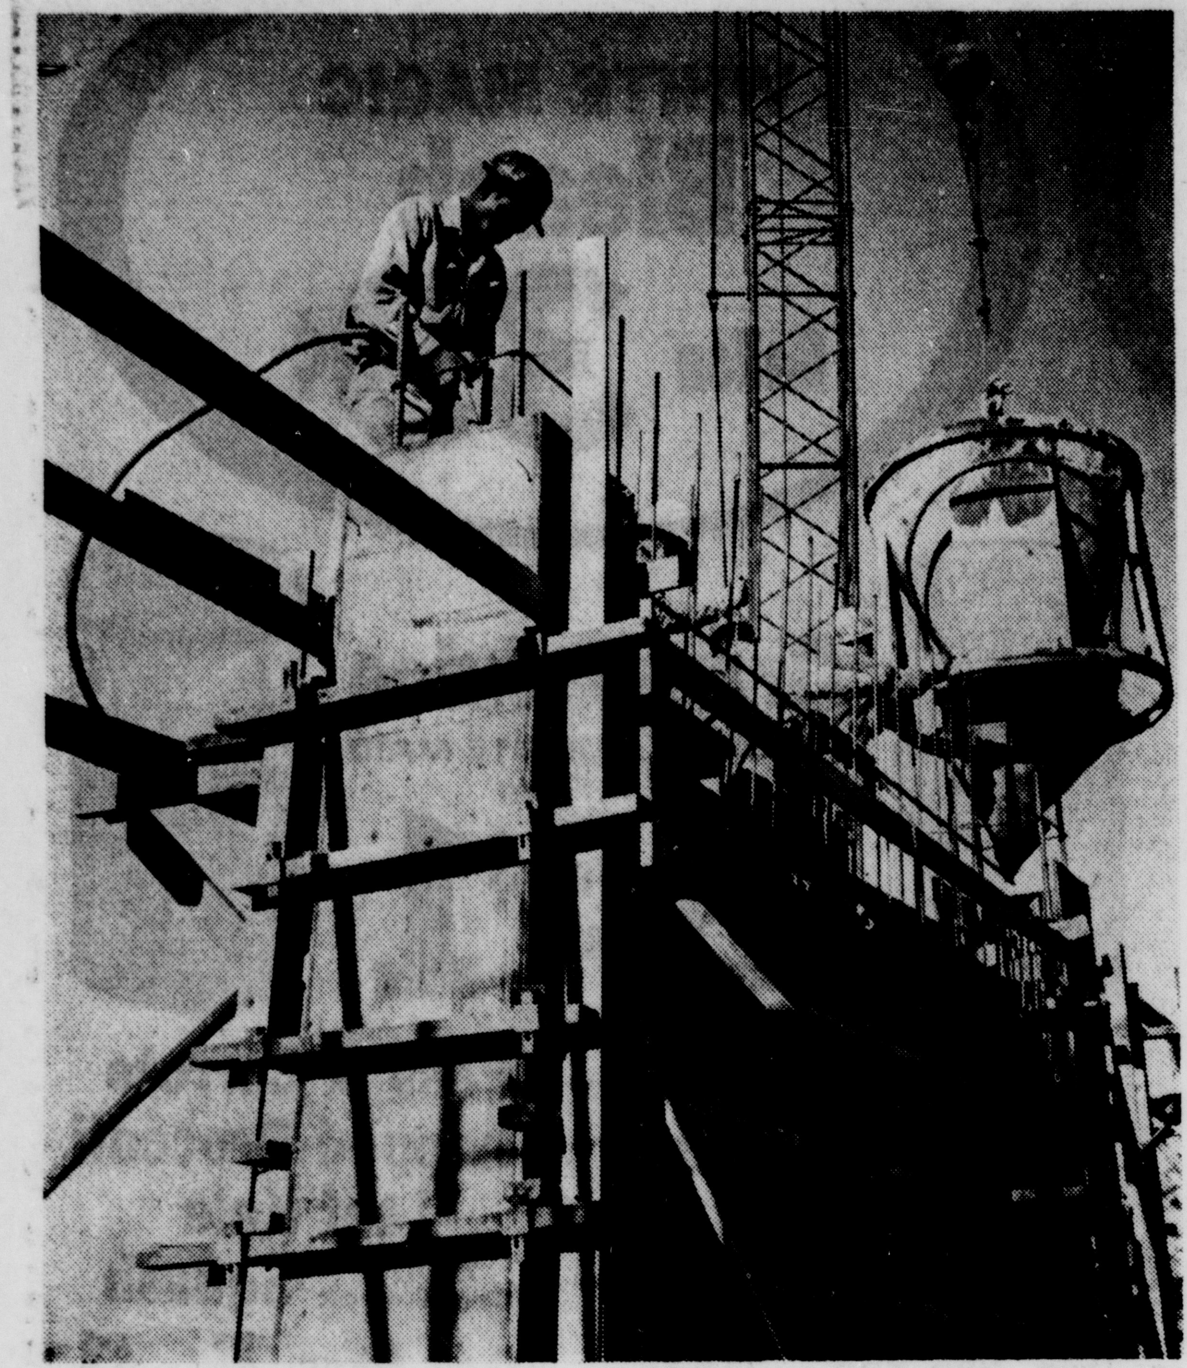
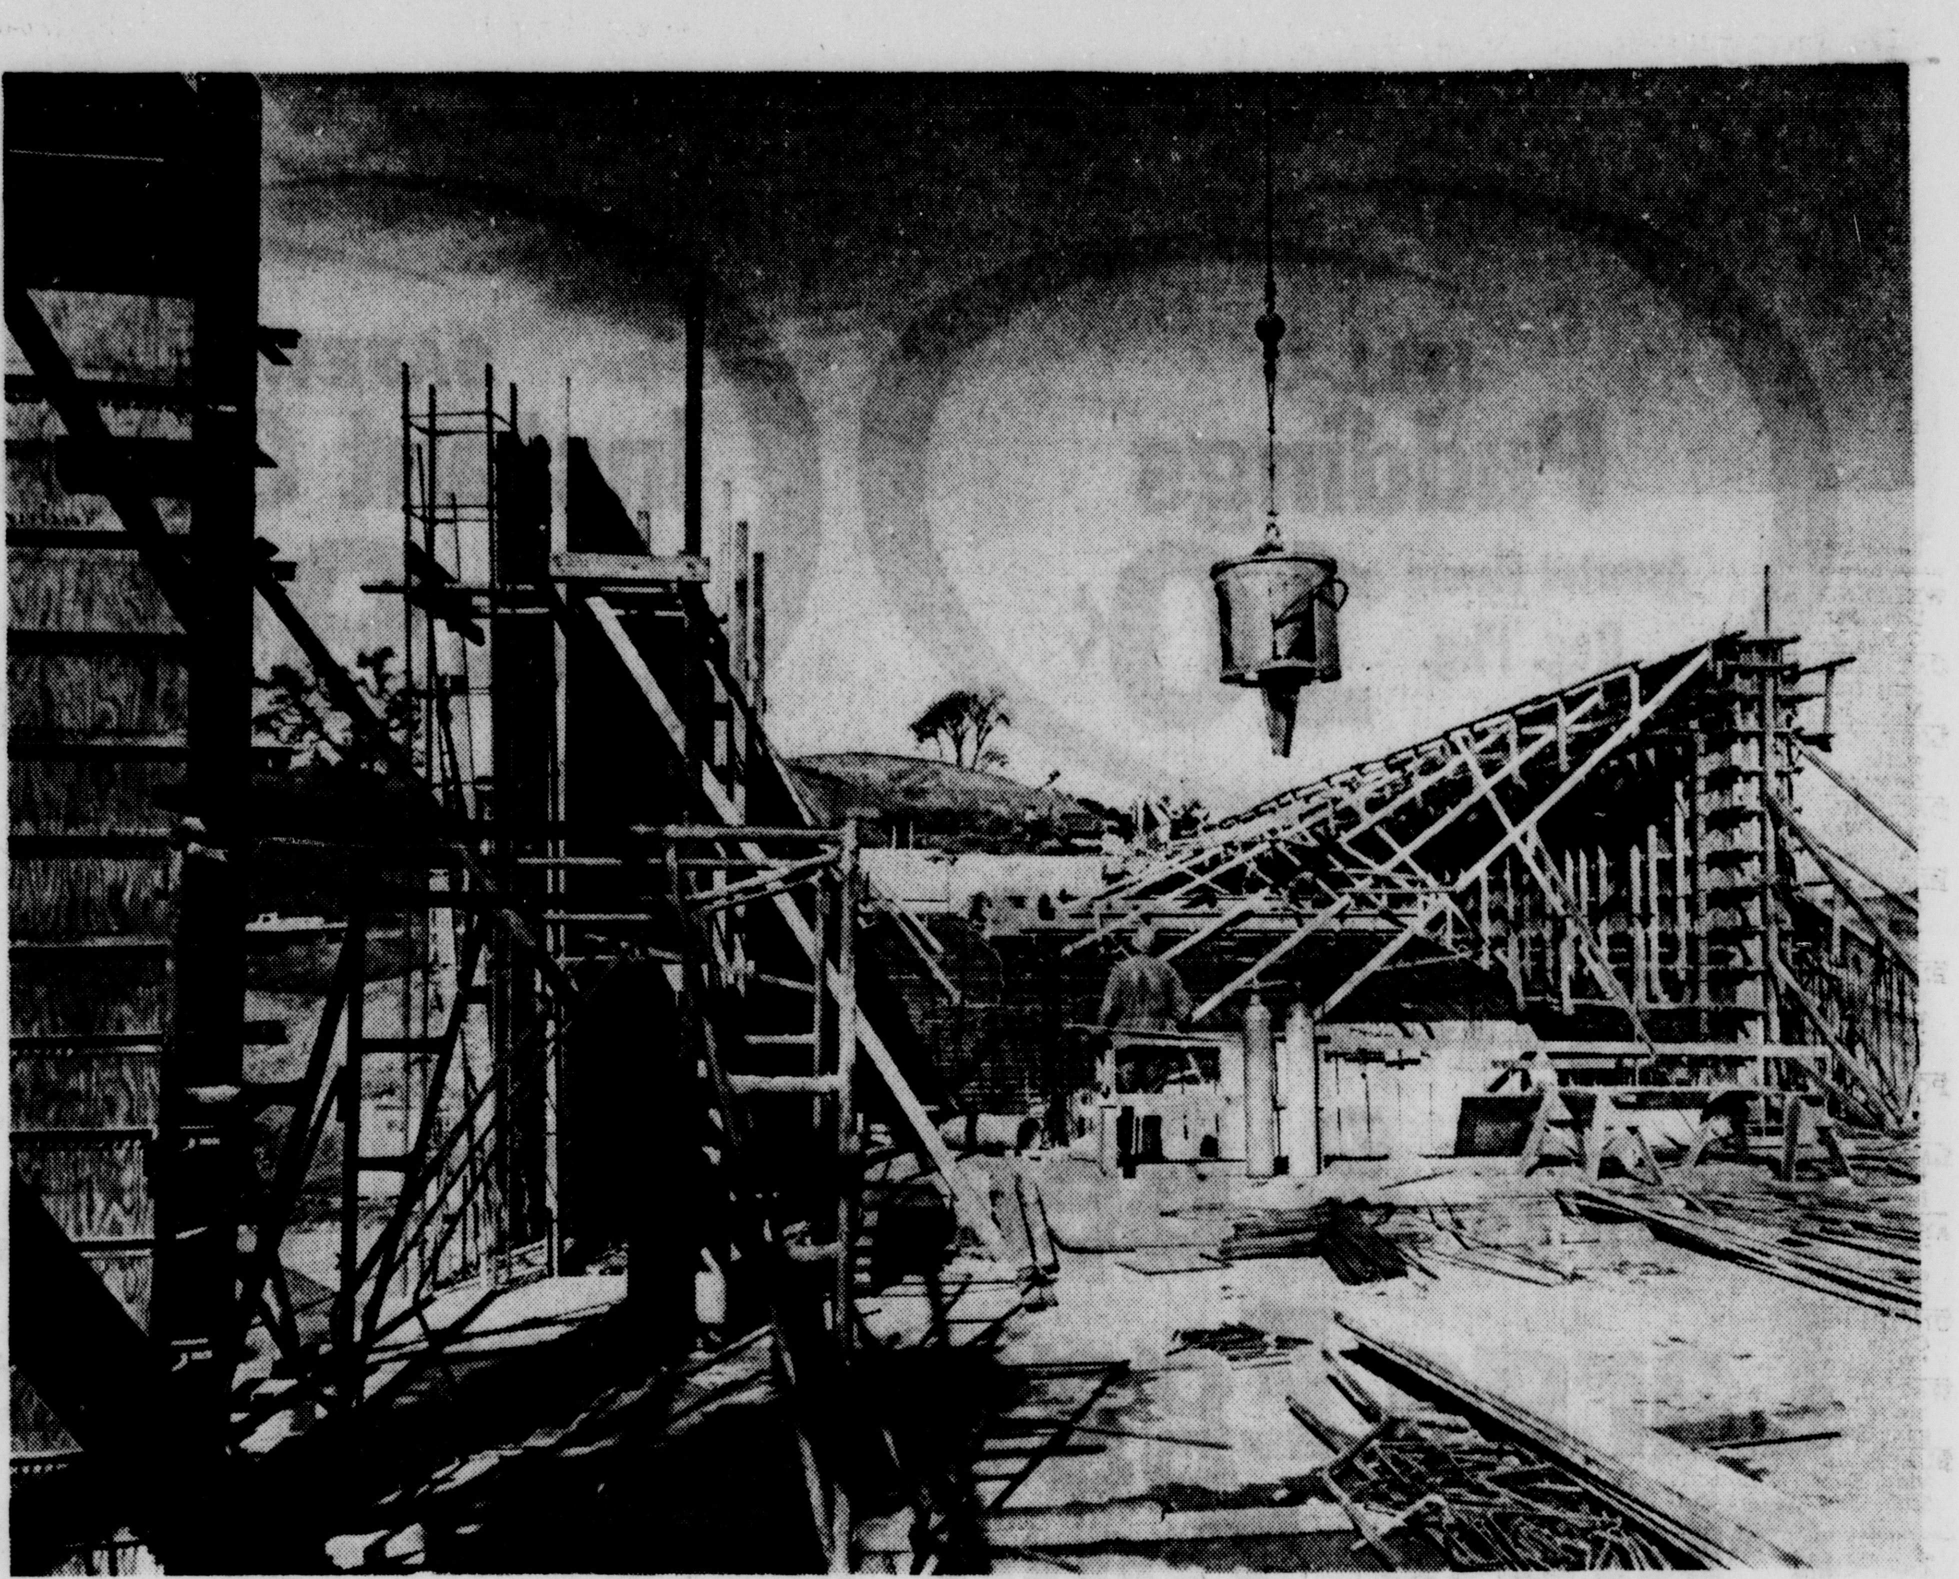
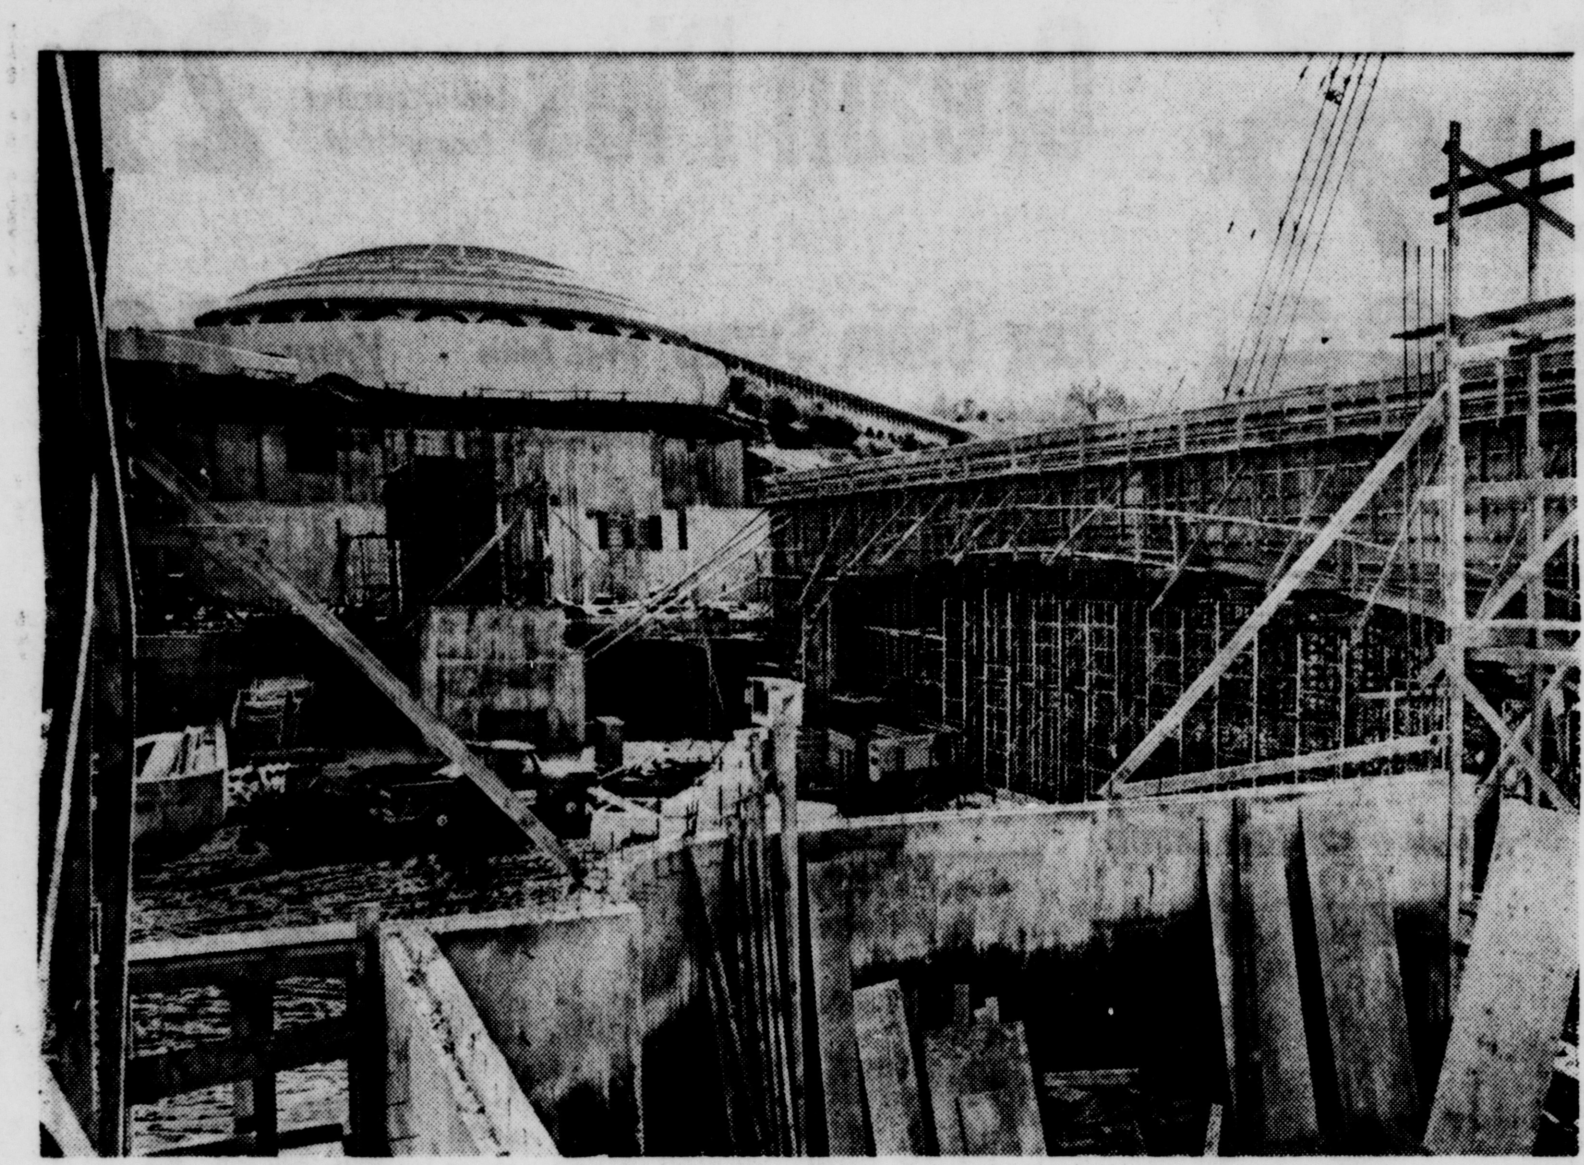
Justice Hall Rising



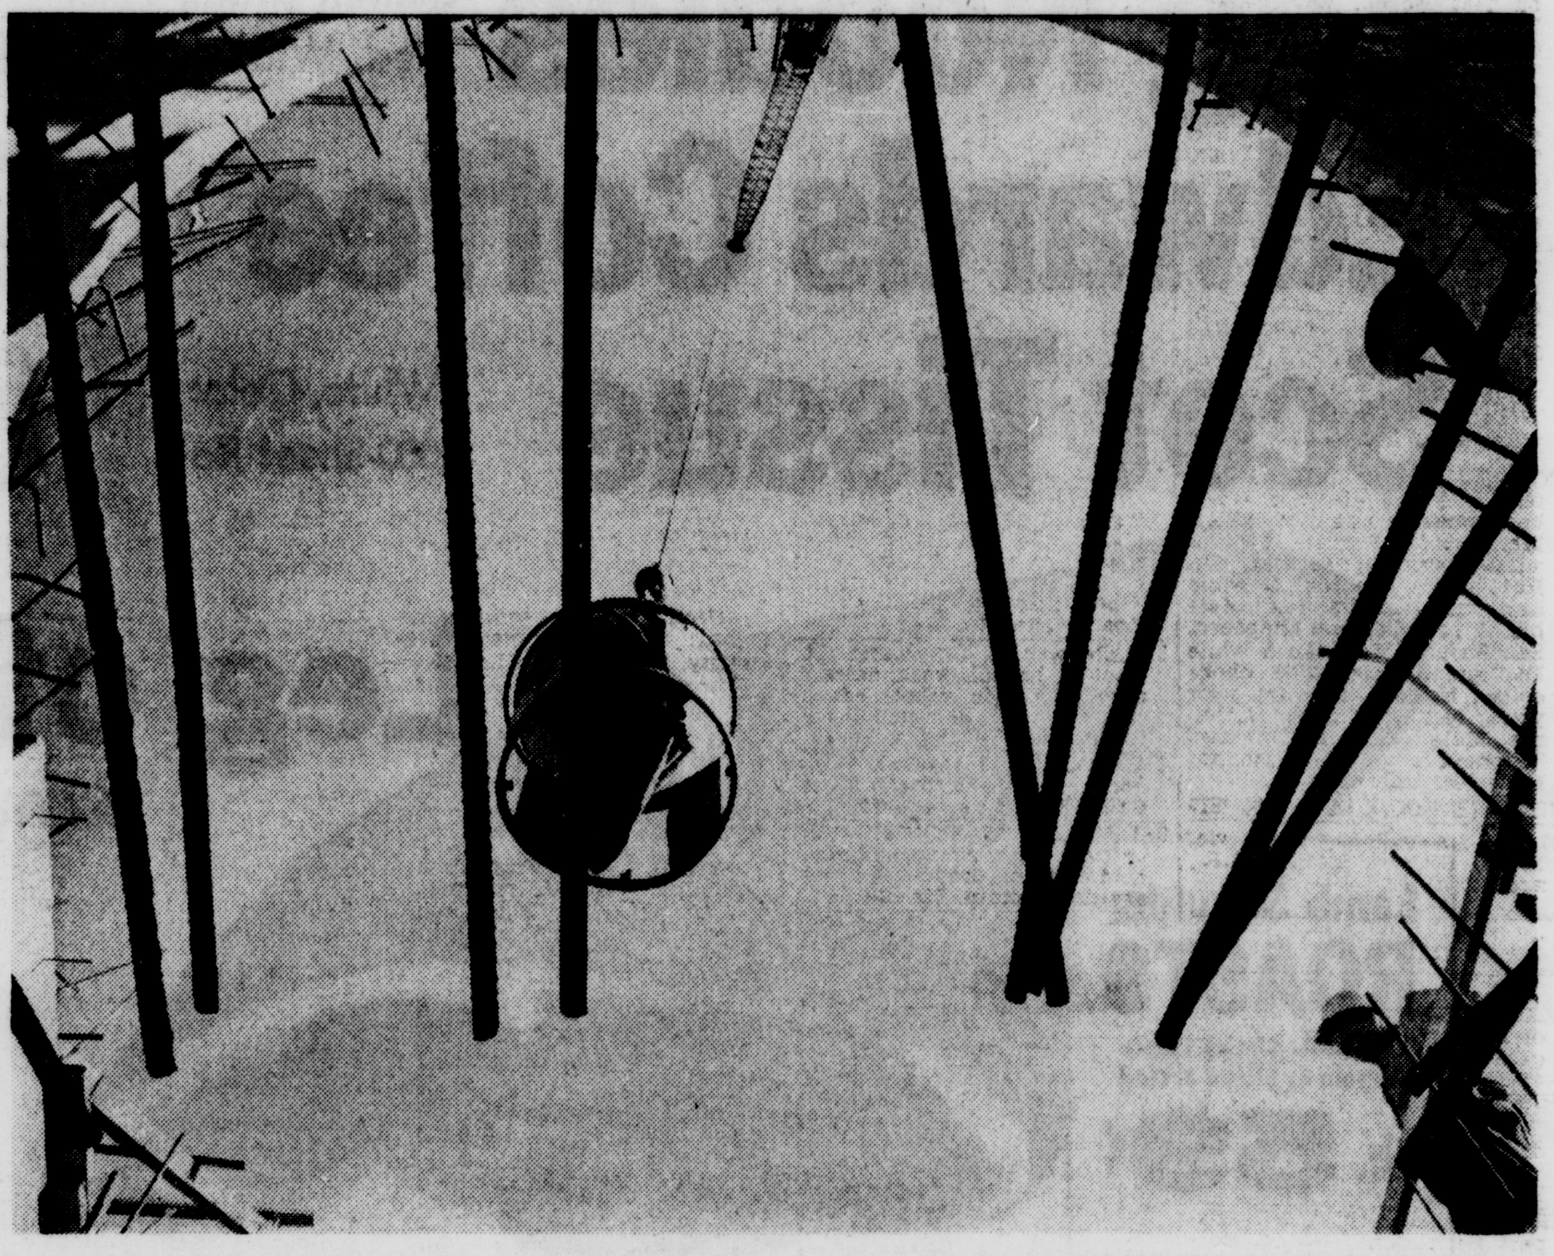
MAKING COLUMN—Otis Williams operates a vibrator to settle the cement into a form for a column near the south arch of the Hall of Justice. Other workers guide cement bucket (right) to another column. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)



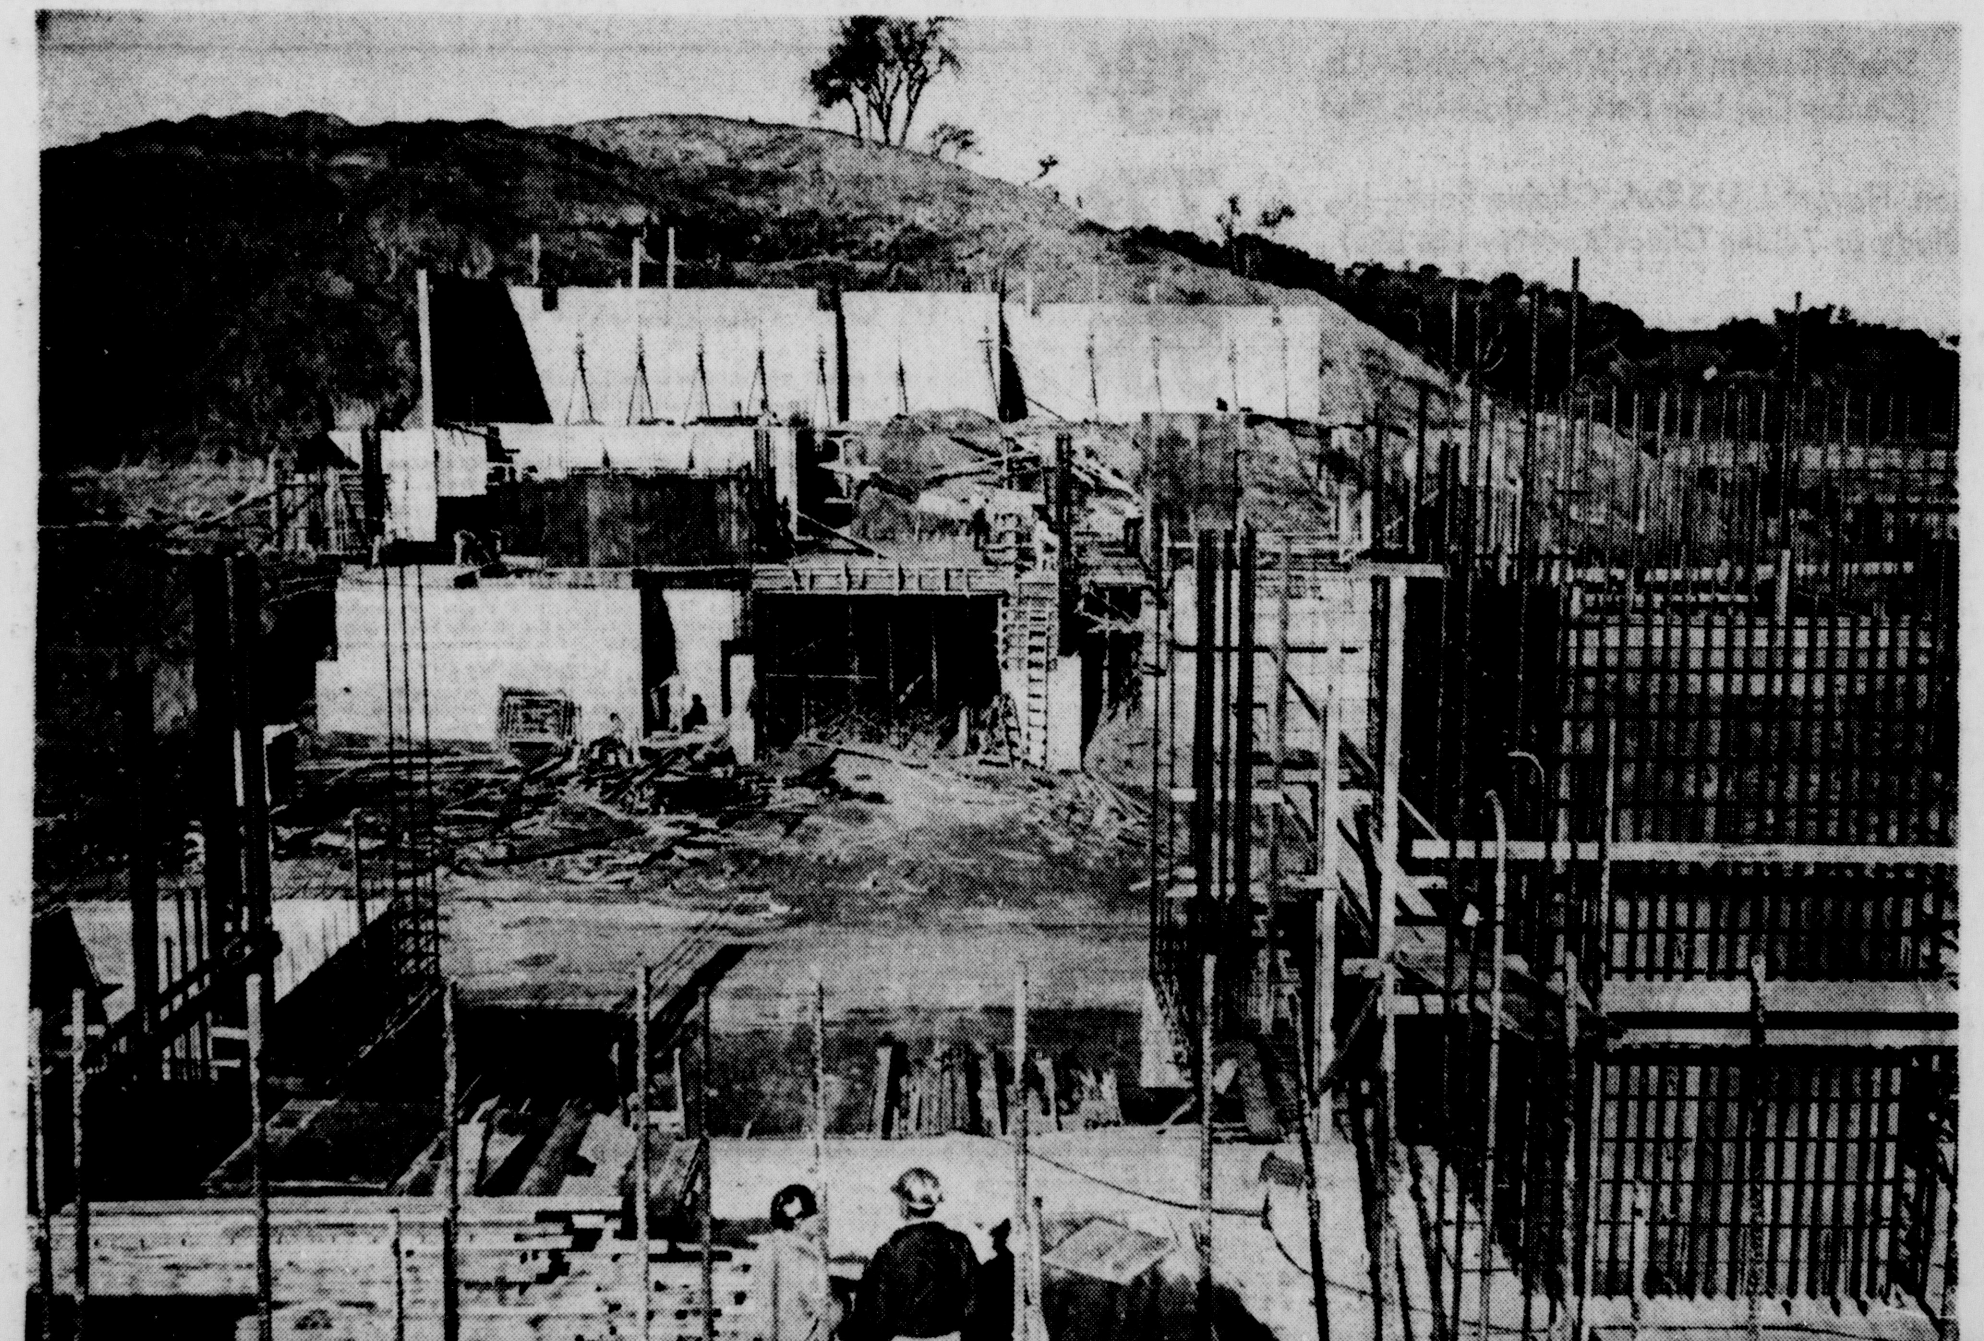
STEEL AND CONCRETE—The $11.25 million Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center is to be completed late in the summer of 1968, but already it has taken definite form across two hills north of the present administration building. This shot, looking north, shows the site for the new county jail. Tower of reinforcing steel at right marks an elevator shaft. An arch, yet to be built, will span the roadway.



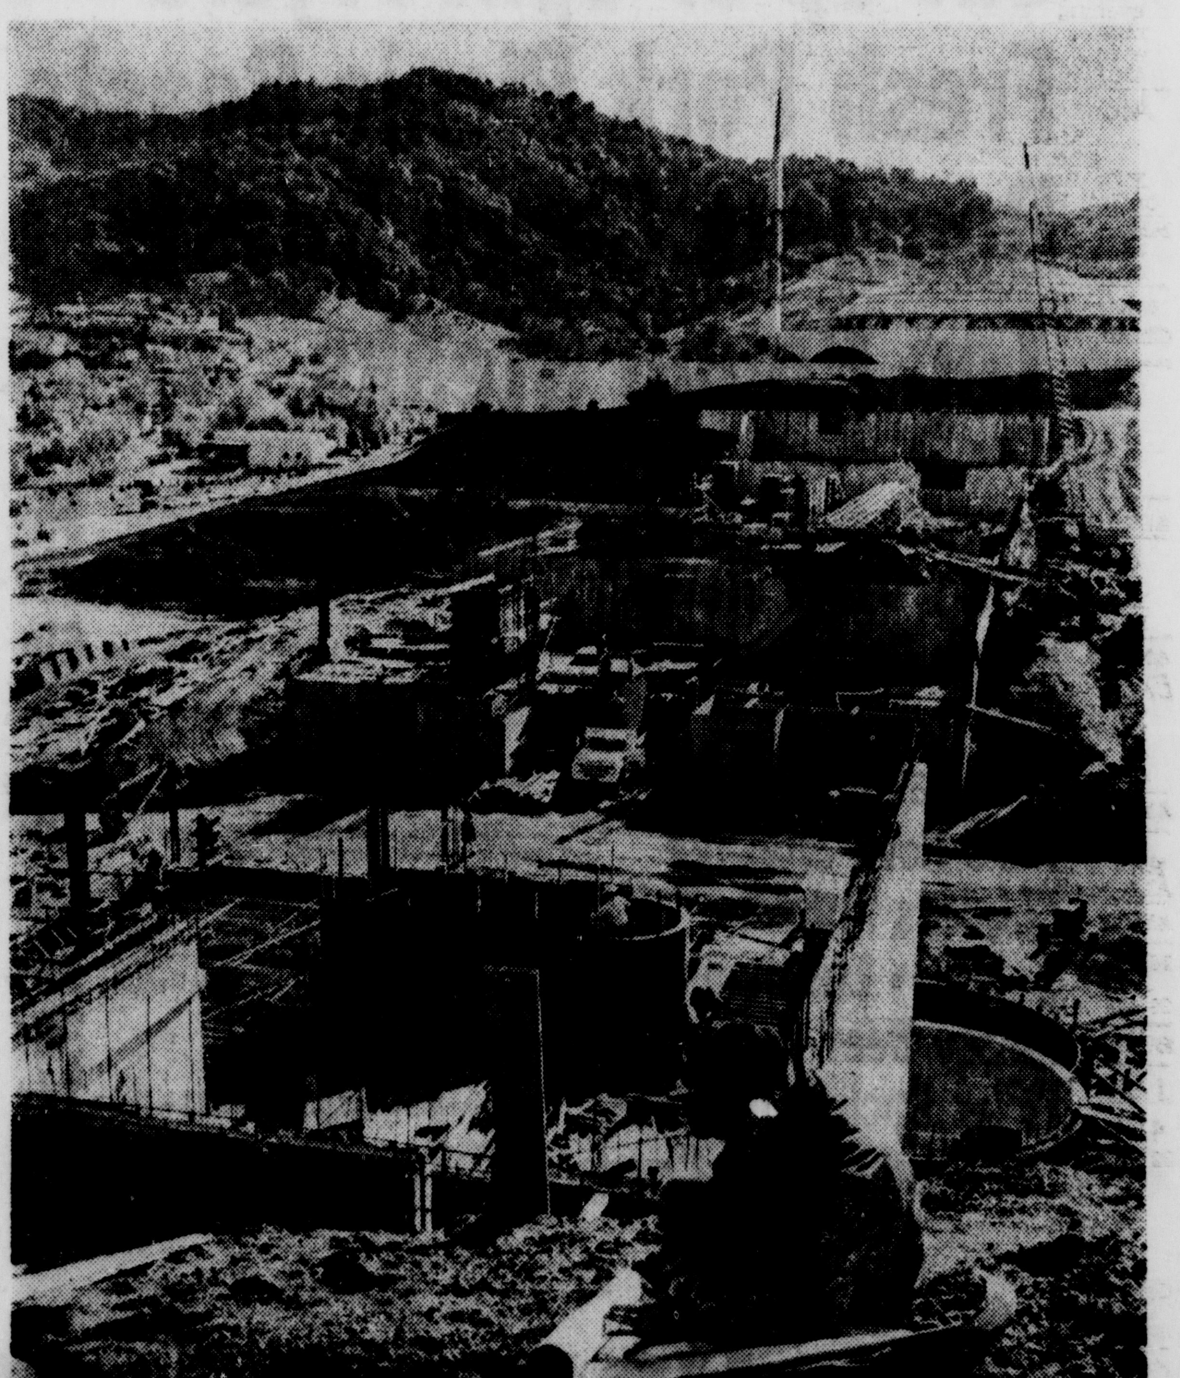
SOUTH ARCH — View of south arch construction also shows the dome of the County Library in the present administration building at the Civic Center. It will remain one floor above the top of the three-story Hall of Justice building. The new addition will house 10 courtrooms and all other county offices now at the courthouse.



PATTERN OF WORK—Looking up an elevator shaft that workers of Robert E. McKee Construction Co. are building near the south arch, provides an artistic pattern for photographer. Boom of huge derrick that lifts the cement bucket appears high in the air.



READY FOR CEMENT—Reinforcing steel is in place for the first section of the south arch at the Hall of Justice building at the Civic Center. The building, designed by the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, will carry on the design of archs and circular lines in the present Administration Building. Before Wright died, he did the preliminary design for the buildng, the only government building he ever designed.



FOUNDATION WORK—Jack Backer of the soil engineering firm of Lee and Praszker checks foundation plans at the site of the county jail, to be located on the top floor at the north end of the Hall of Justice.

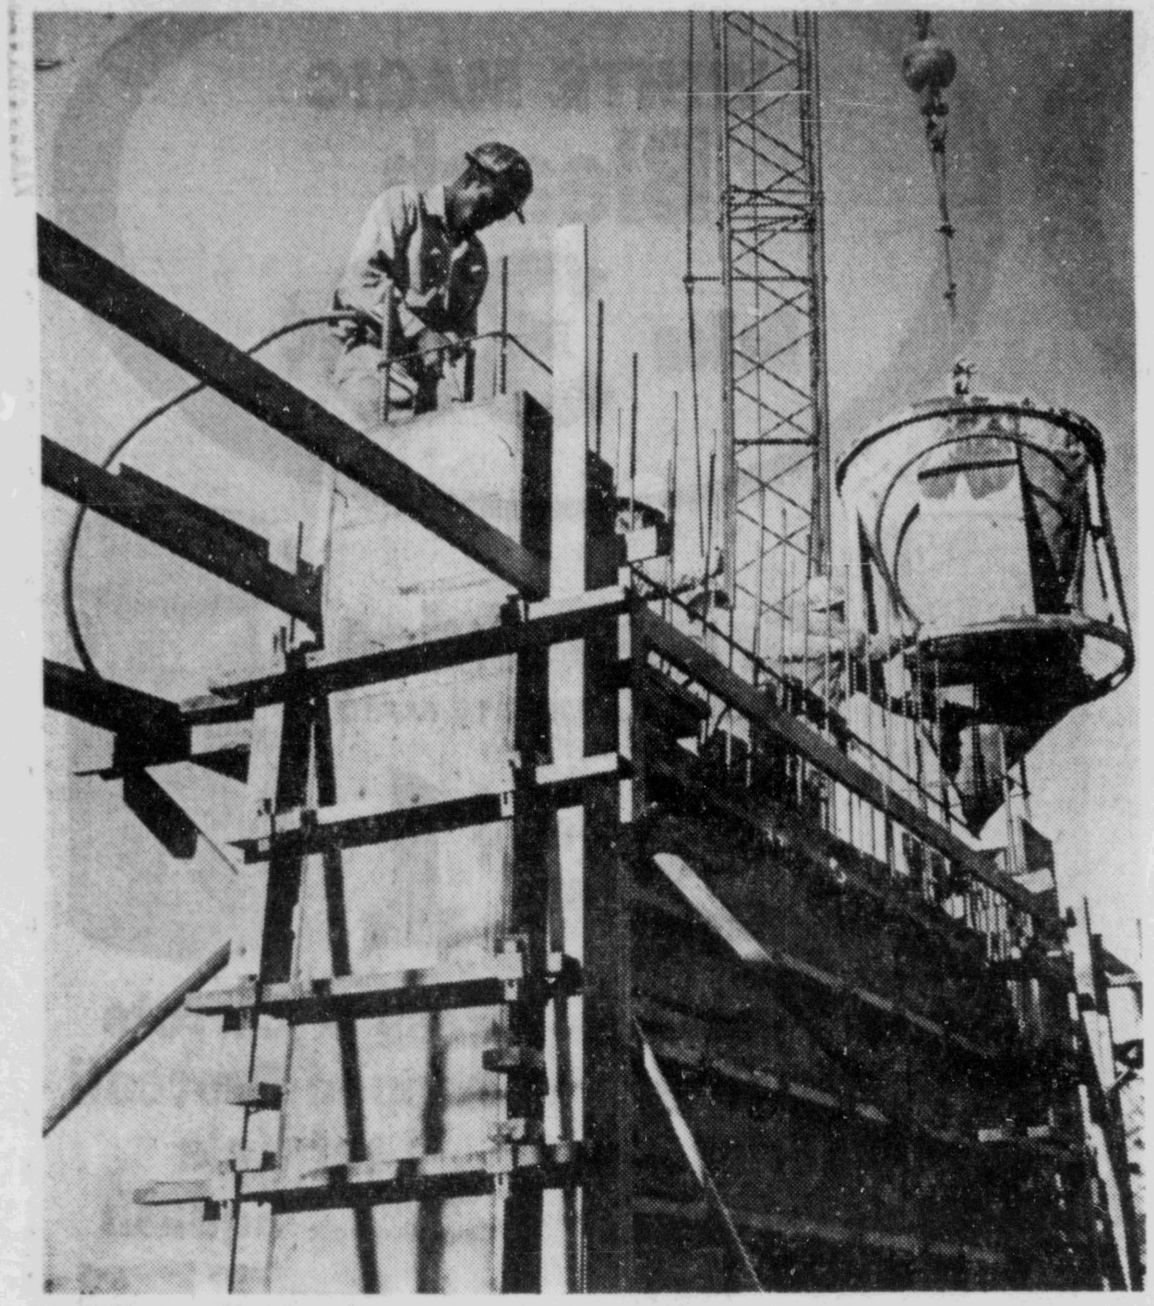
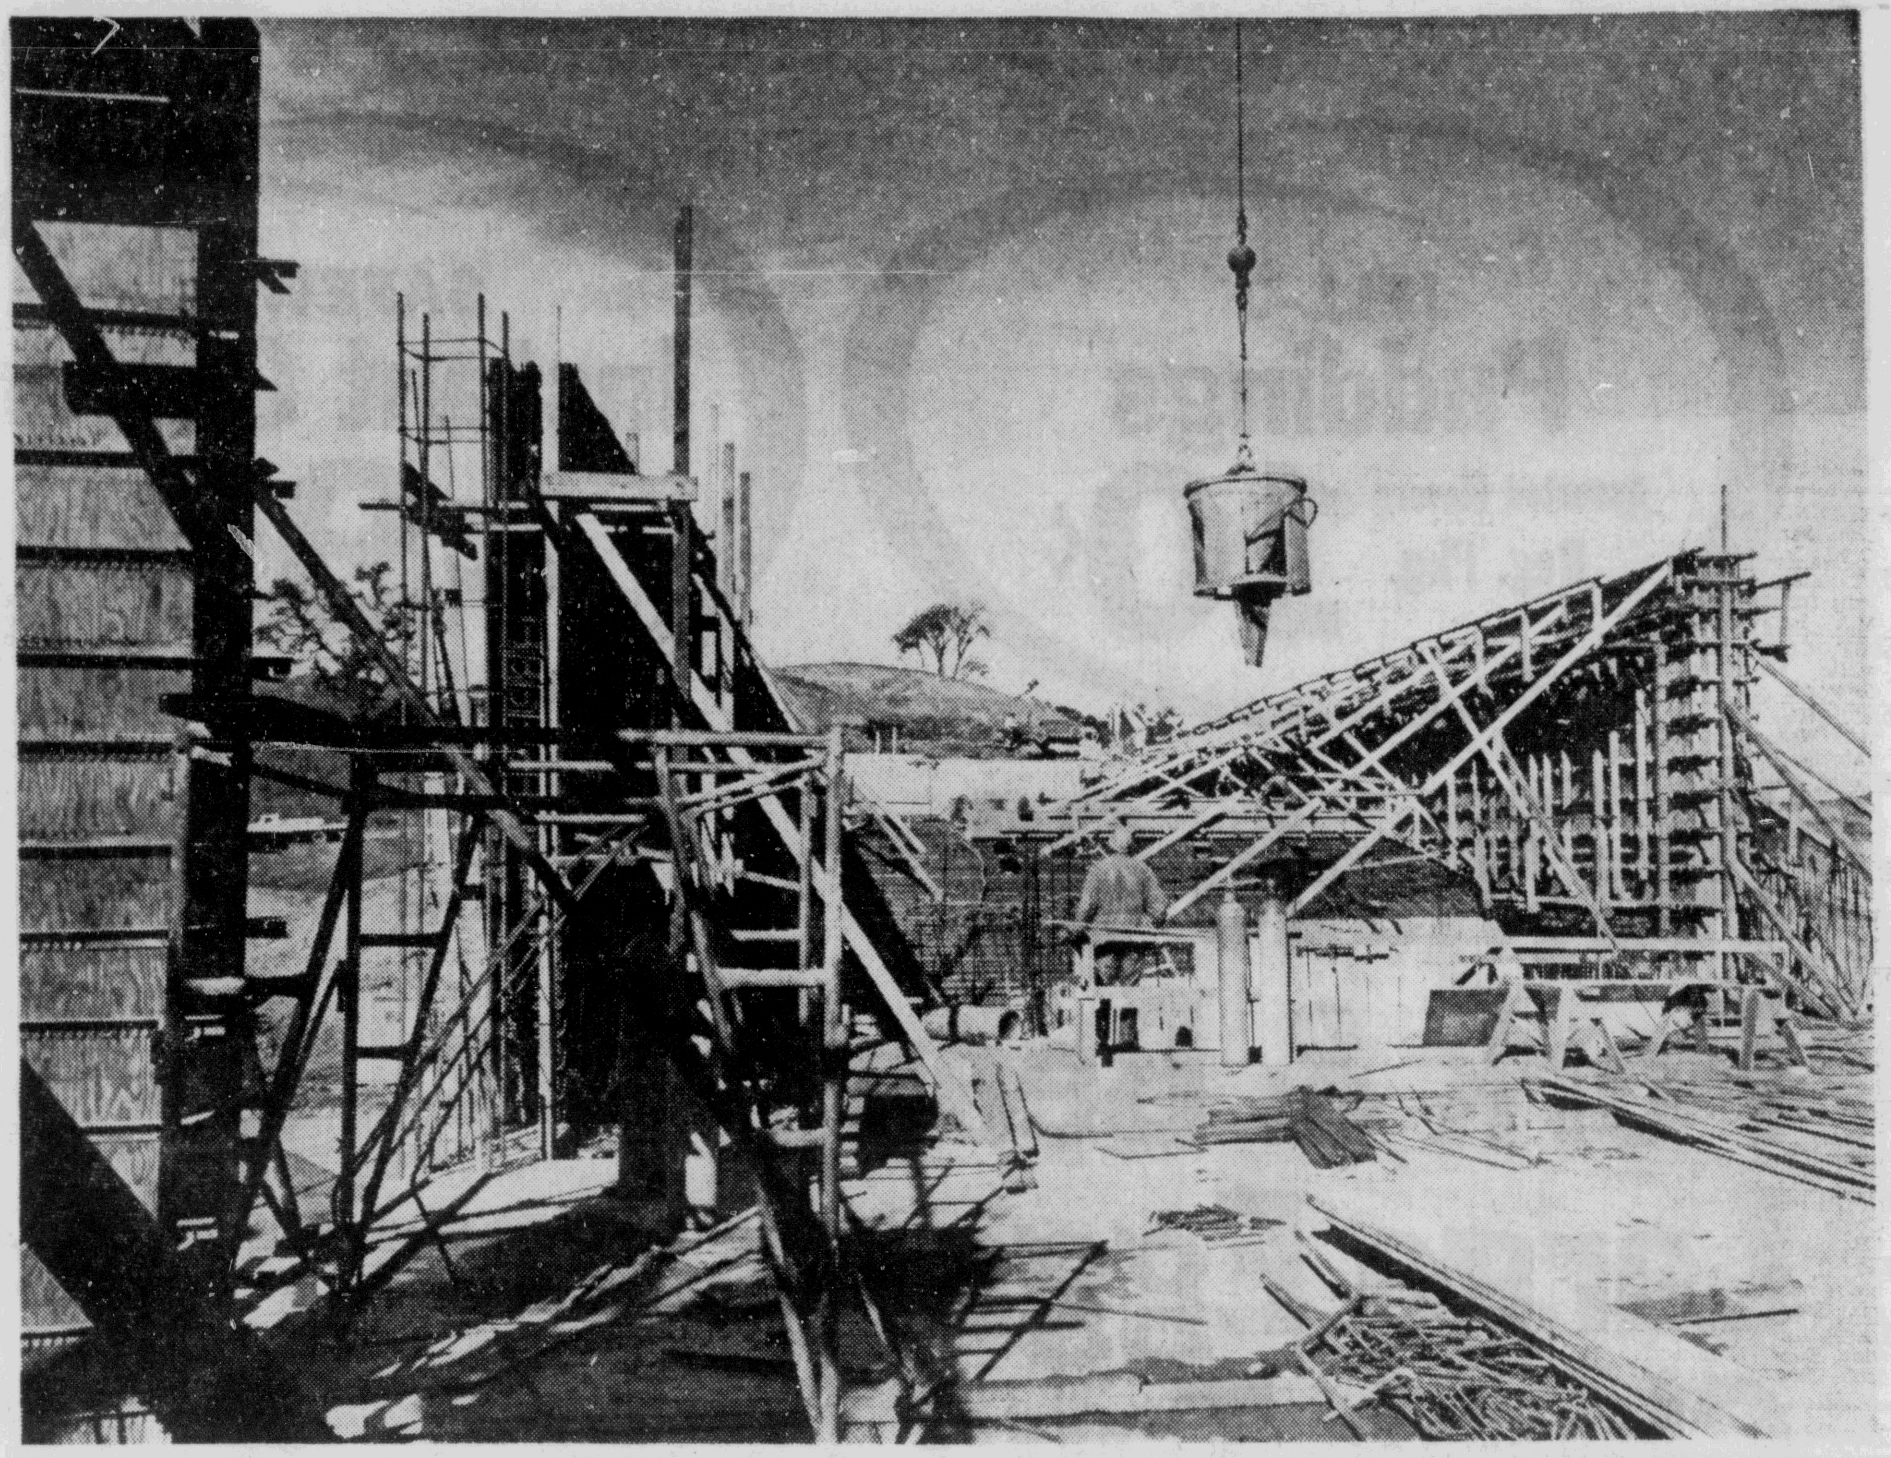
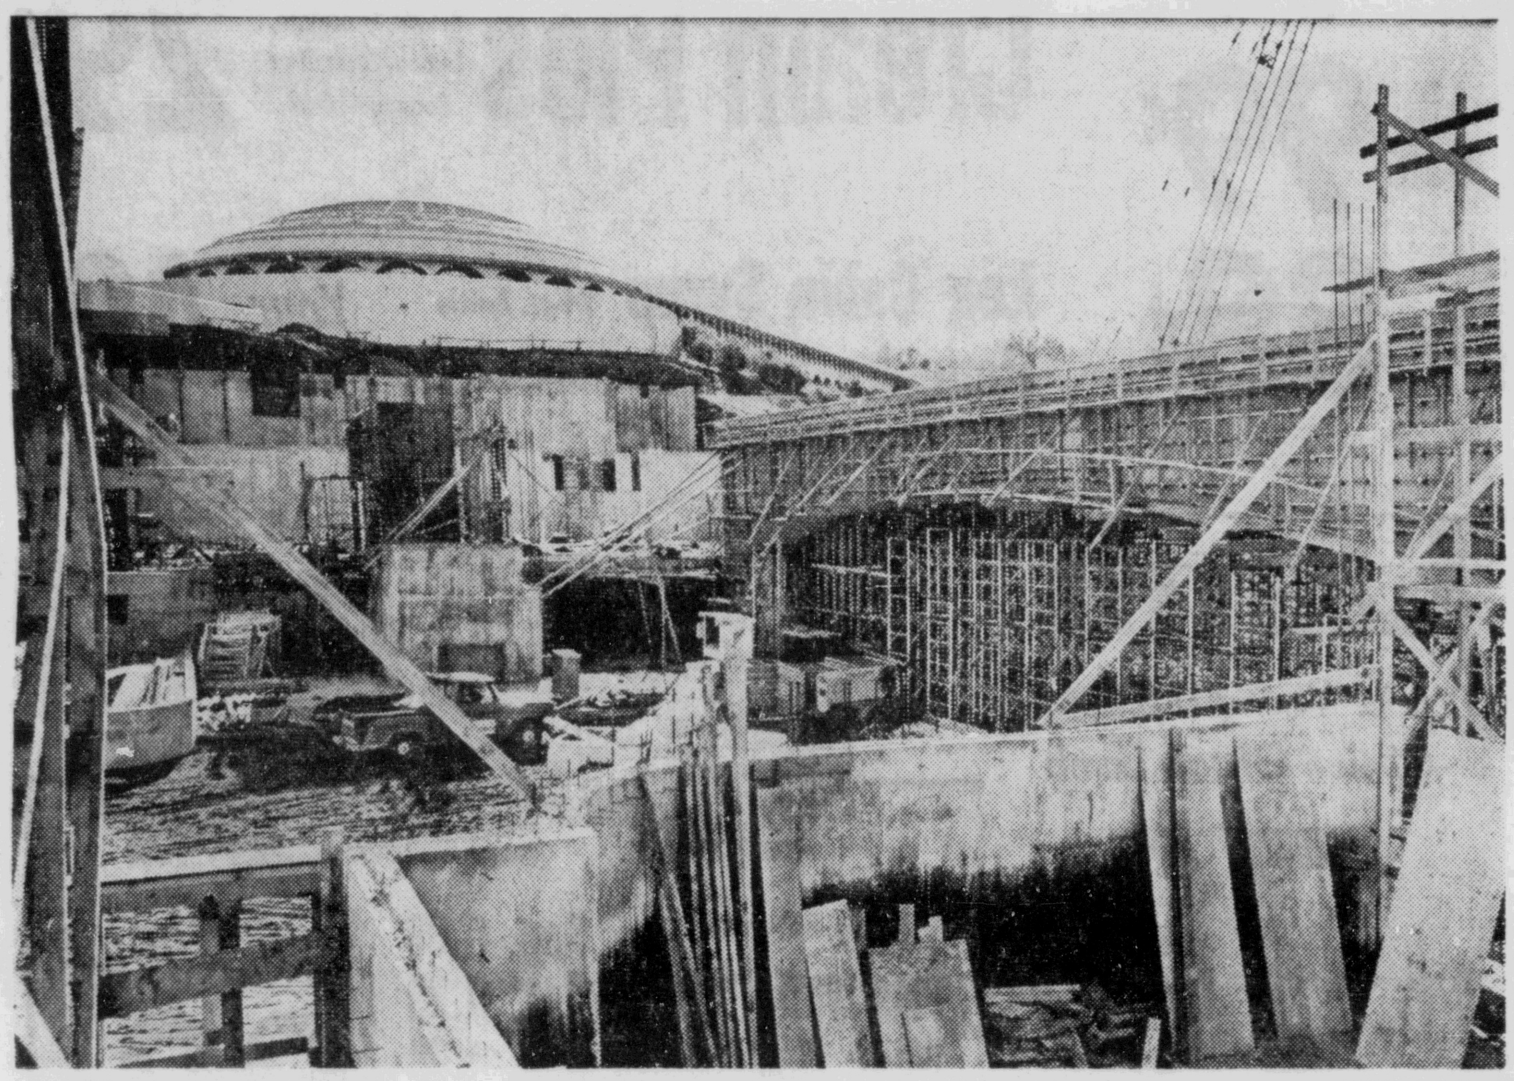
Justice Hall Rising



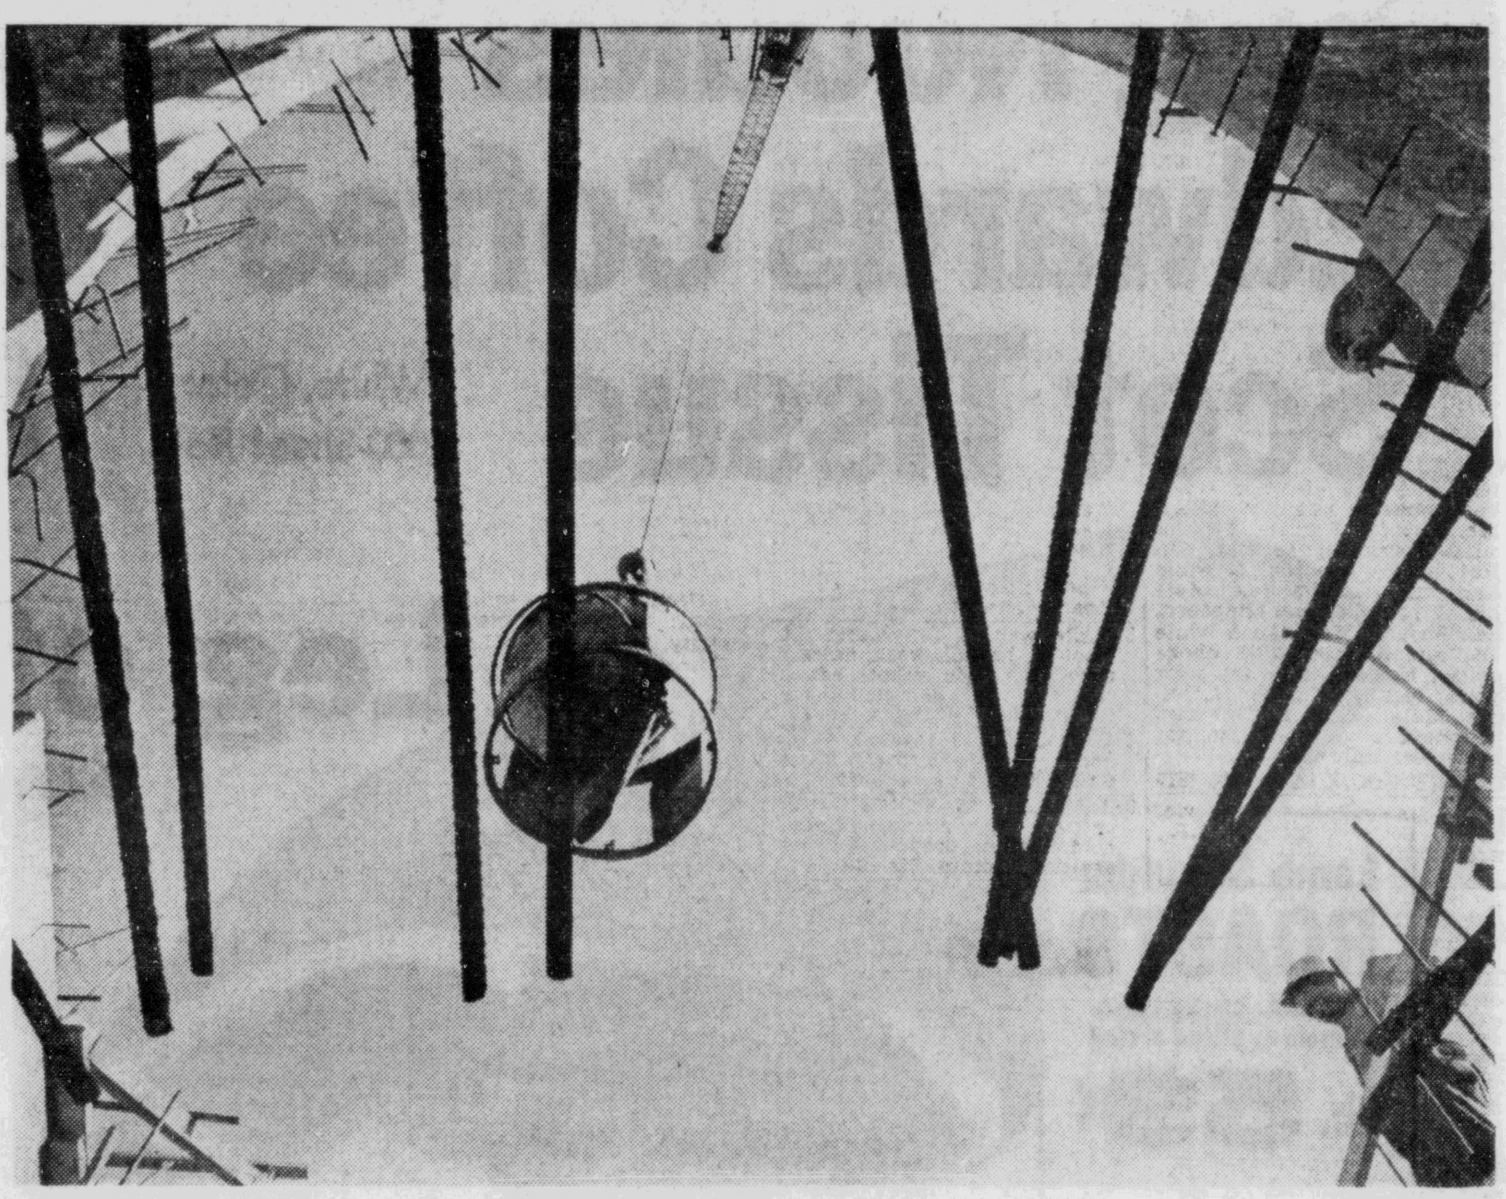
MAKING COLUMN—Otis Williams operates a vibrator to settle the cement into a form for a column near the south arch of the Hall of Justice. Other workers guide cement bucket (right) to another column. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)



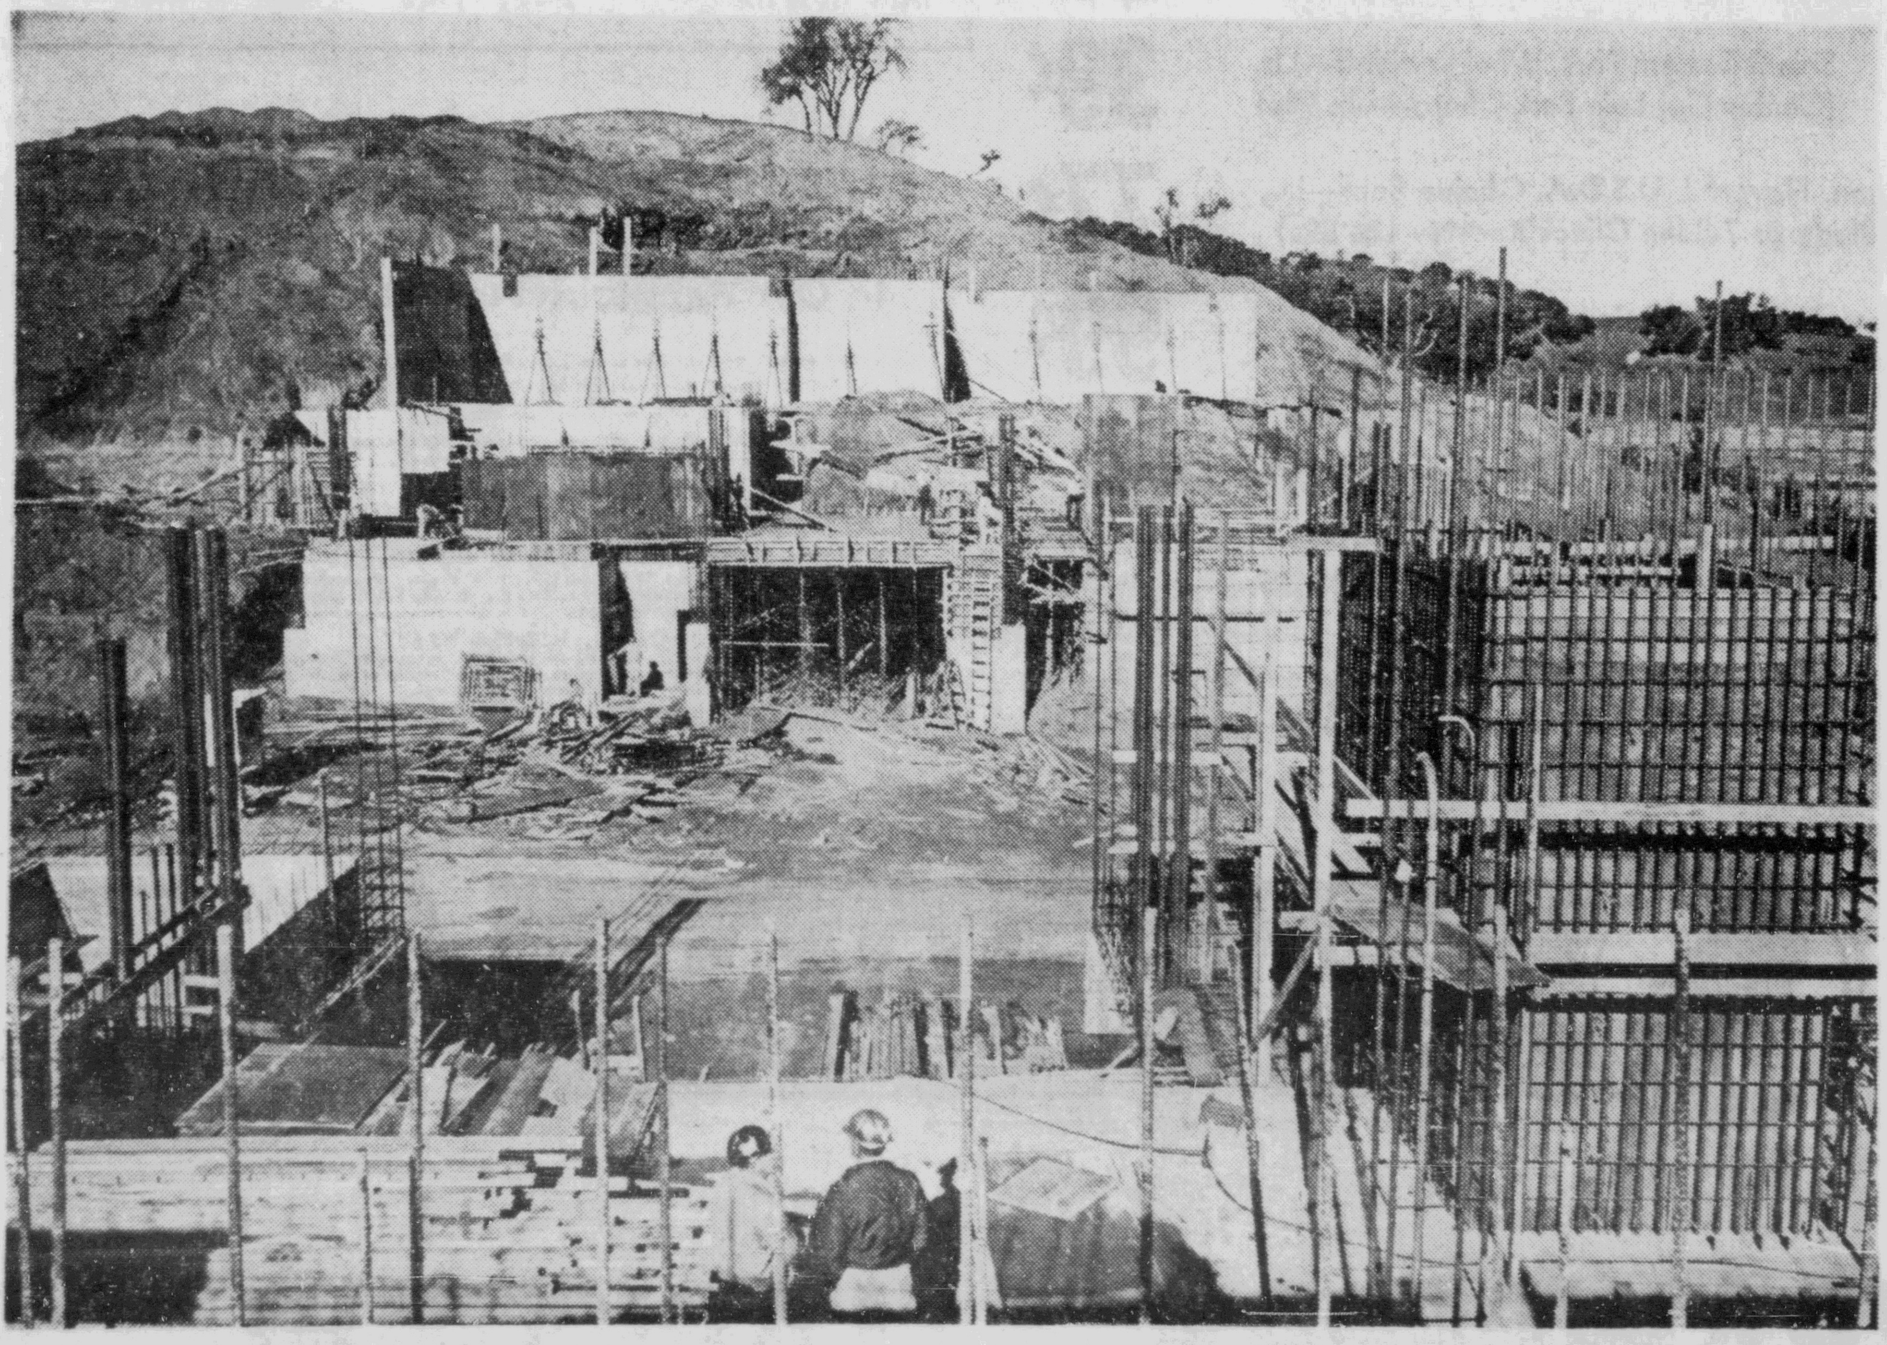
STEEL AND CONCRETE—The $11.25 million Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center is to be completed late in the summer of 1968, but already it has taken definite form across two hills north of the present administration building. This shot, looking north, shows the site for the new county jail. Tower of reinforcing steel at right marks an elevator shaft. An arch, yet to be built, will span the roadway.



SOUTH ARCH — View of south arch construction also shows the dome of the County Library in the present administration building at the Civic Center. It will remain one floor above the top of the three-story Hall of Justice building. The new addition will house 10 courtrooms and all other county offices now at the courthouse.



PATTERN OF WORK—Looking up an elevator shaft that workers of Robert E. McKee Construction Co. are building near the south arch, provides an artistic pattern for photographer. Boom of huge derrick that lifts the cement bucket appears high in the air.



READY FOR CEMENT—Reinforcing steel is in place for the first section of the south arch at the Hall of Justice building at the Civic Center. The building, designed by the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, will carry on the design of archs and circular lines in the present Administration Building. Before Wright died, he did the preliminary design for the buildng, the only government building he ever designed.

FOUNDATION WORK—Jack Backer of the soil engineering firm of Lee and Praszker checks foundation plans at the site of the county jail, to be located on the top floor at the north end of the Hall of Justice.

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING
in today's market . . .

HOME PRICES AND INTEREST RATES WILL PROBABLY GO HIGHER!

Reliable economists are predicting home prices will be up 20% by 1970. Interest rates, which are high now, will surely not go down, but may get even higher. Home ownership is a great hedge against inflation, and there is a good variety of attractively priced homes on the market. This is a GOOD time to buy, and financing is available. Don't let "scare talk" keep you from having a better home.

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING
in today's market . . .

HOME PRICES AND INTEREST RATES WILL PROBABLY GO HIGHER!

Reliable economists are predicting home prices will be up 20% by 1970. Interest rates, which are high now, will surely not go down, but may get even higher. Home ownership is a great hedge against inflation, and there is a good variety of attractively priced homes on the market. This is a GOOD time to buy, and financing is available. Don't let "scare talk" keep you from having a better home.

NEW CLASSROOMS ROLL INTO PLACE

Portable classrooms for three classes which are meeting in the basement, auditorium and teachers' room of Mill Valley's Park School rolled into place yesterday. Leased for $2,042 annually each from Speedspace Corp., Santa Rosa, they are to be ready within two weeks. They replace rooms in a wing destroyed because it failed to meet earthquake-resistance standards. Walls of the portables were to be expanded to full-room size today by huge balloons inflated inside them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Night Cramping Of Muscles Common After The Age Of 50

VAN DELLEN

Nocturnal cramping of the muscles of the leg and foot is common after age 50. The cause of this disorder is not known, except that cramps are precipitated by stretching or extending the legs and feet when resting or in light sleep. Quinine sulfate is the most popular remedy, possibly because the drug lessens muscle irritability.

Most persons with night cramps have found that immediate relief is obtained by getting out of bed, walking about, or pulling the foot upwards to stretch the tendon Achilles. It may be necessary to pull up the toes with the hands or to rest the weight of the body on the involved extremity with the knee and ankle slightly flexed. Kneading or massaging the calf muscles with the fingers also helps some.

QUININE IS suggested when cramping occurs several times a night or enough to interfere with sleep In one report along this line, a 3-grain tablet at bedtime abolished the spasm in more than 95 per cent of the victims. In some instances the cramps disappeared for days or weeks after the medication was discontinued, but we do not know why.

Quinine should not be used during pregnancy because it may lead to a miscarriage or damage the unborn child. Some persons also are so sensitive to the antimalarial remedy that they develop ringing of the ears, visual disturbances, difficulty in speech and confusion. Other drugs such as aminophylline, calcium and the antihistamines have been used to control nocturnal cramps but none have been so successful as quinine.

A SOMEWHAT similar cramp (intermittent claudication) develops in the calf of the leg during exercise in persons with poor circulation. These individuals usually have hardening of the arteries and pain appears after walking a certain distance. When they stop for a few moments, the distress subsides, but pain returns on walking an equal distance. Quinine has no effect upon this condition.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

AID TO SHOCK THERAPY

A reader writes: I have just spent two weeks in the hospital for electric shock treatments which were given under the supervision of a psychiatrist. They have helped some. I do not understand what these do and how they help. Please explain.

REPLY

We do not know why shock treatment relieves the symptoms of psychotic depression. However, the effect may be temporary unless psychiatric care is given between and after these treatments.

DRUGS AND DRINK

F. W. writes: Do people addicted to the use of dope of any kind drink intoxicating liquors? I'm told they are not drinkers.

REPLY

Some do. In general, however, the alcoholic is not a drug addict and vice versa. Both groups have personality defects and we often hear it said, "If Joe did not drink he would take drugs."

JOINT PAIN

Mrs. H. writes: Could joint pain in a child, without swelling, be a small case of rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Yes, but pain also could stem from arthritis or injury. The condition should be investigated because "a slight case of rheumatic fever," like "a touch of pregnancy" or "a slight case of leprosy," is it.

EYE DEFECT

A. R. writes: Is astigmatism present at birth or does it develop later?

REPLY

In all probability it exists but diagnosis is difficult to make in a newborn.

DISCONTINUED

R. T. M. writes: A man in his 70s with arthritis felt fine after receiving cortisone. But his doctor stopped the medicine and he fell apart again. So long as the remedy made him feel so well, why did the doctor stop it?

REPLY

You and I may never know why it was stopped unless we ask the physician or the patient. There is a possibility that it was discontinued because of side reactions or as a test to determine whether the man's arthritis was cured.

KIDNEY INFECTION

T. J. writes: My doctor says I have pyelitis. Is this the same as inflammation of the kidneys?

REPLY

Pyelitis is inflammation of the pelvis and other parts of the kidney.

SUGAR CUBE EATER

N. W. writes: I don't care for candy but I eat a sugar cube every day. Will this harm my teeth? I'm 24 years old.

REPLY

Yes, but you could nullify the effect by rinsing the mouth with water or brushing the teeth.

Today's Health Hint—The resentful individual is immature.

Year's Probation On Morals Charge

A year's probation was given Edward Silva, 66, by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Silva originally was charged with felony lewd and lascivious behavior with a 9-year-old girl last Feb. 13 at his home, 360 Bell Lane, Mill Valley. He pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of contributing on Nov. 21.

Poison's Effect Seems To Depend On Timing

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A poison is always a poison. Or is it?

It may depend on the time of day it is given.

By the same token, a lifesaving drug, administered to a dying man at the wrong hour, may lose all its healing powers.

Circadian rhythms, natural peaks and valleys in the daily cycle of physiological activity, account for this phenomenon, which has far-reaching applications for medicine and science.

As physiologists gain greater insight into man's time scale, it will be possible to know not only what dose of a drug to give patients, but also at what time of day it should be given.

Studies of rats given potentially lethal doses of amphetamine, a common stimulant of the central nervous system, showed that its action varied significantly over a 24-hour day. Dr. Lawrence E. Scheving of the Chicago Medical School reported that up to 78 per cent of the rats died at certain hours, while at other times amphetamine was fatal to only 6 per cent.

Once the good and bad hours have been determined for one group of animals, it can be safely predicted that others of the same species will respond in the same way, Dr. Scheving told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here. Similar rhythmic results were found in animals tested with nicotine, strychnine and other drugs, he said.

The relation of body rhythms and susceptibility to drugs was first noticed by Dr. Franz Halberg and his colleagues at the University of Minnesota, who have also found reactions to physical stimuli such as noise vary rhythmically.

Some attempts to apply this knowledge to clinical medicine have been made, though no foolproof way to use it has been found.

Dr. Richard J. Wurtman, an endocrinologist at the National Institute of Mental Health, relates rhythmicity to the treatment of Addison's disease, which results when the adrenal gland fails to secrete enough hormones.

Hormone injections help, but patients seldom feel completely well, Dr. Wurtman said, and "one reason is that we can't quite duplicate the natural rhythms of these secretions."

Normally, though, they seem to be highest in the blood about 6 a.m. and lowest at about 10 p.m.

Earth May Have Fainter Version Of Saturn's Rings

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A cloud of dust particles surrounds earth, giving it a halo like one of the rings around Saturn.

It's apparently not a very dense or even ring, but might be visible from space, under some circumstances.

Astronomers weren't sure of its existence until 1961.

But what astronomers for the last five years thought was only two blobs of matter in the area of the moon's orbit around earth now appears to be a continuous, if mottled and uneven belt.

The halo of matter was detected by an expedition of the Polish Astronautical Society under the direction of astronomer Dr. K. Kordylewski, Cracow, and his co-workers.

In 1961 Dr. Kordylewski had reported the discovery of two natural, cloud-like satellites circling earth in paths at the same distance as the moon.

They found then that two cloud-like satellites can be seen as faintly luminous patches with the unaided eye under favorable conditions. Now they have found that the light-reflecting material exists not only at the two points where the cloud satellites are located, but also along the entire lunar orbit.

This terrestrial ring can be detected only at specified times, Dr. Kordylewski reported to the world center for astronomical discoveries in Cambridge, Mass. His group has calculated that the next time for favorable observations is Jan. 7 through Jan. 21 in the constellations of Leo, the lion, and Virgo, the virgin, which will be in the southwestern sky at that time.

The visual observation of earth's far-out halo was made by Dr. Kordylewski's group from Africa on 15 nights between Oct. 9 and Dec. 14, 1966. The zodiacal band was not homogeneous, but had a mottled structure that was observed independently by 10 members of the expedition during at least 1,000 determinations.

Circling Saturn Probe Spotted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered a 10th satellite circling Saturn just outside the rings that are its trademark.

The satellite apparently is the closest to the planet and the rings, collections of particles that reflect light.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, a clearing house for information about celestial discoveries, confirmed the discovery last night.

A spokesman said the satellite is between 100 and 200 miles in diameter, but not visible to the naked eye on earth.

Saturn, about 71,500 miles in diameter, is some 886,700,000 miles from the earth. Its largest ring is 170,000 miles in diameter.

Big Jewelry Theft From Hotel Suite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jewelry worth between $25,000 and $40,000 was reported stolen last night from the Nob Hill hotel suite of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laggren of Hartford, Conn.

Police said the Laggrens discovered the loss when they returned from dinner.

Another Lively Labor Front Year Seen

By SAMUEL SHARKEY JR.
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Outgoing 1966, contrary to early expectations of a "quiet labor year," turned out to be one of the liveliest in a decade.

Incoming 1967 seems certain to be even livelier. This means:

1. More strikes or threats of strikes.
2. More potential public distress and inconvenience.
3. Higher wage and fringe benefit increases, completing the demolition of the Johnson administration's 3.2 per cent anti-inflation guideposts.
4. Stronger efforts in Congress for anti-strike legislation.
5. New attempts to extend "right-to-work" laws to more states.

The contracts that expire in 1967 indicate the increased action is due on the labor front.

More than 700 major agreements, each covering 1,000 or more workers, will run out. They directly involve 3.1 million union members. Potential sympathy walkouts or refusals to cross picket lines could affect many thousand additional workers.

In 1966, by comparison, contracts affecting only 976,000 workers came up for renewal.

Yet the "quiet" year saw the New York City transit and newspaper strikes, the massive airline tieup, waves of walkouts by public employees, including firemen, nurses, teachers, sanitation workers and others, the 16-week bituminous coal strike, sporadic tie-ups at General Electric and Westinghouse, and many others.

In the first nine months of the year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics says, strikes caused 18.8 million man-days of idleness, for a lost-time ratio of 0.19 per cent. This was up substantially from 1964's 0.14 per cent.

The 1967 list of contract openings includes autos, machinery, trucking, apparel, communications, electrical products, food products, meat-packing, paper and tobacco.

First on the list is James R. Hoffa and his International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the country's largest union.

He's said flatly he wants at least a 5 per cent wage increase in negotiations scheduled to begin in January. The contract, the national freight trucking pact, involves some 400,000 of his 1.7 million members, and expires in March.

Union and industry sources have voiced alarm over Hoffa's imminent departure for prison, where he faces 13 years and fraud and conspiracy in handling union funds. He is regarded as a shrewd but realistic negotiator who understands the trucking business perhaps better than the owners themselves.

Indications are Hoffa will push briskly for an early accord before the prison gates clang, both to insure better benefits for his men and to strengthen his hand for continuing to control the union from his cell.

The biggest bloc in contract renewals covers 623,000 members of the United Auto Workers, starting in September against General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Walter Reuther's control of his union is under intense fire from his skilled workers. They have wrung from him a veto over any contract they do not like. This has had the effect of giving the 100,000 or so skilled workers minority control over agreements — and the majority of workers are thoroughly unhappy with Reuther.

Reuther, like Hoffa, has indicated he wants at least a 5 per cent pay increase. He plans to fight hardest for putting hourly-wage workers on regular salaries like white-collar workers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has given his blessing to the 5 per cent concept, even though it is well above President Johnson's 3.2 per cent guideposts.

There are strong indications that the President's Council of Economic Advisers will move in 1967, at least for the one year, to a more flexible guidepost policy. The council is understood to expect the economy to level off enough by 1968 to permit a return to the 3.2 figure.

The miltancy among the auto workers is a reflection of general union unrest, sparked in considerable measure by rising prices. The consumer price index has increased 3.7 per cent since January.

This was a factor in the strike by the International Assn of Machinists against five major airlines and led to the union's insistence on a cost-of-living escalator clause.

The 38,000 machinists in that strike, and 210,000 electrical workers who also won escalators, brought the total now covered by such benefits to 2.2 million, highest since 1962. Numerous unions have vowed to insist on escalators in 1967 as a hedge against inflation.

Labor's power waned on capitol hill last year, and union chieftains are candid in expressing their fears of what the new, more conservative Congress might do.

One group of labor's most important allies, Negro civil rights leaders, are slipping out from under Meany's tent because they charge he is not pushing union integration quickly enough.

And any break in the labor bloc could help the drive or right-to-work advocates to put the issue on state ballots. Initial targets are New Mexico, Idaho and Oklahoma. Drives also are planned in three big industrial states, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania, but prospects are dimmer there.

The overall picture for labor in 1967 is for an active, troubled year that, directly or indirectly, will affect most nonunion Americans, too.

Courtroom TV Cameras Blasted

ATHENS, Oiho (AP)—Associate Justice Tom Clark of the U.S. Supreme Court said today that television cameras in the courtroom would make jurors, lawyers and judges nothing more than ham actors.

Clark delivered the majority opinions in both the Billy Sol Estes and Samuel Sheppard cases establishing guidelines for coverage of jury trials.

He elaborated at a news conference by saying the public must grow accustomed to the television technique before the camera is permitted in the courtroom.

82-Year-Old's Span Leap Foiled

Discouraged by declining health, failing sight and hearing, an 82-year-old man walked away from Aldersly Danish home in San Rafael yesterday and tried to jump off the Golden Gate Bridge.

George J. Vidar may have taken a bus part of the way but was seen walking out on the bridge, where he climbed over the main rail to the outside rail below the east side of the span.

Two bridge painters, Rosenaldo Salazar and William Gavre, grabbed him and pulled him back to safety.

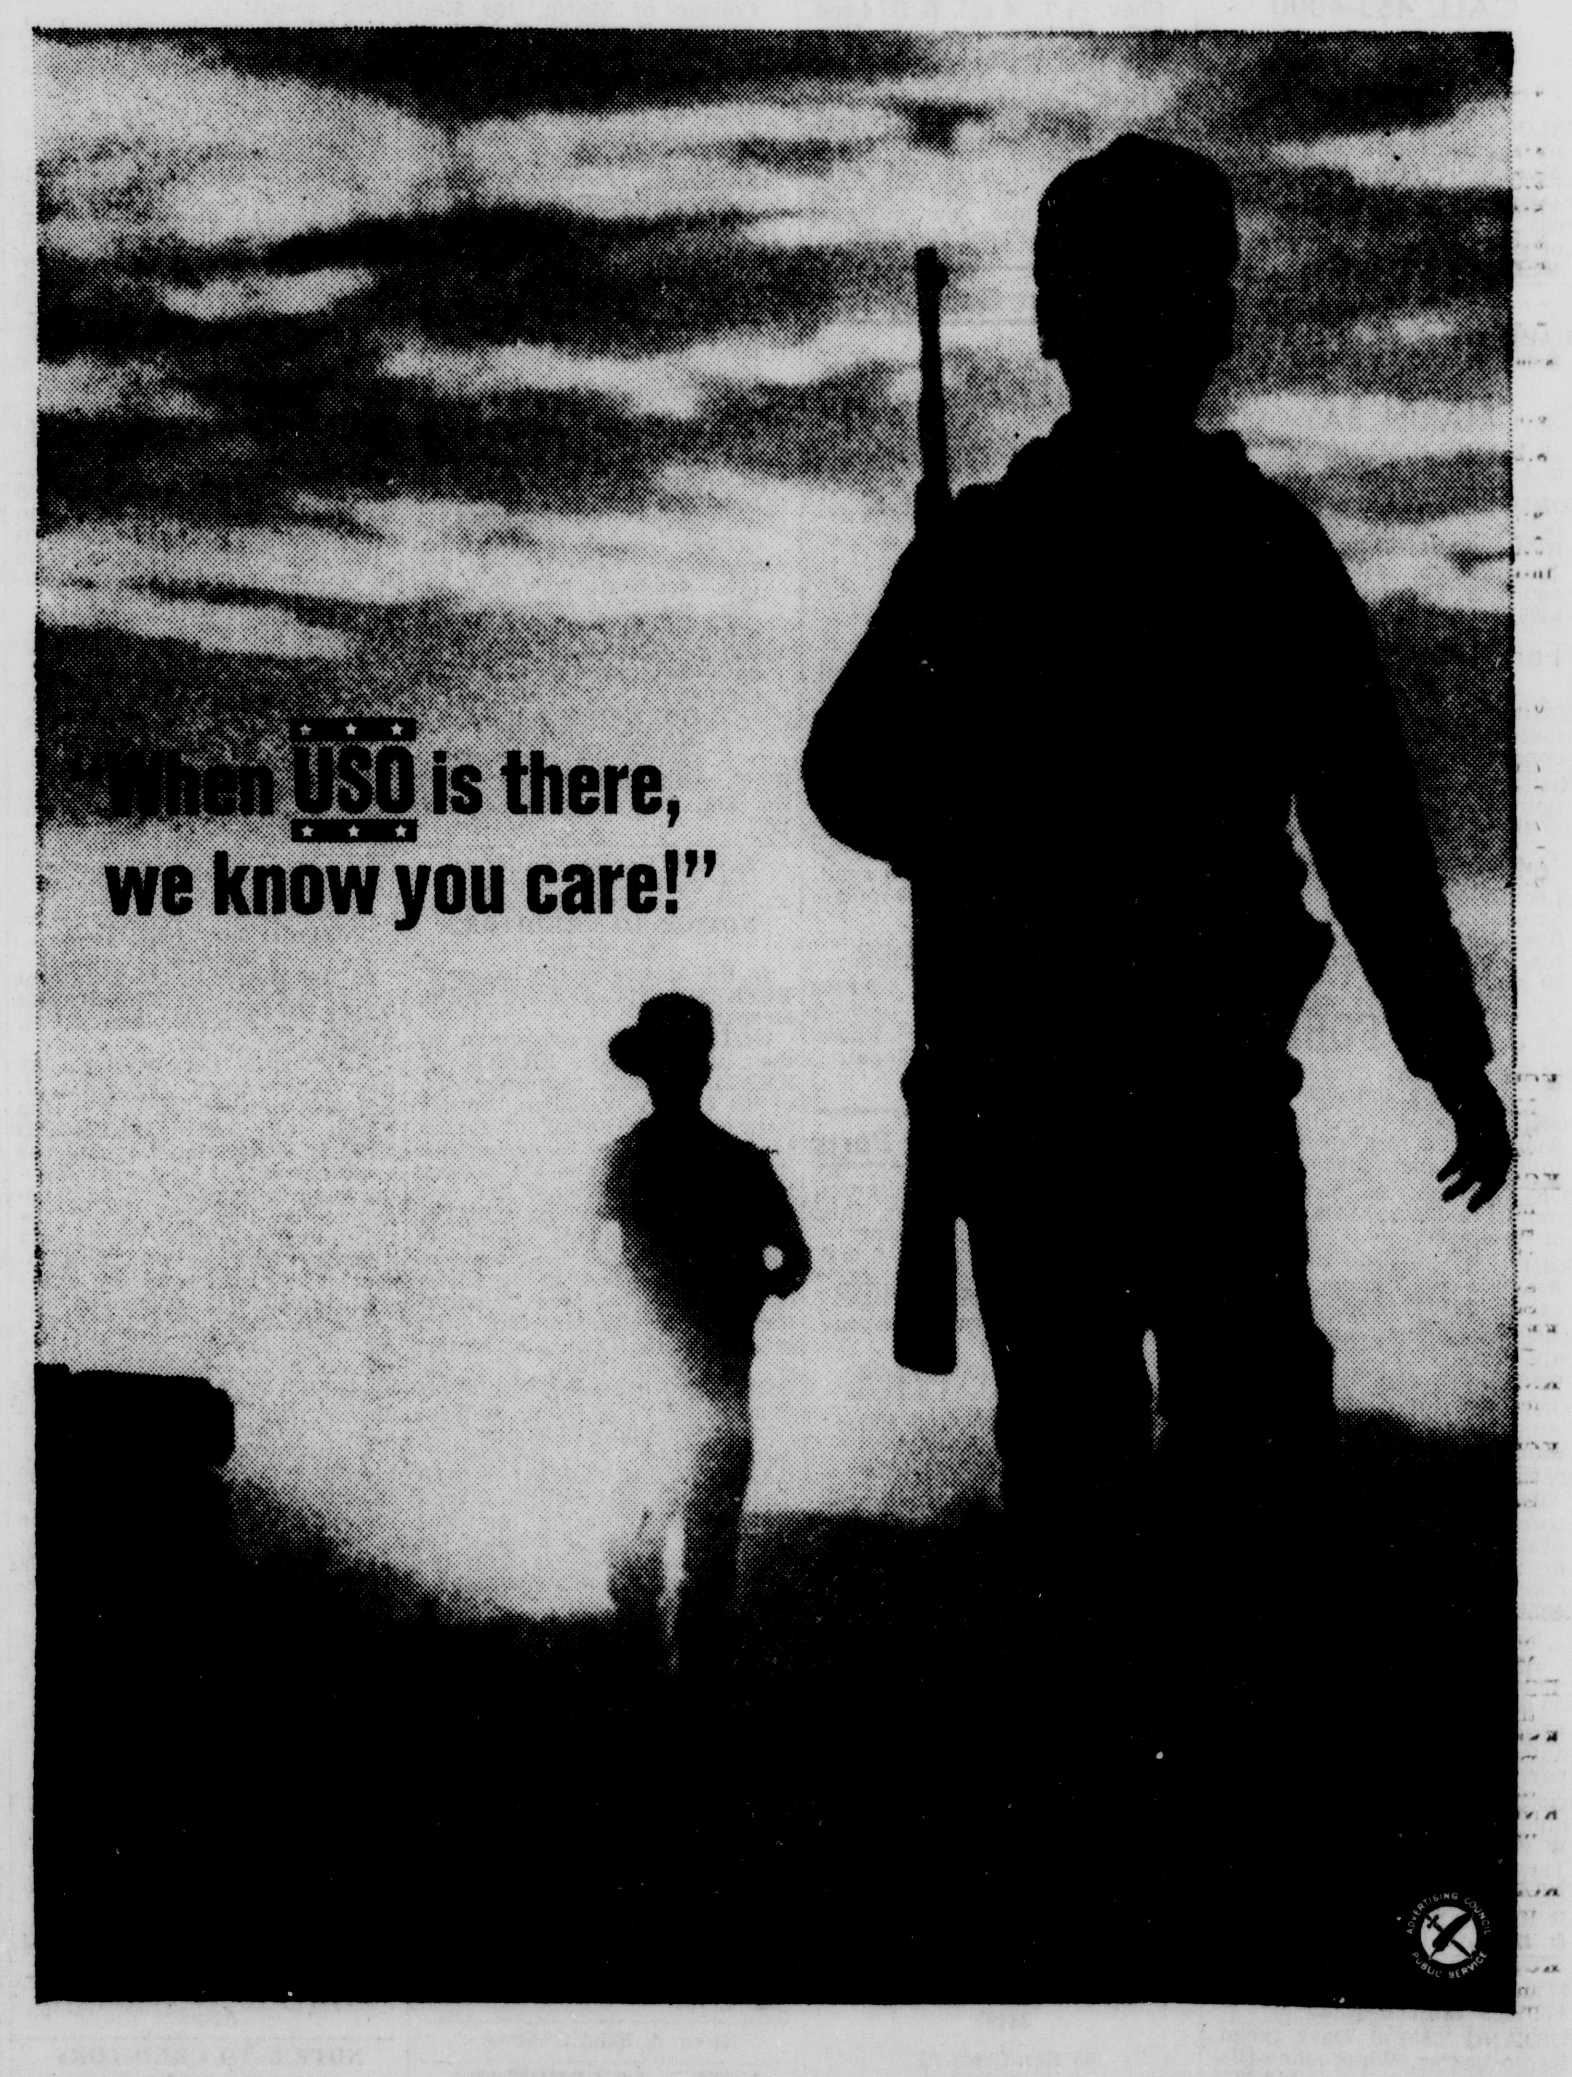
California Highway Patrol officer Lawrence R. McGuire released Vidar to the manager of the Danish home.

Auto Accident Causes Blackout

A driver suffered facial cuts and a fractured nose in an accident which cut off electricity from 50 homes Sunday.

David Griffin, 18 of 10 La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, was driving west on North San Pedro Road, according to California Highway Patrol, when his car went off a curve and sheered off a power pole at 1 a.m.

Service was out uni.until 10 a.m. while Pacific Gas and Electric Co. repairmen replaced the pole and its lines. Griffin was treated for his injuries at Marin General Hospital.



How many miles from home are they now? The soldier in the steaming canebrake. The youngster on the Arctic icecap. The sailor in the teeming foreign port? The displaced, lonely millions who serve our nation, defend our freedoms across the world.

Just as far as their nearest USO. For wherever they go, USO is there. With warmth and friendship, with interest and concern, with a welcome choice of conduct. And with famous entertainers giving shows that spice his loneliness with joy.

USO is your way of saying "thank you" to the men and women who serve us all. As it has been for 25 years. This year, give more, because the job is so much bigger. Remember, USO gets no government funds. It is supported by voluntary contributions through your United Fund or Community Chest. U.S.O. is there, only if you care.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Viewers Showing Series Rebellion

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The latest national television ratings seem to verify the increasing suspicion that viewers are growing weary of imbecilic little series, and are seeking out special programs more than ever.

It is true that the pre-holiday period covered in these ratings is known for its added number of specials, but the audiences for the one-shot broadcasts were still impressive—and no one forces viewers to watch, no matter what the season.

SPECIAL TALENT

Perhaps most impressive was the fact that even among the top regular series listed, viewers sought out the special talents—Red Skelton, Lucille Ball, the late Walt Disney, Jackie Gleason, Dean Martin, Andy Williams.

Only a relative handful of the run-of-the-mill situation comedies were well up in the statistics. In fact, most of the worst junk ground out weekly by the film factories was pretty well down in the ratings, which might make certain key network executives ponder a big on past programming cliches. Are they behind their audiences?

THE FILMS

As for one favored branch of "special" broadcasting—movies—the ratings substantiated the continuing popularity in this area, with four of the five weekly network motion pictures finishing among the top 41 shows—a strong public endorsement.

With "Bonanza" ranking No. 1 again, the second-rated show was a special that was also seen last season, "A Charlie Brown Christmas." based on the characters of the "Peanuts" comic strip.

Next in the rankings was a Danny Thomas special—his third annual edition of "The Wonderful World of Burlesque." And following his program in the ratings was the Frank Sinatra musical special.

Another one-shot broadcast, "Dr. Seuss' how the Grinch stole Christmas," came in sixth in the ratings. And a Bob Hope comedy special from Acapulco finished 12th.

NOT HAPPY

Disenchantment with the regular series of the new season was indicated again when the show, "Family Affair," came in 24th among all entries. The next highest new seris, "Rat Patrol," which ranked third early in the season, finished in the 30th position this time out.

But "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol," a holdover special from past seasons, was No. 27; a National Geographic documentary about insects, "The Hidden World," was No. 28, and a first-run holiday outing entitled "Christmas with Lorne Green" was No. 33.

Perhaps, though, the most interesting statistics were those that indicated that quality specials—or at least those that try to be of quality—needn't finish at the very bottom of the ratings even though they may not rank at the top.

NO FLUKE

For example, of h te 106 programs listed in the ratings, the drama "The Glass Menagerie" came in No. 60, which actually is a heartening development—and seemed to prove that the success last year of "Death of a Salesman" was no fluke.

Furthermore, a rerun of "The Nutcracker," the ballet with Tchaikovsky's music, was No. 63. And "The Hallmark Hall of Fame" production of "Blithe Spirit" was No. 65—and this series often in the past has finished much further down.

"Christ is Born," a beautiful telling of the story of the nativity, ran up against "Blithe Spirit," yet managed to come in No. 76, with a rating better than that of "The Green Hornet," "Candid Camera," "The Monroes" and many other weekly series.

Husband Follows Wife In Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lawrence Edward Smith, 43, who survived the All Hallow's church fire in which his wife died nearly three years ago with 16 other victims, took his own life yesterday.

The coroner reported Smith's body was found in his car with a hose leading from the exhaust pipe. A note on the dashboard said, "I'm sorry, I hate to do it this way. This is the very best way out."

After the death of his wife, Margaret, 35, Smith arranged for the boarding of his children—Lawrence Jr. 6 and Felicia Margaret 5—at the home of a neighbor.

Mrs. Ernest Gotlieb, who cared for the children, said Smith was away much of the time working as an inspector for the Military Airlift Command.

NEW CLASSROOMS ROLL INTO PLACE

Portable classrooms for three classes which are meeting in the basement, auditorium and teachers' room of Mill Valley's Park School rolled into place yesterday. Leased for $2,042 annually each from Speedspace Corp., Santa Rosa, they are to be ready within two weeks. They replace rooms in a wing destroyed because it failed to meet earthquake-resistance standards. Walls of the portables were to be expanded to full-room size today by huge balloons inflated inside them.

Another Lively Labor Front Year Seen

By SAMUEL SHARKEY JR.
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Outgoing 1966, contrary to early expectations of a "quiet labor year," turned out to be one of the liveliest in a decade.

Incoming 1967 seems certain to be even livelier. This means:

1. More strikes or threats of strikes.
2. More potential public distress and inconvenience.
3. Higher wage and fringe benefit increases, completing the demolition of the Johnson administration's 3.2 per cent anti-inflation guideposts.
4. Stronger efforts in Congress for anti-strike legislation.
5. New attempts to extend "right-to-work" laws to more states.

The contracts that expire in 1967 indicate the increased action is due on the labor front.

More than 700 major agreements, each covering 1,000 or more workers, will run out. They directly involve 3.1 million union members. Potential sympathy walkouts or refusals to cross picket lines could affect many thousand additional workers.

In 1966, by comparison, contracts affecting only 976,000 workers came up for renewal.

Yet the "quiet" year saw the New York City transit and newspaper strikes, the massive airline tieup, waves of walkouts by public employees, including firemen, nurses, teachers, sanitation workers and others, the 16-week bituminous coal strike, sporadic tie-ups at General Electric and Westinghouse, and many others.

In the first nine months of the year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics says, strikes caused 18.8 million man-days of idleness, for a lost-time ratio of 0.19 per cent. This was up substantially from 1964's 0.14 per cent.

The 1967 list of contract openings includes autos, machinery, trucking, apparel, communications, electrical products, food products, meat-packing, paper and tobacco.

First on the list is James R. Hoffa and his International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the country's largest union.

He's said flatly he wants at least a 5 per cent wage increase in negotiations scheduled to begin in January. The contract, the national freight trucking pact, involves some 400,000 of his 1.7 million members, and expires in March.

Union and industry sources have voiced alarm over Hoffa's imminent departure for prison, where he faces 13 years and fraud and conspiracy in handling union funds. He is regarded as a shrewd but realistic negotiator who understands the trucking business perhaps better than the owners themselves.

Indications are Hoffa will push briskly for an early accord before the prison gates clang, both to insure better benefits for his men and to strengthen his hand for continuing to control the union from his cell.

The biggest bloc in contract renewals covers 623,000 members of the United Auto Workers, starting in September against General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Walter Reuther's control of his union is under intense fire from his skilled workers. They have wrung from him a veto over any contract they do not like. This has had the effect of giving the 100,000 or so skilled workers minority control over agreements — and the majority of workers are thoroughly unhappy with Reuther.

Reuther, like Hoffa, has indicated he wants at least a 5 per cent pay increase. He plans to fight hardest for putting hourly-wage workers on regular salaries like white-collar workers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has given his blessing to the 5 per cent concept, even though it is well above President Johnson's 3.2 per cent guideposts.

There are strong indications that the President's Council of Economic Advisers will move in 1967, at least for the one year, to a more flexible guidepost policy. The council is understood to expect the economy to level off enough by 1968 to permit a return to the 3.2 figure.

The miltancy among the auto workers is a reflection of general union unrest, sparked in considerable measure by rising prices. The consumer price index has increased 3.7 per cent since January.

This was a factor in the strike by the International Assn of Machinists against five major airlines and led to the union's insistence on a cost-of-living escalator clause.

The 38,000 machinists in that strike, and 210,000 electrical workers who also won escalators, brought the total now covered by such benefits to 2.2 million, highest since 1962. Numerous unions have vowed to insist on escalators in 1967 as a hedge against inflation.

Labor's power waned on capitol hill last year, and union chieftains are candid in expressing their fears of what the new, more conservative Congress might do.

One group of labor's most important allies, Negro civil rights leaders, are slipping out from under Meany's tent because they charge he is not pushing union integration quickly enough.

And any break in the labor bloc could help the drive of right-to-work advocates to put the issue on state ballots. Initial targets are New Mexico, Idaho and Oklahoma. Drives also are planned in three big industrial states, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania, but prospects are dimmer there.

The overall picture for labor in 1967 is for an active, troubled year that, directly or indirectly, will affect most nonunion Americans, too.

Courtroom TV Cameras Blasted

ATHENS, Oiho (AP)—Associate Justice Tom Clark of the U.S. Supreme Court said today that television cameras in the courtroom would make jurors, lawyers and judges nothing more than ham actors.

Clark delivered the majority opinions in both the Billy Sol Estes and Samuel Sheppard cases establishing guidelines for coverage of jury trials.

He elaborated at a news conference by saying the public must grow accustomed to the television technique before the camera is permitted in the courtroom.

82-Year-Old's Span Leap Foiled

Discouraged by declining health, failing sight and hearing, an 82-year-old man walked away from Aldersly Danish home in San Rafael yesterday and tried to jump off the Golden Gate Bridge.

George J. Vidar may have taken a bus part of the way but was seen walking out on the bridge, where he climbed over the main rail to the outside rail below the east side of the span.

Two bridge painters, Rosenaldo Salazar and William Gavre, grabbed him and pulled him back to safety.

California Highway Patrol officer Lawrence R. McGuire released Vidar to the manager of the Danish home.

Auto Accident Causes Blackout

A driver suffered facial cuts and a fractured nose in an accident which cut off electricity from 50 homes Sunday.

David Griffin, 18 of 10 La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, was driving west on North San Pedro Road, according to California Highway Patrol, when his car went off a curve and sheered off a power pole at 1 a.m.

Service was out uni.until 10 a.m. while Pacific Gas and Electric Co. repairmen replaced the pole and its lines. Griffin was treated for his injuries at Marin General Hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Night Cramping Of Muscles Common After The Age Of 50

VAN DELLEN

Nocturnal cramping of the muscles of the leg and foot is common after age 50. The cause of this disorder is not known, except that cramps are precipitated by stretching or extending the legs and feet when resting or in light sleep. Quinine sulfate is the most popular remedy, possibly because the drug lessens muscle irritability.

Most persons with night cramps have found that immediate relief is obtained by getting out of bed, walking about, or pulling the foot upwards to stretch the tendon Achilles. It may be necessary to pull up the toes with the hands or to rest the weight of the body on the involved extremity with the knee and ankle slightly flexed. Kneading or massaging the calf muscles with the fingers also helps some.

QUININE IS suggested when cramping occurs several times a night or enough to interfere with sleep In one report along this line, a 3-grain tablet at bedtime abolished the spasm in more than 95 per cent of the victims. In some instances the cramps disappeared for days or weeks after the medication was discontinued, but we do not know why.

Quinine should not be used during pregnancy because it may lead to a miscarriage or damage the unborn child. Some persons also are so sensitive to the antimalarial remedy that they develop ringing of the ears, visual disturbances, difficulty in speech and confusion. Other drugs such as aminophylline, calcium and the antihistamines have been used to control nocturnal cramps but none have been so successful as quinine.

A SOMEWHAT similar cramp (intermittent claudication) develops in the calf of the leg during exercise in persons with poor circulation. These individuals usually have hardening of the arteries and pain appears after walking a certain distance. When they stop for a few moments, the distress subsides, but pain returns on walking an equal distance. Quinine has no effect upon this condition.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

AID TO SHOCK THERAPY

A reader writes: I have just spent two weeks in the hospital for electric shock treatments which were given under the supervision of a psychiatrist. They have helped some. I do not understand what these do and how they help. Please explain.

REPLY

We do not know why shock treatment relieves the symptoms of psychotic depression. However, the effect may be temporary unless psychiatric care is given between and after these treatments.

DRUGS AND DRINK

F. W. writes: Do people addicted to the use of dope of any kind drink intoxicating liquors? I'm told they are not drinkers.

REPLY

Some do. In general, however, the alcoholic is not a drug addict and vice versa. Both groups have personality defects and we often hear it said, "If Joe did not drink he would take drugs."

JOINT PAIN

Mrs. H. writes: Could joint pain in a child, without swelling, be a small case of rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Yes, but pain also could stem from arthritis or injury. The condition should be investigated because "a slight case of rheumatic fever," like "a touch of pregnancy" or "a slight case of leprosy," is it.

EYE DEFECT

A. R. writes: Is astigmatism present at birth or does it develop later?

REPLY

In all probability it exists but diagnosis is difficult to make in a newborn.

DISCONTINUED

R. T. M. writes: A man in his 70s with arthritis felt fine after receiving cortisone. But his doctor stopped the medicine and he fell apart again. So long as the remedy made him feel so well, why did the doctor stop it?

REPLY

You and I may never know why it was stopped unless we ask the physician or the patient. There is a possibility that it was discontinued because of side reactions or as a test to determine whether the man's arthritis was cured.

KIDNEY INFECTION

T. J. writes: My doctor says I have pyelitis. Is this the same as inflammation of the kidneys?

REPLY

Pyelitis is inflammation of the pelvis and other parts of the kidney.

SUGAR CUBE EATER

N. W. writes: I don't care for candy but I eat a sugar cube every day. Will this harm my teeth? I'm 24 years old.

REPLY

Yes, but you could nullify the effect by rinsing the mouth with water or brushing the teeth.

Today's Health Hint—The resentful individual is immature.

Year's Probation On Morals Charge

A year's probation was given Edward Silva, 66, by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Silva originally was charged with felony lewd and lascivious behavior with a 9-year-old girl last Feb. 13 at his home, 360 Bell Lane, Mill Valley. He pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of contributing on Nov. 21.

Poison's Effect Seems To Depend On Timing

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A poison is always a poison. Or is it?

It may depend on the time of day it is given.

By the same token, a lifesaving drug, administered to a dying man at the wrong hour, may lose all its healing powers.

Circadian rhythms, natural peaks and valleys in the daily cycle of physiological activity, account for this phenomenon, which has far-reaching applications for medicine and science.

As physiologists gain greater insight into man's time scale, it will be possible to know not only what dose of a drug to give patients, but also at what time of day it should be given.

Studies of rats given potentially lethal doses of amphetamine, a common stimulant of the central nervous system, showed that its action varied significantly over a 24-hour day. Dr. Lawrence E. Scheving of the Chicago Medical School reported that up to 78 per cent of the rats died at certain hours, while at other times amphetamine was fatal to only 6 per cent.

Once the good and bad hours have been determined for one group of animals, it can be safely predicted that others of the same species will respond in the same way, Dr. Scheving told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here. Similar rhythmic results were found in animals tested with nicotine, strychnine and other drugs, he said.

The relation of body rhythms and susceptibility to drugs was first noticed by Dr. Franz Halberg and his colleagues at the University of Minnesota, who have also found reactions to physical stimuli such as noise vary rhythmically.

Some attempts to apply this knowledge to clinical medicine have been made, though no foolproof way to use it has been found.

Dr. Richard J. Wurtman, an endocrinologist at the National Institute of Mental Health, relates rhythmicity to the treatment of Addison's disease, which results when the adrenal gland fails to secrete enough hormones.

Hormone injections help, but patients seldom feel completely well, Dr. Wurtman said, and "one reason is that we can't quite duplicate the natural rhythms of these secretions."

Normally, though, they seem to be highest in the blood about 6 a.m. and lowest at about 10 p.m.

Earth May Have Fainter Version Of Saturn's Rings

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A cloud of dust particles surrounds earth, giving it a halo like one of the rings around Saturn.

It's apparently not a very dense or even ring, but might be visible from space, under some circumstances.

Astronomers weren't sure of its existence until 1961.

But what astronomers for the last five years thought was only two blobs of matter in the area of the moon's orbit around earth now appears to be a continuous, if mottled and uneven belt.

The halo of matter was detected by an expedition of the Polish Astronautical Society under the direction of astronomer Dr. K. Kordylewski, Cracow, and his co-workers.

In 1961 Dr. Kordylewski had reported the discovery of two natural, cloud-like satellites circling earth in paths at the same distance as the moon.

They found then that two cloud-like satellites can be seen as faintly luminous patches with the unaided eye under favorable conditions. Now they have found that the light-reflecting material exists not only at the two points where the cloud satellites are located, but also along the entire lunar orbit.

This terrestrial ring can be detected only at specified times, Dr. Kordylewski reported to the world center for astronomical discoveries in Cambridge, Mass. His group has calculated that the next time for favorable observations is Jan. 7 through Jan. 21 in the constellations of Leo, the lion, and Virgo, the virgin, which will be in the southwestern sky at that time.

The visual observation of earth's far-out halo was made by Dr. Kordylewski's group from Africa on 15 nights between Oct. 9 and Dec. 14, 1966. The zodiacal band was not homogeneous, but had a mottled structure that was observed independently by 10 members of the expedition during at least 1,000 determinations.

Circling Saturn Probe Spotted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered a 10th satellite circling Saturn just outside the rings that are its trademark.

The satellite apparently is the closest to the planet and the rings, collections of particles that reflect light.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, a clearing house for information about celestial discoveries, confirmed the discovery last night.

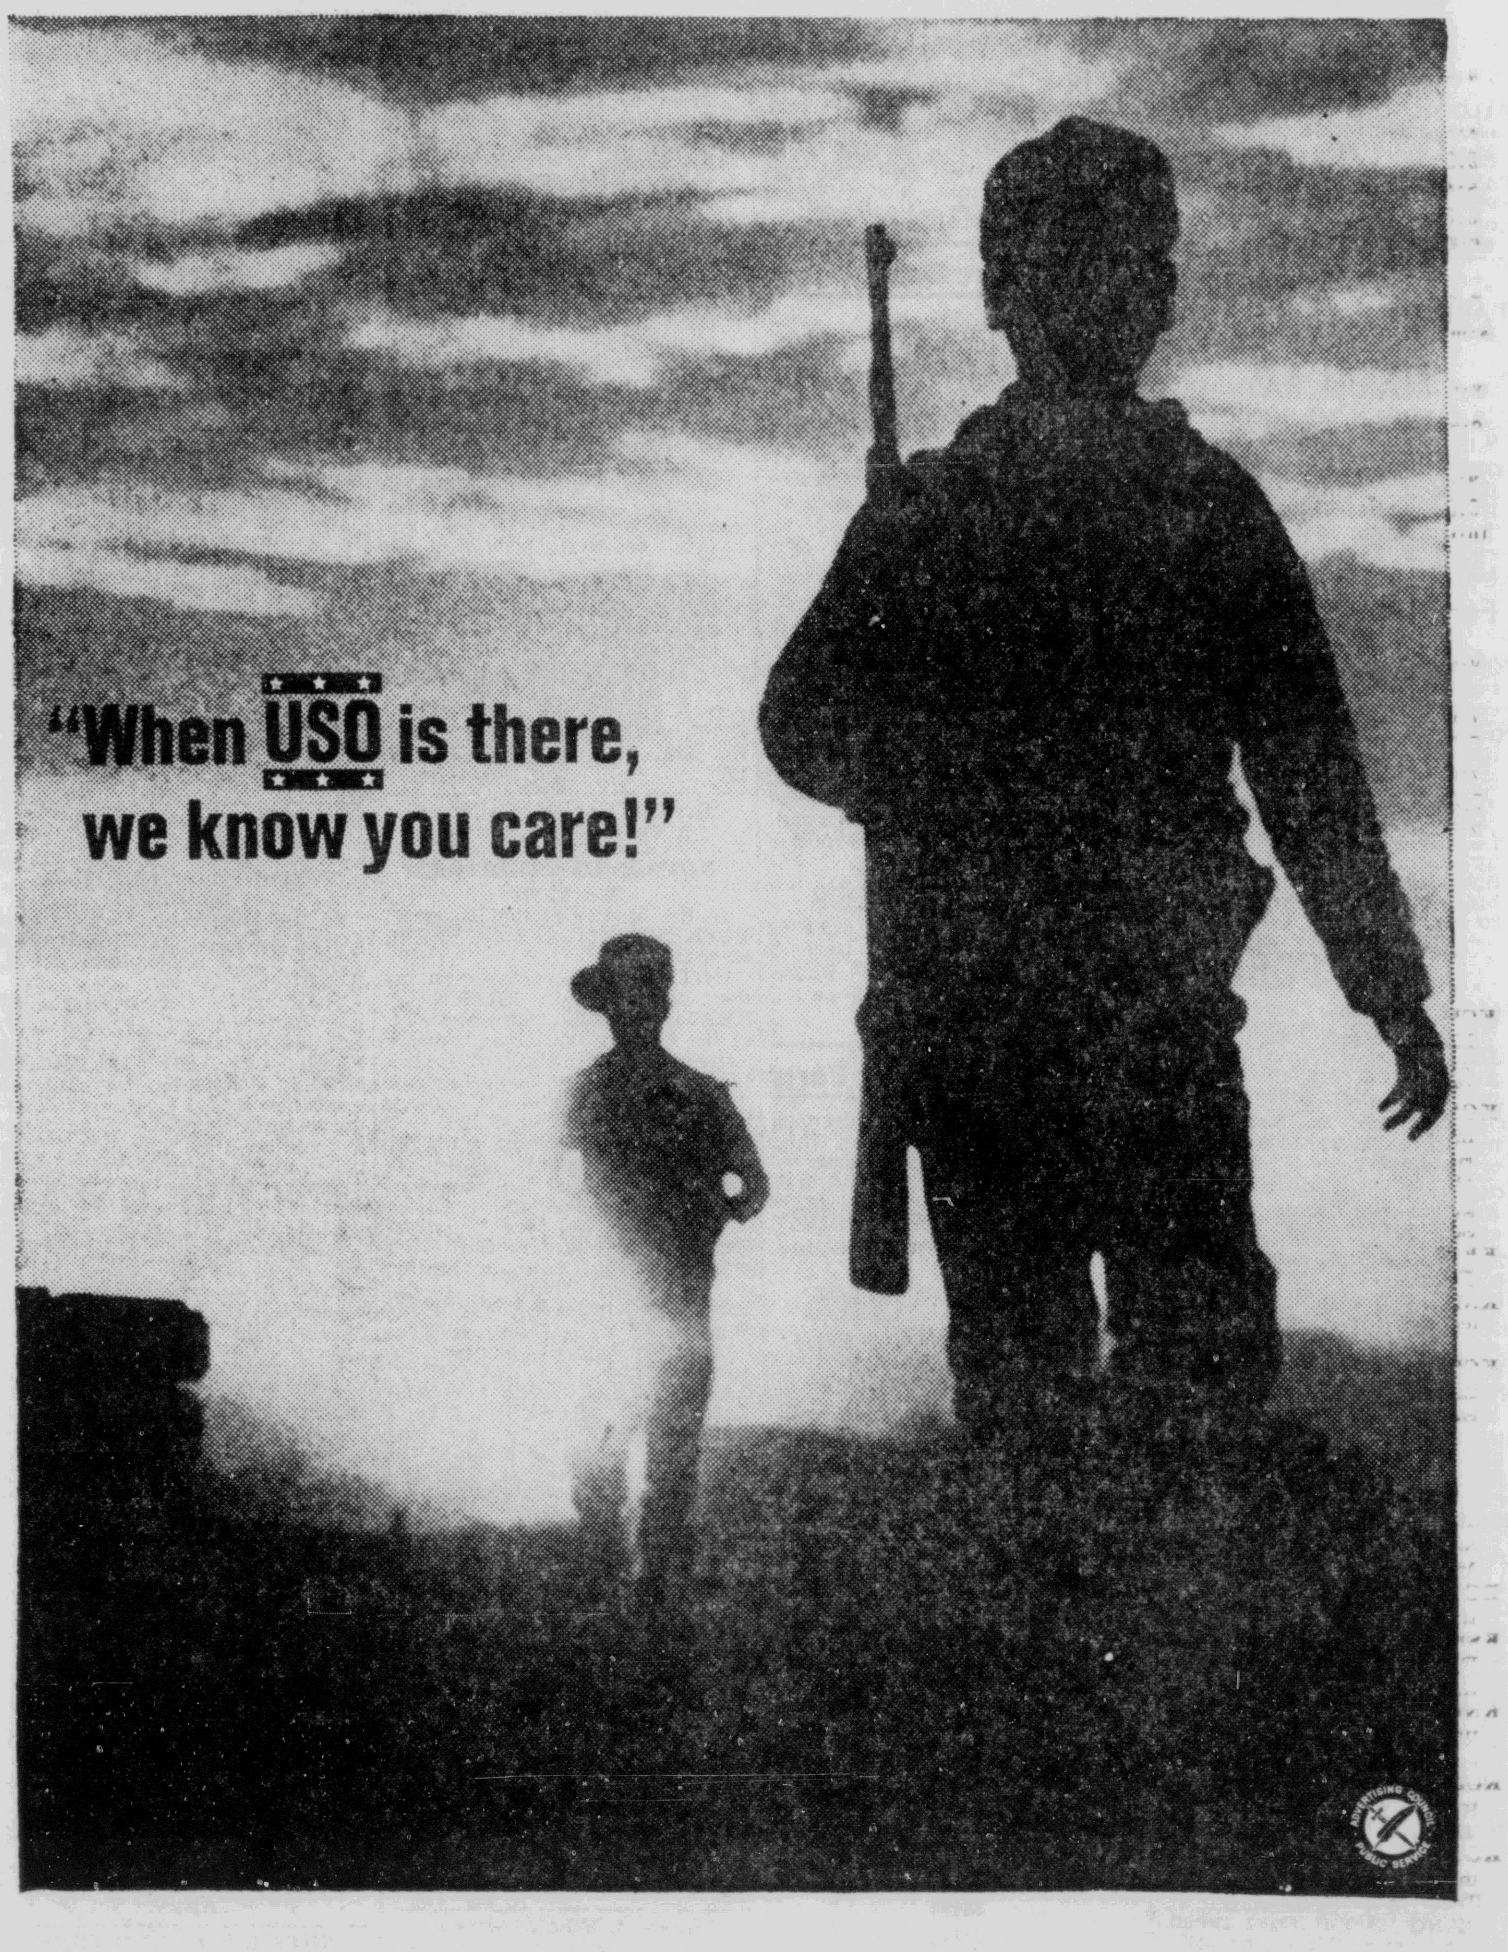
A spokesman said the satellite is between 100 and 200 miles in diameter, but not visible to the naked eye on earth.

Saturn, about 71,500 miles in diameter, is some 886,700,000 miles from the earth. Its largest ring is 170,000 miles in diameter.

Big Jewelry Theft From Hotel Suite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jewelry worth between $25,000 and $40,000 was reported stolen last night from the Nob Hill hotel suite of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laggren of Hartford, Conn.

Police said the Laggrens discovered the loss when they returned from dinner.



How many miles from home are they now? The soldier in the steaming canebrake. The youngster on the Arctic ice-cap. The sailor in the teeming foreign port? The displaced, lonely millions who serve our nation, defend our freedoms across the world.

Just as far as their nearest USO. For wherever they go, USO is there. With warmth and friendship, with interest and concern, with a welcome choice of conduct. And with famous entertainers giving shows that spice his loneliness with joy.

USO is your way of saying "thank you" to the men and women who serve us all. As it has been for 25 years. This year, give more, because the job is so much bigger. Remember, USO gets no government funds. It is supported by voluntary contributions through your United Fund or Community Chest. U.S.O. is there, only if you care.

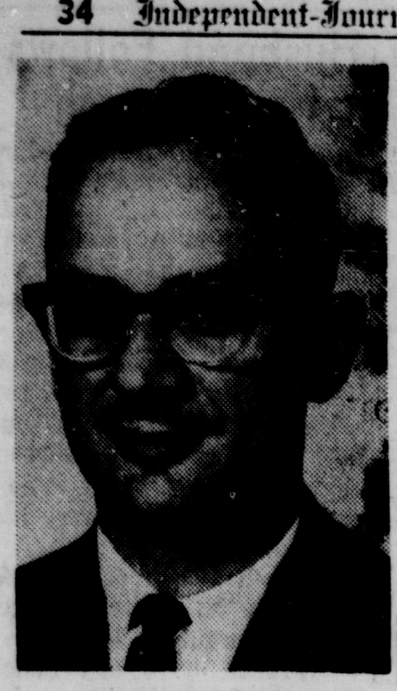
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY



CHARLES MICHALS
Chosen by acclamation

Marin Republicans Elect Michals Committee Head

Charles Michales of Greenbrae was elected chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee last night at the organizational meeting in the county courthouse.

The expected struggle for leadership between Michals and outgoing chairman Gerald E. Misner of San Anselmo did not materialize, at least on the surface.

Misner pulled out of the running and left the field to Michals, who was elected by acclamation.

Misner, who served four years as vice chairman and four years as chairman, said he would bow out in the interests of party unity. He said he also owes his family and his business more of his time and attention.

Michals is a public affairs specialist with Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco. Michals headed the Marin campaign last year for George Christopher, then swung his support behind Ronald Reagan after Reagan's primary victory.

Michals is former president of Marin County Young Republicans and Marin Republican Council, and was vice chairman of the Marin Republican Central Committee until his promotion last night.

Elected to serve with Michals are:

Charles I. Daniels Jr. of San Rafael, vice chairman; Genevieve Grunstrom of Novato, women's vice chairman. David B. Allison of Mill Valley, secretary, and Matthew A. Graham of San Rafael, treasurer.

District chairman in the five supervisorial districts are: Herbert K. Walton Jr. of San Rafael, first district. James McNab of Ross, second; Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon, third; Colin Claxon of San Rafael, fourth; and J. Wallis Madocks of Novato, fifth.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, commended outgoing chairman Misner for a job well done and pleged support to new chairman Michals. Describing the new administration in Sacramento, McCarthy declared: "I think you're going to be proud of this legislature and proud of the new governor. We just have one helluva governor!"

Paul R. Haerle, San Rafael attorney who headed the Reagan campaign in Marin, announced that James McNab of Ross is the new chairman for Reagan in Marin. McNab's job will be coordination with Sacramento and helping make Marin County appointments for the Reagan administration.

Haerle has been promoted to chairmanship of the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan Committee. He last night named Edwin Thomas of San Rafael as treasurer for the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan.

Benny To Join Symphony Tonight

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Violinist Jack Benny and the San Francisco symphony orchestra are featured performers tonight in the Governor's inaugural concert.

Benny, the veteran comedian, is an expert violinist but affects not to be in his act. He's scheduled to solo in the 8:30 p.m. performance.

The major events of Gov. Ronald Reagan's inauguration week come on Thursday, including the 11 a.m. public inaugural ceremony on the west steps of the Capitol and the 9:30 p.m. inaugural ball.

Time Served Sentence Given

Dennis Allen Thomas, 20, was sentenced to time already served in county jail yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Thomas, of 322 D Street, San Rafael, originally was charged with felony possession of marijuana and narcotics on April 7 after sheriff's officers halted his car on Highway 101.

Thomas first pleaded guilty, then changed his plea to innocent, but on Dec. 12 re-entered the guilty plea.

Meeting Postponed

The Marin Assn. of School Administrators' meeting, usually held on the first Wednesday of each month, has been indefinitely postponed, County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis announced today.

Bond Election On School Board Agenda

A resolution setting a $275,000 bond election March 21 is scheduled for adoption by Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Bolinas School. The bonds would be to meet district needs over the next 10 years.

Also to be considered are procedures to screen seven architects who applied for the district building program.

Supervised Probation On Morals Charges

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Eugene J. McCann Jr., 39-year-old television announcer, on five years supervised probation for lewd and lascivious behavior with minors.

He also ordered McCann to take psychiatric treatment.

McCann, arrested last Feb. 21 at his home in Millbrae, pleaded guilty Oct. 11 to two counts of the misbehavior in Sausalito and San Rafael in the summer of 1965.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Viewers Showing Series Rebellion

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The latest national television ratings seem to verify the increasing suspicion that viewers are growing weary of imbecilic little series, and are seeking out special programs more than ever.

It is true that the pre-holiday period covered in these ratings is known for its added number of specials, but the audiences for the one-shot broadcasts were still impressive—and no one forces viewers to watch, no matter what the season.

SPECIAL TALENT

Perhaps most impressive was the fact that even among the top regular series listed, viewers sought out the special talents—Red Skelton, Lucille Ball, the late Walt Disney, Jackie Gleason, Dean Martin, Andy Williams.

Only a relative handful of the run-of-the-mill situation comedies were well up in the statistics. In fact, most of the worst junk ground out weekly by the film factories was pretty well down in the ratings, which might make certain key network executives ponder a big on past programming cliches. Are they behind their audiences?

THE FILMS

As for one favored branch of "special" broadcasting—movies—the ratings substantiated the continuing popularity in this area, with four of the five weekly network motion pictures finishing among the top 41 shows—a strong public endorsement.

With "Bonanza" ranking No. 1 again, the second-rated show was a special that was also seen last season, "A Charlie Brown Christmas," based on the characters of the "Peanuts" comic strip.

Next in the rankings was a Danny Thomas special—his third annual edition of "The Wonderful World of Burlesque." And following his program in the ratings was the Frank Sinatra musical special.

Another one-shot broadcast, "Dr. Seuss' how the Grinch stole Christmas," came in sixth in the ratings. And a Bob Hope comedy special from Acapulco finished 12th.

NOT HAPPY

Disenchantment with the regular series of the new season was indicated again when the show, "Family Affair," came in 24th among all entries. The next highest new seris, "Rat Patrol," which ranked third early in the season, finished in the 30th position this time out.

But "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol," a holdover special from past seasons, was No. 27; a National Geographic documentary about insects, "The Hidden World," was No. 28, and a first-run holiday outing entitled "Christmas with Lorne Green" was No. 33.

Perhaps, though, the most interesting statistics were those that indicated that quality specials—or at least those that try to be of quality—needn't finish at the very bottom of the ratings even though they may not rank at the top.

NO FLUKE

For example, of h te 106 programs listed in the ratings, the drama "The Glass Menagerie" came in No. 60, which actually is a heartening development—and seemed to prove that the success last year of "Death of a Salesman" was no fluke.

Furthermore, a rerun of "The Nutcracker," the ballet with Tchaikovsky's music, was No. 63. And "The Hallmark Hall of Fame" production of "Blithe Spirit" was No. 65—and this series often in the past has finished much further down.

"Christ is Born," a beautiful telling of the story of the nativity, ran up against "Blithe Spirit," yet managed to come in No. 76, with a rating better than that of "The Green Hornet," "Candid Camera," "The Monroes" and many other weekly series.

Husband Follows Wife In Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lawrence Edward Smith, 43, who survived the All Hallow's church fire in which his wife died nearly three years ago with 16 other victims, took his own life yesterday.

The coroner reported Smith's body was found in his car with a hose leading from the exhaust pipe. A note on the dashboard said, "I'm sorry, I hate to do it this way. This is the very best way out."

After the death of his wife, Margaret, 35, Smith arranged for the boarding of his children—Lawrence Jr. 6 and Felicia Margaret 5—at the home of a neighbor.

Mrs. Ernest Gotlieb, who cared for the children, said Smith was away much of the time working as an inspector for the Military Airlift Command.

Racer Don Campbell Believed Dead After Explosion

CONISTON, England (AP) — Donald Malcolm Campbell, who flirted with death on land and water, vanished and was given up for dead today when his jet hydroplane boat, Bluebird, somersaulted and sank racing about 200 miles an hour on Lake Coniston.

Shore witnesses said there appeared to be an explosion and "Campbell must be considered killed."

Wreckage of the boat and parts of Campbell's clothing — including his oxygen mask — were found but there was no sign of the 45-year-old racer.

Friends said Cambell had a premonition that he would be killed in talking with them last night.

His last words radioed from his speedcraft were:

"I'm giving her full power. I can't see much. I'm going."

Campbell, who was out to break his own record of 276 miles an hour, was strapped in the Bluebird.

He had made one run up the lake and was making a return run when the boat struck disaster.

While playing cards with friends on the eve of his record attempt he turned up the ace of spades followed by the queen of spades and remarked:

"Mary, Queen of Scots, turned up the same combination of cards and knew from it that she was going to be beheaded. I know that one of my family is going to get the cop. I pray to God it is not me."

Campbell appeared in a cheerful mood this morning, however, as he got set for his record attempt.

He was the son of Sir Malcolm Campbell, who gained fame in the 1930s for his racing exploits on land and water. The younger Campbell took pride in being known as one of the "fanatical Campbells."

Shore observers said that Campbell's last words "I'm going" could have meant that he sensed disaster or that he was going all out in trying for the record.

An explosion was reported as the boat went down.

Wreckage strewed the surface but there was no sign of Campbell.

Campbell's shoes, helmet, and oxygen mask were recovered.

Frogmen were called in an attempt to find Campbell, who was strapped in the boat.

Leo Villa, a lifelong friend of the racer, was the first on the scene and picked up parts of Campbell's clothing but by the time he got there the boat had sunk.

A witness on the shore said:

"The boat appeared to become airborne before somersaulting. A rescue boat circled the spot but appeared to find no sign of life.

"As the boat hit the water there appeared to be an explosion," the eyewitness said.

A Dismal Day For Marin County Prep Cagers

Reg Carolan Is The Best-Paid Substitute Teacher In County

JACKPOT—I know a substitute teacher in Marin County who has earned $5,308.39 already this year. And in a week-and-a-half he'll increase his earnings for 1967 to either $12,808.39 or $20,308.39.

No, teachers' salaries aren't that good. It's just that my teacher friend, Reg Carolan, also happens to play football for the Kansas City Chiefs and has earned the privilege of playing in the Jan. 15 Super Bowl at Los Angeles Coliseum.

BY WINNING the American Football League title last Sunday each Kansas City player earned $5,308.39. In the upcoming Super Bowl against the National League champion Green Bay Packers each member of the winning team will get a $15,000 bonanza while each loser will get $7,500.

So, you see Prof. Carolan, who teaches in this county when he isn't busy footballing, should be a soft touch when he returns to the Bounty County later this month.

A RESERVE tight end, Carolan didn't get much opportunity to play during the regular season but he was ready, willing and able to do his share Sunday when first string tight end Fred Arbanas injured his shoulder.

It was Reg's big chance of his pro career, getting in a championship game on National TV. I think I saw only one pass thrown in his direction, which a Buffalo player knocked down, but the former Drake High School Super Star was busy in other departments, blocking for teammates Mike Garrett, Len Dawson et al. Big Reg also played on punting situations, and his No. 80 jersey could be seen on TV screens all across the land.

CAROLAN ALSO made a beautiful exit at the conclusion of the game. When players lifted the team's star quarterback to their shoulders for the traditional championship ride to the dressing room, big Reg trotted up in back of him and gave him a couple of congratulatory pats on the anny-fay. Beautiful, Reg, beautiful.

CAROLAN MAY see some action in the Super Bowl if Arbanas' shoulder doesn't heal, but even if the teacher has to warm the bench for the whole game, it will be worth it.

LOCAL ANGLE—Marin County visitors to the San Mateo Auto and Boat Show tomorrow through Sunday should be on the lookout for three San Rafael entries.

Frank Volta will enter his minibike and go-cart. The former, a 1960 Caper cycle, was completely rebuilt and redesigned, is in chrome and red with a "flea" gas tank and features continental fenders and a two-cycle engine, according to show publicist Warren Wynkoop, who sounds like an entry himself. The minibike sports a Honda tail and a bicycle luggage rack.

VOLTA'S GO-KART also was rebuilt and has an FKE fiberglass body, six-inch wheels, butterfly steering wheel and disc brakes. The upholstery is green, metalflake naugahydes and the exterior is metallic green and gold.

BOBBY WILSON, also of San Rafael, will enter a Bonneville T-120 Triumph motorcycle, a 1964 turquoise custom street job that has a complete, chopped and filled frame, specially-formed diamond tuft seat and Harley Sportster fuel tank. A dazzler, it is completely chromed and painted with crushed glass.

St. Mary's Five Falls To Loyola

RICHMOND (AP) — Invading Loyola of New Orleans, led by Barry Gerhehty and Charley Powell, downed a fighting St. Mary's basketball te am 76-71 last night at Richmond Memorial Auditorium.

The Gaels made it a close game and trailed the Wolfpack by only two points with 1:30 to go. The score was Loyola 34, St. Mary's 32 at halftime.

Gerhehty and Powell, a sophomore from Baton Rouge, each scored 23 points for the winners. Gerhehty also got 16 rebounds.

Jerry West entered the game in the second quarter and scored 19 points for St. Mary's. His teammate Joe Callaghan, who played only the second half, was runnerup with 15.

Frosh Basketball

San Rafael High School's frosh basketball team downed the Terra Linda frosh, 32-25, for its sixth practice win against one loss. Bruce D'Ambra with eight points and Jim Wade and Kris Bonner with six points each led the Bulldogs.

HARDY BOYS AND GIRLS—The first group of a brave pack of swimmers and skiers brave the 41-degree waters of Bel-Marin Lagoon along with a melancholy dog as they celebrate 1967 and the first Bel-Marin Yacht Club "Icicle Day" on New Year's Day.

Happy--Brrr--New Year

And a brisk top of the new year to you, too.

Bel-Marin water skiers and swimmers started the New Year off with a big, cold splash by celebrating their annual "Icycle Day" on New Year's Day.

Hardy guests and residents of the Bel-Marin Keys opened 1967 by jumping into the lagoon.

All the brave young and old swimmers received embroidered shoulder patches emblazoned with icicles.

The event was sponsored by the Bel-Marin Yacht Club.

Fifty-eight swimmers braved the 41-degree water, according to committee chairman Robert Buetzow. The icicle winners ranged in ages from six to sixty.

Participating guests included Stan and Norman Faria, Robert, Kenneth and Henry Abbadie and William Barradas, all from San Leandro and all members of the Golden Gate Ski Club and Robert Lindsey of Fairfax.

Bel-Marin adult swimmers and skiers were Archie Austin, Fred N. Wills, Charles Oliver, Mrs. Trugard Browne, Donald Wiffin, Colin and Gloria Kosock, James T and Betty Zoeller, Robert and Tommy Buetzow, W. R.Browne, N. A. Wiffin, and Delmar P. Dabney.

Also Daphne Jewell, Stephen Jewell, Nick Williams, Susie Walker, Bill Roberts, Bill Weiss, Mark Ochiziger, Frank Walpoc, Mike Telegin, Greg Valentine, Tim Telegin, Chrisie Sarganis, Jeff Henricks and Linda Lee Henricks.

Ski and patrol boats were provided by Carl Boivie, Bill Fries, and Bill Weiss. Roy Hosking skippered the Weiss boat.

Icicle committeemen were Colin Kosock, Patricia Boivie, Phyllis Hosking, Mrs. Robert Buetzow, Norma Wandt, Carl Wandt, and W. E. Browne.

EX-TAM STAR COLLETT SIGNS 49ER CONTRACT

Elmer Collett, former Tamalpais High School star from Mill Valley and a standout guard at San Francisco State College, was signed to a contract by the San Francisco 49ers yesterday.

Collett, an All-Far Western Conference guard for two straight years, was drafted by the 49ers as a redshirt in 1965 in the 15th round.

Collett is a son of Elmer Collett, a U.S. attorney who serves as chief federal prosecutor. The senior Collett was a member of the 1924 Olympic Water Polo team.

Collett was the third redshirt to be signed by the 49ers. Also signed and sealed were Don Parker, Virginia guard, and Kentucky end Bob Windsor.

12 Raiders Named For All-Star Tilt

OAKLAND (AP)—John Rauch of Oakland, coach of the West squad for the Jan. 21 American Football League All-Star game, named a dozen members of his Raider team to the club today.

West faces the East in the AFL battle at Oakland's new Coliseum Stadium on Jan. 21.

Eight of those picked by Rauch were automatically members of the squad because of their selections in the All League aggregation chosen by the players. In addition, Rauch chose quarterback Tom Flores, linebacker Dan Connors, defensive end Ike Lassiter and fullback Hewitt Dixon.

Automatic selections to the 33-player squad were offensive halfback Clem Daniels, split end Art Powell, offensive guard Wayne Hawkins, center Jim Otto, defensive tackle Tom Keating, defensive end Ben Davidson and defensive backs Kent McCloughan and Dave Grayson.

Other members of the squad will be named later, and include players from the champion Kansas City City Chiefs who meet Green Bay in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles on Jan. 15.

For Sale: One Used Pro Basketball Team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ben Kerner, one of two individual owners of a National Basketball Association club, says he's putting his St. Louis Hawks on sale.

An attorney for Kerner made the announcement yesterday at a news conference which the 50-year-old owner did not attend. Kerner suffers from arthritis and his health was given as a primary reason for the decision.

"The operation of a team in the NBA now demands more than just one man," said Michael J. Aubuchon, the attorney for the club. Aubuchon denied that falling attendance precipitated Kerner's decision.

"There has been a profit every year since the club moved here in 1955. Last year the Hawks made a profit of $243,975 and a comparable profit is expected this season," said Aubuchon.

Kerner wants local interests to buy the club, said the attorney, but is willing to discuss reasonable offers from any city. He said the price for the second-place Hawks, who trail the San Francisco Warriors in the Western Division, was a matter for negotiation.

The Hawks, who have won five divisional championships and one league title, have been in St. Louis since 1955.

Kerner reportedly has been unhappy that the city has not helped provide the club with an adequate new arena and has been unwilling to grant to the Hawks the consideration given the NFL St. Louis Cardinals, whose new stadium is part of an urban renewal program downtown.

But, said Aubuchon, "we want to state categorically that no definite offers have been received from anyone, in any city, including St. Louis, for the relocation of the club.

"Nor are we evolving or instituting any definite plan for relocation under the present ownership," he added.

Ow! Four Games And Four Losses

It was a bad day for Marin Athletic League basketballers yesterday afternoon as four cage squads trekked to enemy courts, and each returned feeling the lumps of defeat.

Defending MCAL champ Drake, fresh off an amazing 55-48 upset win over AAA League favorite Poly (S.F.), lost out to Santa Rosa 38-57; Vallejo trimmed Terra Linda 65-52; San Rafael's hoopsters were stunned by powerful Petaluma 81-69; and El Molino of Forestville stopped Novato, 73-56.

Santa Rosa, figured to repeat as champions of the North Bay League, exploded for 20 points in the first period to double the Pirate point-production. The Drake quint rushed to narrow the gap 22-26 at the half, but after an even third stanza its offense collapsed completely and the home team surged 18-4 to put it on ice.

Karl Stein with 13 points and Chet Carlisle, who slipped a few notches from his 15.7 average, with 10 points, paced the Drake cagers as they dropped to a 5-4 non-league record. Center Jerry Sprout chipped in with 5 points and had 8 of Drake's 22 rebounds.

It was the biggest margin Drake has lost by this season; the previous high point-spread was 9 at the hands of Balboa (S.F.) in the Drake Invitational Tournament.

The outcome of the Terra Linda-Vallejo tilt shouldn't come as a shock to the prognosticators, but the Trojans stayed surprisingly close behind the shooting of Fred Smith and Steve Congdon who pumped in 13 and 11 points respectively.

Vallejo built up a 30-23 edge at intermission, then slowly pulled away from the Trojans in spite of their full-court zone-press tactics.

Terra Lindan Paul Lee, a fine marksman who had converted 50 per cent of his attempts from the field (32x76 for an 11.0 average) until yesterday, contributed nine points for the Trojans whose practice record now stands at 3-7.

Vallejo's Fred Manuel topped all scorers with 16. And Vallejo had the edge percentage-wise from the field, 44-39.

Behind Mike Donahoo's 27 hard-earned points including 12 field goals, San Rafael's Bulldogs were no doubt game. But with Drake Invitational All-Tourney selection Jim Rudolph going for 34 points, all but seven of them in the first half, the Petalumans turned it into a rout as they zoomed to an unsurmountable 54-38 halftime advantage.

Roger Widmer's 15 points, Dave Smith's 22 and Chip Tyson's 11 rounded out the bulk of the Bulldogs' scoring, while Bob Hatfield and Tom Nelson were next in line for Petaluma with 14 and 13 in order.

Novato's Hornets trailed just 14-15 in the early stages of action but were victimized by a 17-26 second quarter spurt by the El Molino quint and never regained their full momentum after playing the host team on an even 19-19 keel after the first half.

Novato, a team which has not one returning starter, was paced by John Howard and center Tom Herrnberger with 13 apiece, the latter also grabbing 8 of his team's 32 rebounds.

The Hornets won the battle of percentage from the field, 44-38, but El Molino cashed 23 of 32 free throws for 71 per cent. Novato had 38 per cent from the charity line, (10x26).

Tim Costello of El Molino tallied 29 markers, 11 through the courtesy of free throws, to win high scoring honors.

Celts Beat Warriors In Overtime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors take a bead on the improving Los Angeles Lakers tomorrow night in Oakland hoping to overcome a Tuesday night National Basketball Association loss to the Boston Celtics.

The Warriors dropped the game in overtime 126-121 despite the return of injured superstar Rick Barry to play, who led the losers with 31 points. Observers said his hurt ankles looked fine.

The Celtics now have a 28-9 season record and are 4-0 this year over San Francisco. The win enabled the Celtics to keep pace with the Philadelphia 76ers who won against New York.

The Celtics were led to victory by the shooting of guard Sam Jones and the rebound and defensive play of center Bill Russell.

The Warriors had led all night going into the fourth quarter, then fell 10 points behind midway in the fourth quarter. Led by Tom Meschery, the Warriors caught up with 33 seconds left to put the score at 114-114 through regulation play.

Boston settled the matter by outscoring San Francisco 10 points to two in the first three minutes of overtime. The winners played keep-away for the remaining two minutes and the Warriors were unable to start up any offense of their own.

On Friday the Warriors return home to play the St. Louis Hawks, second in the Western Division. The Warriors now hold a six-game lead over the Western Division.

CHARLES MICHALS
Chosen by acclamation

Marin Republicans Elect Michals Committee Head

Charles Michales of Greenbrae was elected chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee last night at the organizational meeting in the county courthouse.

The expected struggle for leadership between Michals and outgoing chairman Gerald E. Misner of San Anselmo did not materialize, at least on the surface.

Misner pulled out of the running and left the field to Michals, who was elected by acclamation.

Misner, who served four years as vice chairman and four years as chairman, said he would bow out in the interests of party unity. He said he also owes his family and his business more of his time and attention.

Michals is a public affairs specialist with Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco. Michals headed the Marin campaign last year for George Christopher, then swung his support behind Ronald Reagan after Reagan's primary victory.

Michals is former president of Marin County Young Republicans and Marin Republican Council, and was vice chairman of the Marin Republican Central Committee until his promotion last night.

Elected to serve with Michals are:

Charles I. Daniels Jr. of San Rafael, vice chairman; Genevieve Grunstrom of Novato, women's vice chairman. David B. Allison of Mill Valley, secretary, and Matthew A. Graham of San Rafael, treasurer.

District chairman in the five supervisorial districts are: Herbert K. Walton Jr. of San Rafael, first district. James McNab of Ross, second; Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon, third; Colin Claxon of San Rafael, fourth; and J. Wallis Madocks of Novato, fifth.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, commended outgoing chairman Misner for a job well done and pleged support to new chairman Michals. Describing the new administration in Sacramento, McCarthy declared: "I think you're going to be proud of this legislature and proud of the new governor. We just have one helluva governor!"

Paul R. Haerle, San Rafael attorney who headed the Reagan campaign in Marin, announced that James McNab of Ross is the new chairman for Reagan in Marin. McNab's job will be coordination with Sacramento and helping make Marin County appointments for the Reagan administration.

Haerle has been promoted to chairmanship of the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan Committee. He last night named Edwin Thomas of San Rafael as treasurer for the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan.

Bond Election On School Board Agenda

A resolution setting a $275,000 bond election March 21 is scheduled for adoption by Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Bolinas School. The bonds would be to meet district needs over the next 10 years.

Also to be considered are procedures to screen seven architects who applied for the district building program.

Supervised Probation On Morals Charges

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Eugene J. McCann Jr., 39-year-old television announcer, on five years supervised probation for lewd and lascivious behavior with minors.

He also ordered McCann to take psychiatric treatment.

McCann, arrested last Feb. 21 at his home in Millbrae, pleaded guilty Oct. 11 to two counts of the misbehavior in Sausalito and San Rafael in the summer of 1965.

Benny To Join Symphony Tonight

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Violinist Jack Benny and the San Francisco symphony orchestra are featured performers tonight in the Governor's inaugural concert.

Benny, the veteran comedian, is an expert violinist but affects not to be in his act. He's scheduled to solo in the 8:30 p.m. performance.

The major events of Gov. Ronald Reagan's inauguration week come on Thursday, including the 11 a.m. public inaugural ceremony on the west steps of the Capitol and the 9:30 p.m. inaugural ball.

Time Served Sentence Given

Dennis Allen Thomas, 20, was sentenced to time already served in county jail yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Thomas, of 322 D Street, San Rafael, originally was charged with felony possession of marijuana and narcotics on April 7 after sheriff's officers halted his car on Highway 101.

Thomas first pleaded guilty, then changed his plea to innocent, but on Dec. 12 re-entered the guilty plea.

Meeting Postponed

The Marin Assn. of School Administrators' meeting, usually held on the first Wednesday of each month, has been indefinitely postponed, County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis announced today.

Rick Barry Still Tops NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Barry, San Francisco's hot-shooting sophomore, is the only player in the National Basketball Association to have passed the 1,000-point plateau this season but he is about to get some company.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain are on the 1,000 point threshold, figures released by the NBA showed today.

Barry led the league with 1,312 points through Sunday's games. Robertson was second with 953 and Chamberlain third at 928. Both should pass the 1,000 point mark this week with the Royals playing two games and the 76ers three.

Chamberlain, Barry and Chicago's Guy Rodgers led the other individual categories.

Chamberlain held fat margins in field goal percentage and rebounds. He was averaging .689 from the field with Willis Reed of New York second with .524. Chamberlain had grabbed 923 rebounds, 103 more than Nate Thurmond of San Francisco.

Barry's .891 free throw percentage put him in front of Adrian Smith of Cincinnati, who was shooting .888 from the foul line.

Rodgers led in assists with 467 to 347 for Robertson.

Kansas City Begins Drills For Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kansas City's champion Chiefs open practice in suburban Long Beach today for their Super Bowl battle Jan. 15 with the powerful Green Bay Packers.

The American Football League champs planned to arrive at Los Angeles International Airport at 10:30 a.m., then head to Long Beach for a 3 p.m. workout. All drills will be closed to public view.

The Chiefs were reported in good physical condition after their 31-7 victory over Buffalo Sunday for the American Football League crown.

The Packers, who won the National Football League title Sunday by whipping Dallas, 34-27, planned to work out in Wisconsin this week before heading west. The Packers are favored.

ALL-AMERICA GREETINGS

All-Americans (from left) Clinton Jones, halfback from Michigan State, Pete Pifer, fullback from Oregon State and George Webster, linebacker from Michigan State, get an All-American Aloha from a greeting girl by the name of Lani, no less, as they arrive in Hawaii to play in the annual Hula Bowl. Fifteen All-Americans from 34 colleges and universities are represented for this year's game scheduled Friday.

Super Bowl Factor: Poise

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City may have super personnel, but the outcome of pro football's world championship game very likely could depend on how superbly the Chiefs match the Green Bay Packers in poise.

That's the opinion of Wally Lemm, one of only three active head coaches who have served in both the American and National Leagues.

Lemm coached the Houston Oilers of the AFL in 1961, then left for the NFL and four years with the St. Louis Cardinals before returning to the Oilers this past season.

"Kansas City has fine personnel, which many consider the finest personnel in pro football," Lemm said last night in a telephone conversation from his home in suburban Chicago.

"But Green Bay has the savvy — just like the old New York Yankees. They have that championship game experience. That's a definite advantage. If there's any real difference, that's it.

"A team like Green Bay isn't going to make many errors, and they're not going to choke up. When a team doesn't have that experience, like Kansas City, let something go wrong and they can lose their poise and have trouble."

The Packers, who meet the Chiefs in Los Angeles Jan. 15 in the first meeting between the two leagues, have won four NFL titles in the past six years and have played in five title games in the past seven seasons.

The Chiefs, on the other hand, have only two championship games on their side, both of which they won.

Aside from those facts, Lemm doesn't see much difference between the Super Bowl teams.

"Kansas City has wonderful size," he said, "good speed, a good quarterback in Len Dawson, great running in Mike Garrett and great receivers in Otis Taylor and Chris Burford.

"Kansas City's offensive line is tremendously big. Whether it's any better than Green Bay's is open to conjecture, but they have tremendous size.

"Green Bay has an excellent defense, which has proven itself over a number of years. Kansas City has a good defense, but whether it has the fluidity of having been together for a long time I don't know.

Both teams have good front fours, good linebackers and good secondaries."

Lemm scoffs at the rap against Dawson that he can't be very good because he didn't make it with Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the NFL.

"That's so much baloney," he said. "He never got a chance to make it in the NFL. That's one of the biggest fallacies when it comes to comparing the two leagues. There're a lot of quarterbacks in the NFL who didn't make it with one team and who made it with another."

Asked to compare Dawson and the Packers' Bart Starr, Lemm said:

"It's hard to rate them. They're different. They're both exceptionally good passers. But again Starr has the championship game ability.

"If Kansas City can keep its poise and not choke up because of the size of the game, which Green Bay won't do, it will be a real good game."

So who's going to win, Wally?

"Don't ask me. It's going to be hard for anyone to pick a winner."

Duke Coach Suspends Nine Of His Cagers

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — "It's a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

That's now Duke Coach Vic Bubas summed up his feelings last night after telling newsmen he had just suspsnded nine players, four of them starters, for training violations.

His announcement preceded Duke's game with Penn State.

Despite the suspensions, Duke won 89-84 as Bob Verga, the only starter to survive Bubas' house-cleaning, scored 38 points, the second highest in his career. He had tallied 41 the week before, when Ohio State nipped Duke 83-82.

Bubas did not specify what training regulations were flouted, nor how long the suspensions would last, but said starters Mike Lewis, Bob Riedy, Dave Golden and Tim Kolodziej were "temporarily suspended," along with reserves Tony Barone, Warren Chapman, Ron Wendelin, Joe Kennedy and Jim Liccardo.

Bubas said he had conferred about the training situation with Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director, the night before the game, and then made up his mind the day of the game. He added:

"A position of leadership is a lonely one, and I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

The victory brought Duke's record to 5-4, the first time it has gone over the .500 mark this season, but Bubas said he would have made the same suspension decision at any point in the season.

Duke, having one of its worst years in several seasons, had only seven players in uniform for the game, and used six, including Bob Francis, who had never played for Duke before. He scored five points.

Two players who had never scored for Duke before were C. B. Claiborne with 13 points and Fred Lind with nine.

Bleachers For Tamalpais High Football Field

Installation of permanent bleachers on the west side of Tamalpais High School's new football and track field began last week, Principal Robert H. Prather said today.

Designed for 1,700 persons, they are being built by Beattie Industries of San Francisco at a cost of $20,170. The seats, of Alaskan Port Orford cedar, are supported by steel I-beams with tubular steel bracing.

The bleachers should be completed in about a week, Prather said.

Addition of temporary bleachers on the east side of the field will allow some varsity football afternoon games to be played at the school next fall instead of at College of Marin, he noted.

Phils Sign Jim Gentile Just In Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have added controversial slugger Jim Gentile to their roster as a backup man for first baseman Bill White, injured in an off-season accident.

General manager John Quinn of the National League Phillies, announced yesterday that Gentile, 33, had been acquired from the Cleveland Indians' Portland farm club for a player to be named later or cash.

He said the deal was made for Gentile due to "the need to go into spring training with an experienced first baseman."

White, who drove in more than 100 runs and hit more than 20 homers last season, injured his ankle while playing handball in St. Louis Dec. 19. Doctors said he is expected to miss part or all of spring training this year.

Gentile, whose explosive bat often matches his volatile temper, was placed on the Phillies' San Diego farm club but will report to spring training with the Major League team, Quinn said. Quinn said this procedure was necessary because of roster committments.

The big first baseman slugged most of his 179 lifetime homers with the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Athletics in the American League.

SATURDAY NIGHT MEET

Army Of Thinclads In Cow Palace Meet

More than 100 of the nation's finest trackmen, bolstered by the late entry of four outstanding runners, are set to go in Satruday's All American indorr track meet at the Cow Palace.

"This is the best field we've had in four years of a fine meet," claimed director Jim Terrill as he surveyed his entries. "It's an excellent mixture of world record breakers and national champs and the younger athletes who are the champs and record holders of tomorrow."

Latest additions to an already star-studded roster which is beginning to read like a Who's Who of track are two excellent long sprinters and a pair of talented middle distance men.

Jim Kemp of the 49ers has been added to the 440, replacing out-of-shape Mike Larrabee, and assumes the favorite's role. Kemp has blasted a 47.1 indoor relay leg already this winter and the 1965 NCAA quarter-mile king seems headed for his best year.

Another recordman will be in the 600. Ray Saddler, a big star at Castlemont High in Oakland and at Texas Southern, is American record holder in the indoor 440 at 47.6. The 1000 adds Jim Dupree, a veteran who has run 1:47.3 for the 880, while the mile gets Tom Von Ruden, who placed second in the NCAA for Oaklahoma State.

Also added is a team form the Athens Track Club of Oakland. Director Darrell Horn sends British Okympian Menzies Campbell in the 60 and 160 dashes, Tom Wyatt and Larry Livers in the hurdles, Al Biancani in the 160, and the four of them into the mile relay. In the relay they will tangle with Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of the favored San Jose State quarter, Stanford, Youth Village and UOP.

Terrill, already enthused over the talent he has lined up, was particularly pleased to note the new world record established by Bob Seagren last week. The meet director had predicted a new indoor vault record by either Seagren or Paul Wilson, the other half of the Heavenly Twins form the Univeristy of Southern California.

"We were thinking of something like 17-2 or 17-3 for Seagren," commented Terrill. "But now the sky is the limit. Even though he broke his own world mark Bob was terribly frustrated. He said he felt good for 17-7 and was disappointed in not making it.

"San Francisco is as good a place as any for Seagren and Wilson to continue their avowed assault on 18 feet. We have always had fine vaulting at the Cow Palace, including a world record in this meet last year by John Pennel."

Terrill prophesies two all-time indoor bests. He is absolutely certain either Randy Matson, the outdoor king, or Neal Steinhauer, and quite possibly both, will blast the shot put standard. And where he once felt there was a 50-50 chance in the vault he now feels it is approaching the sure thing category.

Tickets are available still in all prive ranges, from $3 to $6. They are available at the Cow Palace. Crane Box Office in San Francisco, Downtown Center Box Office in San Francisco, Ina Thrams (Sherman Clay) and Bay Ticket Office in Oakland, The San Jose Box Office, and Dixie Roberts (Sherman Clay) in Hayward.

Conference Play On Tap In West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Rene Herrerias of California says that if guards Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins continue to play as they have so far "we can stay with anybody."

He added later, however,that he hasn't yet started to worry about undefeated and top ranked UCLA since "we don't play them until Jan. 13."

Critchfield was named the Most Valuable Player in the holiday Rainbow Classic basketball tournament in Hawaii, and the surprising Bears have compiled a 7-2 record to date.

California draws Oregon State and Oregon as its foes at Berkeley on the opening of the Pacific-8 conference season friday and Saturday nights. The two play at Stanford in reverse order.

University of the Pacific and the University of San Francisco go into the West Coast Athletic Conference season in top roles with the the Tigers of UOP favored to repeat as titlists.

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Pacific's Dave Fox and Dennis Black of USF as the co-players-of-the-week for their play in the tournament which UOP captured with a 59-51 triumph over the San Franciscans.

Making up for last week when they didn't meet, the writers honored Santa Clara's Mike Gervasoni, the 5-9 guard who scored 21 points against Providence and 42 against Missouri.

After the meeting, Coach Phil Vukicevich of USF learned that senior guard Larry Blum had suffered a broken bone in his right hand during the tourney finale and would be out six weeks.

Only action in the WCAC on Friday finds Pepperdine at Loyola in Los Angeles. Saturday, it is UOP at St. Mary's USF at Santa Clara, and San Jose at UC Santa Barbara.

North Gridders Will Be Passing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — South Coach Otto Graham is being closed mouthed about his plans for Saturday's 18th annual Senior Bowl football classic as North Coach Norm Van Brocklin asserts his team will play a passing game.

Graham, of the Washington Redskins, didn't verbally indicate what his strategy would be, but yesterday's workout preparation appeared to be both in the air and on the ground.

Van Brocklin, of the Minnesota Vikings, said his squad "will definitely play a passing game" against the South.

One Senior Bowl official termed the North's practice as "one of the hardest workouts in at least 10 years here." The South squad worked on passing and running while emphasizing the old-fashioned draw up the middle.

Sidelined for the practice was Alabama's All-America end Ray Perkins who has signed a contract with the Baltimore Colts after catching nine passes for 159 yards against Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

In the North's workout most of the passes went from quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young to Chet Anderson of Minnesota. North Dakota's Corey Colehour pitched to Iowa State's Eppie Barney to set up another pass combination.

The four-man defensive from the South seems about set. Playing in this slot are North Carolina's Bo Wood and Louisiana State's Tommy Russell at ends; Gene Trosch of Miami of Florida and Baylor's Dwight Hood at tackle.

Georgia's All-America George Patton, Tennessee's Paul Naumoff, and Ken Avery of Southern Mississippi are the linebackers.

Both coaches admit there may be changes before the game.

San Diego Charger Coach Sid Gillman and six of his assistants watched the workouts. Gillman commented, "I like 'em all."

Racer Don Campbell Believed Dead After Explosion

CONISTON, England (AP) — Donald Malcolm Campbell, who flirted with death on land and water, vanished and was given up for dead today when his jet hydroplane boat, Bluebird, somersaulted and sank racing about 200 miles an hour on Lake Coniston.

Shore witnesses said there appeared to be an explosion and "Campbell must be considered killed."

Wreckage of the boat and parts of Campbell's clothing — including his oxygen mask — were found but there was no sign of the 45-year-old racer.

Friends said Cambell had a premonition that he would be killed in talking with them last night.

His last words radioed from his speedcraft were:

"I'm giving her full power. I can't see much. I'm going."

Campbell, who was out to break his own record of 276 miles an hour, was strapped in the Bluebird.

He had made one run up the lake and was making a return run when the boat struck disaster.

While playing cards with friends on the eve of his record attempt he turned up the ace of spades followed by the queen of spades and remarked:

"Mary, Queen of Scots, turned up the same combination of cards and knew from it that she was going to be beheaded. I know that one of my family is going to get the cop. I pray to God it is not me."

Campbell appeared in a cheerful mood this morning, however, as he got set for his record attempt.

He was the son of Sir Malcolm Campbell, who gained fame in the 1930s for his racing exploits on land and water. The younger Campbell took pride in being known as one of the "fanatical Campbells."

Shore observers said that Campbell's last words "I'm going" could have meant that he sensed disaster or that he was going all out in trying for the record.

An explosion was reported as the boat went down.

Wreckage strewed the surface but there was no sign of Campbell.

Campbell's shoes, helmet, and oxygen mask were recovered.

Frogmen were called in an attempt to find Campbell, who was strapped in the boat.

Leo Villa, a lifelong friend of the racer, was the first on the scene and picked up parts of Campbell's clothing but by the time he got there the boat had sunk.

A witness on the shore said:

"The boat appeared to become airborne before somersaulting. A rescue boat circled the spot but appeared to find no sign of life.

"As the boat hit the water there appeared to be an explosion," the eyewitness said.

A Dismal Day For Marin County Prep Cagers

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Reg Carolan Is The Best-Paid Substitute Teacher In County

JACKPOT—I know a substitute teacher in Marin County who has earned $5,308.39 already this year. And in a week-and-a-half he'll increase his earnings for 1967 to either $12,808.39 or $20,308.39.

No, teachers' salaries aren't that good. It's just that my teacher friend, Reg Carolan, also happens to play football for the Kansas City Chiefs and has earned the privilege of playing in the Jan. 15 Super Bowl at Los Angeles Coliseum.

BY WINNING the American Football League title last Sunday each Kansas City player earned $5,308.39. In the upcoming Super Bowl against the National League champion Green Bay Packers each member of the winning team will get a $15,000 bonanza while each loser will get $7,500.

So, you see Prof. Carolan, who teaches in this county when he isn't busy footballing, should be a soft touch when he returns to the Bounty County later this month.

A RESERVE tight end, Carolan didn't get much opportunity to play during the regular season but he was ready, willing and able to do his share Sunday when first string tight end Fred Arbanas injured his shoulder.

It was Reg's big chance of his pro career, getting in a championship game on National TV. I think I saw only one pass thrown in his direction, which a Buffalo player knocked down, but the former Drake High School Super Star was busy in other departments, blocking for teammates Mike Garrett, Len Dawson et al. Big Reg also played on punting situations, and his No. 80 jersey could be seen on TV screens all across the land.

CAROLAN ALSO made a beautiful exit at the conclusion of the game. When players lifted the team's star quarterback to their shoulders for the traditional championship ride to the dressing room, big Reg trotted up in back of him and gave him a couple of congratulatory pats on the anny-fay. Beautiful, Reg, beautiful.

CAROLAN MAY see some action in the Super Bowl if Arbanas' shoulder doesn't heal, but even if the teacher has to warm the bench for the whole game, it will be worth it.

LOCAL ANGLE—Marin County visitors to the San Mateo Auto and Boat Show tomorrow through Sunday should be on the lookout for three San Rafael entries.

Frank Volta will enter his minibike and go-cart. The former, a 1960 Caper cycle, was completely rebuilt and redesigned, is in chrome and red with a "flea" gas tank and features continental fenders and a two-cycle engine, according to show publicist Warren Wynkoop, who sounds like an entry himself. The minibike sports a Honda tail and a bicycle luggage rack.

VOLTA'S GO-KART also was rebuilt and has an FKE fiberglass body, six-inch wheels, butterfly steering wheel and disc brakes. The upholstery is green, metalflake naugahydes and the exterior is metallic green and gold.

BOBBY WILSON, also of San Rafael, will enter a Bonneville T-120 Triumph motorcycle, a 1964 turquoise custom street job that has a complete, chopped and filled frame, specially-formed diamond tuft seat and Harley Sportster fuel tank. A dazzler, it is completely chromed and painted with crushed glass.

St. Mary's Five Falls To Loyola

RICHMOND (AP) — Invading Loyola of New Orleans, led by Barry Gerhehty and Charley Powell, downed a fighting St. Mary's basketball team 76-71 last night at Richmond Memorial Auditorium.

The Gaels made it a close game and trailed the Wolfpack by only two points with 1:30 to go. The score was Loyola 34, St. Mary's 32 at halftime.

Gerhehty and Powell, a sophomore from Baton Rouge, each scored 23 points for the winners. Gerhehty also got 16 rebounds.

Jerry West entered the game in the second quarter and scored 19 points for St. Mary's. His teammate Joe Callaghan, who played only the second half, was runnerup with 15.

Frosh Basketball

San Rafael High School's frosh basketball team downed the Terra Linda frosh, 32-25, for its sixth practice win against one loss. Bruce D'Ambra with eight points and Jim Wade and Kris Bonner with six points each led the Bulldogs.

HARDY BOYS AND GIRLS—The first group of a brave pack of swimmers and skiers brave the 41-degree waters of Bel-Marin Lagoon along with a melancholy dog as they celebrate 1967 and the first Bel-Marin Yacht Club "Icicle Day" on New Year's Day.

Happy--Brrr--New Year

And a brisk top of the new year to you, too.

Bel-Marin water skiers and swimmers started the New Year off with a big, cold splash by celebrating their annual "Icycle Day" on New Year's Day.

Hardy guests and residents of the Bel-Marin Keys opened 1967 by jumping into the lagoon.

All the brave young and old swimmers received embroidered shoulder patches emblazoned with icicles.

The event was sponsored by the Bel-Marin Yacht Club.

Fifty-eight swimmers braved the 41-degree water, according to committee chairman Robert Buetzow. The icicle winners ranged in ages from six to sixty.

Participating guests included Stan and Norman Faria, Robert, Kenneth and Henry Abbadie and William Barradas, all from San Leandro and all members of the Golden Gate Ski Club and Robert Lindsey of Fairfax.

Bel-Marin adult swimmers and skiers were Archie Austin, Fred N. Wills, Charles Oliver, Mrs. Trugard Browne, Donald Wiffin, Colin and Gloria Kosock, James T and Betty Zoeller, Robert and Tommy Buetzow, W. R.Browne, N. A. Wiffin, and Delmar P. Dabney.

Also Daphne Jewell, Stephen Jewell, Nick Williams, Susie Walker, Bill Roberts, Bill Weiss, Mark Ochiziger, Frank Walpoc, Mike Telegin, Greg Valentine, Tim Telegin, Chrisie Sarganis, Jeff Henricks and Linda Lee Henricks.

Ski and patrol boats were provided by Carl Boivie, Bill Fries, and Bill Weiss. Roy Hosking skippered the Weiss boat.

Icicle committeemen were Colin Kosock, Patricia Boivie, Phyllis Hosking, Mrs. Robert Buetzow, Norma Wandt, Carl Wandt, and W. E. Browne.

12 Raiders Named For All-Star Tilt

OAKLAND (AP)—John Rauch of Oakland, coach of the West squad for the Jan. 21 American Football League All-Star game, named a dozen members of his Raider team to the club today.

West faces the East in the AFL battle at Oakland's new Coliseum Stadium on Jan. 21.

Eight of those picked by Rauch were automatically members of the squad because of their selections in the All League aggregation chosen by the players. In addition, Rauch chose quarterback Tom Flores, linebacker Dan Connors, defensive end Ike Lassiter and fullback Hewitt Dixon.

Automatic selections to the 33-player squad were offensive halfback Clem Daniels, split end Art Powell, offensive guard Wayne Hawkins, center Jim Otto, defensive tackle Tom Keating, defensive end Ben Davidson and defensive backs Kent McCloughan and Dave Grayson.

Other members of the squad will be named later, and include players from the champion Kansas City City Chiefs who meet Green Bay in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles on Jan. 15.

EX-TAM STAR COLLETT SIGNS 49ER CONTRACT

Elmer Collett, former Tamalpais High School star from Mill Valley and a standout guard at San Francisco State College, was signed to a contract by the San Francisco 49ers yesterday.

Collett, an All-Far Western Conference guard for two straight years, was drafted by the 49ers as a redshirt in 1965 in the 15th round.

Collett is a son of Elmer Collett, a U.S. attorney who serves as chief federal prosecutor. The senior Collett was a member of the 1924 Olympic Water Polo team.

Collett was the third redshirt to be signed by the 49ers. Also signed and sealed were Don Parker, Virginia guard, and Kentucky end Bob Windsor.

For Sale: One Used Pro Basketball Team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ben Kerner, one of two individual owners of a National Basketball Association club, says he's putting his St. Louis Hawks on sale.

An attorney for Kerner made the announcement yesterday at a news conference which the 50-year-old owner did not attend. Kerner suffers from arthritis and his health was given as a primary reason for the decision.

"The operation of a team in the NBA now demands more than just one man," said Michael J. Aubuchon, the attorney for the club. Aubuchon denied that falling attendance precipitated Kerner's decision.

"There has been a profit every year since the club moved here in 1955. Last year the Hawks made a profit of $243,975 and a comparable profit is expected this season," said Aubuchon.

Kerner wants local interests to buy the club, said the attorney, but is willing to discuss reasonable offers from any city. He said the price for the second-place Hawks, who trail the San Francisco Warriors in the Western Division, was a matter for negotiation.

The Hawks, who have won five divisional championships and one league title, have been in St. Louis since 1955.

Kerner reportedly has been unhappy that the city has not helped provide the club with an adequate new arena and has been unwilling to grant to the Hawks the consideration given the NFL St. Louis Cardinals, whose new stadium is part of an urban renewal program downtown.

But, said Aubuchon, "we want to state categorically that no definite offers have been received from anyone, in any city, including St. Louis, for the relocation of the club.

"Nor are we evolving or instituting any definite plan for relocation under the present ownership," he added.

Ow! Four Games And Four Losses

It was a bad day for Marin Athletic League basketballers yesterday afternoon as four cage squads trekked to enemy courts, and each returned feeling the lumps of defeat.

Defending MCAL champ Drake, fresh off an amazing 55-48 upset win over AAA League favorite Poly (S.F.), lost out to Santa Rosa 38-57; Vallejo trimmed Terra Linda 65-52; San Rafael's hoopsters were stunned by powerful Petaluma 81-69; and El Molino of Forestville stopped Novato, 73-56.

Santa Rosa, figured to repeat as champions of the North Bay League, exploded for 20 points in the first period to double the Pirate point-production. The Drake quint rushed to narrow the gap 22-26 at the half, but after an even third stanza its offense collapsed completely and the home team surged 18-4 to put it on ice.

Karl Stein with 13 points and Chet Carlisle, who slipped a few notches from his 15.7 average, with 10 points, paced the Drake cagers as they dropped to a 5-4 non-league record. Center Jerry Sprout chipped in with 5 points and had 8 of Drake's 22 rebounds.

It was the biggest margin Drake has lost by this season; the previous high point-spread was 9 at the hands of Balboa (S.F.) in the Drake Invitational Tournament.

The outcome of the Terra Linda-Vallejo tilt shouldn't come as a shock to the prognosticators, but the Trojans stayed surprisingly close behind the shooting of Fred Smith and Steve Congdon who pumped in 13 and 11 points respectively.

Vallejo built up a 30-23 edge at intermission, then slowly pulled away from the Trojans in spite of their full-court zone-press tactics.

Terra Lindan Paul Lee, a fine marksman who had converted 50 per cent of his attempts from the field (32x76 for an 11.0 average) until yesterday, contributed nine points for the Trojans whose practice record now stands at 3-7.

Vallejo's Fred Manuel topped all scorers with 16. And Vallejo had the edge percentage-wise from the field, 44-39.

Behind Mike Donahoo's 27 hard-earned points including 12 field goals, San Rafael's Bulldogs were no doubt game. But with Drake Invitational All-Tourney selection Jim Rudolph going for 34 points, all but seven of them in the first half, the Petalumans turned it into a rout as they zoomed to an unsurmountable 54-38 halftime advantage.

Roger Widmer's 15 points, Dave Smith's 22 and Chip Tyson's 11 rounded out the bulk of the Bulldogs' scoring, while Bob Hatfield and Tom Nelson were next in line for Petaluma with 14 and 13 in order.

Novato's Hornets trailed just 14-15 in the early stages of action but were victimized by a 17-26 second quarter spurt by the El Molino quint and never regained their full momentum after playing the host team on an even 19-19 keel after the first half.

Novato, a team which has not one returning starter, was paced by John Howard and center Tom Herrnberger with 13 apiece, the latter also grabbing 8 of his team's 32 rebounds.

The Hornets won the battle of percentage from the field, 44-38, but El Molino cashed 23 of 32 free throws for 71 per cent. Novato had 38 per cent from the charity line, (10x26).

Tim Costello of El Molino tallied 29 markers, 11 through the courtesy of free throws, to win high scoring honors.

Celts Beat Warriors In Overtime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors take a bead on the improving Los Angeles Lakers tomorrow night in Oakland hoping to overcome a Tuesday night National Basketball Association loss to the Boston Celtics.

The Warriors dropped the game in overtime 126-121 despite the return of injured superstar Rick Barry to play, who led the losers with 31 points. Observers said his hurt ankles looked fine.

The Celtics now have a 28-9 season record and are 4-0 this year over San Francisco. The win enabled the Celtics to keep pace with the Philadelphia 76ers who won against New York.

The Celtics were led to victory by the shooting of guard Sam Jones and the rebound and defensive play of center Bill Russell.

The Warriors had led all night going into the fourth quarter, then fell 10 points behind midway in the fourth quarter. Led by Tom Meschery, the Warriors caught up with 33 seconds left to put the score at 114-114 through regulation play.

Boston settled the matter by outscoring San Francisco 10 points to two in the first three minutes of overtime. The winners played keep-away for the remaining two minutes and the Warriors were unable to start up any offense of their own.

On Friday the Warriors return home to play the St. Louis Hawks, second in the Western Division. The Warriors now hold a six-game lead over the Western Division.

Many Sturgeon Hooked, Missed; A Choice Recipe To Cook Them

STEVENS

I could be mistaken, but I have a strong hunch that more sturgeon have been hooked and lost and hooked and landed the past week than for any like period of time in the past several years. I talked with Hal Miller, skipper of the Phil Ray out of Rodeo yesterday, and was told that he boated four keepers and lost more than that. Hal also reported the boat Sunfish, working the waters near the Petaluma Creek mouth, landed nine of the big fish. Hal had a rewarding day on Thursday, I understand. Landed two sturgeon going 47 and 51 pounds.

Hal Boenner at Lee Anderson's reported that "Bud" Foster took one sturgeon of 40 pounds and one striped bass of 18 pounds.

I BELIEVE IT WAS last Thursday that Hal Miller boated two sturgeon and five stripers weighing between 15 and 20 pounds. All fish, bass as well as sturgeon, were taken on grass shrimp. Miller mentioned that while they were used for bait, no bass were taken on Bullheads.

BUT WHAT I really wanted to do today was to give, for the first time, a good recipe for fixing sturgeon for the table. So, read the following and enjoy a wonderful repast: (This is a dandy way to have a fresh sturgeon steak marinade.) Take a slice of sturgeon two inches thick; let it stand in hot water five minutes; drain, put it in a bowl and add a gill of vinegar, two teaspoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, a saltspoon of black pepper and the juice of half a lemon. Let this stand for about six hours, turning it occasionally. Drain and dry on a napkin; dip in egg; roll in bread crumbs and fry—or really boil—in very hot fat. Now beat up the yolks of two eggs, add a spoonful of French mustard and by degrees, half of the marinade, to make a smooth sauce to serve with the fish.

YOU MAY REMEMBER that just before Christmas I mentioned how the women of Orlando, Fla. had gone in for a course on safe handling, proper care of and the firing of firearms. Well a day or so after that column appeared, John L. Rothrock, chief instructor of a gun safety course conducted by the San Leandro Junior Optimists Club, called to announce that his group of instructors decided to launch a pilot course slanted only for the women in his area. A letter was sent to a large number of women calling attention to the proposed pilot course. The course will extend for 16 hours and the .22 caliber rifles (furnished by the club) will be used. The course embraces the Basic Marksmanship Course taught throughout the United States.

I NOTE in John's letter the expected restricted attendance for the women's course is stated as only 12 to 15 students. If the course proves as popular as did the Orlando course, when an estimated 1,500 women showed up to learn about guns and gun safety, Instructor Rothrock and his fellow instructors will have the unwanted chore of turning away a great many women.

It will be interesting to learn how popular this pilot course will be.

A gun safety course will get under way in several locales this month. I will try to pass along the information for Marin County and other locales in my next.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Small, Fast...Dangerous

(Last in a series on Marin Athletic League basketball prospects.)

By GARY TISCHLER

San Rafael is the type of basketball team you barely notice until after you're on the wrong end of the score.

There are no 6-6, 6-8 or even 6-4 giants wandering around. There is no one single man who will bomb in 30-footers all night.

But the Bulldogs are likely to run you to death, overwhelm you on sheer numbers and press you tighter than a book-marker on "War and Peace."

Although Coach Mike Diaz' charges have been in the doldrums lately, they have amassed a 6-5 record, which is not too bad for a team that was lightly regarded at the start.

Diaz has no stars, just supporting players. But three of the San Rafael cagers are averaging in double figures, with redheaded Chip Tyson topping the list at 12.4, followed by Rich Schau at 11.5 and Mike Donahoo, a part-time starter, at 10.2.

Schau and Roger Widmer will have to be the cogs in Diaz' plans for a full-court press and fast break. They are both smooth ball-handlers, tenacious on defense and good shots.

Tyson, at 6-2, plays the pivot along with John Farrar, a 6-3 shot-maker. Donahoo will spot start at forward along with Dave Smith and Paul Leete. Sam Crowell comes in at guard to spot either Schau or Widmer. Smith at 6-3 is the tallest of the lot in a small-sized crew.

Defense, with the exception of the Montgomery game, has been San Rafael's forte so far.

"I think we'll pick up our early season form again once league play starts," Diaz said. "We had a letdown after that tournament, but I think we can get back right where we started from."

That early season form included a surprising 66-49 rout of highly-touted Santa Rosa and a four-game win streak, including three straight victories at the Healdsburg Invitational Tournament which the Bulldogs won with remarkable ease. They took apart the host team in the finals, 80-60, for the tournament trophy.

But right after that they went into a three-game tailspin culminating in a sorry game against Montgomery in which nothing much went right.

"It seems as though everybody has a shot at the title," Diaz said of the Marin County Athletic League race. "I think we have a good chance."

Like their light-weight football counterparts, the short but surprising Bulldogs may do some surprising things during the coming season.

Rick Barry Still Tops NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) —Rick Barry, San Francisco's hot-shooting sophomore, is the only player in the National Basketball Association to have passed the 1,000-point plateau this season but he is about to get some company.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain are on the 1,000 point threshold, figures released by the NBA showed today.

Barry led the league with 1,312 points through Sunday's games. Robertson was second with 953 and Chamberlain third at 928. Both should pass the 1,000 point mark this week with the Royals playing two games and the 76ers three.

Chamberlain, Barry and Chicago's Guy Rodgers led the other individual categories.

Chamberlain held fat margins in field goal percentage and rebounds. He was averaging .689 from the field with Willis Reed of New York second with .524. Chamberlain had grabbed 923 rebounds, 103 more than Nate Thurmond of San Francisco.

Barry's .891 free throw percentage put him in front of Adrian Smith of Cincinnati, who was shooting .888 from the foul line.

Rodgers led in assists with 467 to 347 for Robertson.

Kansas City Begins Drills For Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kansas City's champion Chiefs open practice in suburban Long Beach today for their Super Bowl battle Jan. 15 with the powerful Green Bay Packers.

The American Football League champs planned to arrive at Los Angeles International Airport at 10:30 a.m., then head to Long Beach for a 3 p.m. workout. All drills will be closed to public view.

The Chiefs were reported in good physical condition after their 31-7 victory over Buffalo Sunday for the American Football League crown.

The Packers, who won the National Football League title Sunday by whipping Dallas, 34-27, planned to work out in Wisconsin this week before heading west. The Packers are favored.

SATURDAY NIGHT MEET

Army Of Thinclads In Cow Palace Meet

More than 100 of the nation's finest trackmen, bolstered by the late entry of four outstanding runners, are set to go in Satruday's All American indorr track meet at the Cow Palace.

"This is the best field we've had in four years of a fine meet," claimed director Jim Terrill as he surveyed his entries. "It's an excellent mixture of world record breakers and national champs and the younger athletes who are the champs and record holders of tomorrow."

Latest additions to an already star-studded roster which is beginning to read like a Who's Who of track are two excellent long sprinters and a pair of talented middle distance men.

Jim Kemp of the 49ers has been added to the 440, replacing out-of-shape Mike Larrabee, and assumes the favorite's role. Kemp has blasted a 47.1 indoor relay leg already this winter and the 1965 NCAA quarter-mile king seems headed for his best year.

Another recordman will be in the 600. Ray Saddler, a big star at Castlemont High in Oakland and at Texas Southern, is American record holder in the indoor 440 at 47.6. The 1000 adds Jim Dupree, a veteran who has run 1:47.3 for the 880, while the mile gets Tom Von Ruden, who placed second in the NCAA for Oaklahoma State.

Also added is a team form the Athens Track Club of Oakland. Director Darrell Horn sends British Okympian Menzies Campbell in the 60 and 160 dashes, Tom Wyatt and Larry Livers in the hurdles, Al Biancani in the 160, and the four of them into the mile relay. In the relay they will tangle with Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of the favored San Jose State quarter, Stanford, Youth Village and UOP.

Terrill, already enthused over the talent he has lined up, was particularly pleased to note the new world record established by Bob Seagren last week. The meet director had predicted a new indoor vault record by either Seagren or Paul Wilson, the other half of the Heavenly Twins form the Univeristy of Southern California.

"We were thinking of something like 17-2 or 17-3 for Seagren," commented Terrill. "But now the sky is the limit. Even though he broke his own world mark Bob was terribly frustrated. He said he felt good for 17-7 and was disappointed in not making it.

"San Francisco is as good a place as any for Seagren and Wilson to continue their avowed assault on 18 feet. We have always had fine vaulting at the Cow Palace, including a world record in this meet last year by John Pennel."

Terrill prophesies two all-time indoor bests. He is absolutely certain either Randy Matson, the outdoor king, or Neal Steinhauer, and quite possibly both, will blast the shot put standard. And where he once felt there was a 50-50 chance in the vault he now feels it is approaching the sure thing category.

Tickets are available still in all prive ranges, from $3 to $6. They are available at the Cow Palace, Crane Box Office in San Francisco, Downtown Center Box Office in San Francisco, Ina Thrams (Sherman Clay) and Bay Ticket Office in Oakland, The San Jose Box Office, and Dixie Roberts (Sherman Clay) in Hayward.

Super Bowl Factor: Poise

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City may have super personnel, but the outcome of pro football's world championship game very likely could depend on how superbly the Chiefs match the Green Bay Packers in poise.

That's the opinion of Wally Lemm, one of only three active head coaches who have served in both the American and National Leagues.

Lemm coached the Houston Oilers of the AFL in 1961, then left for the NFL and four years with the St. Louis Cardinals before returning to the Oilers this past season.

"Kansas City has fine personnel, which many consider the finest personnel in pro football," Lemm said last night in a telephone conversation from his home in suburban Chicago.

"But Green Bay has the savvy — just like the old New York Yankees. They have that championship game experience. That's a definite advantage. If there's any real difference, that's it.

"A team like Green Bay isn't going to make many errors, and they're not going to choke up. When a team doesn't have that experience, like Kansas City, let something go wrong and they can lose their poise and have trouble."

The Packers, who meet the Chiefs in Los Angeles Jan. 15 in the first meeting between the two leagues, have won four NFL titles in the past six years and have played in five title games in the past seven seasons.

The Chiefs, on the other hand, have only two championship games on their side, both of which they won.

Aside from those facts, Lemm doesn't see much difference between the Super Bowl teams.

"Kansas City has wonderful size," he said, "good speed, a good quarterback in Len Dawson, great running in Mike Garrett and great receivers in Otis Taylor and Chris Burford.

"Kansas City's offensive line is tremendously big. Whether it's any better than Green Bay's is open to conjecture, but they have tremendous size.

"Green Bay has an excellent defense, which has proven itself over a number of years. Kansas City has a good defense, but whether it has the fluidity of having been together for a long time I don't know.

Both teams have good front fours, good linebackers and good secondaries."

Lemm scoffs at the rap against Dawson that he can't be very good because he didn't make it with Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the NFL.

"That's so much baloney," he said. "He never got a chance to make it in the NFL. That's one of the biggest fallacies when it comes to comparing the two leagues. There're a lot of quarterbacks in the NFL who didn't make it with one team and who made it with another."

Asked to compare Dawson and the Packers' Bart Starr, Lemm said:

"It's hard to rate them. They're different. They're both exceptionally good passers. But again Starr has the championship game ability.

"If Kansas City can keep its poise and not choke up because of the size of the game, which Green Bay won't do, it will be a real good game."

So who's going to win, Wally?

"Don't ask me. It's going to be hard for anyone to pick a winner."

Duke Coach Suspends Nine Of His Cagers

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — "It's a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

That's now Duke Coach Vic Bubas summed up his feelings last night after telling newsmen he had just suspsnded nine players, four of them starters, for training violations.

His announcement preceded Duke's game with Penn State.

Despite the suspensions, Duke won 89-84 as Bob Verga, the only starter to survive Bubas' house-cleaning, scored 38 points, the second highest in his career. He had tallied 41 the week before, when Ohio State nipped Duke 83-82.

Bubas did not specify what training regulations were flouted, nor how long the suspensions would last, but said starters Mike Lewis, Bob Riedy, Dave Golden and Tim Kolodziej were "temporarily suspended," along with reserves Tony Barone, Warren Chapman, Ron Wendelin, Joe Kennedy and Jim Liccardo.

Bubas said he had conferred about the training situation with Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director, the night before the game, and then made up his mind the day of the game. He added:

"A position of leadership is a lonely one, and I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

The victory brought Duke's record to 5-4, the first time it has gone over the .500 mark this season, but Bubas said he would have made the same suspension decision at any point in the season.

Duke, having one of its worst years in several seasons, had only seven players in uniform for the game, and used six, including Bob Francis, who had never played for Duke before. He scored five points.

Two players who had never scored for Duke before were C. B. Claiborne with 13 points and Fred Lind with nine.

Bleachers For Tamalpais High Football Field

Installation of permanent bleachers on the west side of Tamalpais High School's new football and track field began last week, Principal Robert H. Prather said today.

Designed for 1,700 persons, they are being built by Beattie Industries of San Francisco at a cost of $20,170. The seats, of Alaskan Port Orford cedar, are supported by steel I-beams with tubular steel bracing.

The bleachers should be completed in about a week, Prather said.

Addition of temporary bleachers on the east side of the field will allow some varsity football afternoon games to be played at the school next fall instead of at College of Marin, he noted.

Giants Sign Oakland Boy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Bernard Williams, 18, high schol and American Legion baseball star from Oakland, has been signed to a bonus contract by the San Francisco Giants.

Playing center field, Williams batted 3.59 in his senior year at St. Elizabeth's High School and .390 with the Oakland American Legion post team which won the national title last year. He bats right-handed and hit 31 home runs in high school and American Legion play last year.

Phils Sign Jim Gentile Just In Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have added controversial slugger Jim Gentile to their roster as a backup man for first baseman Bill White, injured in an off-season accident.

General manager John Quinn of the National League Phillies, announced yesterday that Gentile, 33, had been acquired from the Cleveland Indians' Portland farm club for a player to be named later or cash.

He said the deal was made for Gentile due to "the need to go into spring training with an experienced first baseman."

White, who drove in more than 100 runs and hit more than 20 homers last season, injured his ankle while playing handball in St. Louis Dec. 19. Doctors said he is expected to miss part or all of spring training this year.

Gentile, whose explosive bat often matches his volatile temper, was placed on the Phillies' San Diego farm club but will report to spring training with the Major League team, Quinn said. Quinn said this procedure was necessary because of roster committments.

The big first baseman slugged most of his 179 lifetime homers with the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Athletics in the American League.

Conference Play On Tap In West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Rene Herrerias of California says that if guards Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins continue to play as they have so far "we can stay with anybody."

He added later, however, that he hasn't yet started to worry about undefeated and top ranked UCLA since "we don't play them until Jan. 13."

Critchfield was named the Most Valuable Player in the holiday Rainbow Classic basketball tournament in Hawaii, and the surprising Bears have compiled a 7-2 record to date.

California draws Oregon State and Oregon as its foes at Berkeley on the opening of the Pacific-8 conference season friday and Saturday nights. The two play at Stanford in reverse order.

University of the Pacific and the University of San Francisco go into the West Coast Athletic Conference season in top roles with the the Tigers of UOP favored to repeat as titlists.

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Pacific's Dave Fox and Dennis Black of USF as the co-players-of-the-week for their play in the tournament which UOP captured with a 59-51 triumph over the San Franciscans.

Making up for last week when they didn't meet, the writers honored Santa Clara's Mike Gervasoni, the 5-9 guard who scored 21 points against Providence and 42 against Missouri.

After the meeting, Coach Phil Vukicevich of USF learned that senior guard Larry Blum had suffered a broken bone in his right hand during the tourney finale and would be out six weeks.

Only action in the WCAC on Friday finds Pepperdine at Loyola in Los Angeles. Saturday, it is UOP at St. Mary's USF at Santa Clara, and San Jose at UC Santa Barbara.

North Gridders Will Be Passing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — South Coach Otto Graham is being closed mouthed about his plans for Saturday's 18th annual Senior Bowl football classic as North Coach Norm Van Brocklin asserts his team will play a passing game.

Graham, of the Washington Redskins, didn't verbally indicate what his strategy would be, but yesterday's workout preparation appeared to be both in the air and on the ground.

Van Brocklin, of the Minnesota Vikings, said his squad "will definitely play a passing game" against the South.

One Senior Bowl official termed the North's practice as "one of the hardest workouts in at least 10 years here." The South squad worked on passing and running while emphasizing the old-fashioned draw up the middle.

Sidelined for the practice was Alabama's All-America end Ray Perkins who has signed a contract with the Baltimore Colts after catching nine passes for 159 yards against Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

In the North's workout most of the passes went from quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young to Chet Anderson of Minnesota. North Dakota's Corey Colehour pitched to Iowa State's Eppie Barney to set up another pass combination.

The four-man defensive from the South seems about set. Playing in this slot are North Carolina's Bo Wood and Louisiana State's Tommy Russell at ends; Gene Trosch of Miami of Florida and Baylor's Dwight Hood at tackle.

Georgia's All-America George Patton, Tennessee's Paul Naumoff, and Ken Avery of Southern Mississippi are the linebackers.

Both coaches admit there may be changes before the game.

San Diego Charger Coach Sid Gillman and six of his assistants watched the workouts. Gillman commented, "I like 'em all."

WINNING BRIDGE

New Year's Resolution Might Be Kindness To The Opponents

There is still time to make a resolution for the New Year: Be generous to your opponents.

Give them a trick they don't expect to win.

If you played this sort of hand last year you ruffed the second club, drew trumps and tried to develop the spades.

East got in with a high spade to lead the queen of diamonds through your king.

The defenders got one club, one spade and two diamonds, defeating your contract.

YOU'RE MODEST

Of course you gloated quietly and modestly about this triumph because the opponents could have made a slam in diamonds or clubs if you hadn't shut them out by bidding four hearts.

This looks very generous, but it is really just an exchange of tricks.

You have given up a club trick instead of a spade. A little string is tied to your gift.

If West leads a trump at the third trick (his best defense), you win, take the ace of spades and ruff a spade.

You lead a trump to dummy's nine to ruff another spade and lead another trump to dummy's ten to ruff still another spade.

By this time dummy's last spade is good. You lead a trump to dummy's ace and throw a diamond on that good spade.

Now you lose only one diamond trick, and you therefore make four hearts.

A good way to start the year.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ J 10 9 6
♥ 4
♦ A 9 8 4
♣ A K 9 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

You have 12 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton, eonugh for an opening bid — particularly since your high-card structure is excellent. With three four-card suits, open with the suit beneath the singleton.

Togetherness Goes All The Way To Hospital

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Togetherness is the word that best describes the families of Barney Cecil and Al Wohlleb.

They first lived side by side in one neighborhood for five years.

The Cecils then bought a lot in a new subdivision and the Wohllebs moved next door.

Later, Wohlleb moved his bakery to a new location and Cecil followed, opening an adjoining real estate office.

Recently, Cecil was hospitalized with a mild heart attack. A short time later Wohlleb showed up for minor surgery.

The hospital placed them in the same room in neighboring beds.

They also had the same doctor.

Many Sturgeon Hooked, Missed; A Choice Recipe To Cook Them

STEVENS

I could be mistaken, but I have a strong hunch that more sturgeon have been hooked and lost and hooked and landed the past week than for any like period of time in the past several years. I talked with Hal Miller, skipper of the Phil Ray out of Rodeo yesterday, and was told that he boated four keepers and lost more than that. Hal also reported the boat Sunfish, working the waters near the Petaluma Creek mouth, landed nine of the big fish. Hal had a rewarding day on Thursday, I understand. Landed two sturgeon going 47 and 51 pounds.

Hal Boenner at Lee Anderson's reported that "Bud" Foster took one sturgeon of 40 pounds and one striped bass of 18 pounds.

I BELIEVE IT WAS last Thursday that Hal Miller boated two sturgeon and five stripers weighing between 15 and 20 pounds. All fish, bass as well as sturgeon, were taken on grass shrimp. Miller mentioned that while they were used for bait, no bass were taken on Bullheads.

BUT WHAT I really wanted to do today was to give, for the first time, a good recipe for fixing sturgeon for the table. So, read the following and enjoy a wonderful repast: (This is a dandy way to have a fresh sturgeon steak marinade.) Take a slice of sturgeon two inches thick; let it stand in hot water five minutes; drain, put it in a bowl and add a gill of vinegar, two teaspoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, a saltspoon of black pepper and the juice of half a lemon. Let this stand for about six hours, turning it occasionally. Drain and dry on a napkin; dip in egg; roll in bread crumbs and fry—or really boil—in very hot fat. Now beat up the yolks of two eggs, add a spoonful of French mustard and by degrees, half of the marinade, to make a smooth sauce to serve with the fish.

YOU MAY REMEMBER that just before Christmas I mentioned how the women of Orlando, Fla. had gone in for a course on safe handling, proper care of and the firing of firearms. Well a day or so after that column appeared, John L. Rothrock, chief instructor of a gun safety course conducted by the San Leandro Junior Optimists Club, called to announce that his group of instructors decided to launch a pilot course slanted only for the women in his area. A letter was sent to a large number of women calling attention to the proposed pilot course. The course will extend for 16 hours and the .22 caliber rifles (furnished by the club) will be used. The course embraces the Basic Marksmanship Course taught throughout the United States.

I NOTE in John's letter the expected restricted attendance for the women's course is stated as only 12 to 15 students. If the course proves as popular as did the Orlando course, when an estimated 1,500 women showed up to learn about guns and gun safety, Instructor Rothrock and his fellow instructors will have the unwanted chore of turning away a great many women.

It will be interesting to learn how popular this pilot course will be.

A gun safety course will get under way in several locales this month. I will try to pass along the information for Marin County and other locales in my next.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Small, Fast...Dangerous

(Last in a series on Marin Athletic League basketball prospects.)

By GARY TISCHLER

San Rafael is the type of basketball team you barely notice until after you're on the wrong end of the score.

There are no 6-6, 6-8 or even 6-4 giants wandering around. There is no one single man who will bomb in 30-footers all night.

But the Bulldogs are likely to run you to death, overwhelm you on sheer numbers and press you tighter than a book-marker on "War and Peace."

Although Coach Mike Diaz' charges have been in the doldrums lately, they have amassed a 6-5 record, which is not too bad for a team that was lightly regarded at the start.

Diaz has no stars, just supporting players. But three of the San Rafael cagers are averaging in double figures, with redheaded Chip Tyson topping the list at 12.4, followed by Rich Schau at 11.5 and Mike Donahoo, a part-time starter, at 10.2.

Schau and Roger Widmer will have to be the cogs in Diaz' plans for a full-court press and fast break. They are both smooth ball-handlers tenacious on defense and good shots.

Tyson, at 6-2, plays the pivot along with John Farrar, a 6-3 shot-maker. Donahoo will spot start at forward along with Dave Smith and Paul Leete. Sam Crowell comes in at guard to spot either Schau or Widmer. Smith at 6-3 is the tallest of the lot in a small-sized crew.

Defense, with the exception of the Montgomery game, has been San Rafael's forte so far.

"I think we'll pick up our early season form again once league play starts," Diaz said. "We had a letdown after that tournament, but I think we can get back right where we started from."

That early season form included a surprising 66-49 rout of highly-touted Santa Rosa and a four-game win streak, including three straight victories at the Healdsburg Invitational Tournament which the Bulldogs won with remarkable ease. They took apart the host team in the finals, 80-60, for the tournament trophy.

But right after that they went into a three-game tailspin culminating in a sorry game against Montgomery in which nothing much went right.

"It seems as though everybody has a shot at the title," Diaz said of the Marin County Athletic League race. "I think we have a good chance."

Like their light-weight football counterparts, the short but surprising Bulldogs may do some surprising things during the coming season.

A Closer Look At Super Plane Contract

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards. President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

Despite years of work on how to eliminate the boom that accompanies the smashing of the sound barrier, the problem remains. The supersonic, if it were used on domestic flights, would shake up millions of people and send shivers through hundreds of square miles of landscape.

A question, then, that conservative members of Congress will be asking is whether the nation should commit enormous sums of money to build this craft while also pushing a costly space program and a war in Vietnam.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

Present indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount —a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its take off city at subsonic speed, reaching soundbreaking speed out over the ocean.

If the Boeing supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of an nusiance.

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demands of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Three other nations are involved in building supersonics: the Soviet Union, Britain and France. American companies already have signed contracts to buy the supersonic Concorde, a product of a French-British alliance.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Fit Your Stocks To Personal Needs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My husband is 60 years old and I am 50. We have accumlated $9,000 in cash, own our home and have no debts outstanding. Recently my husband retired and began to draw a good pension. I still work so we don't need this money right now. Are we too old to start investing?"

L.M.

A. Most certainly not. In my opinion, there is never any question of being either too old or too young to invest. Rather, it is a matter of fitting the right type of investment to each person's particular needs. You and your husband are in good financial shape, and I see nothing to prevent you from buying sound stocks where the risks of ownership are fairly low.

There are available a number of strong issues, which offer a moderate yield and have good growth potential. Commonwealth Edison and Corn Products are two such stocks that I like and recommend to you. I would put half my funds into these shares and the balance into a savings account.

Q. "I'm confused. Many people have sold stocks short expecting prices to decline, but I hear that this is in itself a bullish sign. Would you be willing to comment on this?"

J.C.

A. Short selling is a timely subject and I'm glad to comment. Basically, the argument runs like this: Any trader having shorts outstanding must eventually cover his position. Therefore, he is a potential buyer of stocks. Since most short selling is done after a decline is well under way, it follows that the overall short position will usually be largest at or close to market bottoms. As a result, the reservoir of purchasing power builds up at the lower limits of a significant move, and when the outlook brightens — as it always does — the normal upswing will be accelerated by the frantic covering of the bears who waited a little too long.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Anselmo's Cycle Town To Move To Larger Quarters

Moving to larger quarters sometimes this month will be Cycle Town, now at 116 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

Owner William Verbiscio needs more room for his motorbikes, Yamaha, B.S.A., Montesa and Taco Minibikes — for this is a business that has grown just as rapidly in Marin County as elsewhere.

He's moving to San Rafael and getting twice as much space (4,500 square feet), including a separate service department, at 933 Francisco Boulevard, which he has leased through Mock Associates.

This is the building formerly occupied by Marin Surplus. Magic Carpet Co. is moving in here and Verbiscio has taken all the space that's left.

ANOTHER BUSINESS that has recently acquired more area, improved its facilities — but still remains at the same location as before — is the Fairfax Veterinary Clinic at 2084 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Veterinarian Dr. P. J. McDermott has bought the building here and enlarged his quarters for both cats and dogs. And since these two are notoriously noncompatible, even when they have plenty of space, he has separate front doors for each, as well as separate operating rooms and separated convalescent and boarding accommodations.

It must be, too, that either the room service here is very good — or else there is particularly good soundproofing. I don't seem to hear many complaints from the patients from out of the back rooms.

SOMETIME THIS YEAR — possibly this spring — Page Construction Co. in Novato has plans for a sub-contractor's center.

This will be developed at 834 Vallejo Avenue where Page moved last August into a 5,200 square foot building the company had purchased, next to some leased property it also occupied for warehousing.

Proposal is to add a second story of 3,500 square feet and move the construction offices upstairs. The downstairs will then be converted into the "center" where small subs in the Novato area who ordinarily work out of their homes can have desk space, telephone answering service and the use of plans and specifications rooms.

All this in preparation for a surge in building activity which Novato apparently expects to have during 1967.

PBX ANSWERING SERVICE at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael, has been sold by Barbara Evans to Mrs. Alberta Damas, who lives in Sausalito. She has already taken possession of the operation.

The transaction was handled by young Mervyn Attell of Gallagher-Sturiale Realty.

CORRECTION. The San Rafael manager of Morris Plan Co. who was recently elected assistant secretary of the company is Jakob J. Meinders — not John H., as contained in this column last week.

INSURANCE AWARDS. Alfred Weiss of San Rafael received a "Scroll of Generosity" from Hearthstone Insurance Co. of Massachusetts for selling a record number of new policies during a drive to earn a basket of food for a distressed family at Christmas . . . Robert L. Johnson of Larkspur has received Metropolitan Life's designation as a "Metropolitan Millionaire" for 1966.

Market Finishes Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a late rally and closed higher today.

Trading was active in the closing minutes as prices recovered from a slow slide.

The late recovery was said to be mainly technical.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.8 million shares compared with 6.11 million yesterday. Leading issues lost from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The market was irregular at the start then showed a lower trend which showed a consistent although slight loss on average as trading wore on.

Among wider declines, IBM dropped 5, Sprague Electric almost 4 and Continental Airlines nearly 3.

Losses of about two points were shown by some of the airlines, including United, Northwest and National.

Also down about 2 were Raytheon and Collins Radio.

Chrysler held a gain exceeding a point. General Motors was almost a point lower.

Boeing sagged more than a point, virtually wiping out yesterday's gain on news it had been chosen to develop the supersonic air transport.

General Electric was a fractional gainer along with Union Carbide, Du Pont, U.S. Steel, Royal Dutch and Lockheed.

Gulf & Western, down a point, looked like the volume leader.

Off a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, SCM, International Nickel, Pennsylvania Railroad and City Investing.

"I put that away for you."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 4, the fourth day of 1967 with 361 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and the new stage. The morning stars are Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the law of gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed history's first appendectomy. The patient made a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Eliot died at the age of 76.

A Thought for the Day — Poet Carl Sandburg said: "Sometimes an expert is only a damned fool a long way from home."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Year's Resolution Might Be Kindness To The Opponents

There is still time to make a resolution for the New Year: Be generous to your opponents.

Give them a trick they don't expect to win.

Opening lead — ♣ K

If you played this sort of hand last year you ruffed the second club, drew trumps and tried to develop the spades.

East got in with a high spade to lead the queen of diamonds through your king.

The defenders got one club, one spade and two diamonds, defeating your contract.

YOU'RE MODEST

Of course you gloated quietly and modestly about this triumph because the opponents could have made a slam in diamonds or clubs if you hadn't shut them out by bidding four hearts.

This looks very generous, but it is really just an exchange of tricks.

You have given up a club trick instead of a spade. A little string is tied to your gift.

If West leads a trump at the third trick (his best defense), you win, take the ace of spades and ruff a spade.

You lead a trump to dummy's nine to ruff another spade and lead another trump to dummy's ten to ruff still another spade.

By this time dummy's last spade is good. You lead a trump to dummy's ace and throw a diamond on that good spade.

Now you lose only one diamond trick, and you therefore make four hearts.

A good way to start the year.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ J 10 9 6
♥ 4
♦ A 9 8 4
♣ A K 9 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

You have 12 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton, eonugh for an opening bid — particularly since your high-card structure is excellent. With three four-card suits, open with the suit beneath the singleton.

Togetherness Goes All The Way To Hospital

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Togetherness is the word that best describes the families of Barney Cecil and Al Wohlleb.

They first lived side by side in one neighborhood for five years.

The Cecils then bought a lot in a new subdivision and the Wohllebs moved next door.

Later, Wohlleb moved his bakery to a new location and Cecil followed, opening an adjoining real estate office.

Recently, Cecil was hospitalized with a mild heart attack. A short time later Wohlleb showed up for minor surgery.

The hospital placed them in the same room in neighboring beds.

They also had the same doctor.

Libby Resigns His Business Bureau Post

Vernon A. Libby of Fairfax, who last September retired as general manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau but remained as management consultant, has now completely retired from the organization.

Libby, who relinquished his posts of executive vice president and general manager due to ill health, had been with the San Francisco bureau since 1955.

His retirement was announced by David N. Plant, president, who paid tribute to Libby for his 12 years of service to the organization and to the business and professional communities.

Libby, a graduate of Brown University, is vice chairman of the board of managers of the San Francisco Central Branch of the YMCA, a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and for years has been active in the San Francisco Advertising Club, Rotary Club, Golden Gate Breakfast Club, and Press Club.

The Better Business Bureau's new general manager is Charles R. Thurber of Terra Linda.

Christmas Seal X-Ray Unit Makes Debut

OAKLAND (UPI) — A new $70,000 "Christmas Seal Chestmobile," the first of its kind in the nation, went into service here yesterday and will remain at 30th and Broadway for the next two weeks.

The chestmobile is a 40-foot aluminum trailer costing $30,000 and carrying equipment costing $40,000, all paid for by Christmas Seal funds.

Subway Rites Set

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will hold ground-breaking ceremonies Friday morning at 19th and Broadway for the start of subway and underground construction here, mostly beneath Broadway.

Reed Trustees Extend Filing For Vacancy

The deadline for applications for a Reed School District trustee vacancy was extended to Jan. 13 by district board last night. Only one application has been received so far, the board learned.

Trustees found it sad news that a house count survey showed the district does not quite qualify for state school building aid, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington.

Edgington said today if any new school is needed in the near future, a bond issue will be required to finance it. He said a building and finance study committee will meet tomorrow night to discuss the matter.

Trustees talked about the advanced planning budget and decided to add one more bus and increase provisions for operation and maintenance.

Granada School activities were reviewed by Principal John C. Fitch and the school's team leaders. Trustees discussed the inflexibility of personnel in the teaching clusters and expressed the desire to have the curriculum be more "individualized."

Coeds Pleading Cooking Cause

STANFOR D(AP)—A group of coeds contended yesterday that the Stanford University administration was keeping them from learning to cook.

Janice Howell, spokesman for the Women's Committee for Equal Rights, said the university refuses to let women live off campus and that dormitories have inadequate cooking facilities.

Miss Howell said females planned to protest at a day-long rally in conjunction with registration today and not to pay room and board bills until the last possible day, Jan. 17.

Male students at Stanford are allowed to live off campus — which may be part of the trouble.

"My boyfriend is a better cook than I am," said Miss Howell.

Hiker Rescued From Mountain

RENO (AP)—A fallen hiker, pinned on a mountain ledge by a 150-pound boulder, was found by a search party last night.

His rescuers transported Frank Hill, 17, of Reno, from the slopes of Peavine Mountain, northwest of Reno, to Washoe County Medical Center.

Hill's leg was being X-rayed for a possible fracture. Otherwise, his condition was reported as good.

Stray Robot Flies Over Cuban Soil

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An unarmed missile was accidentally fired over Cuba today from a U.S. air base in Florida. The Pentagon, disclosing the accident, said the missile was not armed with explosives and presumably landed harmlessly in the ocean 100 miles south of the Cuba coast at 11:21 a.m. EST.

But officials said an hour after the presumed landing that this had not been verified.

The robot, research missile, one of the oldest types in the U.S. arsenal, was inadvertently fired from Elgin Air Force Base near Valparaiso, Fla., the Pentagon said.

The missile, called the Mace, is 45 feet long and has 23-foot-long wings. It is an air-breather, and thus has been outdated by missiles using liquid and solid fuels which need no air intake.

The Pentagon said the missile was being used in a research test. It took off on an unprogrammed course that would cause an impact about 100 miles south of the southwest coast of Cuba, the announcement said.

Although the Mace is regarded as generally obsolete, the United States still has one squadron of them on Okinawa. They are powered by jet engines. In effect they are robot planes.

Water Directors Order Repairs

The North Marin County Water District board last night authorized three additions to the budget.

These are $600 to dig a ditch and install drainage pipe at the corporation yard, $1,500 for supplemental painting on the Sunset tank, and $100 for repair of an air conditioning intake in the office building.

The board authorized the purchase of a compact Dodge Dart at $2,169 from Nave Garage in Novato, the only bidder.

A Closer Look At Super Plane Contract

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards. President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

Despite years of work on how to eliminate the boom that accompanies the smashing of the sound barrier, the problem remains. The supersonic, if it were used on domestic flights, would shake up millions of people and send shivers through hundreds of square miles of landscape.

A question, then, that conservative members of Congress will be asking is whether the nation should commit enormous sums of money to build this craft while also pushing a costly space program and a war in Vietnam.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

Present indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount —a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its take off city at subsonic speed, reaching sound-breaking speed out over the ocean.

If the Boeing supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of an nusiance.

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demands of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Three other nations are involved in building supersonics: the Soviet Union, Britain and France. American companies already have signed contracts to buy the supersonic Concorde, a product of a French-British alliance.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Fit Your Stocks To Personal Needs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My husband is 60 years old and I am 50. We have accumlated $9,000 in cash, own our home and have no debts outstanding. Recently my husband retired and began to draw a good pension. I still work so we don't need this money right now. Are we too old to start investing?"

L.M.

A. Most certainly not. In my opinion, there is never any question of being either too old or too young to invest. Rather, it is a matter of fitting the right type of investment to each person's particular needs. You and your husband are in good financial shape, and I see nothing to prevent you from buying sound stocks where the risks of ownership are fairly low.

There are available a number of strong issues, which offer a moderate yield and have good growth potential. Commonwealth Edison and Corn Products are two such stocks that I like and recommend to you. I would put half my funds into these shares and the balance into a savings account.

Q. "I'm confused. Many people have sold stocks short expecting prices to decline, but I hear that this is in itself a bullish sign. Would you be willing to comment on this?"

J.C.

A. Short selling is a timely subject and I'm glad to comment. Basically, the argument runs like this: Any trader having shorts outstanding must eventually cover his position. Therefore, he is a potential buyer of stocks. Since most short selling is done after a decline is well under way, it follows that the overall short position will usually be largest at or close to market bottoms. As a result, the reservoir of purchasing power builds up at the lower limits of a significant move, and when the outlook brightens — as it always does — the normal upswing will be accelerated by the frantic covering of the bears who waited a little too long.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Anselmo's Cycle Town To Move To Larger Quarters

Moving to larger quarters sometimes this month will be Cycle Town, now at 116 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

Owner William Verbiscio needs more room for his motorbikes, Yamaha, B.S.A., Montesa and Taco Minibikes — for this is a business that has grown just as rapidly in Marin County as elsewhere.

He's moving to San Rafael and getting twice as much space (4,500 square feet), including a separate service department, at 933 Francisco Boulevard, which he has leased through Mock Associates.

This is the building formerly occupied by Marin Surplus. Magic Carpet Co. is moving in here and Verbiscio has taken all the space that's left.

ANOTHER BUSINESS that has recently acquired more area, improved its facilities — but still remains at the same location as before — is the Fairfax Veterinary Clinic at 2084 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Veterinarian Dr. P. J. McDermott has bought the building here and enlarged his quarters for both cats and dogs. And since these two are notoriously noncompatible, even when they have plenty of space, he has separate front doors for each, as well as separate operating rooms and separated convalescent and boarding accommodations.

It must be, too, that either the room service here is very good — or else there is particularly good soundproofing. I don't seem to hear many complaints from the patients from out of the back rooms.

SOMETIME THIS YEAR — possibly this spring — Page Construction Co. in Novato has plans for a sub-contractor's center.

This will be developed at 834 Vallejo Avenue where Page moved last August into a 5,200 square foot building the company had purchased, next to some leased property it also occupied for warehousing.

Proposal is to add a second story of 3,500 square feet and move the construction offices upstairs. The downstairs will then be converted into the "center" where small subs in the Novato area who ordinarily work out of their homes can have desk space, telephone answering service and the use of plans and specifications rooms.

All this in preparation for a surge in building activity which Novato apparently expects to have during 1967.

PBX ANSWERING SERVICE at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael, has been sold by Barbara Evans to Mrs. Alberta Damas, who lives in Sausalito. She has already taken possession of the operation.

The transaction was handled by young Mervyn Attell of Gallagher-Sturiale Realty.

CORRECTION. The San Rafael manager of Morris Plan Co. who was recently elected assistant secretary of the company is Jakob J. Meinders — not John H., as contained in this column last week.

INSURANCE AWARDS. Alfred Weiss of San Rafael received a "Scroll of Generosity" from Hearthstone Insurance Co. of Massachusetts for selling a record number of new policies during a drive to earn a basket of food for a distressed family at Christmas . . . Robert L. Johnson of Larkspur has received Metropolitan Life's designation as a "Metropolitan Millionaire" for 1966.

Market Finishes Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a late rally and closed higher today.

Trading was active in the closing minutes as prices recovered from a slow slide.

The late recovery was said to be mainly technical.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.8 million shares compared with 6.11 million yesterday. Leading issues lost from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The market was irregular at the start then showed a lower trend which showed a consistent although slight loss on average as trading wore on.

Among wider declines, IBM dropped 5, Sprague Electric almost 4 and Continental Airlines nearly 3.

Losses of about two points were shown by some of the airlines, including United, Northwest and National.

Also down about 2 were Raytheon and Collins Radio.

Chrysler held a gain exceeding a point. General Motors was almost a point lower.

Boeing sagged more than a point, virtually wiping out yesterday's gain on news it had been chosen to develop the supersonic air transport.

General Electric was a fractional gainer along with Union Carbide, Du Pont, U.S. Steel, Royal Dutch and Lockheed.

Gulf & Western, down a point, looked like the volume leader.

Off a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, SCM, International Nickel, Pennsylvania Railroad and City Investing.

Medical Men Torpedo Fallacies About LSD

The alleged "virtues" of LSD (lysergic acid Diethylamide) have been widely publicized.

Some of those who claim to have taken "trips" and studied the effects of LSD would have us belive that it is not only harmless but also helpful. They see no need for restrictions on the use of LSD.

Now comes a member of the Marin Medical Society, who torpedoes some of this nonsense.

Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, writing in the December issue of the Medical Society Bulletin, warns of suicides, automobile accidents and mental aberrations that can be caused by the use of LSD.

How does LSD work and what does it do? The ordinary barrier between the conscious and the unconscious usually present in waking life is extinguished, and, as in a waking dream, all manner of unconscious thoughts, feelings, and memories also flood consciousness. Along with this goes a loss of discrimination between external and internal reality.

"As a result of this," Dr. Gutstadt points out, "the subject fails to be aware that his sensation of flying is only a sensation and that he therefore is not capable of walking out of a third story window into the air, or driving an automobile 30 feet above the highway."

In a guarded understatement, the doctor observes: "There seems to be much more evidence to controvert . . . the claims for the harmlessness of LSD."

For example, the experience of six psychiatrists practicing in Marin County revealed one known suicide, two acute paranoid psychotic episodes requiring hospitalization, and a rough estimate of at least 25 cases of adverse reaction to LSD seen at one hospital in the East Bay.

"The Chief Probation Officer of Marin County informs us that there were four admissions recently in one month to Juvenile Hall of juveniles under the influence of LSD," says Dr. Gutstadt. "There is no question but that these brief statistics do not start to tell the story."

From Los Angeles comes a similar report. Of 70 patients seen at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute in a six-month period for serious LSD reactions, more than half had become psychotic or neurotic or had developed character disorders. Symptoms included hallucinations, severe anxiety and depression, confusion, suicidal tendencies and paranoia.

It is fashionable now to discount the evils of marijuana. Likewise, it is considered "in" among high society, especially the young, to be more than casually acquainted with LSD.

But before you indulge in the latest fashion, it might be well to heed the warnings from responsible medical men on the dangers of LSD.

As you blithely step off a third floor window ledge and "float" through the air, you may be the height of fashion, but only for the brief instant it takes to hit reality—on the sidewalk below.

The Odorous Language Of Insects

The vocabulary of chemical odors used by insects as signals, protection devices and mating lures is believed to be one of the richest in the entire world of life. Man is only beginning to interpret this odd language. When he eventually masters it, it is conceivable that he might be able to tell the aphids, "Run away from this rose bush; it's full of aphid-eating ladybugs," just by dropping a drop of a certain chemical nearby.

Fantastic? Perhaps. The world is full of fantastic ideas come true.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan's Agriculture Choices Show Depth In Top Appointees

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One by one, the posts of state government are being filled by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In filling them, Reagan is carrying out his expressed campaign statements to the effect that he would find men from the ranks of business and industry, well-qualified for the jobs to which they are appointed, to assist him in guiding the state through the next few years.

LATEST IN THE LIST of appointments are the names of Earl Coke, as director of agriculture, and Allan Grant, as president of the State Board of Agriculture.

Coke, 66, is a former assistant secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower administration, and resigns as president of Consolidated Agricultural Industries to become state director.

Grant is president of the State Farm Bureau, and a rancher in Tulare county. Both men have had wide experience in the problems confronting the agricultural industry of California, which, incidentally, is the largest single industry in the state despite the phenomenal growth of other forms of business, industry and manufacturing.

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT was one of the original departments of state government and as such, has maintained its place of importance in the governmental field throughout the years. One of its outstanding directors was the late George Hecke of Woodland, who brought the department to a level of service to agriculturists within the state unequalled in the nation.

Since the beginning of the department, its activities have been marked by co-operation not only with the federal government, but also with other states, and educational institutions in this and the rest of the nation to provide the latest and best information available to the farming community of California.

PROBLEMS ARE nothing new to the department of agriculture and the state board. In fact, that department faces them at all times as a matter of routine. Consequently, when Coke and Grant take over the department, they can expect to be confronted by problems which have been with the state for many years.

But new problems advance with the progress of civilization, the use of automation and with new methods of growing the food that supplies California and a great part of the nation with food and fiber.

For instance, it has been discovered that smog is responsible for heavy losses in agricultural crops. Here is a comparatively new problem upon which the department and other state agencies involved, must work.

AND AGAIN, there is the problem of developing new strains of fruits and vegetables to automated devices for harvesting. Here again, co-operation with other agencies is imperative.

While the department of agriculture has little to do with the farm labor situation, its influence can and is felt through study and recommendation. And farm labor no doubt today is one of the crucial matters in the agricultural industry.

In these key agricultural posts, Coke and Grant have a wide opportunity to work for the advancement of agriculture, and if they accomplish this work, the entire economy of California will benefit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Appreciation From Bay United Crusade

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In 1966, United Bay Area Crusade volunteers raised $14,014,890 for 176 voluntary agencies — an increase of $560,000 over last year.

This job, a vital one to our community, could not have been done without the outstanding support given our campaign by your newspaper. Through your columns, readers were informed of the great need that exists for United Crusade services and were made fully aware of this opportunity to give once for the benefit of all.

We are grateful, both for the generous donations from these citizens and for the fine cooperation of your newspaper.

Speaking for our 50,000 United Crusade volunteers — and for the million Bay Area residents who will be served in the coming year by United Crusade agencies — I say, "Thank you."

Taxpayer Resents Curtailing Carols

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," they say—and the recent Christmas carol fiasco at San Rafael High makes me even more convinced of it.

How, in the name of all that is logical, could anyone ever construe the singing of Christmas carols in the halls by a student choral-group on the day before the start of Xmas vacation as being a form of religious service? Yet that, it would seem from your reporting, is exactly what the school administrators and one of the "higher ups" in the office of the County Counsel did—and the caroling was canceled!

I really don't enjoy controversy and take little pleasure in criticizing the judgment of others—but this seemingly insignificant but, in my judgment, most revealing and important "faux pas" was just a bit too much for me to witness without protest.

Is this the kind of legal and administrative incompetence we can expect from our high-paid local officials? If it is, at least one more indignant and resentful taxpayer has now been added to the already large list of same.

Civil Liberties Union Explains Yule Stand

Editor, Independent-Journal:

My attention has been called to an editorial in the Dec. 24 issue of your paper entitled "Merry Christmas To All — ACLU, Anti-Carolers." It charges that the ACLU is "trying to kick Christ out of Christmas" because it has objected to religious symbols being placed on public property, and it claims that our reasoning would result in eliminating chapels and chaplain service on military bases, as well as religious markers on graves in military cemeteries.

Contrary to what the editorial suggests, the ACLU defends religious freedom and with it the right of Christians to observe Christmas as a religious holiday. At the same time, under the establishment clause of the First Amendment, as well as our State Constitution, we oppose the portrayal of Christmas by religious symbols on public property. After all, the Government is neutral as far as religion is concerned and it should not express a preference for any religion — Mohammedan, Buddhist, Black Muslim, Jewish, Christian, etc.

This does not mean that in State institutions and the military, where inmates and personnel do not have the normal access to churches, the Government may not provide a reasonable means of permitting them to engage in worship and other religious activities as they see fit. Neither do we find any objection to religious grave markers in military cemeteries which are provided as a special benefit to our military personnel.

The Government may not "aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another" by allowing Christmas symbols of a religious nature to be placed on public property. On the other hand, Americans may celebrate Christmas as a religious event in their own homes, churches and, generally, on private property. They may not involve the Government in a religious observance.

"It is proper to take alarm at the first experiment on our liberties," said James Madison in his great Remonstrance against religious assessments. "The freemen of America did not wait till usurped power had strengthened itself by exercise, and entangled the question in precedent. They saw all the consequences in the principle, and they avoided the consequences by denying the principle."

Religious conflict has been and can continue to be avoided in this country by separation of Church and State. That separation should be scrupulously maintained in the interest of true religious freedom.

Highway 101 Is The Big Problem

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I cannot allow your editorial comment to pass without reminding you that the "Aginers" represent the voice of the people, interested people and your readers.

You have taken the opportunity to voice a minority opinion in a fashion that would lead some to believe that the only solution to Marin development is an east-west route.

The east-west route would be a tragedy for it would, necessarily, create a tremendous traffic stream in to Highway 101, which is already congested.

I do not agree that commuters curse each morning while on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Cursing begins when they reach Highway 101.

I believe that the east-west development is a function of the ability of the central corridor communities to take care of their local problems and and that the development of a north–south artery on the western slopes of the Marin Peninsula to the Point Reyes/San Geronimo area is the real solution of the "free-way" problem. Such a route would receive present and future traffic by minimizing the east-west flow and not contributing to the present jam on 101.

Editorially, you should encourage the highway engineers to really look to the future and not limit their studies to the enlargement of present routes through small rural communities.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

NATHANIEL BENCHLEY, the man whose novel forms the basis of that wonderful movie, "The Russians Are Coming," has been doing a little research into the deal by which the Dutch bought the whole of Manhattan along about 1626 for the sum (still considered exorbitant by curmudgeons) of twenty-four dollars—in trinkets and firewater.

The Indians who sold the island did just fine for themselves—because they didn't own it. Peter Minuet's agents made their offer to a passel of Canarsees, in from Long Island to gander the 1626 equivalent of Radio City Music Hall, whereas the real owners were the Weckquaesgeek Indians, centered around what is now Washington Heights and the Bronx, and blissfully unaware until too late that their property was being sold right out from under them.

MANHATTAN
1-4

It turns out that the Canarsees were strictly small-time con men at that. The real sharpies were the Raritan Indians. They sold STATEN Island to the Dutch SIX consecutive times!

WHO FIRST announced "We live in an age of transition?" Chrysler's Lynn Townsend has a shrewd notion that it might have been Adam—as he escorted a downcast Eve out of the Garden of Eden.

THE KIDS in a third-grade class in Fort worth were asked to name the national bird. One answered promptly, "Mrs. Johnson."

Demos May Play It Cautious During Coming Hill Season

By WALTER R. MEARS
(Marlowe is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—There's a slowdown sentiment among Democrats and it could help create a season of caution and reflection on Capital Hill.

Still in congressional command despite a stinging election setback, the Democrats themselves seem worried about the shape of the "Great Society" programs they produced for President Johnson.

ITS MOST explosive expression came Dec. 15, when 18 Democratic governors talked until midnight at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and agreed that the Great Society is moving too fast for the voters' taste.

They blamed anti-administration sentiment for the election returns which gave Republicans 47 new seats in the House, 3 in the Senate and 8 governorships.

"I think the programs are coming too fast, without proper crystallization and organization," said Gov. Otto Kierner of Illinois.

And complaints about the administration of Johnson-launched programs apparently dominated the President's 4½-hour talk with nine of the party's governors at the LBJ Ranch a week ago.

SENATE DEMOCRATIC Leader Mike Mansfield has harshly criticized the governors' political assault on Johnson. But Mansfield, too, is a member of the slowdown school.

He said his words of caution—in a letter to Senate committee chairmen—were not prompted by election day setbacks or by the governors' grumbling.

Mansfield said he had been uging for more than a year that Congress slow down and assess what it has done.

ON JAN. 7, just before the last session convened, Mansfield said Congress probably would face only a limited agenda of presidential requests, "because we passed so much legislation last session.

"It's time to stop, look and listen now," he said then. It didn't turn out that way.

Now Mansfield has offered the same message on the eve of the 90th Congress. He told the committee chairmen it should be a session of "dispassionate restudy" and a thorough, second-look at major domestic programs.

IT IS AGAINST this backdrop, and with a 90th Congress in which Republicans will have the House voting power to influence more significantly the shape and pace of legislation, that President Johnson is working now on his budget and his plans for the year ahead.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Dodd's Financing Is Causing Concerr

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — First order of business facing the Senate Ethics Committee in the impending new congressional session is what to do about investigating the political finances of Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn.

Authority to probe is being Vigorously challenged backstage by Dodd's attorney and several of the six-member committee.

It is contended this phase of Dodd's embattled affairs falls within the jurisdiction of the Senate Rules Committee — which conducted the sensational "Bobby" Baker investigation.

THAT'S FLATLY refuted by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution establishing the committee.

Cooper, a member of that committee as well as the Rules Committee, maintains the Ethics Committee has full authority to probe anything relating to senators, and cites as proof the debate on his resolution. He was asked this specific question by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and answered with an unequivocal affirmative. It was later approved.

While the committee has taken no formal action on this challenge, its staff has been compiling information on Dodd's finances. This was begun in the fall at the direction of Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, with the concurrence of Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, vice chairman.

THIS DATA WILL be available should the committee decide to proceed with the probe.

In that event backstage reports have hinted at possible court action against the committee. There are successful precedents for that. In a notable case years ago, then-Sen. Hugo Black, D-Ala., was blocked by the Supreme Court from poring over files and records he had seized in an investigation.

In the event of a court contest, the Senate's lengthy discussion of Cooper's resolution would be certain to play a key role.

Indicative of that is the emphasis Dodd's attorney put on this debate in his brief to the committee challenging its authority to explore Dodd's political finances. The lawyer repeatedly cites the Senate discussion in support of his position.

THERE IS ample ground for his doing that. A number of senators voiced their misgivings.

Foremost among them were Sen. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill.: Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Labor Rackets Investigating Committee that conducted the sensational probes of Teamster boss Hoffa; Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., member of the Rules Committee and a leading liberal.

Senator McClellan, while stressing he was not against setting up an ethics committee, was sharply critical of the broad scope of Cooper's resolution.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Neil J. Brodsgar was elected president of the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Marin County supervisors adopted a resolution abandoning the county right of way and easement along the roadbed of White's Hill tunnel west of Fairfax, and instructed County Fire Chief Charles Reilley to seal off both entrances to the tunnel.

Martha Smith, assistant superintendent of Marin County Schools, resigned after a 55-year career in the schools of the county.

20 YEARS AGO

William R. and Charles T. Cook opened Cook's Plumbing and Hardware store in San Rafael.

Ground was broken for a $52,000 warehouse and retail stores building for Golden Gate Distributing Co. on West Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Fred Cairns of San Rafael proposed that San Rafael, San Anselmo, Ross, Fairfax, Larkspur and Corte Madera be consolidated into one city.

Libby Resigns His Business Bureau Post

Vernon A. Libby of Fairfax, who last September retired as general manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau but remained as management consultant, has now completely retired from the organization.

Libby, who relinquished his posts of executive vice president and general manager due to ill health, had been with the San Francisco bureau since 1955.

His retirement was announced by David N. Plant, president, who paid tribute to Libby for his 12 years of service to the organization and to the business and professional communities.

Libby, a graduate of Brown University, is vice chairman of the board of managers of the San Francisco Central Branch of the YMCA, a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and for years has been active in the San Francisco Advertising Club, Rotary Club, Golden Gate Breakfast Club, and Press Club.

The Better Business Bureau's new general manager is Charles R. Thurber of Terra Linda.

Christmas Seal X-Ray Unit Makes Debut

OAKLAND (UPI) — A new $70,000 "Christmas Seal Chestmobile," the first of its kind in the nation, went into service here yesterday and will remain at 30th and Broadway for the next two weeks.

The chestmobile is a 40-foot aliminum trailer costing $30,000 and carrying equipment costing $40,000, all paid for by Christmas Seal funds.

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will hold ground-breaking ceremonies Friday morning at 19th and Broadway for the start of subway and underground construction here, mostly beneath Broadway.

Reed Trustees Extend Filing For Vacancy

The deadline for applications for a Reed School District trustee vacancy was extended to Jan. 13 by district board last night. Only one application has been received so far, the board learned.

Trustees found it sad news that a house count survey showed the district does not quite qualify for state school building aid, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington.

Edgington said today if any new school is needed in the near future, a bond issue will be required to finance it. He said a building and finance study committee will meet tomorrow night to discuss the matter.

Trustees talked about the advanced planning budget and decided to add one more bus and increase provisions for operation and maintenance.

Granada School activities were reviewed by Principal John C. Fitch and the school's team leaders. Trustees discussed the inflexibility of personnel in the teaching clusters and expressed the desire to have the curriculum be more "individualized."

Coeds Pleading Cooking Cause

STANFOR D(AP)—A group of coeds contended yesterday that the Stanford University administration was keeping them from learning to cook.

Janice Howell, spokesman for the Women's Committee for Equal Rights, said the university refuses to let women live off campus and that dormitories have inadequate cooking facilities.

Miss Howell said females planned to protest at a day-long rally in conjunction with registration today and not to pay room and board bills until the last possible day, Jan. 17.

Male students at Stanford are allowed to live off campus — which may be part of the trouble.

"My boyfriend is a better cook than I am," said Miss Howell.

Hiker Rescued From Mountain

RENO (AP)—A fallen hiker, pinned on a mountain ledge by a 150-pound boulder, was found by a search party last night.

His rescuers transported Frank Hill, 17, of Reno, from the slopes of Peavine Mountain, northwest of Reno, to Washoe County Medical Center.

Hill's leg was being X-rayed for a possible fracture. Otherwise, his condition was reported as good.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

I-J Article Beats Couple To Their New Saipan Home

The Independent-Journal's circulation blankets a greater area than we realized. When Mr. and Mrs. John G. Cooke of Belvedere arrived in Saipan this fall, the I-J article about their plans was already posted on the bulletin board of John's new office.

Cooke, an architect, was sent to Saipan to assist in site planning and architectural development for docks, hospitals and schools under the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Since nobody claimed the little red plastic telephone found in my desk three months ago, it was given away at Christmas to a child who lives in Hilarita Housing.

IT RODE AROUND on the dashboard in my little red car for a few days and almost looked like a color-keyed telephone that was "for real."

Two mysteries have unraveled this week. I learned at last our office phone does have a similar number to one used by the little old wine merchant around the corner. I pinned down a caller to finally explain why we keep getting orders for cases of wine and complaints that shipments of wine are not arriving on time!

A light has also dawned on why I want to call the I-J's Mill Valley reporter Peter Paulzell instead of Paul Peterzell. The names Peter and Paul have a connotation stemming from a well-known candy bar with coconut in mounded shapes covered with milk chocolate.

The new Main Street Merchants Assn. will have a tough problem to cope with if they plan future community parties at night. The tiny street of shops was warm and colorful and friendly on the Sunday Santa came to town on a boat and rode around on an elephant train.

With the same preparations for parking an policing, the party on the Twelfth Night before Christmas lacked warmth and color.

FOR ONE THING the weather was uncooperatively damp and cold that night. Some residents gathered around the Christmas tree at one end of the street to hear the Salvation Army band and to join in the drawing when it occurred. But Main Street needs different, more emphatic treatment at night.

More lights and decorations and shops open—maybe music at both ends of the street — would do for starters.

Better organization would, I hope, eliminate the unsporting activity of some merchants participating in their own drawing. It seemed unfair to their visitors and was certainly the reverse of good public relations.

ART BUCHWALD

How Would You Have Liked To Said Some Of Following:

WASHINGTON — Many things were said in 1966 that people are now sorry for. How would you like to have been the person who said:

To Adam Clayton Powell? "Look, Adam, don't pay the $167,000 libel judgment. She can't do a thing to you."

To David Merrick? "Listen, David, I have a great idea for a Broadway show. Why don't you take Truman Capote's 'Breakfast at Tiffany's' and make a musical out of it?"

To George Hamilton? "All you have to do is tell the American people why you have to support your mother, and everyone will understand."

TO BILL PALEY, chairman of the board of CBS? "Mr. Paley, the Yankees can't help but win the pennant this year."

To President Lyndon Baines Johnson? "Mr. President, when you get a look at those popularity polls at the end of 1966 you'll be the happiest man in the United States."

To Secretary Robert McNamara? "All we have to do is bomb the Viet Cong supply trails and the North Vietnamese will come crawling to us on their knees."

To Secretary of State Dean Rusk? "I can assure you, Mr. Secretary, De Gaulle would never ask the American troops to leave France."

TO GOV. PAT BROWN? "Pat, the only way to beat Reagan is to smear him with a John Birch label."

To Mayor John Lindsay? "Don't give in to the Transport Workers Union, Mayor. They wouldn't have the guts to strike."

To Mike Cowles of Look magazine? "Are you kidding, Mike? Jackie Kennedy would never sue in a million years."

TO LYNDON Baines Johnson? "As long as the November elections are in the bag for the Democrats, why don't you take a trip to Manila?"

To John Lennon of the Beatles? "Have you ever thought of making some sort of parallel between yourselves and Jesus Christ?"

To Sen. Thomas Dodd? "Why don't you sue Drew Pearson for libel and then see him squirm?"

To the secretary of the Air Force? "Sir, it is absolutely impossible for us to lose a hydrogen bomb from an airplane. I'm a general and I should know."

TO PRESIDENT SUKARNO? "Mr. President, you have no choice but to support the Communists. They're bound to win over the Army, and you'll be stronger than ever."

To Ellis Arnall, the liberal candidate for governor? "If you can't beat Lester MAD-you can't beat Lester Maddox, I'll eat all the fried chicken and ax handles in Georgia."

To John Roche, president of General Motors? "Don't worry about a thing, sir. Our people are tailing Ralph Nader at this very moment, and by the time we get finished with him, he'll be sorry he ever brought up the subject of auto safety."

To Stokely Carmichael? "Once the American people understand what you mean by 'Black Power,' you'll be the most popular Negro in America."

TO A SEVENTH Avenue dress manufacturer? "The American women will never go for short skirts."

To Bobby Kennedy? "Are you going to let J. Edgar Hoover get away with that?"

To J. Edgar Hoover? "Are you going to let Bobby Kennedy get away with what?"

Lynch Foresees Battle On Water

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Lynch says he foresees a legal battle between California and the Pacific Northwest states over surplus Columbia River basin water.

Lynch said yesterday that while the California Water Plan will pump two million acre-feet additional water a year into Southern California, the Los Angeles area soon will need other sources.

He called the fight for water a major California problem.

Lynch's comments came at oath-taking ceremonies in his office. Re-elected, he was the only Democrat voted to a statewide office last November.

Judge Schedules Extortion Trial

Jury trial for Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, charged with three counts of extortion and a fourth of attempted extortion, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of April 3. The trial is expected to take four days.

Mrs. Fritz, of 223 Redwood Drive, Ross, allegedly threatened exposure of intimacies with Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes, Inc., Berkeley. Charge against a codefendant on the attempted extortion count, Henry Jacob Soderlind, 55, of 85 Poplar Avenue, Ross, was dismissed earlier because of insufficient evidence.

Daily X-Ray of an entire county

Each day, the Independent-Journal prints the living history of Marin County . . . the examination of a thousand events, some big, some small . . . but all necessary to keep you well-informed.

We try to be objective in reporting (as a good X-Ray should). We try to show you what happened . . . the who, the why, the when, the where. We give you the clear outlines of events and the shadings that add meaning. Our newsmen, trained to observe, go behind the surface to the facts . . . constantly investigating, questioning, reporting the findings.

They do this in each community in the county . . . and for practically every news event in the community. Civic meetings, sports, a political gathering, an accident, a court trial, a humorous incident . . . so much local news is reported that it's been said, "If it isn't in the I-J, it didn't happen." Which is not too far off the truth, at that.

When you read the I-J, you become a citizen of Marin County . . . aware of events, informed on their meanings. You become a part of the community.

Nothing healthier than that!

WHAT IT TAKES TO "X-RAY" ALL MARIN

- 18 I-J NEWSMEN ALWAYS LOOKING FOR THE "SYMPTOMS" OF NEW EVENTS.
- 4 LOCAL OFFICES, INTER-CONNECTED BY TELETYPE FOR FAST REPORTING.
- 13 TONS OF NEWSPRINT DAILY TO RECORD "WHAT HAPPENED."
- A TOTAL OF FROM 1,500,000 TO 1,850,000 PAGES PRINTED DAILY . . . CARRYING THE MESSAGE TO 41,000 MARIN COUNTY FAMILIES.

Stray Robot Flies Over Cuban Soil

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An unarmed missile was accidentally fired over Cuba today from a U.S. air base in Florida. The Pentagon, disclosing the accident, said the missile was not armed with explosives and presumably landed harmlessly in the ocean 100 miles south of the Cuba coast at 11:21 a.m. EST.

But officials said an hour after the presumed landing that this had not been verified.

The robot, research missile, one of the oldest types in the U.S. arsenal, was inadvertently fired from Elgin Air Force Base near Valparaiso, Fla., the Pentagon said.

The missile, called the Mace, is 45 feet long and has 23-foot-long wings. It is an air-breather, and thus has been outdated by missiles using liquid and solid fuels which need no air intake.

The Pentagon said the missile was being used in a research test. It took off on an unprogrammed course that would cause an impact about 100 miles south of the southwest coast of Cuba, the announcement said.

Although the Mace is regarded as generally obsolete, the United States still has one squadron of them on Okinawa. They are powered by jet engines. In effect they are robot planes.

Water Directors Order Repairs

The North Marin County Water District board last night authorized three additions to the budget.

These are $600 to dig a ditch and install drainage pipe at the corporation yard, $1,500 for supplemental painting on the Sunset tank, and $100 for repair of an air conditioning intake in the office building.

The board authorized the purchase of a compact Dodge Dart at $2,169 from Nave Garage in Novato, the only bidder.

Upper House Decked Out In New Finery

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "So effective ... it's beautiful," a woman tourist exclaimed last last week as she caught her first view of California's ornate Senate chamber.

This week 22 new senators sat down in plush blue leather chairs at antique desks in the gas-lighted upper house.

They saw a room decked out in 19th - century finery, lighted by old-fashioned bulbs and gas jets and shuttered from 20th-century traffic noise and glare. Exclamations have been common among senators as well as visitors.

"They were a little astounded when they came in and saw it," a legislative aide said of the senators' first reaction after the room was redecorated two years ago.

The Senate Rules Committee decided to fix up the room and left much of the detail to Clarence D. Alexander, the committee's executive officer.

"I went to Desilu Studios and asked if they would help me," Alexander said. The studio recommended Robert Hanley, who supervised the $90,000 to $100,000 remodeling.

The result was a red carpet with California's blue and gold state seal woven in. The walls are rose and gold. The old desks, dark polished wood.

Alexander started work in the Capitol in 1948. He said he thought the Senate chamber with its slate gray walls and flourescent lighting "was the most bland - looking Senate I'd ever seen."

"The idea was to try to redecorate the Senate as it was when the Capitol was built 100 years ago," Alexander said.

His research included a trip to Virginia's House of Burgesses and a study of English Parliament, where the House of Lords, the upper house, is decorated in red.

Alexander said he wanted to try to fix up the Senate chamber long ago.

The rules committee decided two years ago to repair the wiring and replace worn carpeting. Alexander saw his chance and the committee approved the idea.

"I found we used pretty bold colors in the old days," Alexander said.

Some Capitol observers report the women's Assembly powder room equals the Senate chamber in luxury. The ladies' room, used last year by lone Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, now has two more eligible users — new Assemblywomen March K. Fong, D-Oakland, and Yvonne W. Braithwaite, D-Los Angeles.

But the red, blue and gold Senate remains open to all—visitors in the gallery and the 40 senators, their aides, guests and newsmen on the floor.

Tamalpais Rocks Subject Of Talk

Suspended Jail Term On Fighting

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday gave Philip Craig Scott, 19, a suspended six months county jail term and placed both Scott and Edward Boon Green, 20, on a year's probation for obstructing sheriff's officers in an April 4 Marin City melee.

He also gave Scott, of 50 Cole Drive, Marin City, a concurrent suspended six months jail term for resisting a sheriff's officer in a June 17 fracas, also in Marin City.

A co-defendant, Daniel J. Hayden, 18, now in the Army in Colorado, still faces a felony assault charge in that matter. Judge Wilson scheduled plea entry by Hayden for Jan. 23.

Scott and Green, 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, were originally charged with felony battery on deputies April 4 after an estimated 100 Marin City youths and some 28 officers tangled during an attempt to arrest James Otis Ames, 17, Marin City, for allegedly chucking a rock at a sheriff's car. Ames' case has been returned to juvenile court.

Both Scott and Green pleaded guilty Nov. 14 to the misdeanor charge of obstructing an officer in his duties.

Scott also had faced a felony complaint in the June 17 incident, but pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor of resisting an officer last Oct. 31.

Crusade Nears Historic Mark

United Bay Area Crusade this month completes its first year of operation on a regional basis, and, according to UBAC President Nils Eklund, "we think our changes have proved themselves."

He noted that the crusade's fall campaign raised $14,014,890, 4.1 per cent more than raised the year before when all five counties in UBAC conducted separate campaigns.

He also said the crusade has been able to "make substantial economies in our operating expenses, reducing staff by combining responsibilities."

Medical Men Torpedo Fallacies About LSD

The alleged "virtues" of LSD (lysergic acid Diethylamide) have been widely publicized.

Some of those who claim to have taken "trips" and studied the effects of LSD would have us belive that it is not only harmless but also helpful. They see no need for restrictions on the use of LSD.

Now comes a member of the Marin Medical Society, who torpedoes some of this nonsense.

Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, writing in the December issue of the Medical Society Bulletin, warns of suicides, automobile accidents and mental aberrations that can be caused by the use of LSD.

How does LSD work and what does it do? The ordinary barrier between the conscious and the unconscious usually present in waking life is extinguished, and, as in a waking dream, all manner of unconscious thoughts, feelings, and memories also flood consciousness. Along with this goes a loss of discrimination between external and internal reality.

"As a result of this," Dr. Gutstadt points out, "the subject fails to be aware that his sensation of flying is only a sensation and that he therefore is not capable of walking out of a third story window into the air, or driving an automobile 30 feet above the highway."

In a guarded understatement, the doctor observes: "There seems to be much more evidence to controvert . . . the claims for the harmlessness of LSD."

For example, the experience of six psychiatrists practicing in Marin County revealed one known suicide, two acute paranoid psychotic episodes requiring hospitalization, and a rough estimate of at least 25 cases of adverse reaction to LSD seen at one hospital in the East Bay.

"The Chief Probation Officer of Marin County informs us that there were four admissions recently in one month to Juvenile Hall of juveniles under the influence of LSD," says Dr. Gutstadt. "There is no question but that these brief statistics do not start to tell the story."

From Los Angeles comes a similar report. Of 70 patients seen at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute in a six-month period for serious LSD reactions, more than half had become psychotic or neurotic or had developed character disorders. Symptoms included hallucinations, severe anxiety and depression, confusion, suicidal tendencies and paranoia.

It is fashionable now to discount the evils of marijuana. Likewise, it is considered "in" among high society, especially the young, to be more than casually acquainted with LSD.

But before you indulge in the latest fashion, it might be well to heed the warnings from responsible medical men on the dangers of LSD.

As you blithely step off a third floor window ledge and "float" through the air, you may be the height of fashion, but only for the brief instant it takes to hit reality—on the sidewalk below.

The Odorous Language Of Insects

The vocabulary of chemical odors used by insects as signals, protection devices and mating lures is believed to be one of the richest in the entire world of life. Man is only beginning to interpret this odd language. When he eventually masters it, it is conceivable that he might be able to tell the aphids, "Run away from this rose bush; it's full of aphid-eating ladybugs," just by dropping a drop of a certain chemical nearby.

Fantastic? Perhaps. The world is full of fantastic ideas come true.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan's Agriculture Choices Show Depth In Top Appointees

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One by one, the posts of state government are being filled by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In filling them, Reagan is carrying out his expressed campaign statements to the effect that he would find men from the ranks of business and industry, well-qualified for the jobs to which they are appointed, to assist him in guiding the state through the next few years.

LATEST IN THE LIST of appointments are the names of Earl Coke, as director of agriculture, and Allan Grant, as president of the State Board of Agriculture.

Coke, 66, is a former assistant secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower administration, and resigns as president of Consolidated Agricultural Industries to become state director.

Grant is president of the State Farm Bureau, and a rancher in Tulare county. Both men have had wide experience in the problems confronting the agricultural industry of California, which, incidentally, is the largest single industry in the state despite the phenomenal growth of other forms of business, industry and manufacturing.

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT was one of the original departments of state government and as such, has maintained its place of importance in the governmental field throughout the years. One of its outstanding directors was the late George Hecke of Woodland, who brought the department to a level of service to agriculturists within the state unequalled in the nation.

Since the beginning of the department, its activities have been marked by co-operation not only with the federal government, but also with other states, and educational institutions in this and the rest of the nation to provide the latest and best information available to the farming community of California.

PROBLEMS ARE nothing new to the department of agriculture and the state board. In fact, that department faces them at all times as a matter of routine. Consequently, when Coke and Grant take over the department, they can expect to be confronted by problems which have been with the state for many years.

But new problems advance with the progress of civilization, the use of automation and with new methods of growing the food that supplies California and a great part of the nation with food and fiber.

For instance, it has been discovered that smog is responsible for heavy losses in agricultural crops. Here is a comparatively new problem upon which the department and other state agencies involved, must work.

AND AGAIN, there is the problem of developing new strains of fruits and vegetables to automated devices for harvesting. Here again, co-operation with other agencies is imperative.

While the department of agriculture has little to do with the farm labor situation, its influence can and is felt through study and recommendation. And farm labor no doubt today is one of the crucial matters in the agricultural industry.

In these key agricultural posts, Coke and Grant have a wide opportunity to work for the advancement of agriculture, and if they accomplish this work, the entire economy of California will benefit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Appreciation From Bay United Crusade

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In 1966, United Bay Area Crusade volunteers raised $14,014,890 for 176 voluntary agencies — an increase of $560,000 over last year.

This job, a vital one to our community, could not have been done without the outstanding support given our campaign by your newspaper. Through your columns, readers were informed of the great need that exists for United Crusade services and were made fully aware of this opportunity to give once for the benefit of all.

We are grateful, both for the generous donations from these citizens and for the fine cooperation of your newspaper.

Speaking for our 50,000 United Crusade volunteers — and for the million Bay Area residents who will be served in the coming year by United Crusade agencies — I say, "Thank you."

Taxpayer Resents Curtailing Carols

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," they say—and the recent Christmas carol fiasco at San Rafael High makes me even more convinced of it.

How, in the name of all that is logical, could anyone ever construe the singing of Christmas carols in the halls by a student choral-group on the day before the start of Xmas vacation as being a form of religious service? Yet that, it would seem from your reporting, is exactly what the school administrators and one of the "higher ups" in the office of the County Counsel did—and the caroling was canceled!

I really don't enjoy controversy and take little pleasure in criticizing the judgment of others—but this seemingly insignificant but, in my judgment, most revealing and important "faux pas" was just a bit too much for me to witness without protest.

Is this the kind of legal and administrative incompetence we can expect from our high-paid local officials? If it is, at least one more indignant and resentful taxpayer has now been added to the already large list of same.

Civil Liberties Union Explains Yule Stand

Editor, Independent-Journal:

My attention has been called to an editorial in the Dec. 24 issue of your paper entitled "Merry Christmas To All — ACLU, Anti-Carolers." It charges that the ACLU is "trying to kick Christ out of Christmas" because it has objected to religious symbols being placed on public property, and it claims that our reasoning would result in eliminating chapels and chaplain service on military bases, as well as religious markers on graves in military cemeteries.

Contrary to what the editorial suggests, the ACLU defends religious freedom and with it the right of Christians to observe Christmas as a religious holiday. At the same time, under the establishment clause of the First Amendment, as well as our State Constitution, we oppose the portrayal of Christmas by religious symbols on public property. After all, the Government is neutral as far as religion is concerned and it should not express a preference for any religion — Mohammedan, Buddhist, Black Muslim, Jewish, Christian, etc.

This does not mean that in State institutions and the military, where inmates and personnel do not have the normal access to churches, the Government may not provide a reasonable means of permitting them to engage in worship and other religious activities as they see fit. Neither do we find any objection to religious grave markers in military cemeteries which are provided as a special benefit to our military personnel.

The Government may not "aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another" by allowing Christmas symbols of a religious nature to be placed on public property. On the other hand, Americans may celebrate Christmas as a religious event in their own homes, churches and, generally, on private property. They may not involve the Government in a religious observance.

"It is proper to take alarm at the first experiment on our liberties," said James Madison in his great Remonstrance against religious assessments. "The freemen of America did not wait till usurped power had strengthened itself by exercise, and entangled the question in precedent. They saw all the consequences in the principle, and they avoided the consequences by denying the principle."

Religious conflict has been and can continue to be avoided in this country by separation of Church and State. That separation should be scrupulously maintained in the interest of true religious freedom.

Highway 101 Is The Big Problem

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I cannot allow your editorial comment to pass without reminding you that the "Aginers" represent the voice of the people, interested people and your readers.

You have taken the opportunity to voice a minority opinion in a fashion that would lead some to believe that the only solution to Marin development is an east-west route.

The east-west route would be a tragedy for it would, necessarily, create a tremendous traffic stream in to Highway 101, which is already congested.

I do not agree that commuters curse each morning while on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Cursing begins when they reach Highway 101.

I believe that the east-west development is a function of the ability of the central corridor communities to take care of their local problems and and that the development of a north--south artery on the western slopes of the Marin Peninsula to the Point Reyes/San Geronimo area is the real solution of the "free-way" problem. Such a route would receive present and future traffic by minimizing the east-west flow and not contributing to the present jam on 101.

Editorially, you should encourage the highway engineers to really look to the future and not limit their studies to the enlargement of present routes through small rural communities.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

NATHANIEL BENCHLEY, the man whose novel forms the basis of that wonderful movie, "The Russians Are Coming," has been doing a little research into the deal by which the Dutch bought the whole of Manhattan along about 1626 for the sum (still considered exorbitant by curmudgeons) of twenty-four dollars—in trinkets and firewater.

The Indians who sold the island did just fine for themselves—because they didn't own it. Peter Minuet's agents made their offer to a passel of Canarsees, in from Long Island to gander the 1626 equivalent of Radio City Music Hall, whereas the real owners were the Weckquaesgeek Indians, centered around what is now Washington Heights and the Bronx, and blissfully unaware until too late that their property was being sold right out from under them.

It turns out that the Canarsees were strictly small-time con men at that. The real sharpies were the Raritan Indians. They sold STATEN Island to the Dutch SIX consecutive times!

Demos May Play It Cautious During Coming Hill Season

By WALTER R. MEARS
(Marlowe is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—There's a slowdown sentiment among Democrats and it could help create a season of caution and reflection on Capital Hill.

Still in congressional command despite a stinging election setback, the Democrats themselves seem worried about the shape of the "Great Society" programs they produced for President Johnson.

ITS MOST explosive expression came Dec. 15, when 18 Democratic governors talked until midnight at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and agreed that the Great Society is moving too fast for the voters' taste.

They blamed anti-administration sentiment for the election returns which gave Republicans 47 new seats in the House, 3 in the Senate and 8 governorships.

"I think the programs are coming too fast, without proper crystallization and organization," said Gov. Otto Kierner of Illinois.

And complaints about the administration of Johnson-launched programs apparently dominated the President's 4½-hour talk with nine of the party's governors at the LBJ Ranch a week ago.

SENATE DEMOCRATIC Leader Mike Mansfield has harshly criticized the governors' political assault on Johnson. But Mansfield, too, is a member of the slowdown school.

He said his words of caution—in a letter to Senate committee chairmen—were not prompted by election day setbacks or by the governors' grumbling.

Mansfield said he had been uging for more than a year that Congress slow down and assess what it has done.

ON JAN. 7, just before the last session convened, Mansfield said Congress probably would face only a limited agenda of presidential requests, "because we passed so much legislation last session.

"It's time to stop, look and listen now," he said then. It didn't turn out that way.

Now Mansfield has offered the same message on the eve of the 90th Congress. He told the committee chairmen it should be a session of "dispassionate restudy" and a thorough, second-look at major domestic programs.

IT IS AGAINST this backdrop, and with a 90th Congress in which Republicans will have the House voting power to influence more significantly the shape and pace of legislation, that President Johnson is working now on his budget and his plans for the year ahead.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Dodd's Financing Is Causing Concerr

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — First order of business facing the Senate Ethics Committee in the impending new congressional session is what to do about investigating the political finances of Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn.

Authority to probe is being Vigorously challenged backstage by Dodd's attorney and several of the six-member committee.

It is contended this phase of Dodd's embattled affairs falls within the jurisdiction of the Senate Rules Committee — which conducted the sensational "Bobby" Baker investigation.

THAT'S FLATLY refuted by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution establishing the committee.

Cooper, a member of that committee as well as the Rules Committee, maintains the Ethics Committee has full authority to probe anything relating to senators, and cites as proof the debate on his resolution. He was asked this specific question by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and answered with an unequivocal affirmative. It was later approved.

While the committee has taken no formal action on this challenge, its staff has been compiling information on Dodd's finances. This was begun in the fall at the direction of Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, with the concurrence of Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, vice chairman.

THIS DATA WILL be available should the committee decide to proceed with the probe.

In that event backstage reports have hinted at possible court action against the committee. There are successful precedents for that. In a notable case years ago, then-Sen. Hugo Black, D-Ala., was blocked by the Supreme Court from poring over files and records he had seized in an investigation.

In the event of a court contest, the Senate's lengthy discussion of Cooper's resolution would be certain to play a key role.

Indicative of that is the emphasis Dodd's attorney put on this debate in his brief to the committee challenging its authority to explore Dodd's political finances. The lawyer repeatedly cites the Senate discussion in support of his position.

THERE IS ample ground for his doing that. A number of senators voiced their misgivings.

Foremost among them were Sen. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill.; Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Labor Rackets Investigating Committee that conducted the sensational probes of Teamster boss Hoffa; Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., member of the Rules Committee and a leading liberal.

Senator McClellan, while stressing he was not against setting up an ethics committee, was sharply critical of the broad scope of Cooper's resolution.

Woman Also Is Released

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong today released two American engineers and a Filipino woman who had pleaded to be captured when guerrillas seized her husband six months ago. The United States announced it would release 48 captured Chinese fishermen.

South Vietnam also was reported ready to free a number of North Vietnamese prisoners of war on Tet, the Asian lunar New Year celebrated in early February. But there was no immediate indication of any link between the operations.

The American civilians freed from more than six months captivity were Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoras, Pa., and Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Brooklyn and Bellport, N.Y.

The Filipino woman was Mrs. Ophelia Baza, the wife of an employee of Air America, a cargo airline supported by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Her husband died in Viet Cong captivity only a week ago.

An American spokesman said the three captives were picked up by a Vietnamese Popular Force company near the village of Xuan Loc in Bien Hoa Province about 40 miles east of Saigon. The spokesman said the trio apparently was "not in too good of a shape." All were hospitalized for examination.

An American spokesman announced plans to release the Chinese fishermen from the Chinese island of Hainan in the Gulf of Tonkin off the south coast of China. They were taken aboard an American destroyer on Dec. 4 but the pickup was kept secret for several weeks.

While the State Department tried to figure out what to do with them the Chinese were fed, given innoculations and clothes. Their junk was repaired and fully outfitted for a sea voyage.

PLANNED RELEASE

It was understood the United States planned to release the Chinese today but that the Peking government had raised certain objections which delayed their release.

The Americans freed today were employees of Pacific Architects and Engineers, an American firm under contract to the government. They disappeared May 27, 1966, en route from Saigon to the southern coastal resort city of Vung Tau, 40 miles south of Saigon. Scales' closest relative was listed as Mrs. Helen Scales of Mataporas and Monahan's as Mrs. Elizabeth Monahan of Bellport.

The Viet Cong had announced plans to release the trio as a New Year's good will gesture.

In other actions U.S. military sources disclosed today that fighter-pilots have been given a go-ahead more actively to pursue Communist MIG jets. Pilots were told they could attack any of the Soviet built planes sent aloft over North Vietnam, but MIG bases themselves remained "off limits."

RULES ON MIGS

"The rules now say we can hit them (the MIGS) the instant their wheels leave the runway," one official said. "So you can look for more of this sort of thing."

U. S. Navy and Air Force pilots flew 80 missions against North Vietnam yesterday, hitting highways, fuel dumps and supply areas, spokesmen said. The raiders also reported damaging or sinking 111 sampans and cargo junks and leaving a North Vietnamese torpedo boat lying dead in the water.

In other parts of South Vietnam, terrorism appeared on the rise. In Saigon last night, and American soldier and a Vietnamese child were killed by a terrorist's grenade. Five other Americans were wounded in the attack near the Ton Son Nhut airbase.

Russ Newsmen Claim Peking Aides Vanish

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three Soviet journalists expelled from Red China said today some Chinese party and government leaders "have disappeared without a trace."

The newsmen told a Moscow news conference the Red Chinese expelled them because of "their fear of facts."

The three Soviets were expelled from China last month on charges of sending out "anti-Chinese slander."

Three other Soviet journalists remain in Peking and three Red Chinese journalists are currently in Moscow.

The expulsions followed a hard-hitting Soviet press campaign detailing the excesses of China's cultural revolution, reporting vividly on mob violence and casualties and poking fun at the adulation present-day China heaps on Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-Tung.

Expelees Yuri Kosyukov, of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, Andrei Krushinsky, of the Young Communist newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, and Girgory Arslanov, of the Soviet news agency Tass, arrived here Dec. 30 claiming the "anti-Chinese slander" charges were groundless.

Today Kosyukov said, "It apparently did not suit the Chinese propagandists that Soviet correspondents, in their dispatches from Peking, stressed the real aims of the cultural revolution."

Kosyukov denied claims the cultural revolution was merely a campaign of criticism. "Not a few prominent Chinese party leaders and statesmen have disappeared without a trace," he said.

Anti-Reds Hoist Flags In Macao

The tiny six-square-mile colony on Red China's doorstep was quiet but apprehensive. Many of its 275,000 people feared the Nationalist flags would lead to rioting between militant Communists and Nationalist Chinese.

Arab Boasts Of China Aid Against Jews

CAIRO (UPI) — Ahmed Shukeiry, leader of the militant Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), said today Communist China had supplied arms and was training PLO recruits for the task of liberating Israel.

He said the PLO's newly formed Revolutionary Council is "taking revolutionary steps to remove all obstacles which stand in the way of our objective." He did not mention Jordan's King Hussein by name but has threatened to overthrow him.

"If any stumbling block or person stands in the way it becomes necessary to brush it aside, remove it, uproot it," he told UPI in an interview.

Reminded of speculation that overthrow of Hussein might lead to an Israeli attempt to move eastward into Jordan Shukeiry said, "we do not fear the Israelis. We do not stand alone. We have with us a whole Arab nation of 100 million people."

"Our militant friendship with China will come to our support," he added. He said recruits for the PLO "liberation army" are now being trained in China and that Peking has supplied light weapons, ammunition, hand grenades, pistols and rifles.

Bad Weather Blocks Dakin Bodies Recovery

High seas and 50-knot winds continued today to hamper efforts to remove from a Baja California beach and identify six bodies, believed to be members of the Dakin family of Belvedere, whose chartered plane disappeared Dec. 20 on a flight from San Diego to La Paz.

Waiting offshore aboard a Mexican Coast Guard cutter was George Millborn, a friend of the missing family, whose positive identification is necessary under Mexican law before the bodies can be removed from that country.

Earlier reports that identification had been made were called premature by Capt. Paul Morse of Western Air Search and Rescue headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base. Morse, in touch by radio with the rescue effort, said two men had reached the desolate beach yesterday and taken photographs, but that Millborn had been unable to make the identification from these.

The pictures were taken by an unidentified U.S. airman who was set down on a primitive landing strip about three miles from the beach by a Mexican Air Force pilot flying a small plane. The two men then made their way on foot through what they said was very rugged terrain.

A U.S. Coast Guard report of their efforts said it had been impossible to identify either the wreckage or the bodies. "There was no part of the aircraft from which identification could be made," said the Coast Guard.

San Diego Deputy Sheriff Robert A. Morse, who first sighted the bodies from a small plane Sunday, insisted, however, that there was "no doubt in my mind" that the bodies were occupants of the missing plane.

The 10 persons aboard the ill-fated Lockheed Lodestar were: Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Dakin of Belvedere and four of their five children, Alexandria, 16; Zachery, 15; Matthew, 5, and Roger, 4 months; Roger Dakin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Y. Dakin of San Francisco, former Belvedere residents, and two crew members from Alameda, pilot Elton C. Stone and co-pilot Dennis Seitz.

Ruby's Brother, Sister Say Dallas Officials Negligent

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jack Ruby's brother and sister charged today that the killer of Lee Harvey Oswald was neglected by Dallas authorities for months before his death Tuesday. (See also story, page 2.)

The sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, broke into tears at the funeral home where Ruby's body lay as she charged "there was plenty of neglect there."

A brother, Earl, of Detroit, told newsmen "Jack was definitely neglected by the police in Dallas. Jack Ruby was throwing up in jail for four months and they neglected him for that time."

The relatives accompanied Ruby's body from Dallas to Chicago, Ruby's native city, early today and detailed plans for a private Friday burial at a noon news conference.

Both said Ruby, 55, died of "mental anguish" over the thought that people believed his killing of Oswald was part of a conspiracy linked to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Chicago police manned an around-the-clock guard at the Original Weinstein and Son Funeral Home on the Northwest Side where Ruby's body lay in a pine crate.

Rumors circulated during the day that the Ruby family might attempt to bury him in secret in order to avoid publicity and sensation. However, Earl Ruby said plans for the funeral would proceed as previously announced.

Bill Proposed As Curb For U.C. Regents

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The first legislative reaction to recent student unrest at the University of California's Berkeley campus appeared in the Assembly today.

Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City, introduced a constitutional amendment that would sharply curtail the power of the UC Board of Regents and give it to the legislature.

The amendment would have to win two-thirds legislative approval before going on the ballot.

The measure would leave it entirely up to the legislature to delegate powers to the board, which now is entrusted by the constitution with guiding the nine-campus system.

It also would cut from 16 to four years the terms of regents appointed by the governor, starting in 1969.

Fight Harder, Says Legionnaire

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The United States must place no restrictions on its military strategy in Vietnam if it wants to ensure victory, the national com mander of the American Legion said yesterday.

"Now that we are committed to this conflict there should be no quarter," he said. "We should not outlaw or place restrictions upon our commanders or prevent the use of any weapon in our national arsenal."

Hanoi May Be Shifting Policy On Negotiations

Premier Discusses Northern Demands

NEW YORK (AP)—Premier Pham Van Dong of Communist North Vietnam says his government's four-point demands, in the Vietnam war are not necessarily conditions for peace talks but rather a "basis of settlement of the Vietnam problem," the New York Times reported from Hanoi today.

The Hanoi premier's statement, in an interview with correspondent Harrison E. Salisbury, raised speculation that North Vietnam had shifted in some measure from a hard-line all-or-nothing stand which blocked the path to a conference table.

Salisbury quoted Premier Dong as saying:

"The big question is to reach a settlement which can be enforced.

FIRST STEP

"The party which has to make the first steps is Washington. We have no doubt on this point. We cannot press history forward. If this does not come about today, it will come about tomorrow. It's no use to make haste. If we show haste, the question will be put wrongly and we will have to wait again. So let the situation ripen."

FOUR POINTS

Hanoi's four-point demands have been these: recognition of the rights of all Vietnamese to peace, independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity; pending peaceful reunification, strict adherence to the terms of the 1954 Geneva agreements which divided Vietnam after the French were expelled; settlement of the internal affairs of South Vietnam by the Vietnamese people "in accordance with the program" of the National Liberation Front which is the Viet Cong's political arm; and reunification without any foreign interference.

THE INTERVIEW

The program of the Liberation Front is virtually identical to the four points. Recognizing the front in advance would just about assure a Communist takeover in the South. It seems a question whether the North Vietnamese premier was hinting that this point now is negotiable.

In the interview, described by the correspondent as a detailed discussion of North Vietnam's views, the premier was represented as emphasizing that once hostilities were brought to a close, it would be possible to "speak of other things."

HINT OF SHIFT

"The moment the United States puts an end to the war, we will respect each other and settle every question. Why don't you think that way?" Dong was quoted as saying.

Some U.S. foficials regarded the premier's remarks as hinting a significant shift in Hanoi's stand on peace talks, although some others said they believed the four-point demands never had been intended as conditions to peace talks.

The premier was quoted as stressing once again that North Vietnam was prepared to fight 10 years or even 20 years or more in what he called its "sacred war."

White House Remains Firm On Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's official spokesman said today he had no evidence to indicate Hanoi would respond on a reciprocal basis to any halt in American bombing of North Vietnam by de-escalating its own military activities.

Bill D. Moyers, Johnson's press secretary, was asked if the United States had any "hard information that a cessation of the bombing would lead to a positive response from Hanoi."

Moyers replied: "We have said before that the question of a cessation of bombing involves reciprocity—that is, a willingness of the North Vietnamese to respond in one way or another to a cessation of the bombing."

Moyers went on to say that he knows of no response from any source that indicates a willingness on the part of North Vietnam to respect the reciprocal aspect of that proposition.

The press aide said the American position has not changed since Johnson, at a news conference last Saturday, said the U.S. government is willing to meet Hanoi "more than half way," in searching for peace. Moyers said the government would hope Hanoi would take a similar position.

Lost Plane's Wreckage Found

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The wreckage of an Avianca Airlines DC3 missing for 11 days with 28 persons aboard was found today in the mountains between Bogota and Pasto. There apparently were no survivors.

The wreckage was spotted near the source of the Cascabel River, a tributary of the Caqueta River, in the extreme southern part of the country. It was found by the pilot of an Aerotaxi plane, a subsidiary of Bianca.

The pilot reported the wreckage was in an accessible area and that a ground search party would reach the scene shortly. Airline officials also planned to land a helicopter at the site to confirm no one survived.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

I-J Article Beats Couple To Their New Saipan Home

The Independent-Journal's circulation blankets a greater area than we realized. When Mr. and Mrs. John G. Cooke of Belvedere arrived in Saipan this fall, the I-J article about their plans was already posted on the bulletin board of John's new office.

Cooke, an architect, was sent to Saipan to assist in site planning and architectural development for docks, hospitals and schools under the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Since nobody claimed the little red plastic telephone found in my desk three months ago, it was given away at Christmas to a child who lives in Hilarita Housing.

IT RODE AROUND on the dashboard in my little red car for a few days and almost looked like a color-keyed telephone that was "for real."

Two mysteries have unraveled this week. I learned at last our office phone does have a similar number to one used by the little old wine merchant around the corner. I pinned down a caller to finally explain why we keep getting orders for cases of wine and complaints that shipments of wine are not arriving on time!

A light has also dawned on why I want to call the I-J's Mill Valley reporter Peter Paulzell instead of Paul Peterzell. The names Peter and Paul have a connotation stemming from a well-known candy bar with coconut in mounded shapes covered with milk chocolate.

The new Main Street Merchants Assn. will have a tough problem to cope with if they plan future community parties at night. The tiny street of shops was warm and colorful and friendly on the Sunday Santa came to town on a boat and rode around on an elephant train.

With the same preparations for parking an policing, the party on the Twelfth Night before Christmas lacked warmth and color.

FOR ONE THING the weather was uncooperatively damp and cold that night. Some residents gathered around the Christmas tree at one end of the street to hear the Salvation Army band and to join in the drawing when it occurred. But Main Street needs different, more emphatic treatment at night.

More lights and decorations and shops open—maybe music at both ends of the street — would do for starters.

Better organization would, I hope, eliminate the unsporting activity of some merchants participating in their own drawing. It seemed unfair to their visitors and was certainly the reverse of good public relations.

ART BUCHWALD

How Would You Have Liked To Said Some Of Following:

WASHINGTON — Many things were said in 1966 that people are now sorry for. How would you like to have been the person who said:

To Adam Clayton Powell? "Look, Adam, don't pay the $167,000 libel judgment. She can't do a thing to you."

To David Merrick? "Listen, David, I have a great idea for a Broadway show. Why don't you take Truman Capote's 'Breakfast at Tiffany's' and make a musical out of it?"

To George Hamilton? "All you have to do is tell the American people why you have to support your mother, and everyone will understand."

TO BILL PALEY, chairman of the board of CBS? "Mr. Paley, the Yankees can't help but win the pennant this year."

To President Lyndon Baines Johnson? "Mr. President, when you get a look at those popularity polls at the end of 1966 you'll be the happiest man in the United States."

To Secretary Robert McNamara? "All we have to do is bomb the Viet Cong supply trails and the North Vietnamese will come crawling to us on their knees."

To Secretary of State Dean Rusk? "I can assure you, Mr. Secretary, De Gaulle would never ask the American troops to leave France."

TO GOV. PAT BROWN? "Pat, the only way to beat Reagan is to smear him with a John Birch label."

To Mayor John Lindsay? "Don't give in to the Transport Workers Union, Mayor. They wouldn't have the guts to strike."

To Mike Cowles of Look magazine? "Are you kidding, Mike? Jackie Kennedy would never sue in a million years."

TO LYNDON Baines Johnson? "As long as the November elections are in the bag for the Democrats, why don't you take a trip to Manila?"

To John Lennon of the Beatles? "Have you ever thought of making some sort of parallel between yourselves and Jesus Christ?"

To Sen. Thomas Dodd? "Why don't you sue Drew Pearson for libel and then see him squirm?"

To the secretary of the Air Force? "Sir, it is absolutely impossible for us to lose a hydrogen bomb from an airplane. I'm a general and I should know."

TO PRESIDENT SUKARNO? "Mr. President, you have no choice but to support the Communists. They're bound to win over the Army, and you'll be stronger than ever."

To Ellis Arnall, the liberal candidate for governor? "If you can't beat Lester MAD-you can't beat Lester Maddox, I'll eat all the fried chicken and ax handles in Georgia."

To John Roche, president of General Motors? "Don't worry about a thing, sir. Our people are tailing Ralph Nader at this very moment, and by the time we get finished with him, he'll be sorry he ever brought up the subject of auto safety."

To Stokely Carmichael? "Once the American people understand what you mean by 'Black Power,' you'll be the most popular Negro in America."

TO A SEVENTH Avenue dress manufacturer? "The American women will never go for short skirts."

To Bobby Kennedy? "Are you going to let J. Edgar Hoover get away with that?"

To J. Edgar Hoover? "Are you going to let Bobby Kennedy get away with what?"

Lynch Foresees Battle On Water

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Lynch says he foresees a legal battle between California and the Pacific Northwest states over surplus Columbia River basin water.

Lynch said yesterday that while the California Water Plan will pump two million acre-feet additional water a year into Southern California, the Los Angeles area soon will need other sources.

He called the fight for water a major California problem.

Lynch's comments came at oath-taking ceremonies in his office. Re-elected, he was the only Democrat voted to a statewide office last November.

Judge Schedules Extortion Trial

Jury trial for Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, charged with three counts of extortion and a fourth of attempted extortion, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of April 3. The trial is expected to take four days.

Mrs. Fritz, of 223 Redwood Drive, Ross, allegedly threatened exposure of intimacies with Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes, Inc., Berkeley. Charge against a codefendant on the attempted extortion count, Henry Jacob Soderlind, 55, of 85 Poplar Avenue, Ross, was dismissed earlier because of insufficient evidence.

Daily X-Ray of an entire county

Each day, the Independent-Journal prints the living history of Marin County . . . the examination of a thousand events, some big, some small . . . but all necessary to keep you well-informed.

We try to be objective in reporting (as a good X-Ray should). We try to show you what happened . . . the who, the why, the when, the where. We give you the clear outlines of events and the shadings that add meaning. Our newsmen, trained to observe, go behind the surface to the facts . . . constantly investigating, questioning, reporting the findings.

They do this in each community in the county . . . and for practically every news event in the community. Civic meetings, sports, a political gathering, an accident, a court trial, a humorous incident . . . so much local news is reported that it's been said, "If it isn't in the I-J, it didn't happen." Which is not too far off the truth, at that.

When you read the I-J, you become a citizen of Marin County . . . aware of events, informed on their meanings. You become a part of the community.

Nothing healthier than that!

Actor Called To Vietnam Duty

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor Glenn Ford, a commander in the U.S. Navy Reserve, has been called to active duty with the Marines and will leave tomorrow for a special assignment in Vietnam.

Ford

A Marine Corps spokesman would not divulge the nature of Ford's assignment, but said it would last "approximately 30 days."

He said Ford would report to the commanding general, 3rd Amphibious Force, Vietnam. The 50-year-old actor took the assignment voluntarily, he added, and would be able to tour Vietnam on a flexible schedule and visit any area he chooses.

Ford, who was married to actress Kathryn Hays, 32, last March, enlisted in the Marine Corps on Dec. 13, 1942.

Madrid Police Hunt Assassin

MADRID (AP)—Spanish police searched today for two gunmen who assissinated Mohamed Khider, Algerian political exile accused of absconding with $11 million from the treasury of Algeria's ruling National Liberation party.

The 53-year-old former secretary-general and treasurer of the FLN—Algerian National Liberation Front—was riddled with bullets as he left his Madrid apartment house last night with his wife and brother-in-law.

Khider

Police believed the dispute over the missing FLN funds triggered the slaying of the former nationalist leader, a key figure in his country's revolt against French rule.

Independence leader Ahmed Ben Bella, who was overthrown as Algerian premier in 1965, had accused Khider in 1964 of making off with the $11 million and putting it in Swiss banks.

Khider counter-charged that Ben Bella took the money, but in an interview after Ben Bella's overthrow as much as admitted that he had taken it.

25th Amendment Nearing Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The new 25th amendment—to cover emergencies arising when a President is unable to handle the duties of his office—should be written into the constitution within a few weeks.

A total of 31 states already have ratified the amendment, which was passed by Congress in July, 1965. Seven more states will bring the number to 38, three-fourths of all states, the number needed to make it a part of the constitution.

Fifteen of the state legislatures that have not yet acted on the amendment are convening this month. Since it has not run into any serious opposition so far, it appears to face a smooth ride once the legislatures are cranked into motion.

Strong Earthquake Recorded In Greece

PATRAS, Greece (AP) — A strong 10-second earthquake rocked parts of central Greece and the Peloponensus peninsula this morning. First police reports said seven persons were injured.

Reports from 10 villages and towns in the region north and south of Patras said more than 200 houses collapsed or were damaged. A second tremor of moderate strength came an hour later.

Cemetery Marijuana

JALISCO, Mexico (UPI) — Federal agents found a flourishing marijuana plantation in the Jalisco Municipal Cemetery yesterday.

All Paintings Recovered In Big Art Theft

LONDON (AP) — The $7 million worth of paintings stolen from the Dulwich College Gallery have all been recovered, police said today.

The eight paintings included three Rembrandts, three by Rubens and one each by Gerard Dou and Adam Elsheimer.

One of the Rembrandts was the "Girl at a Window," said to be worth $2.8 million. All the Rembrandts and Rubens were world famous.

STOLEN FRIDAY

Scotland Yard, announcing that the paintings had been recovered, said they were identified by the curator of the gallery.

The paintings were stolen Friday night from the college art gallery, the oldest public gallery in Britain.

It was the biggest art theft in history.

Police said they recovered Rembrandt's "Girl at a Window" and his portrait of his son Titus as well as the "Three Graces" by Rubens on Monday night. The other five paintings were found last night.

All the paintings were recovered in London. Officials said some were damaged but the damage was comparatively slight.

SEVERAL QUESTIONED

The announcement of the recovery did not say how the paintings were traced or whether anyone had been arrested.

Scotland Yard announced earlier that several persons were being questioned.

The Yard did not announce the recovery of the first three paintings for fear the thieves might destroy the others.

A hoard of other stolen property and some weapons was found with some of the paintings.

Scotland Yard said inquiries were continuing in an attempt to establish the identity of the art thieves.

The thieves removed a panel from a seldom-used door in the Dulwich Gallery, and one of them was small enough to slip through it. He apparently handed the paintings out to his confederates. Those on canvas were removed from their frames and those on wood panels were lifted off their racks.

Damage At Nursery

More than $100 damage was inflicted on plants and merchandise sometime during the weekend at Egger's Nursery, 234 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, police reported yesterday. Vandals overturned 75 plants, sprayed yellow paint on pots and plants, mutilated 18 plants, and ripped open 65 bags of peat moss, police said.

Ruby To Be Buried Friday In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Ruby, who grew up on Chicago's tough West Side, returned home in death today after gaining international notoriety as the slayer of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin. He will be buried beside his parents.

The plane carrying Ruby's body landed at O'Hare International Airport shortly after midnight after a flight from Dallas, where he died yesterday at Parkland Memorial Hospital—the same hospital in which Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died.

His death from a blood clot in the lungs forever clouded the international doubts surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy. Until the end, Ruby insisted he acted alone in fatally shooting Oswald.

Ruby, 55, had extensive cancer, but Dr. Earl Rose, the Dallas County medical examiner, said it was a massive blood clot that would probably have killed him even if he had not been weakened by cancer. Rose said, however, that cancer would be listed on the death certificate as a contributing cause.

Rose, who performed an autopsy, said the blood clot apparently formed in Ruby's leg Tuesday morning and traveled through the heart to the lungs.

Ruby's coffin was taken from the plane as soon as the doors were opened. Twenty policemen quickly placed it in a hearse for the drive to a North Side funeral home.

Ruby's brother, Earl Ruby of Detroit, and two sisters, Eileen Kaminsky of Chicago and Eva Grant of Dallas, accompanied the body on the plane.

They appeared composed as they walked quickly and silently past a waiting crowd of some 50 newsmen.

Hershey Weinstein, president of the Original Weinstein & Sons Chapel, said services and burial would be held Friday morning.

Weinstein said that only Ruby's parents were buried in the large family plot in Westlawn Cemetery.

Auto Industry Talks Shutdowns On Safety Plans

DETROIT (UPI)—The four major U.S. car makers warned yesterday the auto industry faces possible shutdowns if all of the proposed federal safety standards are put into effect for 1968 models.

The next move in the car safety campaign is up to the National Traffic Safety Agency which will study the reports from the auto makers and issue final standards.

Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. told Dr. William Haddon, administrator of the safety agency, that they cannot possibly meet five of the 23 proposed standards.

Chrysler Corp. said it would be unable to comply with 10 and American Motors listed eight standards which the company will be unable to meet.

HUMAN WEAPON SAYS PRAYER SAVED HIM

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Pvt. Ramon Escalera, the Marine who had a live rifle grenade removed from his throat, says he credits prayer with helping to bring him through his ordeal in Vietnam.

Escalera is being treated at San Diego Naval Hospital for wounds suffered in a battle near Da Nang Dec. 20.

Escalera, 20, of Los Angeles, was helped by two hospital corpsmen after being hit in the throat and the leg.

"I just lay there choking and tried to keep breathing. I thought I wouldn't make it. I thought I would choke to death. But the corpsman told me to pray to God and I did," he said.

Escalera said he waited about four hours before an evacuation helicopter removed him to a hospital in Da Nang, where the grenade was removed. He said he didn't know at the time he was carrying a live explosive in his throat.

Train Accidents Claim One Life

DAVIS (AP) — Two separate Southern Pacific train accidents in Northern California killed one man and 18 cattle yesterday, highway officers reported.

Noel H. Hawthorne, 58, Sacramento, was killed when his car and a switching train collided at a rural Rocklin crossing, police said. Visibility was described as good.

At a fog - enveloped crossing near Dixon, south of Davis, a freight train and a cattle truck collided, killing some cattle but leaving the truck driver, George Wells 40, Dixon, uninjured.

Upper House Decked Out In New Finery

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "So effective ... it's beautiful," a woman tourist exclaimed last last week as she caught her first view of California's ornate Senate chamber.

This week 22 new senators sat down in plush blue leather chairs at antique desks in the gas-lighted upper house.

They saw a room decked out in 19th - century finery, lighted by old-fashioned bulbs and gas jets and shuttered from 20th-century traffic noise and glare. Exclamations have been common among senators as well as visitors.

"They were a little astounded when they came in and saw it," a legislative aide said of the senators' first reaction after the room was redecorated two years ago.

The Senate Rules Committee decided to fix up the room and left much of the detail to Clarence D. Alexander, the committee's executive officer.

"I went to Desilu Studios and asked if they would help me," Alexander said. The studio recommended Robert Hanley, who supervised the $90,000 to $100,000 remodeling.

The result was a red carpet with California's blue and gold state seal woven in. The walls are rose and gold. The old desks, dark polished wood.

Alexander started work in the Capitol in 1948. He said he thought the Senate chamber with its slate gray walls and flourescent lighting "was the most bland - looking Senate I'd ever seen."

"The idea was to try to redecorate the Senate as it was when the Capitol was built 100 years ago," Alexander said.

His research included a trip to Virginia's House of Burgesses and a study of English Parliament, where the House of Lords, the upper house, is decorated in red.

Alexander said he wanted to try to fix up the Senate chamber long ago.

The rules committee decided two years ago to repair the wiring and replace worn carpeting. Alexander saw his chance and the committee approved the idea.

"I found we used pretty bold colors in the old days," Alexander said.

Some Capitol observers report the women's Assembly powder room equals the Senate chamber in luxury. The ladies' room, used last year by lone Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, now has two more eligible users — new Assemblywomen March K. Fong, D-Oakland, and Yvonne W. Braithwaite, D-Los Angeles.

But the red, blue and gold Senate remains open to all—visitors in the gallery and the 40 senators, their aides, guests and newsmen on the floor.

Suspended Jail Term On Fighting

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday gave Philip Craig Scott, 19, a suspended six months county jail term and placed both Scott and Edward Boon Green, 20, on a year's probation for obstructing sheriff's officers in an April 4 Marin City melee.

He also gave Scott, of 50 Cole Drive, Marin City, a concurrent suspended six months jail term for resisting a sheriff's officer in a June 17 fracas, also in Marin City.

A co-defendant, Daniel J. Hayden, 18, now in the Army in Colorado, still faces a felony assault charge in that matter. Judge Wilson scheduled plea entry by Hayden for Jan. 23.

Scott and Green, 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, were originally charged with felony battery on deputies April 4 after an estimated 100 Marin City youths and some 28 officers tangled during an attempt to arrest James Otis Ames, 17, Marin City, for allegedly chucking a rock at a sheriff's car. Ames' case has been returned to juvenile court.

Both Scott and Green pleaded guilty Nov. 14 to the misdeanor charge of obstructing an officer in his duties.

Scott also had faced a felony complaint in the June 17 incident, but pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor of resisting an officer last Oct. 31.

Crusade Nears Historic Mark

United Bay Area Crusade this month completes its first year of operation on a regional basis, and, according to UBAC President Nils Eklund, "we think our changes have proved themselves."

He noted that the crusade's fall campaign raised $14,014,890, 4.1 per cent more than raised the year before when all five counties in UBAC conducted separate campaigns.

He also said the crusade has been able to "make substantial economies in our operating expenses, reducing staff by combining responsibilities."

Federal Rent Subsidy Plan Proposed To Marin Agency

A federally assisted program to lease 300 housing units scattered throughout Marin County for low-income residents was recommended yesterday to the county housing authority by E. M. Schaffran, San Francisco housing consultant.

The housing authority would lease units from private owners for up to five years and guarantee payment of rent. The units would be rented to low-income families and older persons who would pay a portion of the rent. The federal government would make up the difference.

No action was taken on the recommendation because commissioners George C. Goheen and Herman J. Hale were absent.

Commissioners also switched the housing authority's seven maintenance men from construction to maintenance wage rates set by Laborers' Union Local 291, director Donald O. Stutsman reported. He said the change in job classification will cut wages received by three of the men by 15 to 48.5 cents an hour, but will increase those of three men by 17.5 to 30 cents an hour.

The union has protested the change in the past, but did not appear at last night's meeting, Stutsman said.

Commissioners took no action on a letter from H. Joe Edgington, superintendent of Reed School District, indicating the district would like to buy the 15.5-acre Hilarita housing project property. The site has been appraised at $250,000 to $275,000, Stutsman said.

Commissioners approved plans by Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, for 28 units of low-cost housing in Homestead Valley. The plans were submitted for approval to the federal government and county planning department.

Election of new officers was deferred to Feb. 7.

Houlihan Goes To Prison For Estate Theft

OAKLAND (UPI) — Former Oakland Mayor John C. Houlihan today was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison for embezzlement of $95,799.

The sentence was passed by Superior Judge Redmond C. Staats after Houlihan, 55, had completed 90 days of confinement at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

At Vacaville, Houlihan was given a psychiatric study ordered by the judge to help him in determining the proper penalty.

The judge received a 14-page report from Vacaville's associate superintendent J. W. Neiswonger, which recommended against giving Houlihan probation.

Houlihan pleaded guilty to taking the money from the estate of Mrs. Sarilla Whitlock, widow of Safeway Stores executive, while he was administrator. Mrs. Lillian Searle of 731 Del Mar Avenue, Novato, one of Whitlock's sisters, was among the heirs of the estate.

Staats said Houlihan, an attorney, had taken sums from other estates over a period of 10 years, and later replaced the money.

Houlihan became mayor, a part-time job paying $7,500 a year, in 1961, and resigned last year in the middle of his term, saying he wasn't making enough.

He gained national publicity when Oakland refused to permit a massive parade protesting U.S. policy in Vietnam and put a wall of police at its border to keep demonstrators from entering the city from Berkeley. The parade was later held by order of a U.S. District Court.

The 40 residents in Muir Beach continued to boil their tap water today as Marin County health officials tested the water for further bacteria.

A high bacteria content was discovered in the community's well water last Tuesday, and residents were urged to boil their water before consumption to prevent nausea.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said tests run daily on the water have shown a continued high bacteria content. The cause of the bacteria is not known.

Livesay, of Petaluma, was found guilty by a jury Nov. 9 of committing the acts with children aged 7 to 9 last July in San Anselmo. He also was found guilty of a fourth count of committing an unnatural sexual act

Manzanita Appraisal Is Ordered

County Redevelopment Agency commissioners last night authorized Director Donald O. Stutsman to have Development Research Corp. of San Francisco appraise the Manzanita community center site.

The site is to be sold to Marin City Community Services District, which plans to renovate the center.

Commissioners budgeted $1,200 for the appraisal, which is to be done within 30 days.

Commissioners agreed to allow California Development Co. to sell 13 lots on Braun Court to private developers, but stipulated that the company could not make a profit on the sales since the redevelopment agency had helped finance the cost of improvements. Stutsman estimated selling price of the lots, averaging 10,000 square feet, at $4,500.

Election of new officers was deferred because chairman George C. Goheen and Commissioner Herman J. Hale were absent.

However, a Federal Bureau of Investigation check disclosed she was not the person whose body was found.

Mayor Blasts Utility Firm On Power Pole

The high cost of eliminating a single utility pole in front of Sausalito's handsome new corporation yard drew a blast from Mayor Mel Wax last night at Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s "complete disdain for any aesthetic values."

Max's attack came after a report by City Engineer Norman Wohlshlaeger that the utility company had estimated cost of undergrounding lines now strung from the pole at $3,175. Eventual addition of three-phase power to serve heavy-duty electric motors at the yard would cost up to $700 more if utilities were underground, he added. Cost of a "streamlined" pole was estimated at $800, Wohlshlaeger reported, plus up to $800 more to add three-phase power later because streamlined poles cannot carry the heavy power.

PG&E has shared the cost of undergrounding and streamlining in some other cities, said Wohlshlaeger, but Robert Figone, district representative for North Bay Division of the company, said sharing was "up to management."

"If you sat down for a year," Wax declared, "you couldn't find a worse possible location for a pole."

Requesting City Mgr. George W. Patterson to ask PG&E to share the cost of removing the pole, Wax remarked that the company "is beginning to get a little sensitive about that fact that they're destroying California."

Between the ages of one to 37 years, more people die from accidents than natural causes.

Sausalito Sets March Bond Election For New Library

Sausailto City Council last night voted unanimously to hold an election March 14 on authorizing a $250,000 bond issue to finance a new library on the city-owned sand spit northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

Total cost of the library, including furnishings, architect Aaron Green's fee, landscaping, and a 10 per cent contingeny fund, is estimated at $424,732.

A special council meeting will be held sometime next week to approve an application for state and federal grants to cover one-third of the cost. The city has $80,000 accumulated in the library fund. Deadline for the aplication is Jan. 15.

Councilmen urged citizens to attend the organizational meeting of a citizens' committee to promote the bond tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Campbell Hall, Santa Rosa and San Carlos avenues.

City Mgr. George W. Patterson was asked to prepare an argument for the bond measure to be mailed voters with sample ballots. Deadline for submission to the city clerk of arguments for and against the measure is Jan. 27.

The council agreed to review Patterson's argument at its next meeting, Jan. 17, but suggested the citizens' committee also prepare an argument. Only one argument up to 300 words on each side of the issue may be used.

Applications for absentee ballots will be available at city hall from Feb. 6 to 28.

Green's preliminary plan for the library is for an airy wood and glass structure in a park, with a low, angled silhouette to conserve views of the bay from Bridgeway.

About half of the site is leased by the city to Madden and Lewis until 2002, but City Atty. Leland H. Jordan is negotiating to reacquire the property, sub-leased to Mac-Marin, operator of the Spinnaker Restaurant.

Sausalito City Council also:

1. Set up a hearing Jan. 17 on an appeal by the Trident Restaurant from Community Appearances Advisory Board's denial of a proposed double-faced sign.
2. Deferred to Jan. 17 dedication to the city of the Glad Hand Restaurant property in exchange for a lease to the restaurant of city property east of the present site, the exchange required for widening of Bridgeway.
3. Set for hearing Jan. 17 amendment of the zoning ordinance to provide for payments in lieu of required off-street parking
4. Heard Supt. of Public Works Norman Wohlschlaeger report an open house will be held late in February at the new corporation yard.
5. Confirmed Wax's reappointment of George C. Hoffman to the planning commission. No action was taken on the expiring term of Mrs. Richard Phillips.
6. Continued to Jan. 17 action on requirements for off-street parking to convert the Gate Theater to shops and a restaurant.
7. Accepted for maintenance subdivision improvements on subdivision improvements on Mead Terrace.

Officers Will Be Installed Saturday

New officers of Marin Chapter, American Assn. of Retired Persons, will be installed at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at First-Methodist Church of San Rafael.

New officers are Mrs. Eleanor Jones of Fairfax, president; Mrs. Nettie Shaver of Santa Venetia, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Weber of Fairfax, secretary, and Clara-Belle Hamilton of Corte Madera, treasurer.

CUPID SHOOTS DOWN LAW

Ens. Manuel R. Lopez of West Hyattsville, Md., and the former Sally Smayling of Wichita, Kans., were honeymooning today after squeezing through a very small loophole in Maryland's law against caucasians marrying "persons of Negro descent to the third generation" or "members of the Malay race." Lopez' father, a Filipino who is a Washington lawyer, persuaded Maryland authorities that his son's second-generation Malay blood did not fall under the ban. Lopez is home on leave from Vietnam duty. Corte Madera Town Council Rejects Architect For Park

The Corte Madera Town Council last night turned thumbs down on the town park and recreation commission's request that a landscape architect be hired to plan a wilderness park in Mariner Highlands.

The 10 acres, in two parcels, dedicated to the town by San Clemente Land Co., developer of Mariner Highlands, is for the most part steeply sloping land with limited access except from private property, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told the council.

"I think our immediate responsibility is to complete development of the town Park," Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said.

"All the parks and recreation commission is asking for is an architect to draw up a long-range plan," Councilman Holmes S. Norville said. "We would have plenty of time to implement it."

"That kind of plan costs a sizable chunk of dough by itself," Mayor Edward W. Colthurst noted. "We haven't even decided whether we want to use it as a park or leave it as it is."

"The limitations of the area are rather compelling," Usher commented. He suggested the town staff could more economically see what can be done with the property.

Pendleton's motion to deny the commission's request passed 3-to-1, Norville opposing. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff arrived late.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Approved plans for a flood control dike extending from the railroad tracks to a ponding area next to the bay. The dike will be seven feet high, 50 feet from the ends of Echo Avenue and Harbor Drive, and will have a road on top.
2. Approved annexation to Corte Madera of a parcel containing the tidegate at the end of High Canal, and an area on Williams Avenue, both now in Larkspur.
3. Appointed Henry I. Fox of 5461 Paradise Drive, Mrs. Richard B. Fiscus of 274 Sausalito Street, and J. H. Southerland of 230 Chapman Drive to the park and recreation Commission.
4. Postponed an appointment to the planning commission to the next council meeting.
5. Set a special dinner meeting of the council, department heads and elected and appointed town commissioners for Jan. 31 at 6:30 p.m. at Bob's of Marin.
6. Authorized Usher to attend a League of California Cities meeting in Palo Alto Feb. 8-10.
7. Authorized Arthur N. Morrison, director of public works, to attend a League of California Cities meeting Jan. 28 at Santa Rosa.

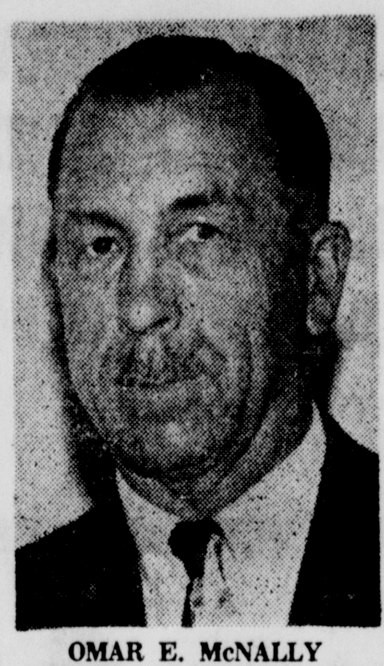
School Recorder Found By Boys

Two Novato boys found a tape recorder, valued at $150, belonging to Rancho School, in Arroyo Vichi yesterday, Novato police reported.

John Michael Szostak, 13, of 12 Plaza Demira and Glenn Allen Trice, 11, of 15 Plaza Demira, showed the recorder to police, who surmised from its condition that it must have been there for some time.

Rex Rolle, principal at Rancho School, said it was on of two in the school but that he did not know when it was taken.

Housing Authority's Dean Ready To Retire



OMAR E. McNALLY
"Twenty years long enough"

Omar E. McNally, veteran of more than 20 years on the Marin County Housing Authority, last nigh resigned from both the housing authority and county redevelopment agency.

"After more than 20 years, it is time I retired and gave someone younger a chance," said McNally, 68. He retired three years ago after 26 years as business representative for District Lodge 95 of the International Assn. of Machinists.

His resignation will be effective Jan. 26, when his term on the housing authority expries. He served on the authority since September, 1946, and on the redevelopment agency since April, 1956. His term on the redevelopment agency was to run until April, 1968.

Known as "Mr. Housing Authority," he was chairman 11 times, and served longer than any other commissioner. The housing authority was created in 1942.

He resides at 1407 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Talks To Resume

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiations in the two month old electricians strike against major San Francisco, Portland and Seattle shipyards will be resumed at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Fourth Aide Quits College For East Bay

A fourth College of Marin official is leaving the college to take a job with the Fremont-Newark Junior College District in Alameda County.

The Marin Junior College District board of trutees will consider the resignation of Ward Blanchard, head librarian, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room G3 of the physical education complex.

Blanchard asked to resign as of Feb. 1, to become director of libraries at the East Bay College. His contract with the Marin Junior College District runs through June.

Acting President Irwin P. Diamond said he understood Blanchard had been offered three or four thousand dollars a year more than his $12,283 a year salary at College of Marin.

Stephen E Epler resigned as president of College of Marin last June to become president of Fremont-Newark; James Duke resigned as director of planning in September to become vice president under Epler, and William Collins, administrative assistant in charge of government projects, resigned in November to take a similar position at the East Bay college.

Diamond said he will recommend to the board that Blanchard's resgnation be accepted.

Diamond will also recommend that the college building at 139 Kent Avenue, used for business offices, be vacated and razed immediately. He said a structural survey report on the building last week showed it is unsafe for use and beyond repair.

He said the report also showed repairs needed in a building at 20 Laurel Avenue, but the repairs can be made by college employees.

The board will not have a dinner meeting preceding the regular meeting, as was the practice during the Fall. Diamond said the two-hour dinner meetings were making board meetings too long, so they are being discontinued.

The board will consider purchase of a fourth parcel for the north campus for $158,000. The district has already purchased three of six parcels planned for the 300-acre campus.

Two courses proposed for the prison college project at San Quentin, a course in sociology offered in the fall semester and a new course in United States history, will be considered.

The board may award a contract for the 1967-68 college catalogue. Bids were taken today at 3 p.m.

Bagley Authors Skeleton Bill To End Spoils Setup

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a bill in the state Assembly that would abolish the inheritance tax appraiser system.

Bagley said he submitted a get it in early." The bill will be amended within a week or two to fill in the details, Bagley said. "We've already drafted 35 pages of amendments, but we didn't have time to review all the technical aspects."

Under present law, the state controller appoints the more than 150 inheritance tax appraisers in the state.

New Controller Houston I. Flournoy promised during the campaign that he would abolish the system. Assemblyman Bagley, a longtime foe of this "spoils system," has been working with Controller Flournoy to devise a new method, which is basically a self-appraisal system.

Bagley said that he, and Assemblymen Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, and Don Mulford, R-Oakland, are the main authors of the bill, but the authorship includes "the total leadership of both parties in the Assembly "including Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles.

Haiti, discovered by Columbus in 1492, is the only French-speaking republic in the Americas,according to the 1965 World Almanac.

Leake Presents Revenue Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Paul R. Leake, new chairman of the state Board of Equalization says California revenue agencies should be placed under the board's jurisdiction.

Leake said yesterday he would give his "wholehearted support" to Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to streamline state government, reduce expenditures and eliminate waste

But he said Reagan's proposal to create a single revenue agency with a director appointed by the governor would "restrict the power of the people."

"The consolidation of tax agencies could be accomplished under the state board without cumbersome constitutional changes," Leake said. "It merely takes legislative action."

SELF-SERVICE POST OFFICE FOR CORTE MADERA

Work began yesterday on erecting a $15,000 experimental self-service automated post office in the Corte Madera Shopping Center. The post office, with no attendant but with telephonic connection to the main Corte Madera Post Office, will dispense stamps and money orders and have slots for mailing letters and packages. It is scheduled to go into operation Jan. 14.

Supervisors In Favor Of Services Merger

Marin County supervisors yesterday favored merger of the city-county services committee with the Local Agency Formation Commission, but delayed taking a stand on the proposal.

Wanted first were the views of the commission and the committee and the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The proposal to merge the groups was made two weeks ago by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows reported yesterday that merger would be possible and that Local Agency Formation Commissions in other counties already were taking on some of the duties that have been performed in Marin by the City-county services committee.

The committee was formed two years ago with two supervisors and two city councilmen as members, to study means of increasing tax equity and improving services. Among the committee's recommendations was a structural fire tax for property owners in unincorporated areas. This shifted some of the burden of support for the county fire department from city to rural taxpayers.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

1. Adopted covenants designed to keep the residential density of 3.5 homes per acre and the land uses proposed in Marincello. With the agreement is deed to the county by Gulf Oil Corp. and Frouge Corp, of 100 square feet on Wolfback Ridge. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said this county ownership will give the county a stronger position in forcing compliance with the covenants.

2. Learned that S. J. Hugh Allen and Thomas C. Nelson do not wish reappointment to the board of trustees of the Marin County Law Library.

3. Approved an additional $1,088 per month for the cost of the county's janitorial contract. The increase was needed due to an escalation clause in wages paid by the contractor.

4. Approved transfers from reserve of $3,000 to cover cost of psychopathic examinations ordered by the courts and $1,299 to cover conflict of interest defenses for indigents accused of crime. The public defender is not allowed to defend more than one defendant in a case.

5. Delayed for four weeks further debate on the Bolinas Lagoon Master Plan prepared by the Bolinas Harbor District, to allow the district staff and county planning staff time to work up cost figures on further studies.

6. Set over until next Tuesday the appeal of Signal Oil Co. from planning commission denial of a permit for a service station at Pinehill Road and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley.

7. Hired Kathleen J. Bailey and Hiroko Uratsu as intermediate clerk-typists in the elections department at $362 a month; Perry J. Valconesi as fire warden at $562 a month; Eugene R. Fontaine as assistant coroner at $753 a month; Janet G. Golden as intermediate clerk in the welfare department at $362 a month, and Morris L. Peltz as part-time psychiatrist in Community Mental Health Services at $800 a month.

8. Promoted James B. Soetaert from director of field service in the probation department at $1,111 a month to director of probation services at $1,166, effective Feb. 1.

9. Agreed to drop further study of the proposal to put a covered walk and bicycle lane on top of the Coyote Creek Canal, after County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported the cost would run from $119,000 to $211,000. Joe Allen of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club had asked study of a covered channel from Ross Drive to Ash Street.

10. Adopted a resolution which would provide space in a county building for the Marin Independent Insurance Agents Assn. to process claims in the event of a major catastrophe in the county.

11. Authorized payment of $75 to Charles Frederick of San Francisco to cover the loss of his gold watch, used as evidence in the Donald G. Corbett murder case.

12. Approved a $700 a month lease with St. Francis Episcopal Church, Novato, for space for the county's second child care center.

13. Adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

Sharp temperature rises are associated with the areas of the sun where solar flares occur.

Reagan Aides Say Tax Hike Is Expected

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Some of the top men in the Reagan administration indicated today taxes must go up this year to balance the budget and finance local property tax reductions.

They made their comments following a meeting in Reagan's office late yesterday on California's fiscal crisis.

Reagan and his top aides also discussed the possibility of charging tuition at the University of California and the state colleges, but made no decisions.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said "as far as I feel, to face up to the budget problem and provide for substantial property tax relief, you can't avoid increasing state taxes."

Flournoy, who was at the meeting, said he wasn't speaking for the administration.

But Reagan's finance director, Gordon P. Smith, did speak for the governor when he said "there is a probability" of higher taxes to offset a $473 million deficit he predicted for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said additional state taxes would be used for another reason — funneling money to local governments to offset revenue losses from property tax reductions and reforms promised by Reagan.

The new administration concentrated on money problems as the 1967 legislature went into its third day. Some of the propoals supported by Reagan are already before the lawmakers. Among them are repeal of the state open housing law and tightening of antipornography statutes.

The state has enough money to run its operations during the present year, Smith said.

New taxes, Smith said, will be imposed "as a last resort." Asked if he would say there would be no new taxes, he said "I wish I could say yes, but I just can't say it."

Tuberculosis Tests Slated For Children

Tuberculosis skin tests will be offered to children of Lagunitas School on Feb. 27, the Lagunitas School District Board agreed last night.

The board set that date for the Marin County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. to test all children whose parents approve, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff.

The board also adopted a policy describing the new vice principal position, held by Harry Roche.

According to the policy, the vice principal is in charge of student affairs and student discipline, as well as any other duties assigned by the superintendent.

Lagunitas School District Board also:

1. Declared Jan. 27 a local holiday to allow teachers to attend the Marin County Teachers Institute.

2. Adopted resolution changing precinct numbers listed in the resolution, previously adopted, which set Feb. 14 as date for the district's bond and state loan election.

3. Heard a report that a staff committee is considering ways of inserting a merit rating system into the district salary schedule. Last year's salary schedule included provision for a $500 merit bonus.

Trustee Leslie Stone was absent.

Hospital Strike Hearings Put Off

OAKLAND (AP) — Alameda County officials and the hospital workers' union, unable to end a strike at two public hospitals, have put off further hearings until Jan. 10.

Meanwhile, Highland Hospital in Oakland and Fairmont Hospital in San Leandro continue to hire replacements for 350 members of the AFL-CIO East Bay Municipal Employees Union Local 390.

Tiburon Planners Select New Zoning For Railroad

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in Tiburon will be placed in the interim zone, if the city council accepts the planning commission's recommendation of last night. The property has been in residential and agricultural zones.

The commission decided to have a sign ordinance rewritten in simpler form. Commissioners Peter MacGowan and Joseph C. Marshall will work with planning administrator Phil V. Scott on the new ordinance.

A tree ordinance was recommended to the council as appropriate for regulating trees on undeveloped property.

Discussion of a motel definition for the zoning ordinance was postponed to Feb. 6.

Commissioner MacGowan reported he is working on criteria for the selection of park site names by the city.

New member of the commission, Donald J. O'Leary, was sworn in by City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose. Chairman Stephen N. Nash appointed O'Leary to serve on the Board of Adjustments.

Celebrating the new year is as old as mankind. The Babylonians and Egyptians whooped it up; so did the Romans and Greeks in celebrations surprisingly similar to those of today.

Entertainer Faces Ouster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Topless entertainer Yvonne D'Angers may save herself from deportation for a couple of more years.

Her attorney and a federal judge agreed informally on that point yesterday after the judge officially refused to grant the 44-21-36 Miss D'Angers an injunction against deportation.

They said that she might appeal to the U.S. Immigration Service. And once that channel is closed, there is the possibility of a Supreme Court appearance.

Judge Oliver J. Carter of U.S. District Court ordered from the bench, however, that Miss D'Angers, 22, leave the country by Jan. 5 or be thrown out.

Weird Accident Kills Motorist On Freeway

ATASCADERO (AP) — A motorist was fatally injured early today when his car struck another parked in the roadway without lights, throwing him onto the pavement where he was hit by a third travelling the wrong way, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Jose Saucedo, 36, of Soquel, was pronounced dead at a hospital. His passenger, Raymond Haunte, 35, Watsonville, suffered major injuries.

The CHP said Saucedo was northbound on Highway 101 a mile south of here when, in the darkness, his car hit one standing in the northbound lane with two men sitting in it. The CHP said they were Lonnie Thomas, 33, the driver, and his brother, Sherman, 37, both of Grover City.

Saucedo's car spun around and overturned. The CHP said that as he lay on the pavement he and his car were hit by a car going south in the northbound lane, driven by Thomas Casselberry, 21, Berkeley.

The Thomas brothers and Casselberry suffered minor injuries.

White ostrich feathers that used to be used for trimming hats came from the male bird's wing or tail.

Generous Store Owner Is Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Aronian, 67, owner of a liquor-delicatessen store, was known for his generosity.

"When he made you a sandwich, he always put something extra on it," said a youth who patronized the place.

"He'd charge a quarter and then give you about 20 cents change."

Yesterday, a robber shot and killed him for his wallet and the money in his cash register.

Patient Care Study Headed By Dr. Marsh

Dr. Earle M. Marsh of Mill Valley was appointed yesterday to head parallel programs, at the University of California School of Medicine and Franklin Hospital in San Francisco, aimed at improving patient care by closer work between physicians and para-medical personnel.

George D. Monardo of Mill Valley, executive vice president at Franklin Hospital, announced the appointment of Dr. Marsh as the hospital's vice president for medical and community relations. At the school, he will be consultant for allied health professions to the dean and the chancellor.

Dr. Marsh is now assistant clinical professor of gynecology and obstetrics at University of California and head of the Franklin Hospital department of gynecology.

Papers Move To Queen's Aid

LONDON (AP) — Three London newspapers today urged Parliament to repeal George III's royal marriage law so Queen Elizabeth II won't have to decide whether her first cousin can marry the mother of his illegitimate son.

The Royal Marriages Act of 1772 was denounced on all sides as a museum piece of royal spite. It was brought to public attention again by the Earl of Harewood's announcement Monday that he is being divorced for adultery and wants to marry a former model who bore him a son two and one-half years ago.

The 43-year-old earl is 18th in line of succession to the throne. His 40-year-old wife is expected to bring her divorce petition before the courts next month.

Girl Blamed In $70 Service Station Theft

A cash box containing $70 was stolen last evening from Mill Valley Shell Service, 77 East Blithedale Avenue, police reported.

William Schraps, attendant at the gas station, said an unidentified girl, about 16 years old, was seen running down Forrest Street with the box. She wore a blue coat and light pants and had long, dark hair.

A Tasting Of Seafood, Wine

A new kind of party blending the delicate tastes of seafood and wine has come into vogue in the city across the bridge. Combinations of seafood and wine are grouped on separate tables so guests can move from one to the other, tasting and savoring en route. Two outstanding delicacies among seafood recipes are Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip. These are nicely complimented with pinot chardonnay and vin rose for an attractive and tempting buffet offered against the Telegraph Hill Skyline.

Independent Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
FOOD PAGE
SECOND SECTION Wed., Jan. 4, 1967 13

GRILLED LOBSTER TAILS
(Serves 4)

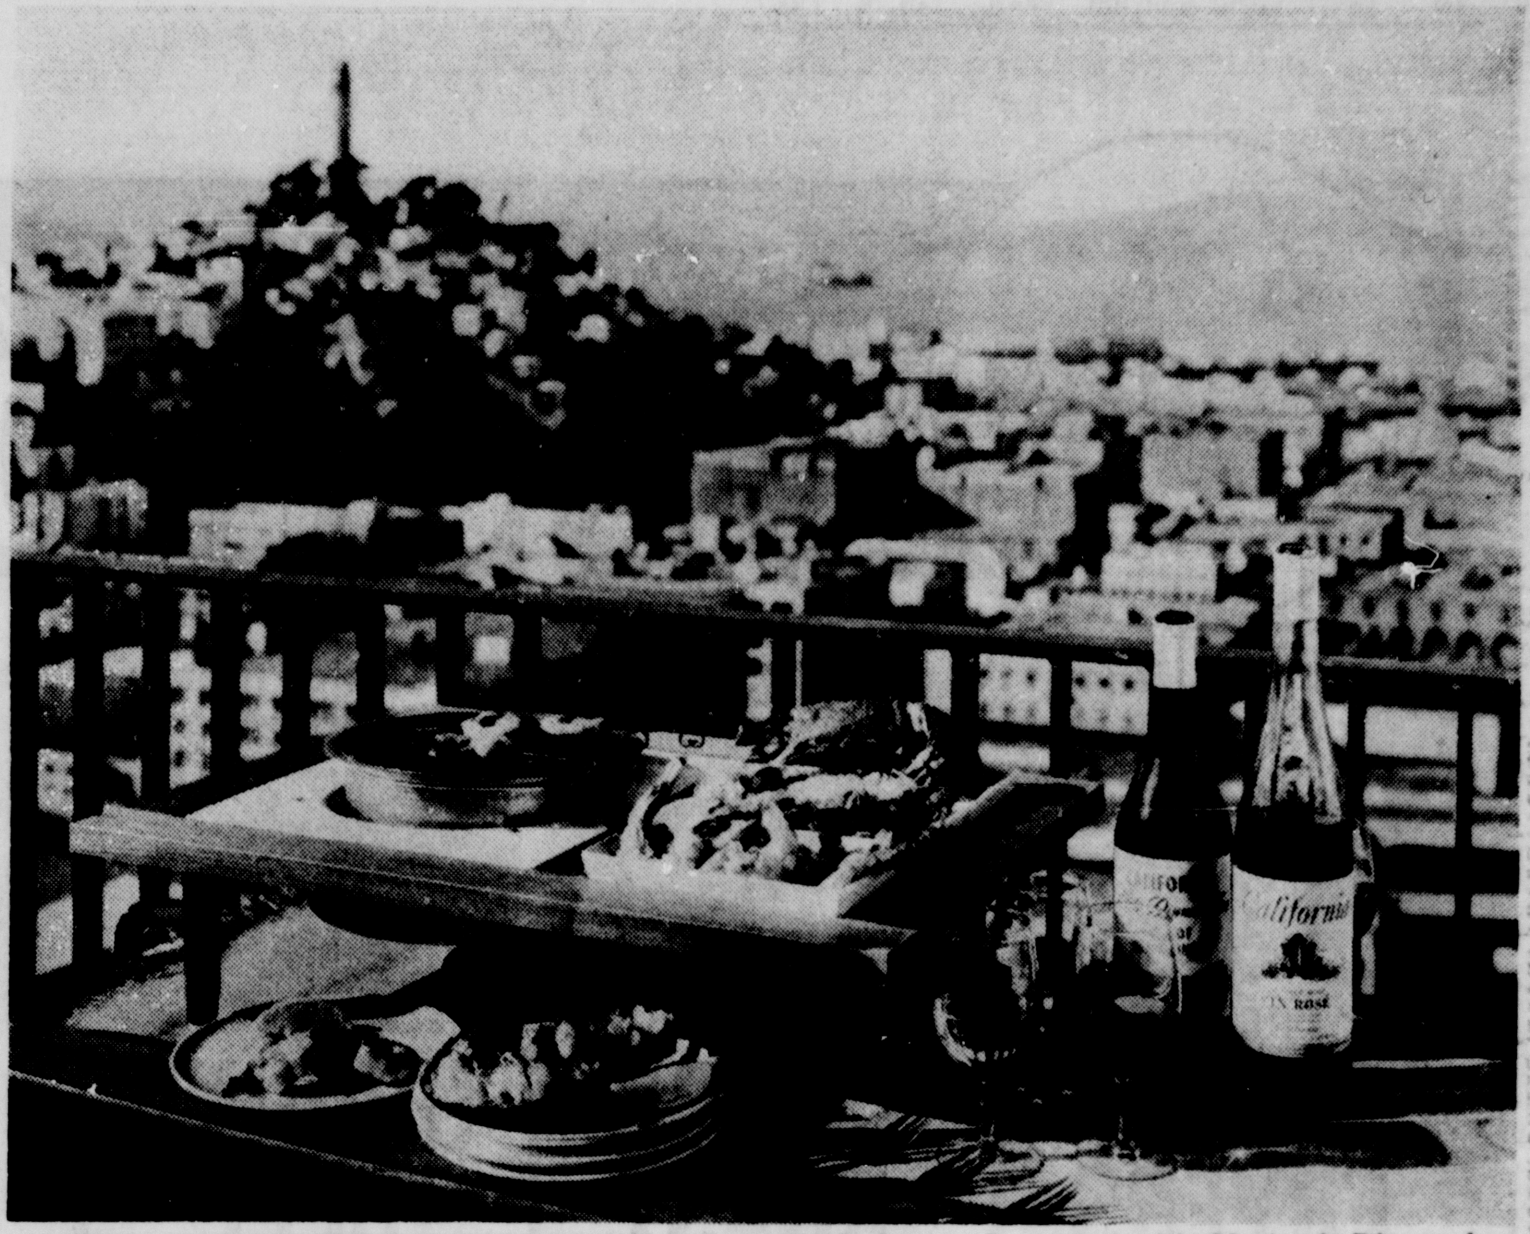
- 8 rock lobster tails (frozen)
- 1/3 cup melted butter
- 1/4 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt

Thaw tails. Cut away and remove underside membrane. Bend tails back far enough to crack so they won't curl while cooking. Place lobster tails on broiler pan, shell side up. Broil 4 or 5 inches from heat for 3 minutes. Turn and brush meat liberally with mixture of butter, wine and seasoning. Continue broiling until meat is tender and looks opaque, about 3 or 4 minutes longer. Brush again with any remaining butter mixture. Serve 2 tails for each person, when served as the main course.

MAINADE-DIP FOR PRAWNS
(Makes about 1½ cups)

- 1 cup Rose or white dinner wine
- 1/3 cup catsup
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 2 pounds large shrimp, shelled and deveined

Combine wine, catsup, oil, soy sauce and mustard until well blended. Pour ½ cup over shrimp, stir to mix marinade with shellfish. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour. Broil or grill over coals. Use remaining wine marinade for dipping sauce.



COMPLIMENTING THE TEGEGRAPH Hill skyline is this balcony buffet of Grilled Lobster Tails and skewered prawns with Marinade-Dip to be savored with pinot chardonnay and vin rose.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST comes from the Dutch oven with rich and spicy aroma. This economical cut of meat can be served with red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and thin slices of fruit cake.

Bavarian Pot Roast—A Winter Treat

Real Sauerbraten taste takes hours — even days — to perfect. This Bavarian Pot Roast has much of that good German flavor but doesn't demand so many time-consuming steps.

One of the most thrifty and flavorful cuts of beef, a chuck roast, is used for this German-style meat. An important ''instant'' seasoner-sauce enhances the whole — canned tomato sauce with mushrooms. Other ingredients are ginger, allspice, cloves, red wine, vinegar, onion, sugar and bay leaf.

With Bavarian Pot Roast serve red cabbage and onion, hot potato salad and fruit cake. Wonderfully fragrant cooking to come home to on a cold winter's evening.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST

- 3 lb. lean, boneless chuck roast
- ¼ cup flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon alspice
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
- 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce with mushrooms
- ¾ cup water
- ½ cup red wine
- ¼ cup cider vinegar
- 2 onions, sliced
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 bay leaf

Coat roast with flour mixed with seasonings. Brown well on both sides in pure vegetable oil in Dutch oven; remove excess fat. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; simmer 2½ hours or until tender. Remove roast to platter and thicken liquid for gravy. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pinata Pie A Mexican Surprise

PINATA CHEESE AND CHILI PIE

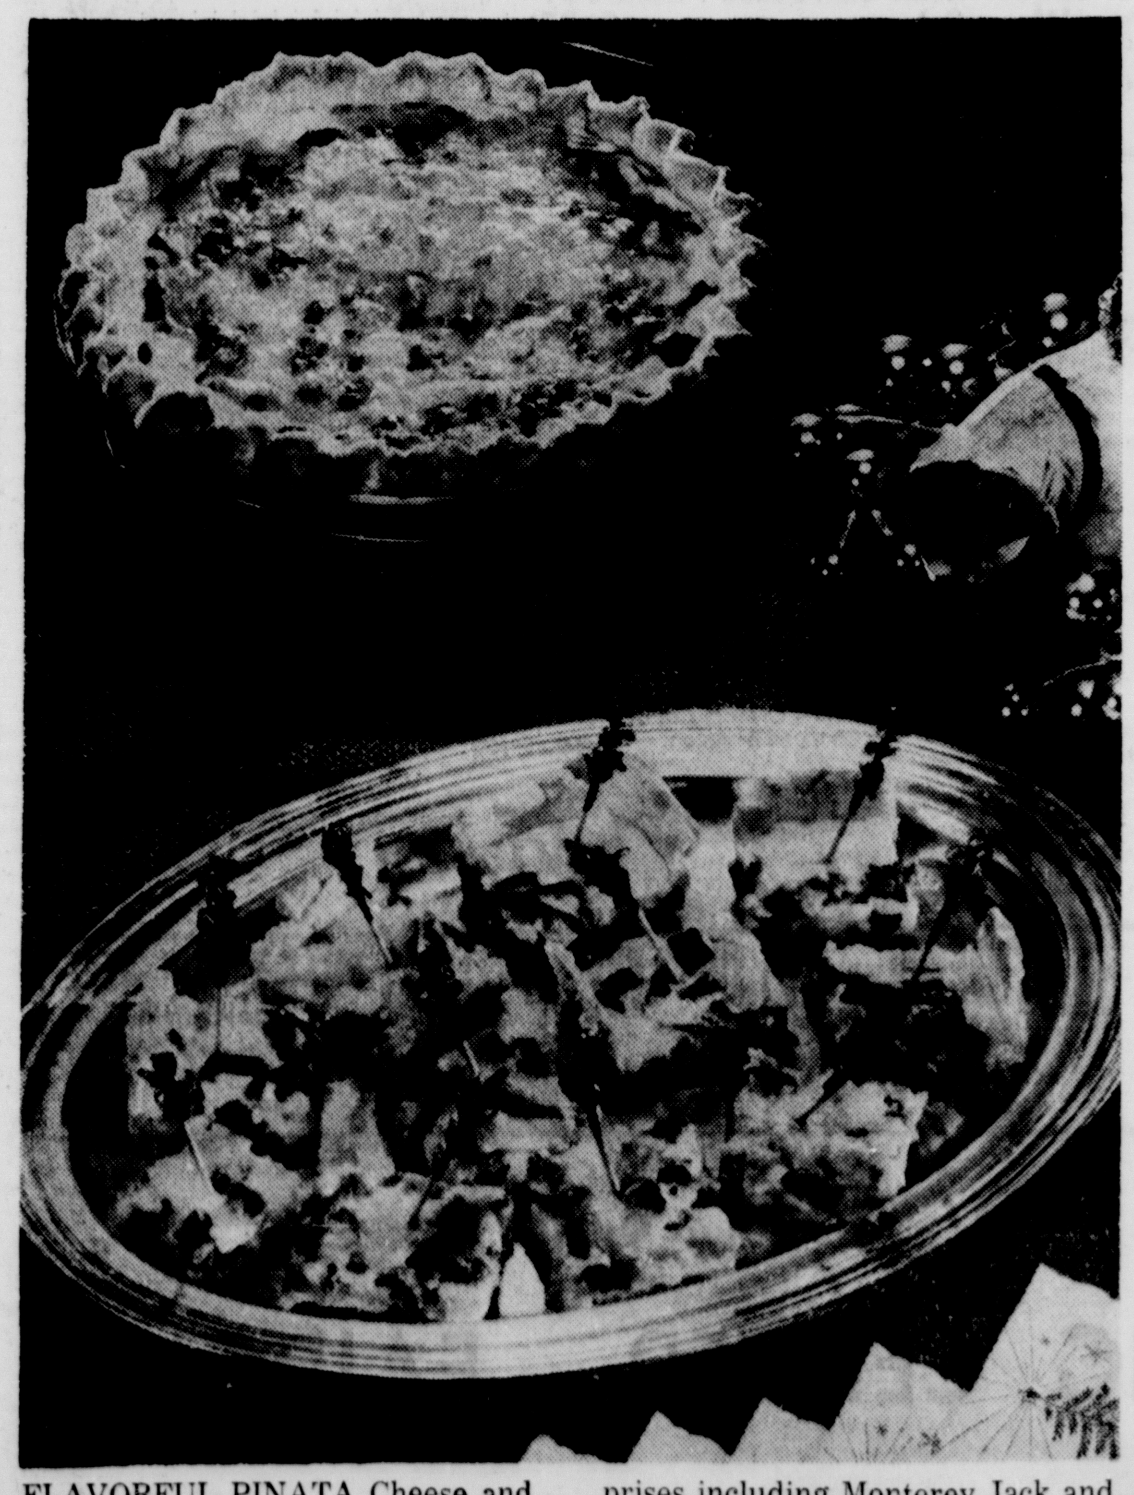
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1½ cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 cup grated medium or sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 can (4-ounces) green chilies, seeded and chopped
- 1 jar (2-ounces) diced pimientos
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup (½ pint) half and half
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Cut butter into flour and salt until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Mix in beaten egg with a fork until mixture holds together. With hands, shape into a ball. Roll out dough on lightly floured board. Fit into 9 or 10 inch pie pan. Flute rim. Chill while preparing filling ingredients.

Sprinkle all of Monterey Jack cheese and half the Cheddar cheese over prepared pie crust. Distribute chilies and pimiento over cheese. Beat eggs until frothy; add half and half and salt. Pour into pie crust, sprinkle with remaining Cheddar cheese. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 35 to 40 minutes longer or until center of pie is set. Allow pie to cool 10 to 15 minutes before cutting.

PINATA CANAPES

For 32 bite-size servings double all ingredients in above recipe. Fit double recipe of pie crust into 10 x 15 x 1 inch jelly roll pan (it is easier to roll out dough in two sections and pat together in the pan). Prepare filling and proceed as above. Bake in hot, 400 degree, oven 10 minutes, reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake 25 to 30 minutes or until set. Cool before cutting into pieces.



FLAVORFUL PINATA Cheese and Chili Pie is filled with pleasant surprises including Monterey Jack and Cheddar cheese and green chilies and pimientos.

Butter 'N Chocolate Bars

Designers Preview The 1967 Fashionables

Future Of Fashion Seen By Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it appears today that apparel may disappear mini-inch by mini-inch, designers still think fashion is here to stay for another decade or so.

Then what kind of styles will there be? More or less fabric? The prophetic viewpoint depends upon the couturier you ask.

In the eyes of Emilio Pucci, lord of tight silk pants and gaudy prints, homes will be sparsely furnished.

"The decor of house will be women's clothes," he says, "we will use clothes as art."

On the other hand, one of Lady Bird Johnson's favorite designers, Adele Simpson, is not so sure that the female species will be as esthetically attired as all that.

"We're approaching such a great scientific era that clothes will have relative unimportance," she says, in the same breath concluding that she of all designing people should not be saying such things. "I suspect we'll all be wearing some sort of insulated underwear and will be tying or snapping things onto this."

AND YET DESIGNERS agree about these things:

Chemical fibers as yet undiscovered will determine the kind of garments we will wear.

Costumes will generate their own heat, or will encourage the body to produce the exact healthful body temperatures needed.

The old way of stitching pieces of anything together will lose out to fusions, pressure, glues, or designs created whole or molded or knitted to form.

"The end has come to cutting a beautiful fabric into innumerable pieces and taking three weeks to sew them back together again," declares Ruben Torres, a 35-year-old designer for Warner Brothers lingeries.

For this firm he has molded bras and girdles and underwear, just the beginning for a fabulous future of stretch and molded fabrics which he foresees.

Betsy Johnson, an avant garde designer most sought after despite her mere 23 years, has already created costumes so startling to some that they are acceptable only in the sophisticated cities.

HERE ARE HER IDEAS:

"Sewing machines and expensive labor will be out. A tunic kind of thing over tights will come about, I think. Fabric houses will have to set machines to do tubular lengths and shapes.

"Leather is leather, and I wouldn't want a synthetic. But there are so many chemical substances with distinctive and potential personalities of their own—plastics tomorrow may really be breathable and malleable. . . .

"Paper dresses? I don't accept them as they are, not until they actually work as any other dress, not just as paper.

"What I hope to see is other woven materials—woven steel or lucite. Can you imagine how attractive woven colored wiring would be?

"Yes, I think heat will be built in, but I think wires and batteries will be confusing. I know batteries are campy now, but for the future I think the fabric itself will generate the bodily heat. We ourselves will be the perfect, unfailing thermostats."

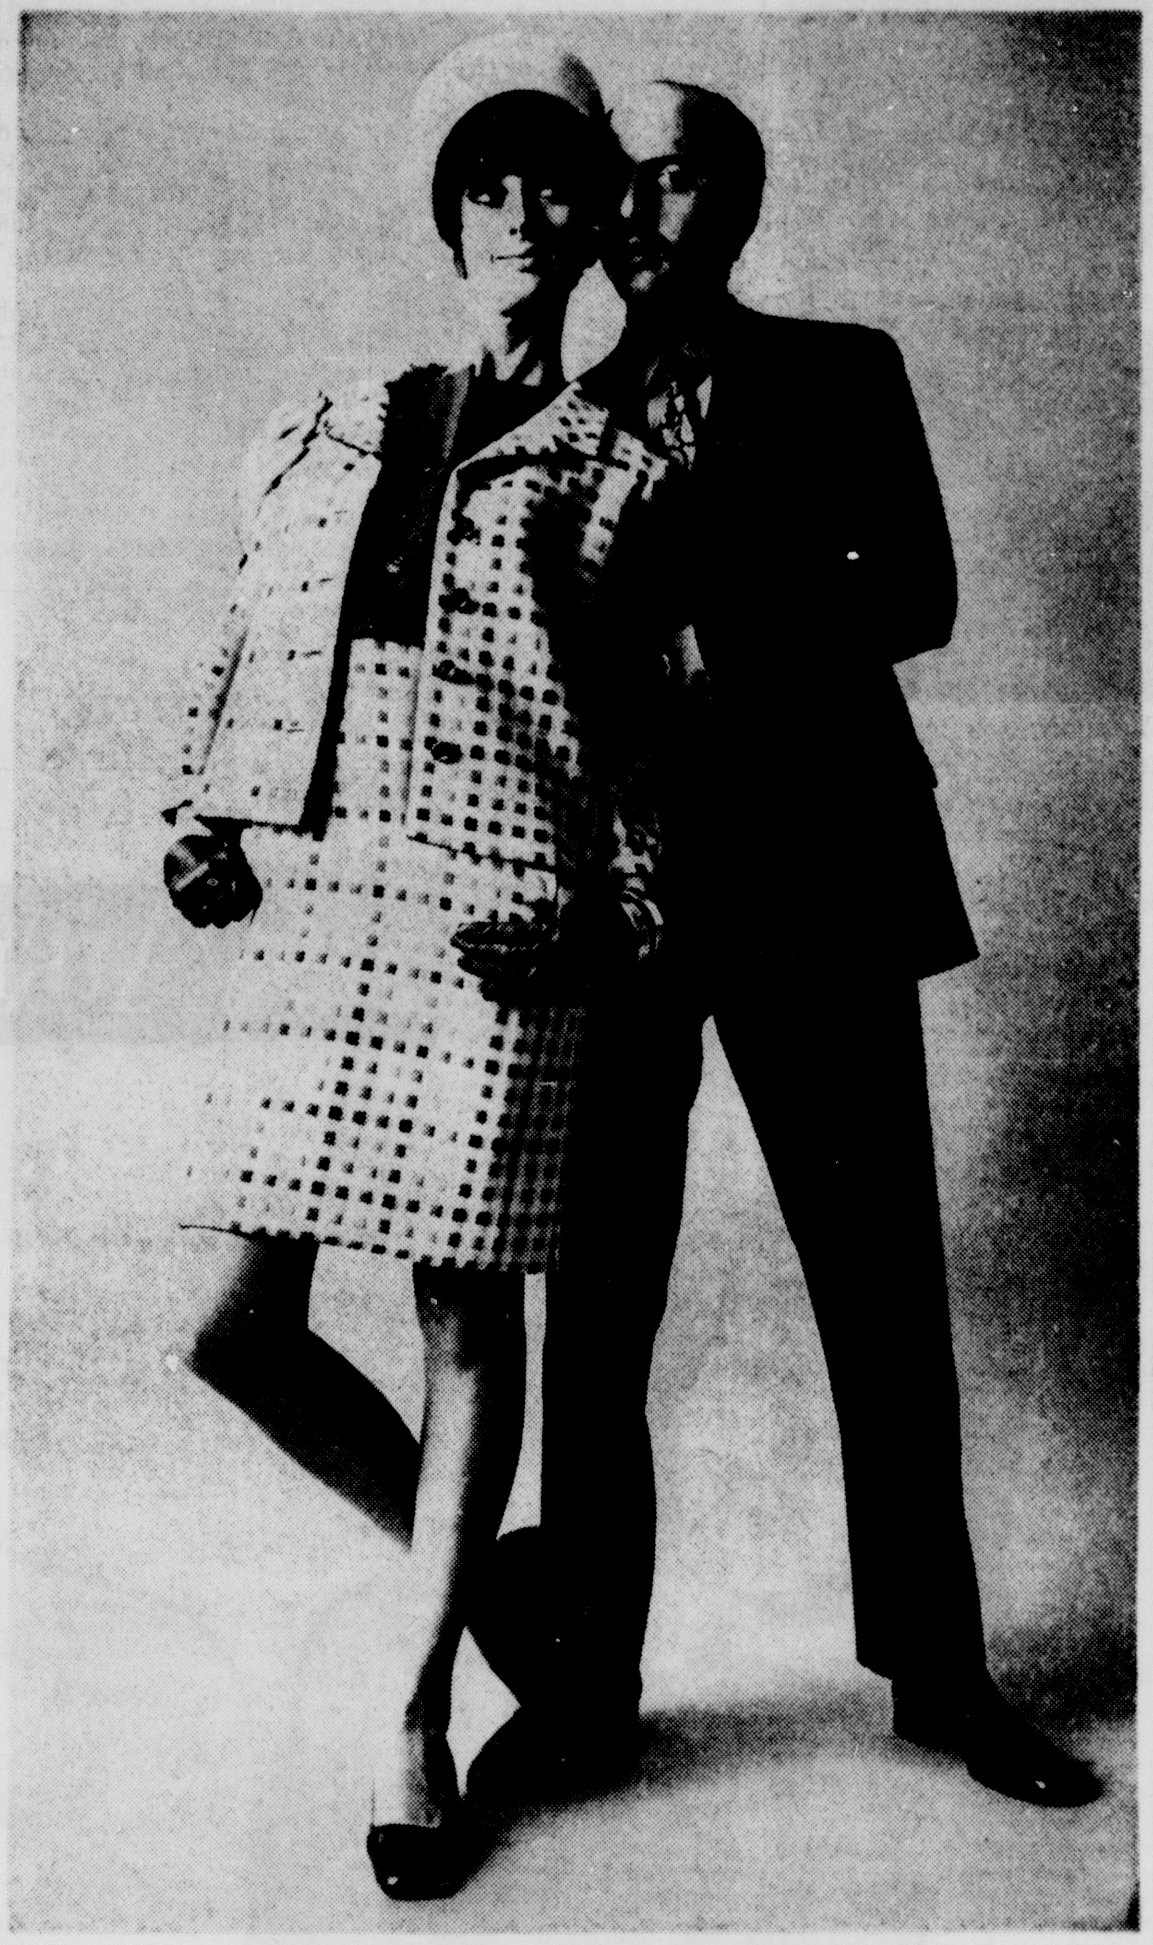
America's great distaff designer, Pauline Trigere, agrees in part.

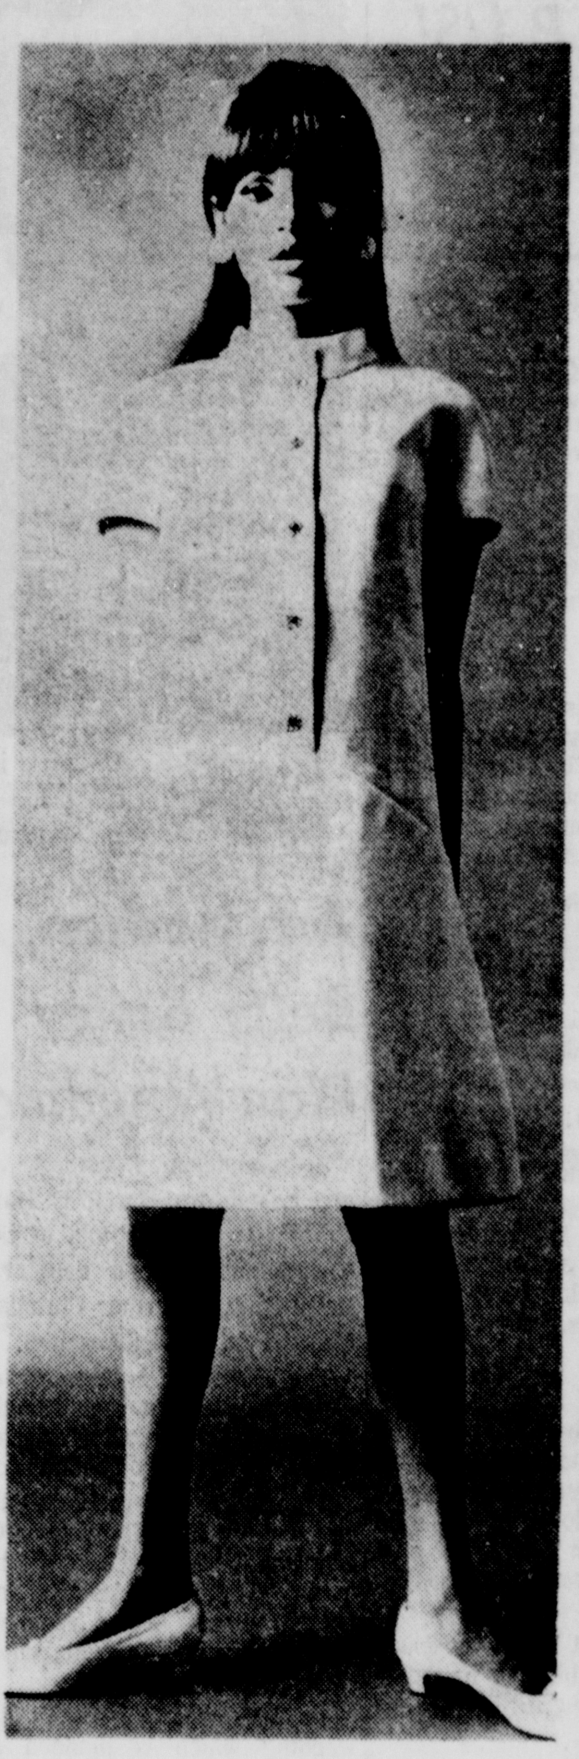
"I feel certain that materials made by man will be immediately attuned to the climate and will be very pliable.

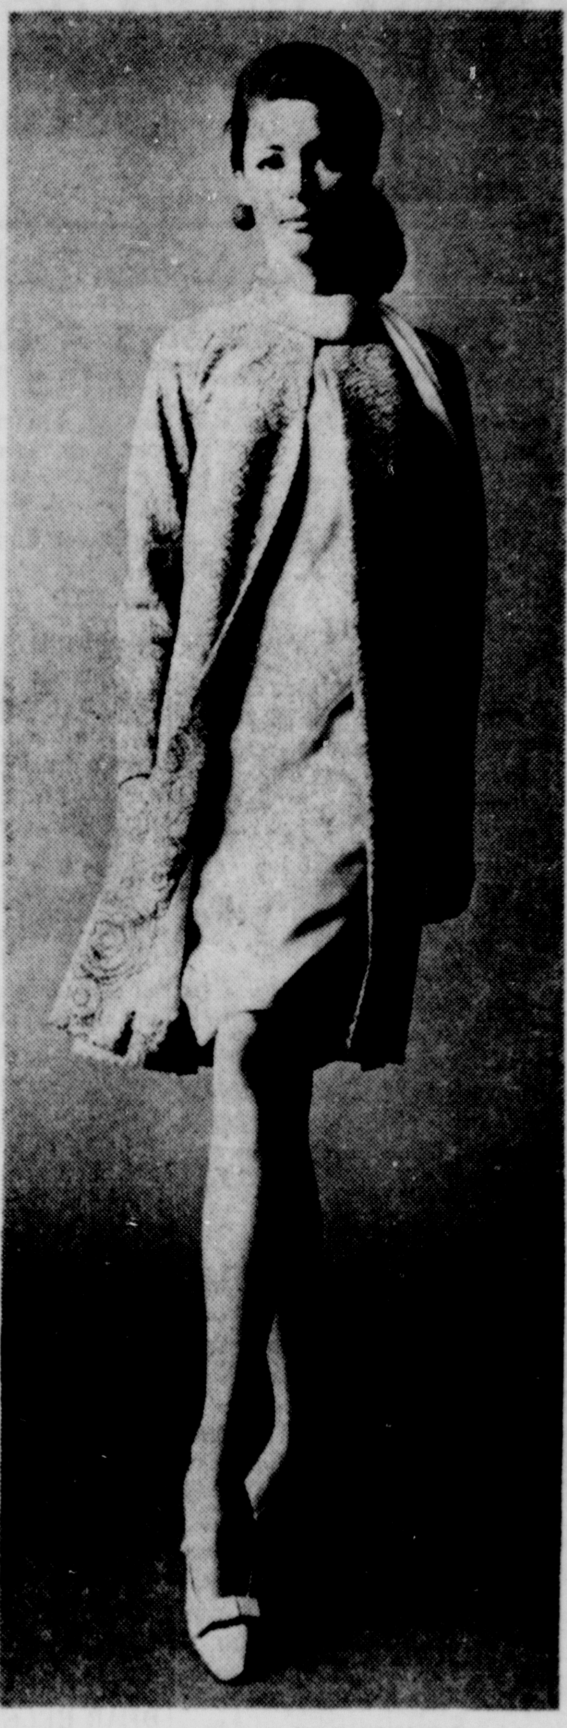
"Women will wear some sort of body covers because they like to accumulate things. . . . I imagine that they will collect amusing frivolities to put on themselves in one way or another. Women love to decorate themselves.

"I imagine that someday our makeup will glow and we women will wear the wings of Mercury."

She didn't say "angels."

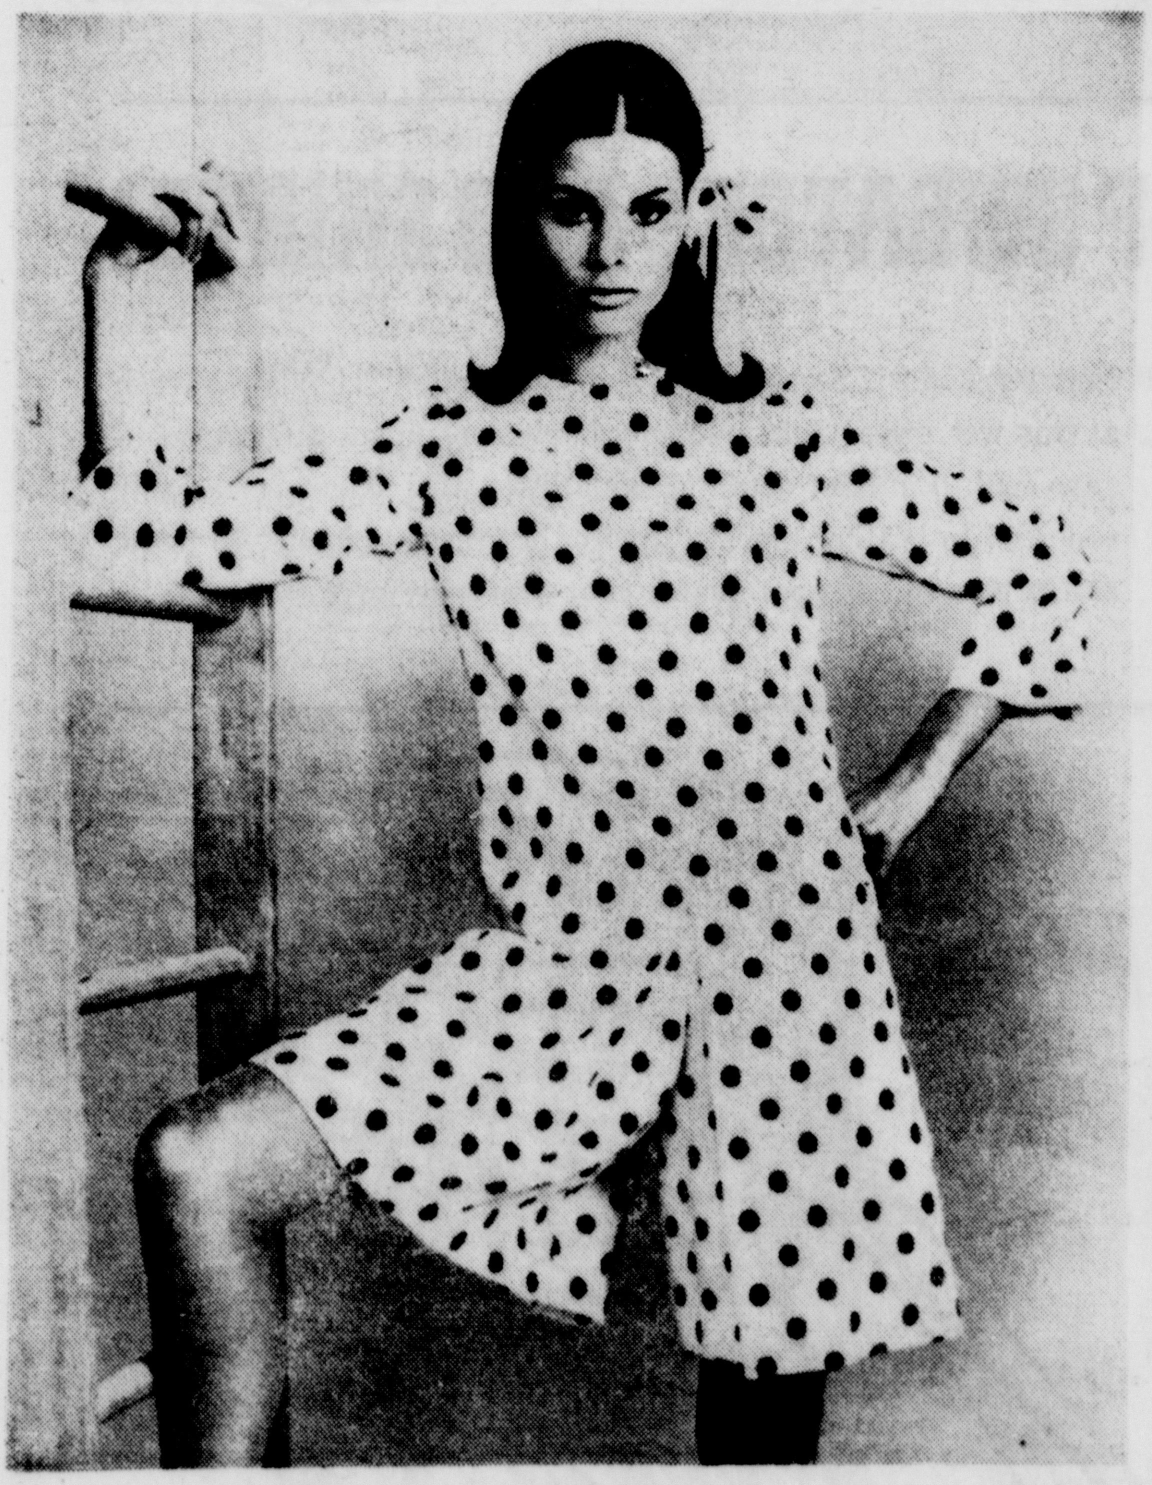






THE AMERICAN SPRING

Monte Sano and Pruzan does a suit dress, at left, in orange and black squares on a white background. The top is a blending brown. Girl watcher is song writer Mike Stoller. Spring designs are being unveiled this month in New York. At center, a white cocktail dress by Hannah Troy features sculptured shoulders and slanting skirt in the silk and worsted fabric to give an air of elegance. At right is Morty Sussman's design for Jobere, a textured wool print for a swinging coat in pink, beige, and purple over shocking pink chiffon dress.



DOTTY CULOTTES

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Man Leaves $1,000 To Wife For Stone–So She Buys A Diamond!

DEAR HELEN:

There's a joke that goes: A man left $1,000 in his will for a stone to his memory—so his wife bought herself a diamond.

There's more truth than fiction here. I happen to know my brother wanted a fine monument over his grave, and he put aside money for it. I visited his grave last week, two years after his death, and there was the cheapest of markers at it's head.

Yet my sister-in-law blossomed out with gorgeous mink stole soon after the funeral. We always wondered how she could afford it. Should I say something?—FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS:

I'm sure you will!

But unless your brother's will specified a certain amount for his gravestone, I'm afraid your s-in-l will continue wearing a "stole to his memory." She evidently got the "n" and "l" confused.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Can a husband sue his wife for divorce on grounds of "battery?" My son and his wife mix it up quite a bit, and he always comes out loser. She threw a glass at him once and he had to have five stitches. She broke his nose and put his jaw out of place in one of their battles. Last night she threw him down stairs, and he is in the hospital with a broken arm and a rupture, where she butted him in the solar plexus with her head.

Either he is so honorable he won't hit a woman or else he's no match for her, because she comes out with not even a bruise. I'm afraid, at this rate, she may "love" him into an early grave. You see, they insist they love each other. Isn't it safer for him to divorce her—if he has grounds?—CONCERNED DAD

DEAR DAD:

Grounds: yes. Inclination, no . . . . Your son evidently loves his Amazon. But I'd suggest he take a crash course in judo—and accident insurance, if any company will certify him.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have a slight problem. She works at the office with him. She's past 40 and he is 25. She keeps forcing her attentions on him.

I know he doesn't give her any encouragement; he's just too polite to say, "Beat it." It's starting to bother him because it's obvious what she wants. He wants to know if there is a way to tell her to act her age and quit bothering him without hurting her feelings.—CONCERNED WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

Sometimes the brutal truth is the only way to turn off aging females. If your husband can't cool this gal down with a mild freeze-out, then he'd better say, "Act your age and quit bothering me!"—H.

P.S. It might help to observe, "You're a lot like my mother—she's very young for 52."—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I always hoped my son would marry a good Christian wife. But he met up with this girl who never went to church before meeting him. He works through the week and preaches on Sundays. He lost one church because the congregation didn't like her. You should have heard how they talked about her at our missionary meeting. They knew she was only going to church because of him.

Now he's got another church and she sits in the back row and won't make their year-old baby behave. She lets strangers hold the baby but not me. It plays and giggles through the sermon and my son doesn't even call her down for it. She is cold and rude to me, and I told my son he couldn't serve the Lord and her, but he still gives her the world on a golden platter, while I get the back of her hand. He is a good boy and I pray for a miracle that will make him see the light. What else can I do?—YOURS IN CHRIST

DEAR YOURS:

I think you've done quite enough! Your text to study: "Love thine enemy." (And she may learn to love you.)—H.

'WHAT WOMAN'

Director Evaluates Terms Of Maturity

By BETTY FROST

"Maturity involves working without being a slave and playing without feeling you ought to be working," said Mrs. Shirley Gerke Luthman, director of counseling of the Family Service Agency of Marin, when she spoke at the "What Woman Are You?" lecture yesterday at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon.

Giving insight into the topic, "Maturity requires evaluation," the psychiatric social worker discussed some other qualification for maturity.

"The mature person is guided by long - term purposes rather than immediate desires," she explained," but we are 'grabbers,' often taking now because we think we may never have another chance. This often indicates low self-esteem, or goals that are set so far into the future their attainment seems out of the question.

"HUMANS NEED to feel that they are growing creatively," the speaker continued. She gave the following definition of "normal: Growing and performing, symptom-free." When personal development is thwarted over a long period of time, some "symptom" is bound to result. In a child it may be poor achievement at school, and an adult may take the physical form of an ulcer."

The best motivation that a parent can provide a child is the example of mature self-development within the framework of a healthy self-esteem. "Self sacrifice places the burden on others," the speaker commented.

"A mature person is able to accept the authority of others without rebellion or self-abdication," Mrs. Luthman stated." To a child, inconsistency in use of authority comes across as lack of caring.

"We can govern our behavior, but not our feelings. If we can stay with the issue in our family discussions, we will be all right. But usually arguments get involved with 'If you loved me you would mend your ways.' Then we are no longer talking about the issue (Jane should do the dishes), but about love."

"THE MATURE PERSON can accept himself as an authority without feeling rejected by minor dissension. In any position of authority the only thing that is necessary is to always be in charge of oneself," Mrs. Luthman emphasized.

She said that our most intimate relationships are involved with giving and taking. The ability to give is dependent upon the ability to take. Some find it harder to receive. The giver often has his reward in the pleasure he knows his gift will bring. A gift given "with strings" or made with great personal sacrifice can make the recipient miserable.

Everyone can accept rules if they are designed to fit an occasion and an individual rather than an arbitrary statement of right and wrong, the speaker concluded.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Touch Of The Poet' Does Well By O'Neill

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO—Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" is but one portion of a huge cycle on which the prolific writer worked for the last 12 years of his life. It is the only remaining portion, since he destroyed the remainder.

Judging from this portion, the whole would have been a colossal work, tracing from the American revolution to early 20th Century the interlocked fates of a family of American aristocrats and a family of Irish immigrants.

Standing alone, "A Touch of the Poet" is a sensitive study of a man—Cornelius Melody—who tortures his wife and daughter by his insistence on living in the past, aided by an always-present bottle. The violent friction between Sara, the daughter, and her father makes for many high dramatic moments in a play which is—like all O'Neill—overly talky at times.

National Repertory Theater's production which opened at the Curran last night overcomes much of O'Neill's wordiness with the intensely sincere performances of its leading characters under Jack Sydow's perceptive direction. It is played in a superb single set designed by Will Steven Armstrong.

Basically this is a two-person play. It must stand or fall on the performances of Melody and Sara. It stands tall in this case with the work of Denholm Elliott and Jeanne Hepple.

To Elliott goes the task of making believable a man who postures before the mirror, reciting Byron's poetry one moment, and calls his daughter a peasant slut the next; who returns from incoherent drunkenness to complete lucidity in a sentence.

Elliott plays Con Melody with consummate artistry, orating, ranting, patently deceiving himself, yet never striking a false note. He presents one of the finest portrayals to grace a San Francisco stage in a long while.

Miss Hepple faces the equally difficult problem of a girl who must stand up against her overpowering father, top him at times, and yet retain our sympathy; then gradually reveal that she is beset by the same prideful character defect which she deplores in him.

This she does with continuing conviction. She is particularly good in the scene when she has just come from her lover's bed—for the first time—and sits, barely listening, as her mother rambles on. With no obvious projection of emotion, Miss Hepple manages to convey a sense of complete fulfillment.

Nora Melody, the mother is played with sympathetic understanding by Priscilla Morrill, while Sloane Shelton contributes an excellent vignette as the lover's mother. The lover, incidentally, we never see, but feel that he is someone we know through the constant reference to him.

G. Wood does well with Con's old army buddy, Jamie Cregan, after a slightly unintelligible beginning, and other small roles are played with deft accuracy by members of the ensemble.

This is a serious play with a few laughs, although there are many warm undercurrents of humor running through it. But it is a play that should be seen, if only to appreciate the incredible talent O'Neill had for revealing character.

It will alternate with "The Imaginary Invalid" and "Tonight at 8:30" through Jan. 21, with evening performances at 8:30 except on Sundays, and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 2:30.

Dr. Aby Asks Tolerance On Remark

San Rafael City Councilman Charles W. Aby tried last night to win a little Christian tolerance.

Two weeks ago, during discussion of the banning of carol singing in the halls of San Rafael High School, Dr. Aby made the remark that objectors should remember "this was founded as a Christian nation, and others are here by sufferance."

The result, he reported at last night's council meeting, was a spate of telephone calls and letters, calling him various things including a Nazi.

"I am not opposed to religious freedom," he declared. "There is nothing in my background to indicate this.

"I am a little appalled . . . Some of the mail I have had is certainly more far out than the statement I made . . . Many of our traditions are Christian in background . . .

"I am not anti-religious in any form. I believe anyone may worship as he pleases, believe as he pleases, and demonstrate as he pleases, as long as he does not violate the law."

All other members of the council agreed that Dr. Aby's comment, made during the carol discussion had not appeared to them as a slur on anyone's religion or lack of it.

Councilman Louis H. Baar said he had read some of the letters Aby received, and wondered whether the writers "also wrote to the school and questioned the right of restricting someone's religious freedom by restricting Christmas carols."

MARIN SINGERS IN OPERAS

Featured roles in the Festival Theater-College of Marin Opera Workshop productions of "Tale of a Deaf Ear" and "Trouble in Tahiti" opening Friday will be sung by J. D. Nichols (left), a Fairfax school teacher, and Kenneth Rowland (right) of San Rafael. Performances will be Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. through Jan. 22 at Festival Theater at Bolinas Avenue and Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

City-County Planning Idea Rejected By San Rafael

The City of San Rafael is not interested in a cooperative effort with the County of Marin toward a countywide zoning ordinance.

The city council made that plain last night by unanimously approving, with little discussion, a recommendation by the city planning commission that the county proposal be rejected.

"We are already in progress on our own new zoning ordinance. I see no reason for going in with the county," said Councilman Charles W. Aby.

San Marin Rec Club Looted Of $170 Cash

Someone took $170 in cash from the office of th San Marin Recreation Club at 351 San Andreas Drive, Novato, Mrs. Dorothy Weston, club director, yesterday reported to Novato police.

There was no sign of forced entry, according to police.

Fishing Proposal On Board's Agenda

A senior citizens' fishing platform proposal will be discussed by Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners tomorrow at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

New member of the group, Joseph Bacheller III, will take his seat for the first time. Hiking and bicycle trails, the budget and a policy on accepting land for dedication will also be discussed.

San Rafael's Ballot May Be Automated

Votomatic voting machines may be used in the April 10 municipal election in San Rafael.

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell proposed their use at last night's city council meeting, but said he was not sure whether it would be legal under the city charter.

He said paper ballots should be used for voting on board of education members outside the city limits, the ballot being too short to justify the Votomatic punch-cards.

In the city itself, however, there will be a long ballot — including mayor, two councilmen, police chief, city clerk and city attorney, two board of education members, and a yet-undetermined number of city charter revisions.

The council unanimously approved Cornwell's suggestion, provided City Atty. David Menary Jr. finds no charter provision preventing the punch-card voting.

Cornwell informed the council that its Feb. 6 meeting will be the last at which to put the charter amendments on the ballot. The council is to meet with the charter revision committee Jan. 11. Mayor C. Paul Bettini said councilmen will attempt to complete action on the charter amendments at its Jan. 16 meeting.

Parking On Agenda

A request by Trident Productions for relief from requirements for off-street parking at the old Purity store site will be heard today by Sausalito Planning Commission at 8 p.m. at City Hall. Small shops are planned for the site.

Council Orders Revival Of Corporation Yard Plan

The San Rafael City Council last night directed the city planner to revive a two-year-old plan for rezoning the city corporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard, as a first step toward its sale.

The council recently offered to exchange part of the 7.4-acre property with the County of Marin for the courthouse square. County supervisors took no action on the proposa:, and shortly thereafter received an offer of $900,000 for the square, resulting in decision to call for bids on it.

Over two years ago, consultant Daniel P. Coleman prepared a plan for the city-owned property, which lies between Francisco Boulevard and the San Rafael Canal, calling for a commercial recreation zone to be developed as a marina with parking and boat launching facilities. The plan received official commendation but the rezoning was not carried through.

Last night, the council directed City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner to revive the idea and ask the planning commission to proceed on rezoning.

Powell Plans To Meet Foes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., confident his House colleagues will not deny him his seat, plans to meet head-on any effort to strip him of his committee chairmanship.

The controversial Harlem congressman has sent word from his vacation hideaway in the Bahamas that he will attend a caucus of House Democrats Monday to fight any effort to depose him as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

C. Sumner Stone, Powell's top aide, said Powell is no longer worried that he might be denied his seat when Congress convenes Tuesday.

Garages Fail To Turn In Towing Bids

Nobody, apparently, wants a contract to tow away cars parked illegally in San Rafael tow-away zones.

Opening of bids on the job was scheduled at last night's city council meeting, but City Clerk W. C. Cornwell reported he had not received a single bid.

The council put the matter over for one month, instructing City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to meet meantime with garage owners and find out why none of them bid.

Shot, Cry Of Pain

Edmond A. Winkleman of 949 Tiburon Boulevard told the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station he heard a shot near his house last weekend and the cry of a dog in pain, then saw two boys running up the hill with a rifle. Since then, he said, he has not been able to locate his Australian shepherd dog.

Art Commission Voted By Mill Valley Council

Mill Valley City Council last night introduced an ordinance creating a seven-member art commission, over strong objections by Councilman George E. Wickham.

The vote was 3-1, with Wickham the lone dissenter, and Councilman Michael Wornum absent.

Wickham said he felt it was not necessary to create another city commission. He contended the city was leaning toward the point where "everything is going to be governed by some commission."

Mayor Albert E. White said the move to create an art commission was an outgrowth of the formation of a mayor's art committee last May.

Setting up a commission by ordinance would "give it access to City Hall, a voice before the council and city sanction," he said.

Wickham said, "I don't think the majority want an art commission which would require additional taxes." Some overhead costs would be charged to the commission, and in time "no doubt there would be a budget for the commission," he said.

White replied, "It's not inconceivable that the commission could pay its way."

Councilman Roderic L. Robinson said, "By passing this, we're not spending money and not increasing taxes, but encouraging arts."

Wickham replied, "Have you ever seen a program start that hasn't snowballed into costing money?"

White said the council "is not spending money in vain, and is not spending money fruitlessly."

Under the proposed ordinance, seven persons from the fields of visual and performing arts would be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council.

They would serve for three-year terms, but the initial group would have staggered terms, two serving until Feb. 15, 1968; two until Feb. 15, 1969, and three until Feb. 15, 1970.

Their task would be "to encourage, promote and foster visual and performing arts in Mill Valley."

The commission also would make recommendations on the selection, purchase and display of temporary or permanent exhibits, festivals and theater and music performances in the city.

It also would make recommendations on requests of any organization or group for use of city buildings, parks and other public facilities for art festivals, displays, exhibits, theater, music or dance performances or other art forms.

The ordinance also provides that the commission may accept monies from public and private sources to carry out its duties.

After the ordinance was introduced, White reported that a joint committee of city and Mill Valley School District officials resolved Dec. 20 that Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck, San Francisco landscape architects, do the master planning for school and recreation facilities at the Project 17 site.

School officials will negotiate the price, White said. The council agreed in October to share the cost of the master planning with the school district.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Unanimously passed an ordinance deleting a portion of a previous ordinance which forbade city officials or employees from disclosing the financial status of the Mill Valley Refuse Co., effective in 30 days.
2. Received a report that more than half of the 28 firms that had non-conforming signs have complied with the city's sign ordinance.
3. Granted Larry Brink a variance to permit a total of 158 square feet of signs at his car agency at 250 Blithedale Avenue, as compared to the 100 square feet permitted by the sign ordinance. Brink has sought signs totaling 240 square feet.
4. Instituted condemnation action against Charles H. Pearmain, 50 Shelley Drive, for a 10-foot slope and drainage easement needed for rebuilding of East Blithedale Avenue between Camino Alto and Highway 101. City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said the ditch along the south side of East Blithedale in that area is a health hazard.
5. Granted the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce permission to hang a banner across East Blithedale Avenue to advertise Junior Chamber of Commerce Week, Jan. 15-21.
6. Adjourned until 8 p.m., Jan. 16.

Marijuana Possession Charge Is Dropped

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court yesterday dismissed a felony complaint of marijuana possession against David Dodds Jr., 18, on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Anthony said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales made the decision because Dodds, of 5 Helens Lane, Mill Valley, has begun active duty in the Marine Corps. He was accused of having about two ounces of marijuana when questioned by sheriff's deputies at C's Drive In, 510 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, on Nov. 1.

Jury Trial Slated For Petty Theft

Trial by jury of Shirley Anne Ogletree, charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of March 20.

The defendant, 23, of San Francisco, allegedly took three women's suits from Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera last Jan. 31.

Conference Of Firemen To Be Held This Month

The San Rafael Fire Department will host a conference of the Northern California Firemen's Assn. Jan. 13 through 15 at the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael.

The program will include election of officers, a demonstration of fire equipment, and a wind-up banquet at San Quentin Prison.

Registration will be the evening of Jan. 13 and the morning of Jan. 14. A board of director's meeting also will be held Jan. 13.

The program Jan. 14 will feature a talk on fighting brush and forest fires, instruction of the use of fire-fighting chemicals, and a luncheon address by San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett.

San Rafael fire engineer James Kennon is conference chairman.

Businesses Asked To Keep Check On Directory Billings

Chambers of commerce in Marin are issuing their annual warnings to businessmen to look carefully at what appear to be bills from telephone, utility and similar public service companies.

They may be cleverly disguised solicitations for listing in some business directory at a fancy price.

In many instances, according to Mgr. Jack Alvarado of the San Rafael chamber, these solicitations go to bookkeepers who, mistaking them for bills for a service ordered by the company, remit the money requested.

Last week, the Associated Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors of Marin-Sonoma-Mendocino Conuties forwarded a solicitation from "Classified Business Directory" of P. O. Box 24631, Los Angeles, to Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael).

The association noted that the Southern California firm is "operating within the law," but said it "exemplifies billings we and our members have received for services or products not ordered." The association said it would support Bagley in any effort at a solution to solicitations that appear to be billings.

New Fashions For The Topless Bars

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board has revealed its 1967 fashions for the state's topless go-go bars.

Fully topiess styles are out but topless attire covering the breasts with pasties, is in. This was the finding yesterday in three cases involving Southern California establishments.

Bolinas Lagoon Zoning Policy Is Challenged

Thomas J. Barfield, new director of the Bolinas Harbor District and partner in a San Francisco law firm, has challenged the opinion of Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that supervisors may zone the Bolinas Lagoon.

The county's contention, he said, "Is not only untenable but, in my opinion, a flaunting of the law and an attempt to intimidate a small number of respectful citizens."

Barfield agreed that, in some circumstances, 1965 amendments to the government code allow counties to zone public lands of the state.

The amendments, though, "presuppose that the state has taken no prior action in this regard. Here the state, by the harbor district enabling act and amendment, took prior action," he asserted.

Maloney said yesterday it is the county's position that the law gives counties the right to zone land inside special districts.

There are a few exceptions, such as school districts, but these are carefully listed, he said. "The harbor district is no different from the Marin Municipal Water District or other districts whose land the county now zones," Maloney said.

"We contend the county can zone the land and water there; they say we can't. That's what makes a horse race. That's what makes a law suit."

Barfield pointed out that the harbor district has the right of annexation and the right of eminent domain.

"As you know, this is frequently used as the criteria or test as to what agency has jurisdiction," Barfield said.

Thomas A. Edison's first "talking machine" was developed in 1877.

King's British Leanings Hit

CAIRO (UPI)—The government-owned Cairo newspaper Al Ahram today accused Saudi Arabian King Faisal of "continuing collusion" with Britain. The accusation heightened a crisis gripping the Middle East that threatens to pit Arab against Arab in open conflict.

The charge followed by a day the announcement from the extremist Cairo-based Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) that it planned to mount a wave of violence at the palace of Jordan's tough young King Hussein and the homes of his cabinet ministers.

Meeting Rescheduled

The regular meeting last night of Alto Sanitary District directors was postponed to Monday at 8 p.m. for lack of a quorum, director Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported. The board meets in the firehouse at 27 Shell Road.

Council, Employee Debate Pay Data

Leo F. Schwab Jr. of the San Rafael Fire Department made what he said was to be a presentation of the need for another 5 per cent cost of living increase for city employees last night, but city councilmen told him he was talking about something else.

Schwab asked time at the council meeting to present figures in justification of a further 5 per cent raise. Figures he presented showed that, despite a previous 5 per cent pay hike, some city employees have less take-home pay.

Councilmen didn't dispute that, agreeing it is due to increases in federal withholding tax and employee contributions to health and welfare plans.

However, Councilman Louis H. Baar said the employees, association had promised to present figures showing the cost of living in Marin as compared with elsewhere in the Bay Area. "What you're saying is not what we talked about," he said.

Schwab then quoted several authorities as saying homes in Marin average 15 per cent more than elsewhere in the Bay Area.

"If you pay 15 per cent more for real estate, we're supposed to give you a raise?" asked Mayor Bettini. "I don't think you have an argument.'' Schwab, he contended, was talking about basic pay scales, anyhow, not a cost, of-living raise.

Upshot was agreement that a committee of the employees association will meet with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and Councilman Fred E. Jensen to discuss revision of basic salary schedules during the next three months.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Held up award of contract for hydraulic cushion flap gates for the Francisco Boulevard pump station because there was only one bid.

2. Canceled a scheduled public hearing on reversion to acreage of San Rafael Cayes Unit One, at request of the applicant.

3. Put over to Jan. 16 public hearing on an appeal from decision of the planning commission against further sewer connections in Peacock Gap Unit Six.

4. Approved a new four-year agreement with the county on development of urban thoroughfares with county gasoline tax money. San Rafael streets included in the four-year plan are the Miracle Mile section of Fourth Street, extension of Freitas Parkway to Sleepy Hollow, and D Street-Wolfe Grade.

5. Granted A. J. Bresnan Co. a 60-day extension from the Dec. 19 deadline for a completion of Santa Margarita Valley Park, but refused to release any of the final 10 per cent of the contract price until the job is complete.

6. Named Councilman Harry A. Barbier as member of the executive committee of the Redwood Empire Divison, League of California Cities, with Councilman Jensen as alternate.

7. Set public hearing Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. on rezoning of 171-177 Woodland Avenue from single-multiple family to all multiple with 3,000 square feet of lot per unit, as requested by Edward and Wilhelmina McDonnell and Phyllis M. Love.

8. Heard from City Manager Andersen that some employees had objected to the change in pay days from the 15th and last to the 5th and 20th of each month, but was told by firemen Schwab that the objection did not come from the employees association.

9. Denied claims for sewer backup damage by Harry and Ruth Rodgers, Paris and Marilyn Royo, and Mrs. Esnes Powers. The claim of Mrs. Powers was turned down 3-to-2, with Councilmen Baar and Barbier voting to pay it.

10. Held over to Jan. 16 a sewer backup damage claim by Mrs. F. Grandi.

11. Agreed to support a suggestion by County Sanitarian William Desmond for a strict ordinance banning illegal drains into sanitary sewers. Desmond wrote that he believes these are responsible for much of the sewage trouble in Marin during stormy weather.

12. Accepted, with expressions of regret, the resignation of Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota, who has taken a similar position in Sonoma County. The council also directed that a resolution of commendation be prepared, and accepted Rodota's offer to assist in finding a replacement and serve the city temporarily on a consultant basis if one is not found before he leaves Jan. 27.

13. Approved hiring Marcel Pokopek as parks department groundsman at $464 per month.

14. Agreed to discuss zoning of the courthouse square with county supervisors following a joint city-county hearing on widening San Pedro Road at 7:30 p.m. next Monday.

15. At Jensen's suggestion, ordered that cabs with heaters be installed on city street sweepers. "It's a crime to send the men out on those sweepers in this weather," declared Jensen.

Michigan Governor's Son To Be Married

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP)—Scott Romney, son of Michigan Gov. and Mrs. George Romney, will be married next December to Ronna Eileen Stern.

Miss Stern is a senior at Oakland University and her fiance is in his first year at Harvard Law School. The wedding announcement was made yesterday.

Erosion Control Pledged For Glenwood Residents

Residents along a city canal in the Glenwood District were assured City of San Rafael cooperation last night in preventing their back yards from washing away.

The city council was presented with a petition signed by 23 property owners on Knight and Cottonwood drives, asking that city funds be appropriated to control erosion along the ditch.

Daniel L. Wambach of 40 Cottonwood Drive presented the petition. He also reported in a letter that, during heavy rain on Dec. 2, a large section of his rear yard, including a redwood fence, slid into the ditch.

Another letter, from Harry E. Irwin of 44 Cottonwood Drive, reported part of his back yard slid into the ditch on the same day.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles said he had examined the damage. He said the back yards had been partially filled when the subdivision was developed, but the erosion was caused by water from higher up the canal.

Asked Councilman Fred E. Jensen, "Is it our liability?"

Replied City Atty. David Menary Jr., "Curbstone is, yes."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, with council approval, directed Rawles to complete an investigation of the damage as soon as possible "and if emergency measures are necessary, do it." He also directed Rawles to report at the Jan. 16 meeting what would need to be done to permanently correct the erosion.

Panel To View Hospital Rates

Speakers on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m. tomorrow will discuss the hike in room rates at Marin County hospitals.

Moderator Kitty Oppenheimer will host Mrs. Marion C. Ibach, president of the Marin Hospital District board of directors; Ray K. Bollinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital; Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General Hospital, and Milton Scott, administrator of Novato General Hospital.

The program also will be heard at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rafferty Says Berkeley Book Printing Illegal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State school superintendent Dr. Max Rafferty says the Berkeley School District broke federal law by using federal money to print its own copyrighted book.

But a Berkeley school representative said yesterday that the Alameda County district attorney's office advised that the district could copyright a book, paid for by federal money under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

"I think we're making mountains out of molehills," commented Dr. Thomas Wogaman, assistant to Berkeley Supt. Neil Sullivan.

Rafferty said Sullivan wasn't familiar with California school law and finance. "I'm pretty certain his mistake was an honest one, simply due to lack of training and experience."

Guilty Plea Made On Gun Charges

Guilty plea to flourishing a gun in a rude and threatening manner was entered in Marin Municipal Court yesterday by William Franklin Knight, 27.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled sentencing for 3 p.m. Jan. 24.

Knight, of 216 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, pulled the gun from under his belt at the 2 A. M. Club, Miller and Montford avenues, Dec. 23, and ordered a bartender to serve everyone a drink.

EUGENE R. TROMBLEY
Ending military career

Flying Career In Service Ends Saturday

Eugene R. Trombley, county planning commissioner and Novato hardware merchant, will end a military flying career that's spanned 24 years when he retires as an Air Force Rserve officer Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A lieutenant colonel in the reserve, Trombley is a command pilot with more than 12,000 hours of flying time. Members of the San Francisco Reserve Information Flight, to which he has been assigned, will gather at the officers club for a retirement luncheon in his honor.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Trombley was a civilian pilot when he entered the Army Air Corps in 1942 at Berry Field, Nashville, Tenn., and helped pioneer a route for ferrying B-24 bombers to North Africa.

He was separated from active duty in 1947 and joined the public relations staff of Pan American World Airways in Hawaii. Recalled to active duty in 1950, he was assigned to Military Air Transport Service at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, and after public information duty at Continental Air Command headquarters, was assigned to the 28th Air Division at Hamilton. He reverted to reserve status in 1958 when he established Trombley's Novato Hardware Co.

Trombley was chairman of the Marn County Airport Commission for seven years, and is vice chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission. He has served two terms as director of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and was a member of the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission. He is board chairman of the Novato Boys Club.

Recording of sea current measurements can now be done on standard magnetic tape, allowing easy translation for computer processing.

Car Trunk Burglaries Net $4,600 In Loot

Car burglars struck three times at restaurant parking lots, making off with loot estimated worth over $4,600, sheriff's officers reported today.

Locked trunks of two were entered, apparently with master keys, since no force was evident.

John J. Ongaro of 400 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, told deputies he and his wife returned Monday evening from Lake Tahoe and parked at Marin Joe's, 1585 Redwood Highway. While they were eating, he said, four pieces of luggage containing about $4,100 in clothing, cosmetics, an electric razor, shoes, and jewelry were taken from the trunk of their car.

Fred T. Dick of 16 Council Crest Drive, Corte Madera, said he parked his car at the same restaurant Monday evening. Taken from the locked trunk, he said, were a $200 pair of binoculars, two men's jackets, and a pair of pants.

The third car, driven by Robert F. Horvath of 104 Wisteria Street, Mill Valley, was parked at the Hickory Pit cafe in Homestead Valley on Monday. Horvath told officers he locked the vehicle, but left a window partially open. When he returned from eating, he said he discovered two pair of skis and poles, and two pair of boots had been stolen.

Forced entry was not apparent, he said.

Richard A. Leber of 120 Rising Road, Tamalpais Valley, reported his locked home was entered and stereophonic equipment worth $550 was taken. Means of entry was unknown, he said.

Deputies said burglars removed a screen and broke a window to enter the administration building office at Wolfe Grade School, 25 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, but nothing was missed.

A color television set worth $400 was stolen from the home of Margarita E. Mooney at 5 Upland Road, Kent Woodlands. She told officers a door from the attached garage to the family room was forced.

Richmond Council Demands Ouster

RICHMOND (UPI) — Five of the seven members of the Richmond City Council demanded last night that City Mgr. Forrest J. Simoni resign.

Simoni, who has held the $1,978-a-month post for three years refused during a table-pounding council meeting. He demanded a public hearing on the ouster. It was scheduled for tomorrow night.

Mayor Milton Spinner and four other councilmen said Simoni "refuses to follow council policy" and has "lost the ability to work with other agencies." Simoni said the five were "politically beholden" to each other.

New Chinese Purge Seen In Hierarchy

TOKYO (AP) — Conflicting reports from Communist China indicate Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao have struck a possibly crippling blow at President Liu Shao-chi through the big Chinese labor movement.

The Soviet news agency Tass and the Czech news agency Ceteka both have announced that the 21-million member All China Federation of Trade Unions — ACFTU — has been dissolved and its official newspaper shut down.

A later report from Japanese correspondents in Peking said the ACFTU had not been disbanded but that its leadership had been taken over by a new Mao-Lin oriented group called the All-China Assn. of Red Revolutionaries—ACARR.

If either report is true, it means Liu has lost a critical round in his fight to survive mounting pressure against him.

Teen-Age Vote Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, introduced a constitutional amendment today that would reduce the voting age in California from 21 to 18. It would require a two-thirds vote before going to the people.

Board Says Disposal Not An Issue

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board said last night that sewage disposal would present no problem if 450 acres south of Paradise Drive are developed for homes.

Directors noted that the area would be divided between the Corte Madera and Richardson Bay sanitary districts, but aside from determining the boundary line, disposal would not be a problem.

A representative of Dan Coleman Associates asked that the board consider the problem as Thomas Deffebach Jr. of Mill Valley, owner of the Tiburon Peninsula property, is considering a 640-house development there.

The district received the City of Larkspur's response to a district request for assistance with flooding problems around the pumping station on Industrial Way. Larkspur replied that Industrial Way is not a city-maintained street, and property owners there are responsible for drainage.

Kennedy's Kin Cleared In Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A 17-year-old niece of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has been absolved of criminal blame in a coroner's ruling on the death of a child in a Greenwich automobile accident.

Cathleen Skakel of Greenwich was the driver of a vehicle which struck a bump on Fox Run Lane Nov. 24. The 7-year-old who fell out of the car onto the roadway was Hope O'Brien of Greenwich. She died Dec. 1 of injuries suffered in the accident, which Coroner Isadore Kotler termed a freak occurrence.

Miss Skakel is the daughter of George Skakel Jr., who was killed in the crash of a private plane in Idaho several months ago. He was the brother of Ethel Kennedy, wife of the senator.

Board Votes Minority Hiring Rule

By RICHARD LYTTLE

After long debate, Marin County supervisors voted 3-2 yesterday to require pre-bid conferences on minority hiring for the $1.3 million community mental health center to be built at Marin General Hospital.

Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis dissented, both fearing the entire project might be put in jeopardy.

Kettenhofen also argued that the existing minority hire clause covering the hall of justice construction was working adequately, with 20 per cent of the present work force being Negroes.

Robert Brauer, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, declared, however, that the Hall of Justice hiring was following "historical patterns," with the carpenters union being the only exception. Nine out of 12 laborers on the job are Negroes, he reported.

He said the clause is effective because Robert E. McKee Construction Co. is willing to cooperate. The pre-bid clause would put into writing the things McKee is doing, such as periodic reports on the work force, designation of a minority employment officer, and encouragement of apprentice and on-the-job training.

Bella H. Aarons, chairman of the human rights commission, charged that the county staff was not following the policy the board of supervisors had established. County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended against inclusion of the pre-bid clause.

Rebidding of the job is expected late in February. A lone bid was turned down several months ago and the architect has since been revising the plan.

Ray Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, told the board of supervisors that hospital directors were against the stronger clause if it meant an increase in costs. He pointed out that some of the money for the project is from private donations.

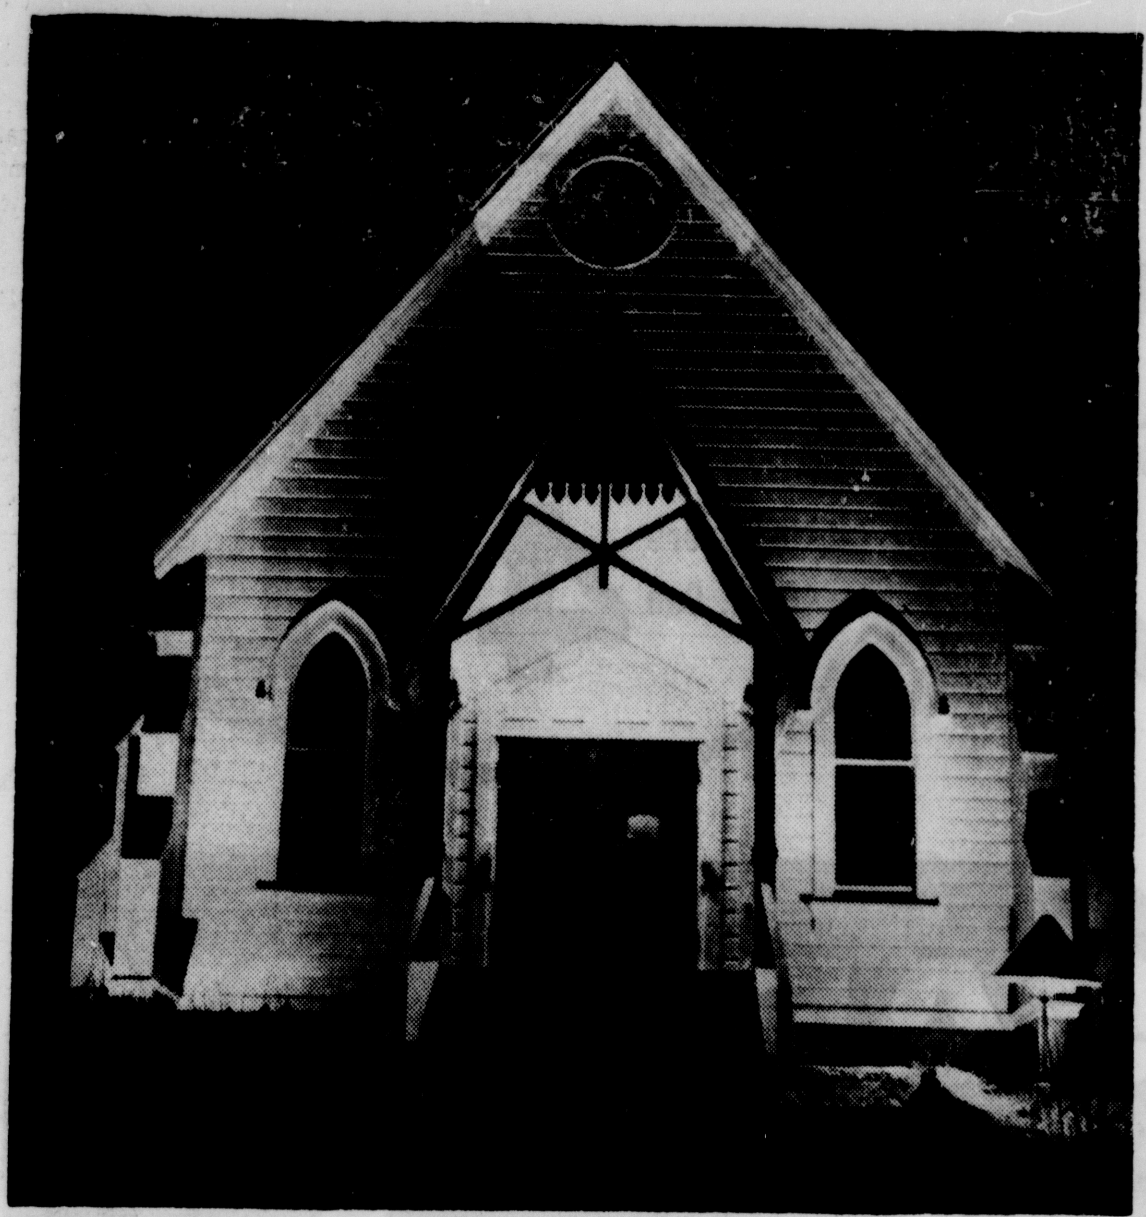
Marion C. Ibach, chairman of the hospital board, told supervisors that delays cost money.

The clause had the strong backing of Perry Howell, chairman of the Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Rev. James Simonds, head of the Marin Council of Churches.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr moved that the stronger clause be included. Supervisor William A. Gnoss seconded, saying he feared increased costs but "I hope I am wrong."

A substitute motion by Kettenhofen to continue with the same wording used on the Hall of Justice failed for lack of second.

The project will be financed by federal, state and local funds under the Short-Doyle Act. The local contribution will be made up of $150,000 from the hospital district, $150,000 in private donations, and $150,000 in county tax money. Supervisors several weeks ago agreed that an additional $100,000 would be raised by property taxes if necessary.



THE LIGHTS GO OUT — Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, which presents this floodlighted view each night, will remain dark through the rest of this month as a tribute to the Richard Dakin family, killed in a plane crash.

BENEFACTOR REVEALED

Darkened Landmark Honors Dakin Family

The night illumination of Old St. Hilary's will be extinguished the rest of this month in memory of the members of the Richard Dakin family who died in the crash of an air plane in the Gulf of California, announced Mrs. Beverly Bastian, Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society.

Mrs. Bastian also disclosed for the first time that the historic church edifice and its three-quarter acre hilltop site in Tiburon were the gift of Susanna Bryant Dakin (Mrs. Richard) to the communities of Tiburon and Belvedere and Marin County.

Mrs. Bastian said Mrs. Dakin voluntarily and anonymously contributed the full price for the purchase from the Catholic Archdiocese of California. The landmarks society was incorporated in 1959 to acquire the site, with Mrs. Dakin as one of the founding board members.

After re-dedicating Old St. Hilary's as an historic landmark, the society worked toward preserving the unique natural setting of the two acres of hillside below, and to conserve its rare wildflowers. Mrs. Dakin was a major donor in the successful campaign for funds.

During the past year, Mrs. Dakin has been editing a local history to be published by the landmarks society. Mrs. Bastian said the board intends to complete the work, as planned by Mrs. Dakin, within the year.

"We are turning out the lights in recognition that Mrs. Dakin's good works touched the whole community and that this tragedy will have an effect on its well being," said Mrs. Bastain. "We hope that the dark hillside will also remind residents that attractions of our peninsula cannot be taken for granted and that preservation and conservation depend on those, like Mr . Dakin, who are mindful of the needs."

Ex-Marinite Found Dead In Orinda

Burton A. Mancebo, former Sausalito fireman, was found hanged yesterday in an Orinda office to which he had been assigned by the janitorial service for which he worked.

Contra Costa County Sheriff's Lt. Edwin Stockman said a note was found near the body, indicating that Mancebo, 52, was despondent and had taken his own life. The body was found about 7:40 a.m. by a man arriving for work in the building.

Mancebo was born in Sausalito, where he attended school and in the early 1940s was a member of the fire department. He lived in Marin most of his life, moving about 12 years ago to Concord, where he lived at 2401 Bonifacio Street and was employed by a janitorial service.

He leaves a wife, Gertrude, and three small daughters.

Accountant Found Dead In His Room

Ross Howard McLeod, a 53 year-old Fort Bragg accountant, died unexpectedly early today in a room at the Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera.

Asst. County Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said death apparently was due to natural causes. McLeod reportedly had a history of asthma and heart disease.

McLeod's wife, Chistine reportedly told Corte Madera police that her husband came to Marin yesterday to seek admittance to the psychiatric unit of a local hospital because he had been nervous and depressed recently. There was no room at the hospital, she said.

McLeod, a native of Canada, had been an accountant for Union Lumber Co. of Fort Bragg for 19 years. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Kenneth, 17, and Rod, 16.

His body was taken to Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo for autopsy.

Guilty Plea Made On Theft Charges

Airman 1/c Thomas Jacob Susz, 28, of Hamilton Air Force Base, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to grand theft from the Thursday Night Men's Handicap bowling league at the base.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Feb. 16. Susz, secretary-treasurer of the league, embezzled over $200 in funds entrusted to him for purchase of trophies and prizes.

Patrick Faces Libel Action By Hallinan

William Penn Patrick, San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer and politician, today faced the possibility of a $2 million libel suit to be brought by the newest lawyer of the county's Hallinan clan.

Terrance (Kayo) Hallinan had no sooner been sworn in to the California Bar yesterday than he announced he has already been retained by his first client for a suit against Patrick.

That first client is none other than his father, Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere.

The younger Hallinan alleged that Patrick libeled his father by calling him a paid propagandist for Fidel Castro.

"Vin doesn't mind being called a propagandist for Castro and the people of Cuba, but if he were paid he would be violating the law by not registering as an agent for a foreign government," Hallinan said.

A spokesman for Patrick said today that the unsuccessful candidate for governor has not been served notice of the suit.

Hallinan was sworn in to the bar yesterday after a year and a half delay. The Committee of Bar Examiners had denied him admission of civil rights and juvenile fighting arrests.

The State Supreme Court ordered him admitted to the bar when the decision of the bar examiners was appealed on young Hallinan's behalf by attorney Benjamin Dreyfous of Mill Valley.

Plea Shift Halts Murder Trial

Dorothy Nell Miller, 23, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter today as she was scheduled to go on trial on a charge of murder.

She had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the murder charge in the Sept. 2 knife slaying of Mrs. Bernadine Nettles.

Judge Thomas F. Keating permitted the guilty plea to the reduced charge, and scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. Jan. 23. Maximum penalty is 15 years in state prison.

Miss Miller, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, stabbed Mrs. Nettles, 29, of 239 Drake Avenue, during and argument at Oaktree restaurant in Manzanita.

MENTAL HEALTH STAND EXPLAINED

Association Chief Claims 'Watchdog' Role Proper, But Denies Ouster Request

Marin Assn. for Mental Health did sent a letter to agencies in the field suggesting a meeting with county officials—but it did not suggest ouster of Dr. Clyde G. Miller as county mental health services director, the association's president said today.

Dr. William L. Bewley, president of the association, issued a lengthy statement which he said was designed to clarify the association's role in the county's community mental health services. He said the role "has been clouded and distorted as a result of two stories appearing in the Independent-Journal Dec. 28 and 29."

SERIES OF LETTERS

The Dec. 29 story reported a move by the association to oust Dr. Miller had been brought to light by a reply by Rev. John J. O'Connor, executive director of the Catholic Family Service Agency. Father O'Connor, addressing his letter to Mrs. Trude Baum, longtime spokesman for the mental health association, said his agency wanted no part of the move.

The following day, Nevada Christian, executive director of the mental health association, said letters to Father O'Connor and other agencies' directors had been written by Mrs. Baum, "who is not on the association's board this year and is not supposed to speak for us."

CONCERN SITED

Today, Dr. Bewley said the association had been concerned over lack of progress in Marin's mental health program.

"For this reason, we asked a number of agencies that have expressed dissatisfactions about CMHS (community mental health services) whether they would be willing to state their views to the responsible government officials," said Bewley. "The letter written by Father O'Connor . . . was his reply to this inquiry."

Dr. Bewley declared:

"Our association had not launched a move for dismissal of Dr. Cyde Miller as director of CMHS, and we have not made a request to the board of supervisors that Dr. Miller be asked to resign."

His statement traced the role of the association in promoting creation of the county mental health services program and its "watchdog" role since the program started.

"Over a period of about a year and a half," he wrote, "we have often heard complaints voiced by agency representatives to the CMHS director and to us about difficulty in securing services for clients in need of help . . .

BACKED BUDGET

"We unhesitantingly supported Dr. Miller's budget request for 1966-67 to the supervisors. We recommended that it be increased to make it possible for CMHS to set up vitally needed services for children . . .

"We have talked with Doctor Miller from time to time about our misgiving regarding progress. We have felt it our duty to report our findings to the responsible public officials."

Dr. Bewley said one of the group's responsibilities as a chapter of the National Assn. for Mental Health is to serve as "watchdog" of mental health services.

'CANNOT PRESUME'

"We realize that in reporting whatever information our studies and observations produce to the county government, we cannot presume to request that body to 'oust anyone,'" he continued. "This is a decision that they alone can make.

"We have endeavored to carry on our activities quietly because we did not wish our dfferences with CMHS to be interpreted as a personal attack in any sense.

"We believe, however, that the public would be ill served indeed if problems affecting a community were to be swept under the rug, instead of being faced honestly."

Rec Commission Nominates Two

Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night asked the city council to appoint as commissioners Roger Gaetjen of 21 Spring Lane and Richard McQuillan of 27 Olema Road.

They would replace Frank Salvisberg and Harold Walker, who resigned.

The commissioners also recommended that the council approve the contract with Farifax School District for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park, with minor changes.

Pending adoption of a master plan, the commission delayed action on maintenance and planting at the Fairfax Pavilion, and on placing a putting green on city-owned property off Bank Street near the baseball park.

White Hill School Bids Sought Soon

Fairfax School District Board expressed hope last night that bids could be asked the beginning of next month for construction of the White Hill School, estimated as a $512,000 project.

At the same time, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said he would go to Sacramento tomorrow to discuss with the State Department of General Services the state's allocation of $397,000 for construction. Hammond said he hoped to insure against delays in receiving the funds.

Hammond told the trustees the school site is being drained to pave the way for site development, which has been delayed because of recent heavy rains.

The Fairfax School District Board also:

1. Authorized Hammond to get an engineer to determine what further work is needed on water pipes in Manor School. Pipe repairs were completed recently, but more bad ones were found.
2. Discussed further a contract with the City of Farifax for construction of tennis courts on school-owned property near Peri Park .Turstees were concerned over how the property would be returned to its original condition if the board chose not to renew the 10-year contract.
3. Decided to send a representative to a conference on compensatory education. Feb. 19-21 in Sacramento.
4. Approved a request from music director J. D. Nichols for sutdents to participate in three Bay Area music festivals in April.

Some of man's earliest civilizations rose in what is now Iraq. It was in this land that Sumeria, Assyria and Babylonia flourished, and the wheel, writing and the plow probably developed.

McInnis Skeptical Of Quake Survey

The county planning department's proposal for study of earthquake rift zones and earthquake risks in Marin received a jolt yesterday from Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis, serving his first day on the board, said he was "most skeptical" of such a study. He suggested that the county might be leaving itself open to serious claims.

He argued that the risk of earthquake damage was one that should be taken by individual investors and homewoners. He cited construction on the Florida coast which goes up again and again despite hurricane destruction.

He asked County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker what he would do with the information from such a study.

Zucker said he thought the degree of earthquake risk should be known and become part of the "planning matrix," just as slide area dangers are considered now.

Zucker presented a list of five experts willing to serve on a committee to determine whether an extensive earthquake study should be undertaken.

Those proposed for appointment were George O. Gates of Menlo Park, assistant chief geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey; Karl V. Steinbrugge of San Francisco, structural engineer with the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau; Harry B. Seed of Berkeley, professor of soil engineering and director of the department of civil engineering at University of California; Bruce Bolt of Berkeley, professor of seismology and director of seismographic stations in the earth science building at U. C., and Richard C. Harlan of San Francisco, supervising engineer for Bechtel Corp.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked a week's delay on the appointments, saying he had a man he would like to propose. This was fine with McInnis, who said he wanted to sit down with Zucker and talk over the entire matter.

Supervison Ernest N. Kettenhofen said the study is "maybe a tool for another reason." He was referring to the planning department's earthquake fears raised in the analysis of the Bolinas Harbor District's plan for development of Bolinas Lagoon.

$120 In Tapes Taken

A leather case containing 20 stereophonic tapes worth $120 was stolen yesterday from a car parked at Lincoln Avenue and Laurel Place, San Rafael, owner Stephen J. Parhurst of 1215 Lincoln Avenue told police.

Theft Reported

Steve Balzan, owner of Balzan Dairy, 50 Bay Street, San Rafael, arrived at work yesterday morning to discover the theft of two batteries worth $44 and 20 feet of chain from the rear of his business, he told police.

Injured In Shower

Crawford F. Griggs, 51, of 89 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, was reported in poor condition today in Ross General Hospital with a head injury suffered at 3:47 p.m. yesterday in a fall in the shower at his home.

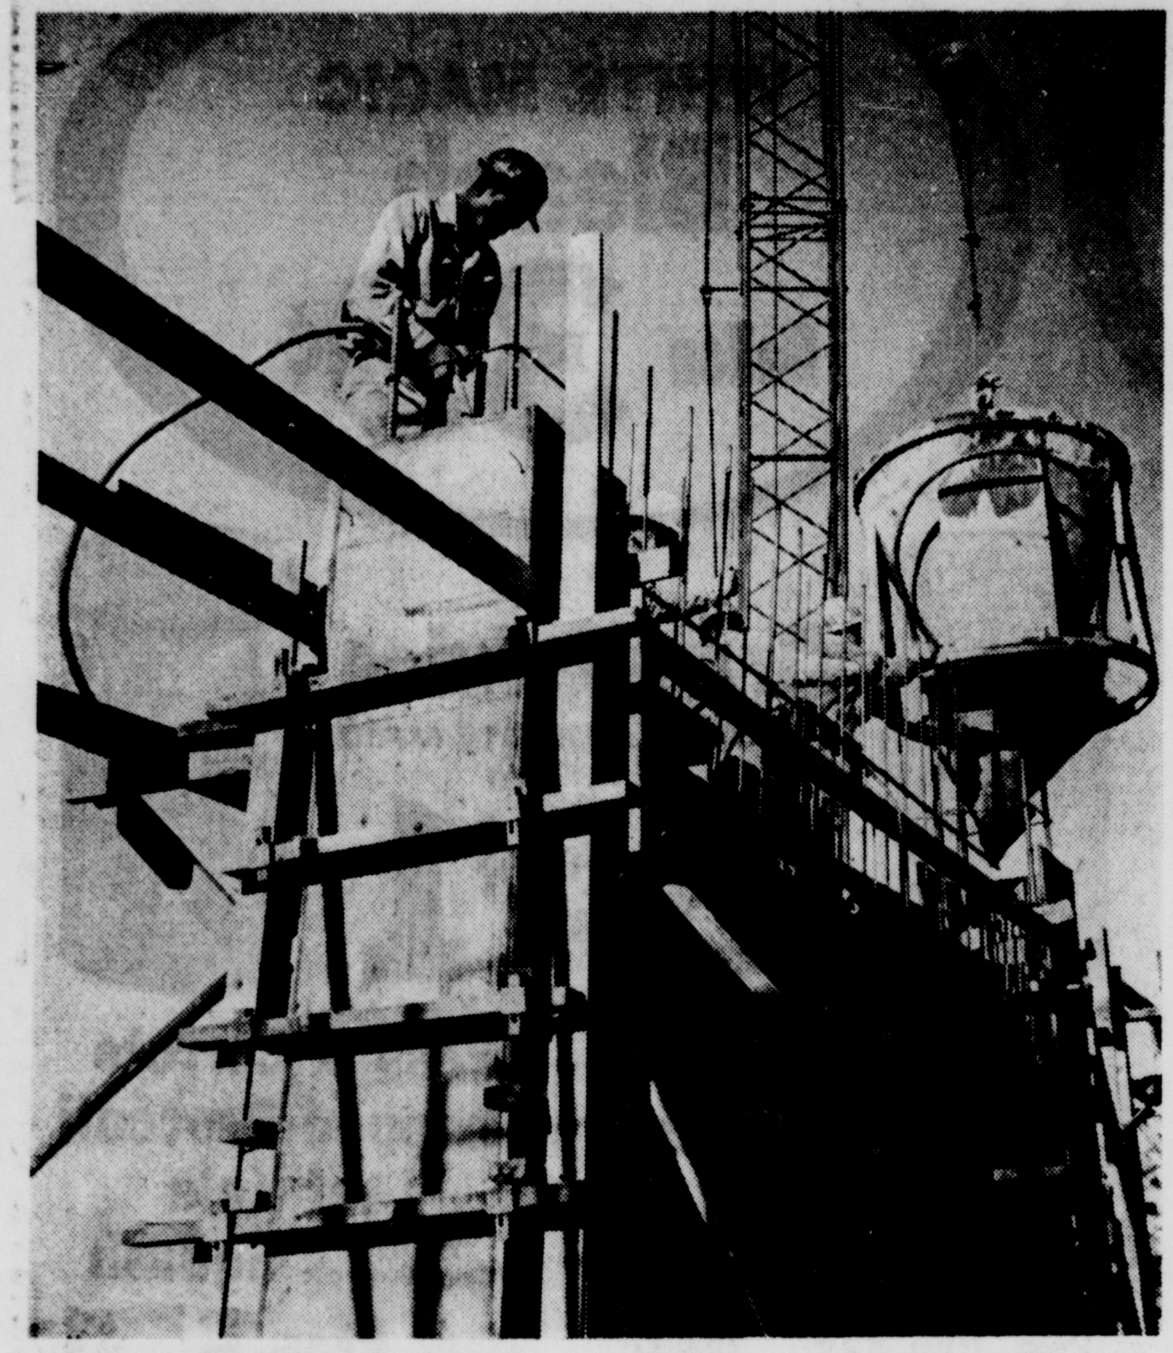
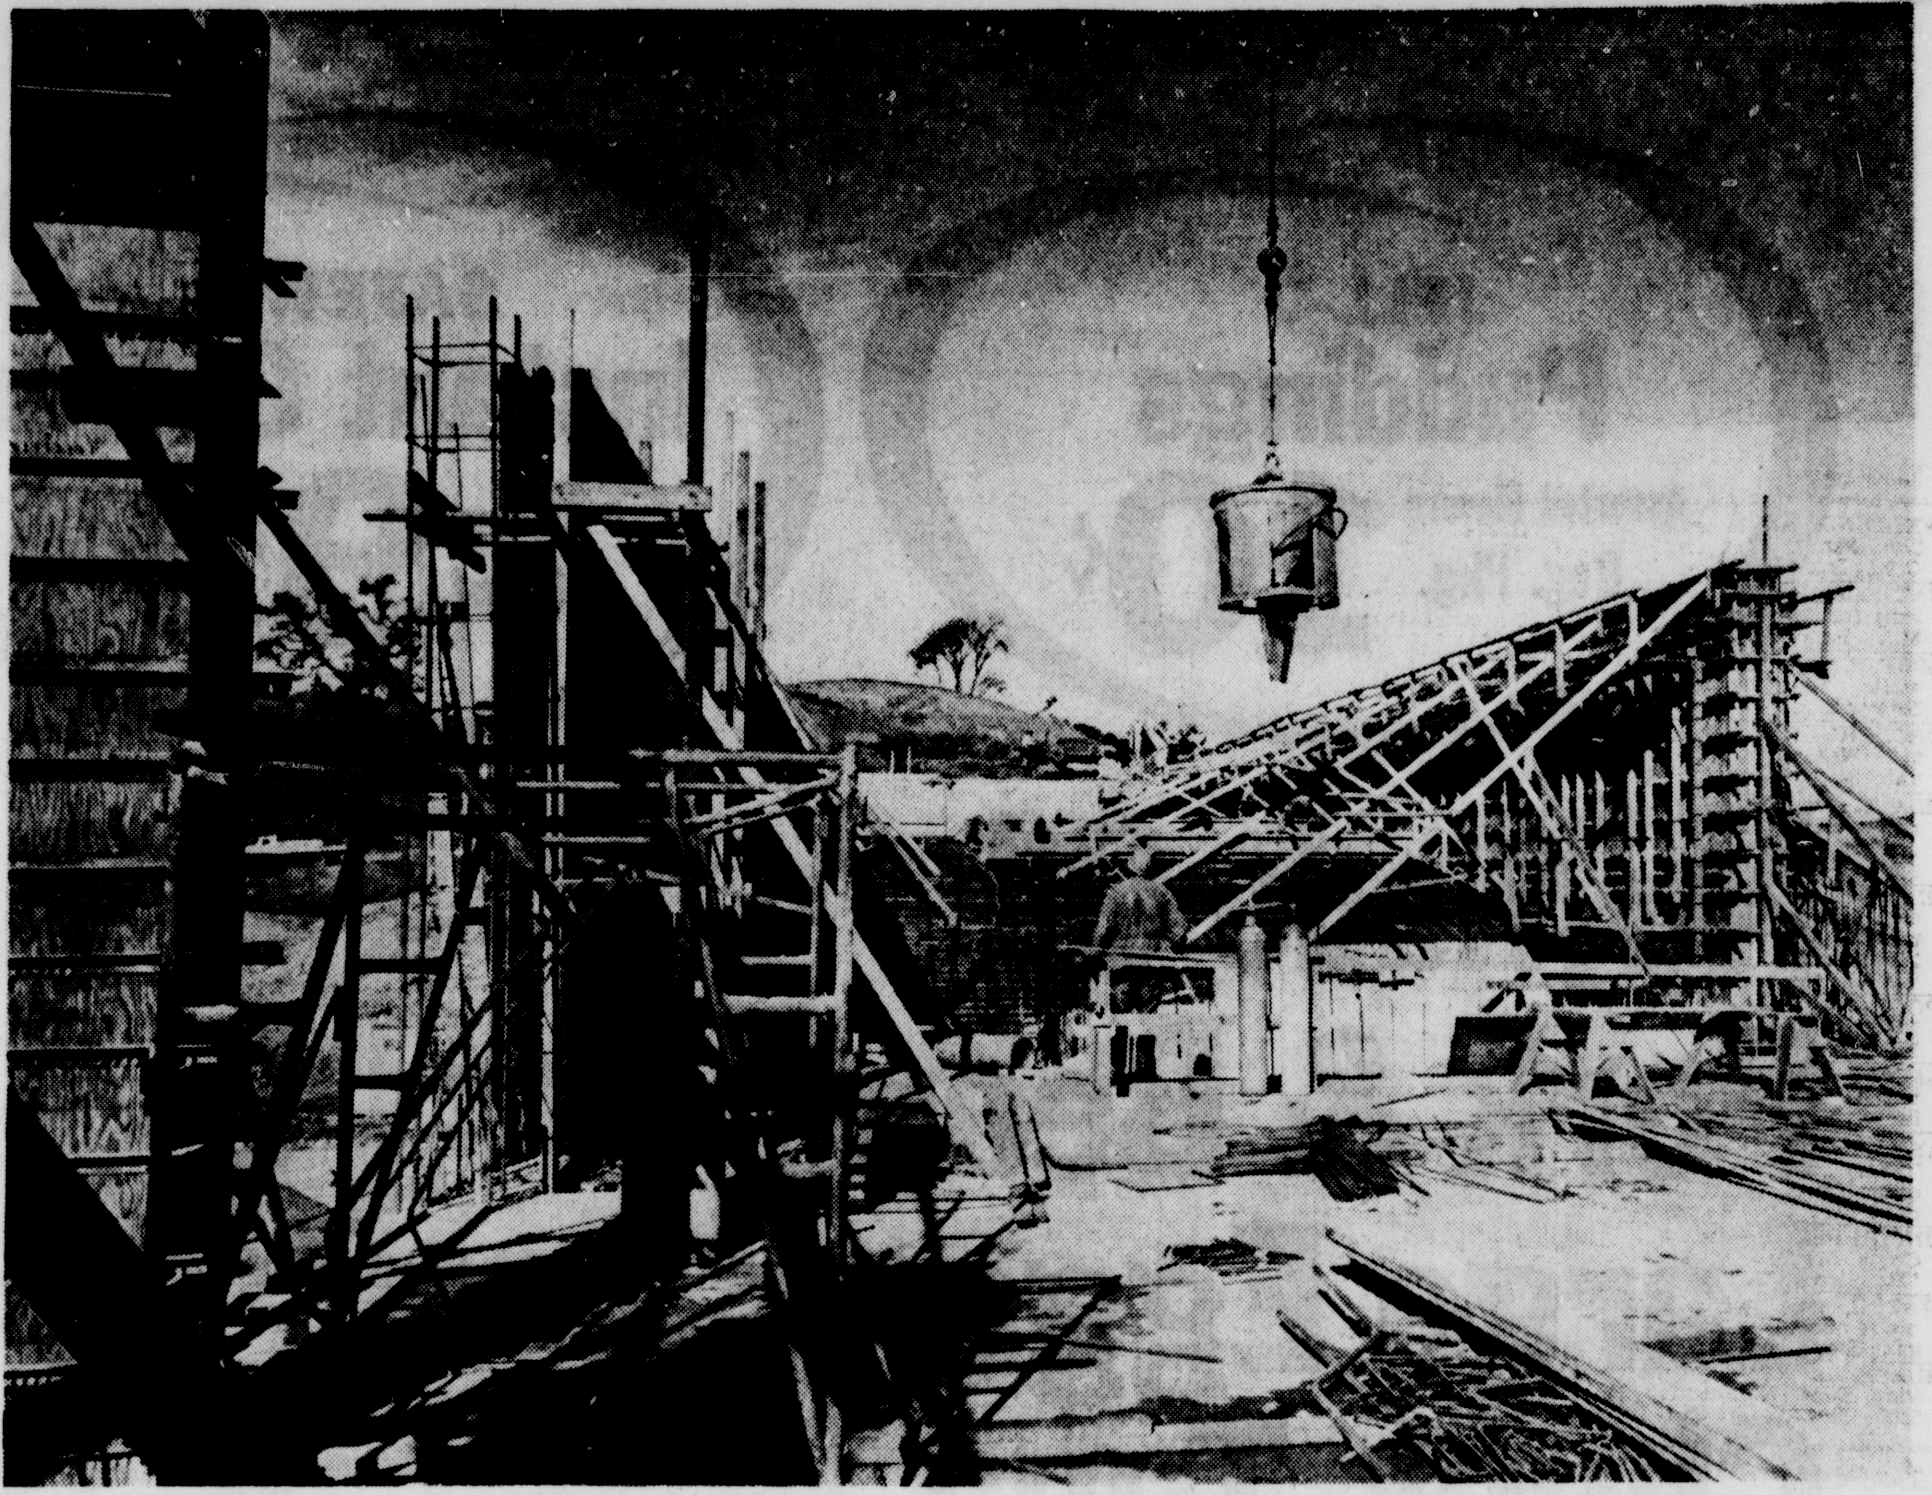
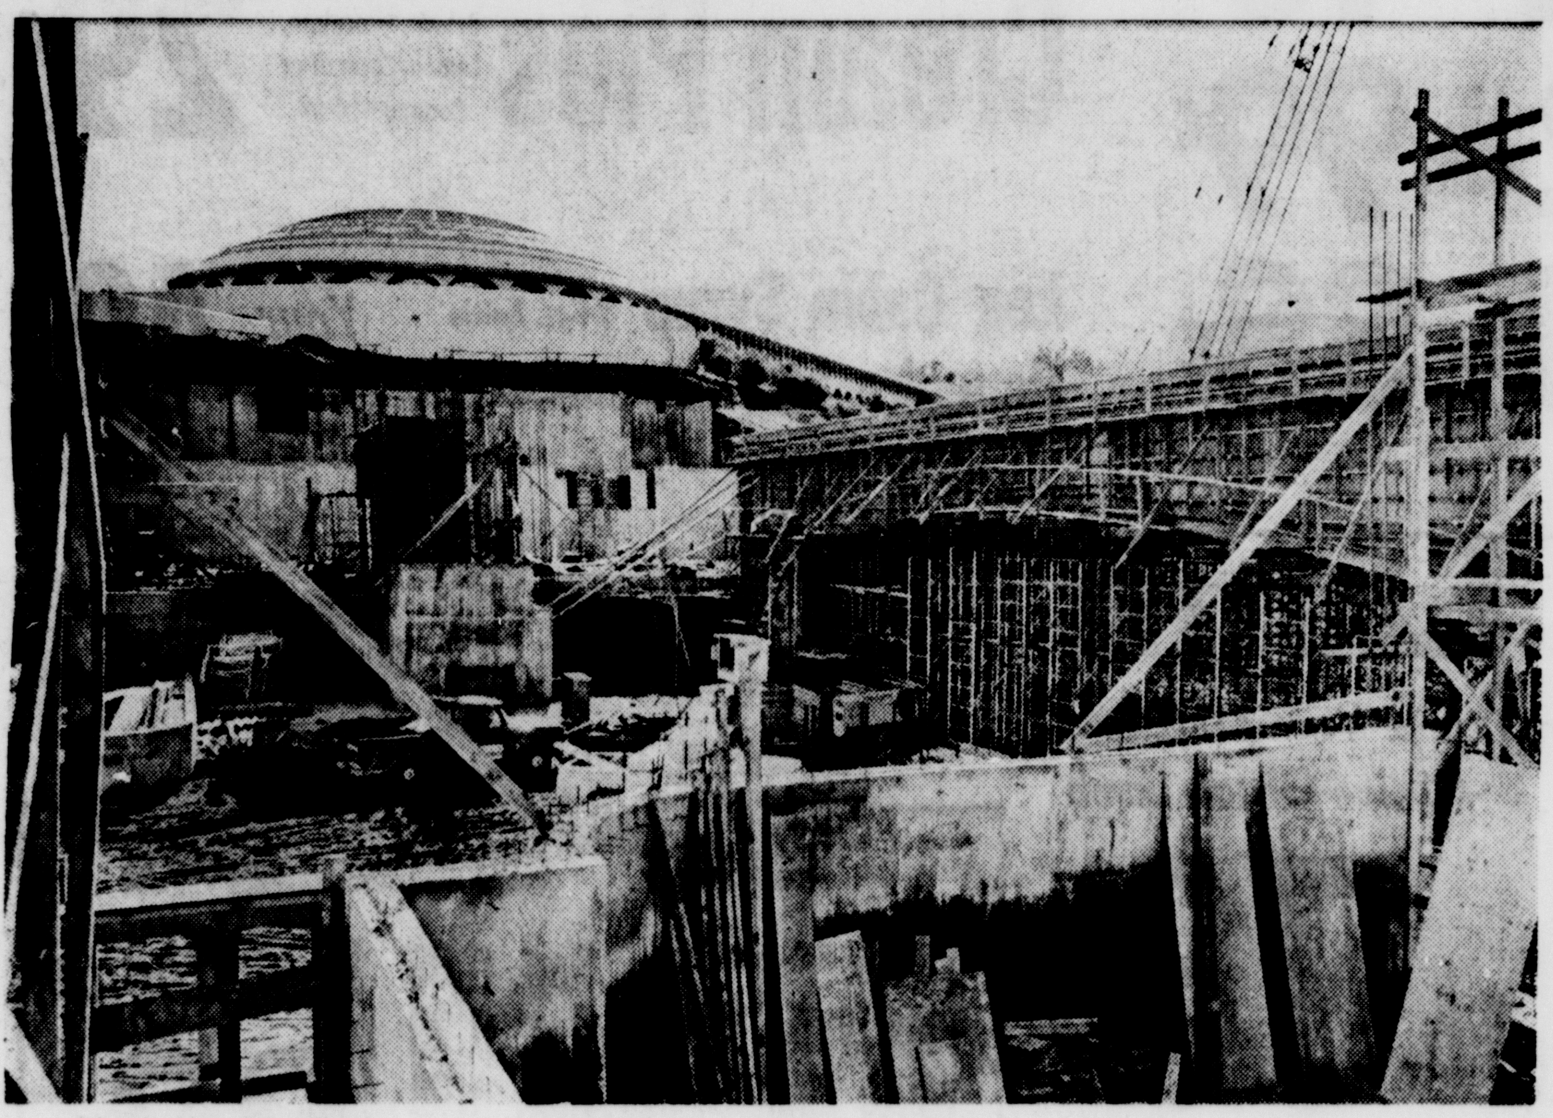
Justice Hall Rising



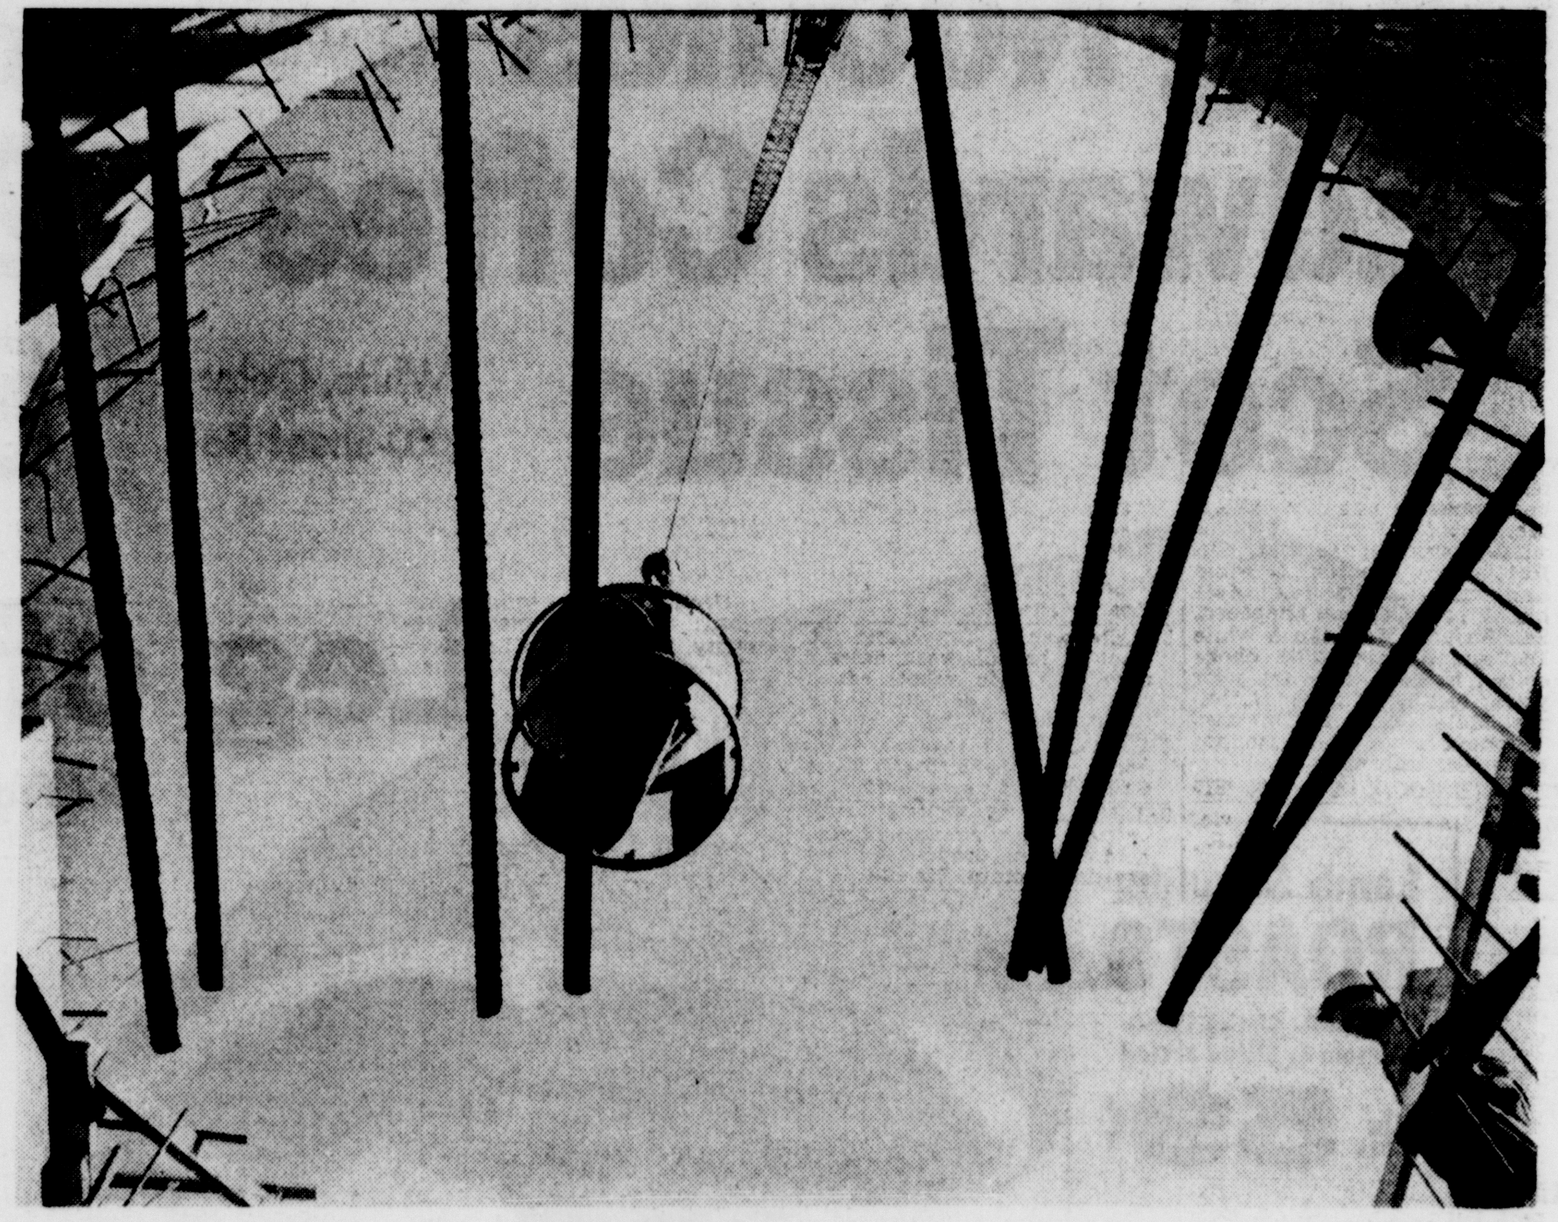
MAKING COLUMN—Otis Williams operates a vibrator to settle the cement into a form for a column near the south arch of the Hall of Justice. Other workers guide cement bucket (right) to another column. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)



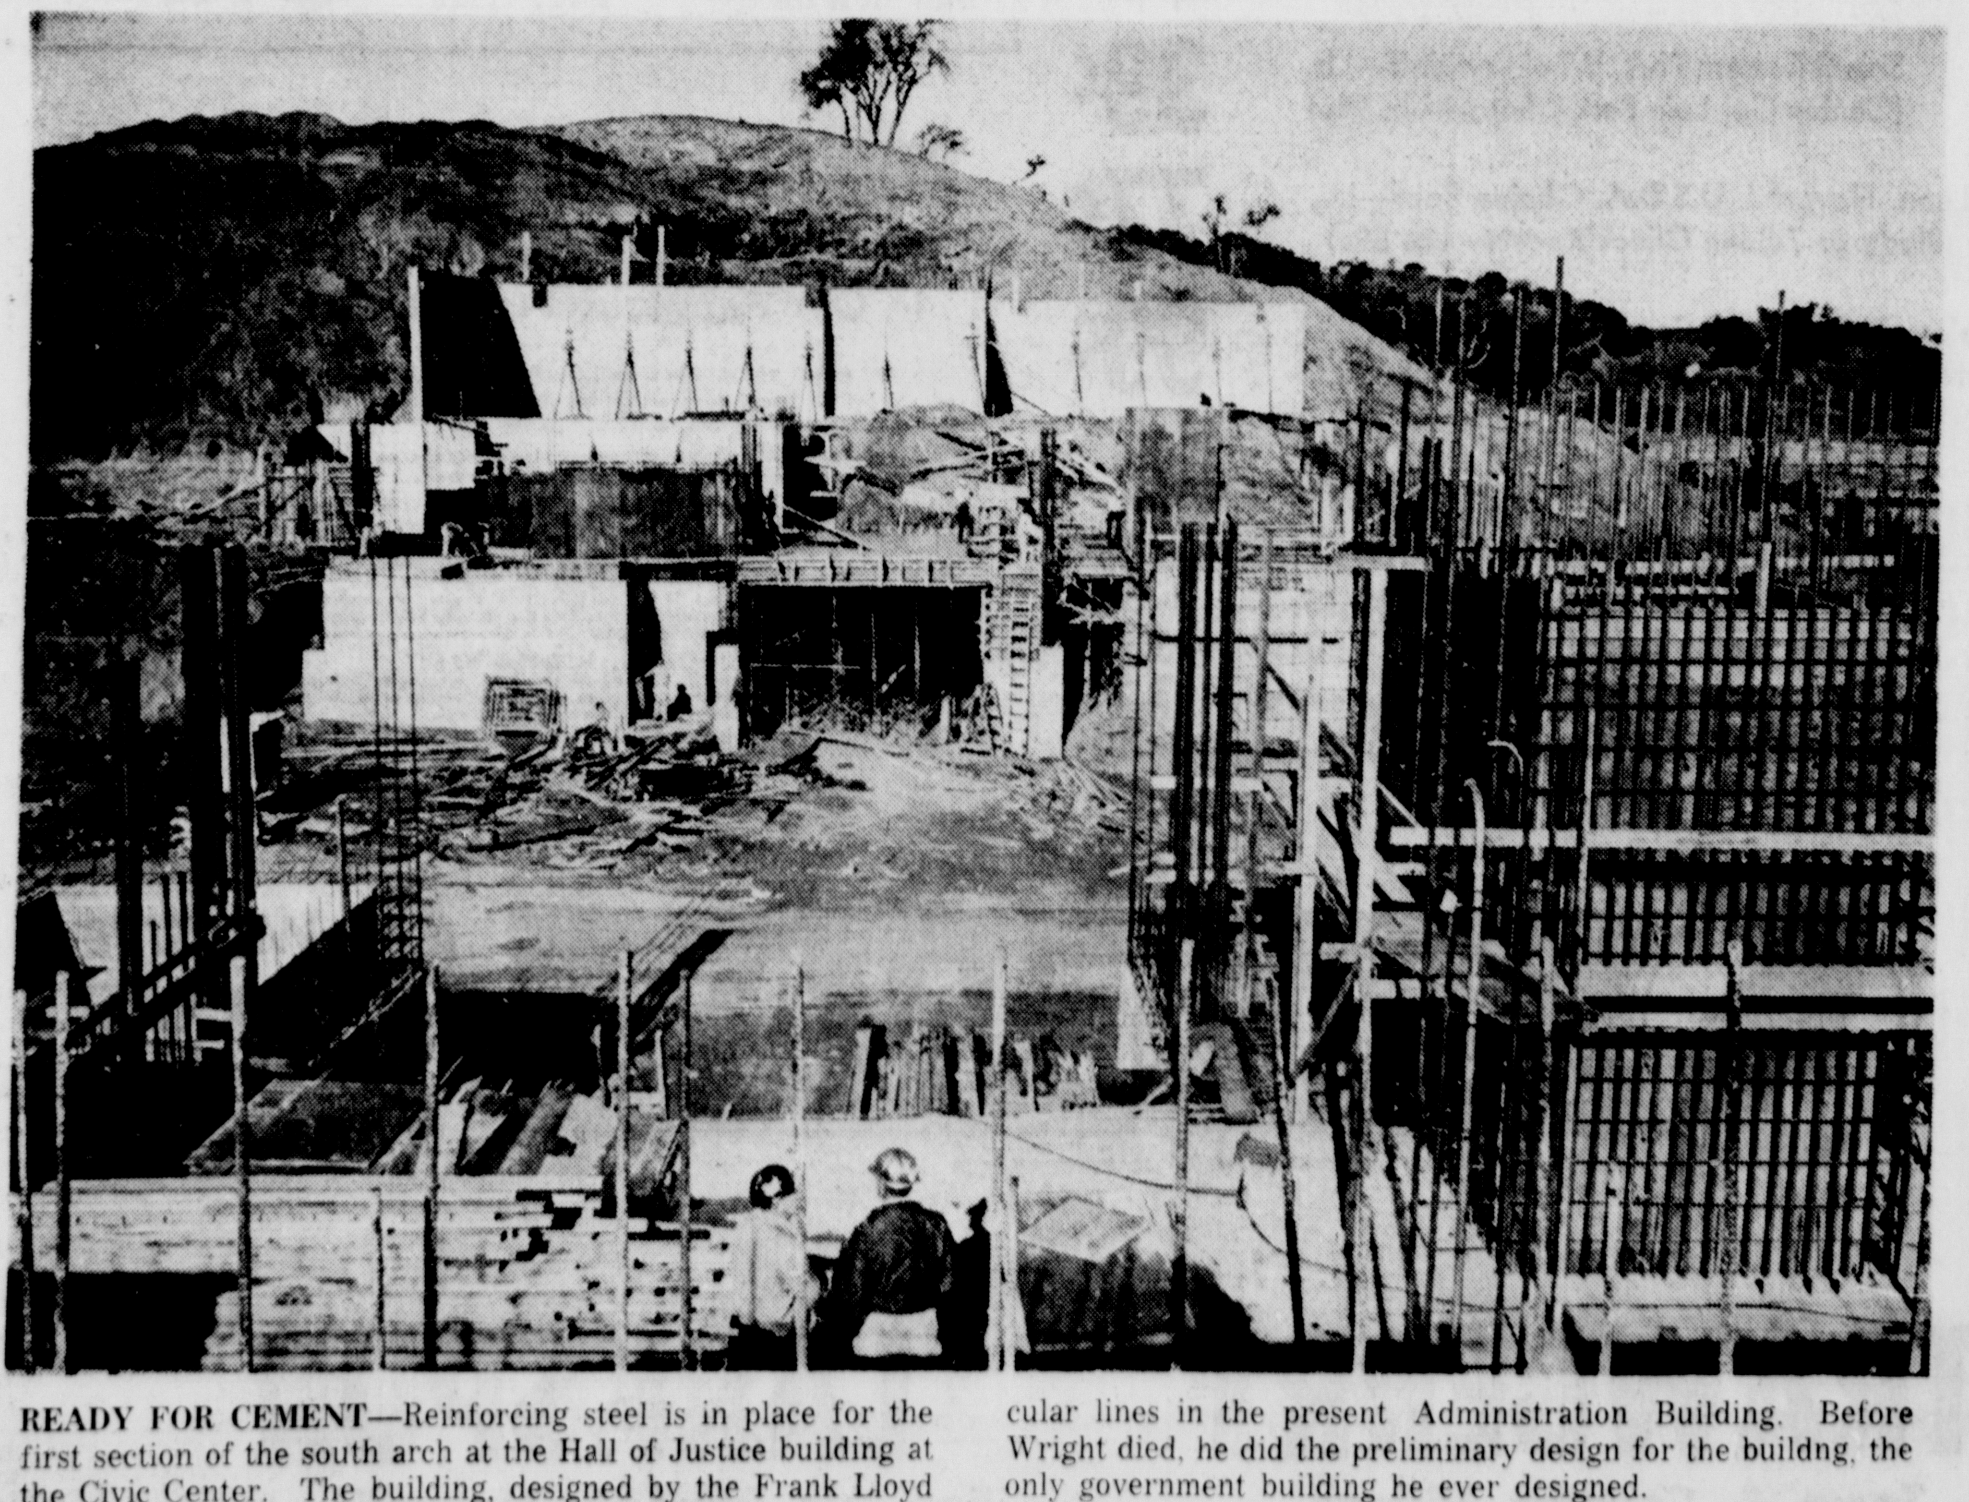
STEEL AND CONCRETE—The $11.25 million Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center is to be completed late in the summer of 1968, but already it has taken definite form across two hills north of the present administration building. This shot, looking north, shows the site for the new county jail. Tower of reinforcing steel at right marks an elevator shaft. An arch, yet to be built, will span the roadway.



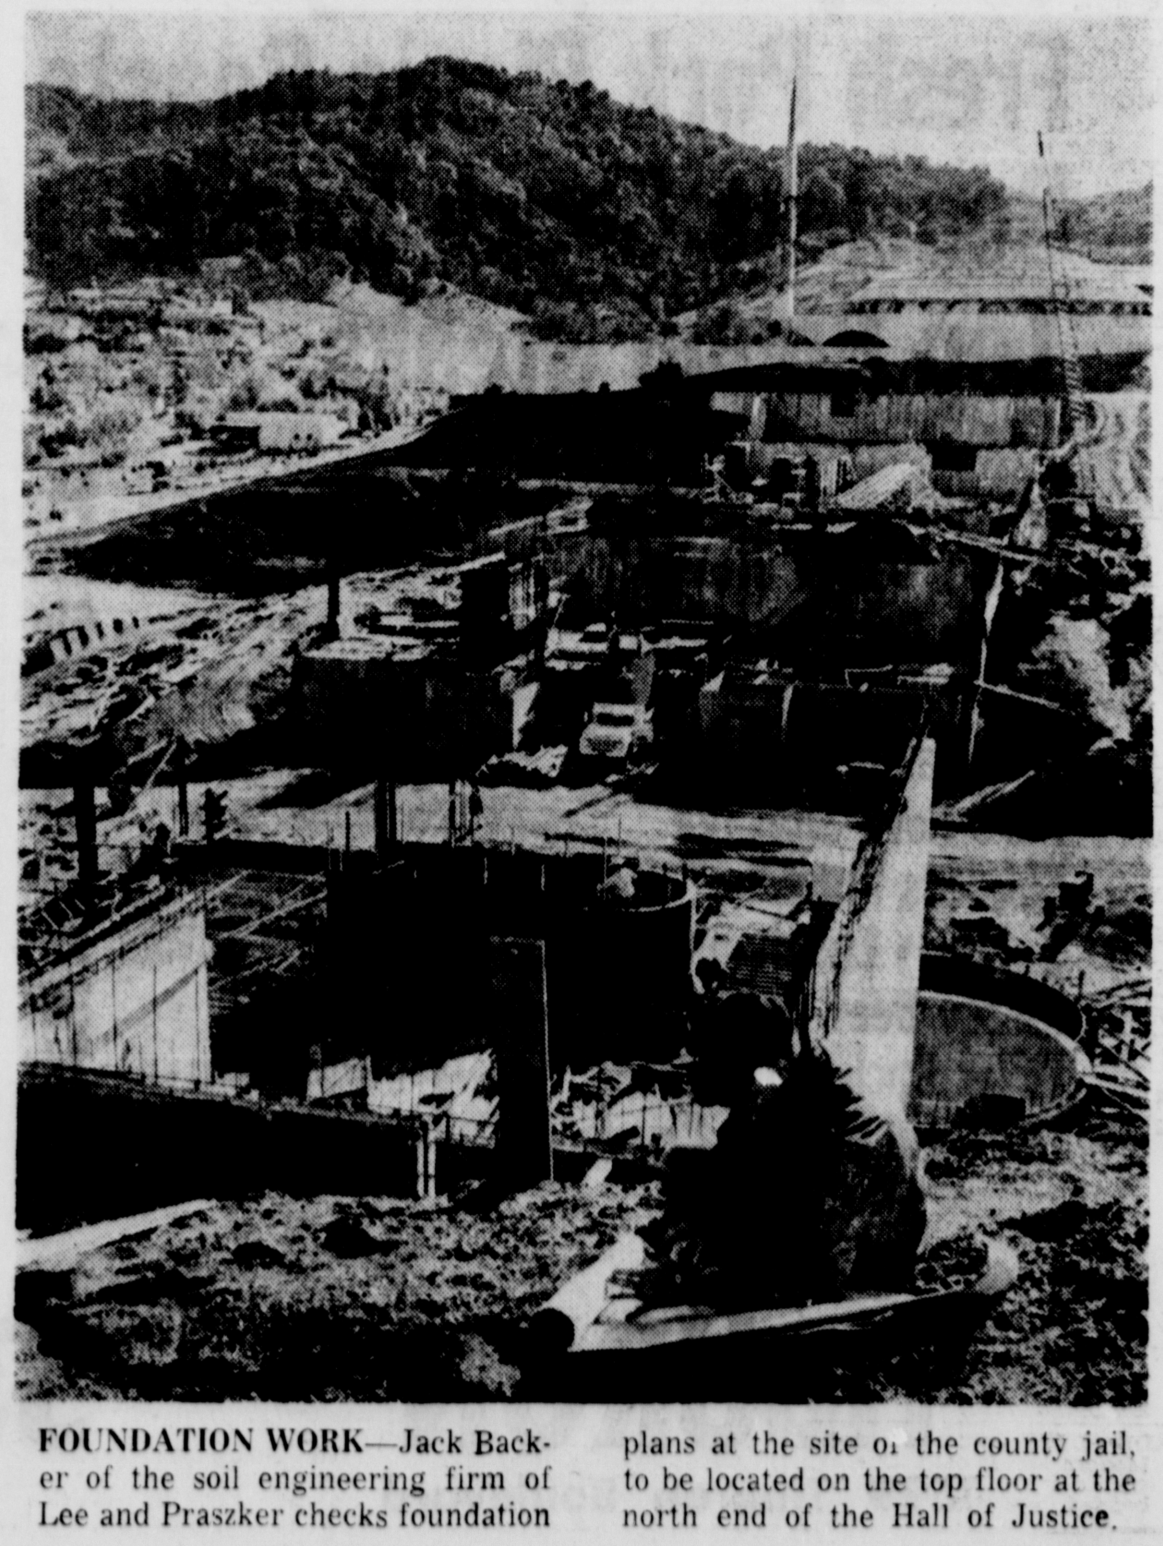
SOUTH ARCH — View of south arch construction also shows the dome of the County Library in the present administration building at the Civic Center. It will remain one floor above the top of the three-story Hall of Justice building. The new addition will house 10 courtrooms and all other county offices now at the courthouse.



PATTERN OF WORK—Looking up an elevator shaft that workers of Robert E. McKee Construction Co. are building near the south arch, provides an artistic pattern for photographer. Boom of huge derrick that lifts the cement bucket appears high in the air.



READY FOR CEMENT—Reinforcing steel is in place for the first section of the south arch at the Hall of Justice building at the Civic Center. The building, designed by the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, will carry on the design of archs and circular lines in the present Administration Building. Before Wright died, he did the preliminary design for the buildng, the only government building he ever designed.



FOUNDATION WORK—Jack Backer of the soil engineering firm of Lee and Praszker checks foundation plans at the site of the county jail, to be located on the top floor at the north end of the Hall of Justice.

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING
in today's market . . .

HOME PRICES AND INTEREST RATES WILL PROBABLY GO HIGHER!

Reliable economists are predicting home prices will be up 20% by 1970. Interest rates, which are high now, will surely not go down, but may get even higher. Home ownership is a great hedge against inflation, and there is a good variety of attractively priced homes on the market. This is a GOOD time to buy, and financing is available. Don't let "scare talk" keep you from having a better home.

NEW CLASSROOMS ROLL INTO PLACE

Portable classrooms for three classes which are meeting in the basement, auditorium and teachers' room of Mill Valley's Park School rolled into place yesterday. Leased for $2,042 annually each from Speedspace Corp., Santa Rosa, they are to be ready within two weeks. They replace rooms in a wing destroyed because it failed to meet earthquake-resistance standards. Walls of the portables were to be expanded to full-room size today by huge balloons inflated inside them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Night Cramping Of Muscles Common After The Age Of 50

VAN DELLEN

Nocturnal cramping of the muscles of the leg and foot is common after age 50. The cause of this disorder is not known, except that cramps are precipitated by stretching or extending the legs and feet when resting or in light sleep. Quinine sulfate is the most popular remedy, possibly because the drug lessens muscle irritability.

Most persons with night cramps have found that immediate relief is obtained by getting out of bed, walking about, or pulling the foot upwards to stretch the tendon Achilles. It may be necessary to pull up the toes with the hands or to rest the weight of the body on the involved extremity with the knee and ankle slightly flexed. Kneading or massaging the calf muscles with the fingers also helps some.

QUININE IS suggested when cramping occurs several times a night or enough to interfere with sleep In one report along this line, a 3-grain tablet at bedtime abolished the spasm in more than 95 per cent of the victims. In some instances the cramps disappeared for days or weeks after the medication was discontinued, but we do not know why.

Quinine should not be used during pregnancy because it may lead to a miscarriage or damage the unborn child. Some persons also are so sensitive to the antimalarial remedy that they develop ringing of the ears, visual disturbances, difficulty in speech and confusion. Other drugs such as aminophylline, calcium and the antihistamines have been used to control nocturnal cramps but none have been so successful as quinine.

A SOMEWHAT similar cramp (intermittent claudication) develops in the calf of the leg during exercise in persons with poor circulation. These individuals usually have hardening of the arteries and pain appears after walking a certain distance. When they stop for a few moments, the distress subsides, but pain returns on walking an equal distance. Quinine has no effect upon this condition.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

AID TO SHOCK THERAPY

A reader writes: I have just spent two weeks in the hospital for electric shock treatments which were given under the supervision of a psychiatrist. They have helped some. I do not understand what these do and how they help. Please explain.

REPLY

We do not know why shock treatment relieves the symptoms of psychotic depression. However, the effect may be temporary unless psychiatric care is given between and after these treatments.

DRUGS AND DRINK

F. W. writes: Do people addicted to the use of dope of any kind drink intoxicating liquors? I'm told they are not drinkers.

REPLY

Some do. In general, however, the alcoholic is not a drug addict and vice versa. Both groups have personality defects and we often hear it said, "If Joe did not drink he would take drugs."

JOINT PAIN

Mrs. H. writes: Could joint pain in a child, without swelling, be a small case of rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Yes, but pain also could stem from arthritis or injury. The condition should be investigated because "a slight case of rheumatic fever," like "a touch of pregnancy" or "a slight case of leprosy," is it.

EYE DEFECT

A. R. writes: Is astigmatism present at birth or does it develop later?

REPLY

In all probability it exists but diagnosis is difficult to make in a newborn.

DISCONTINUED

R. T. M. writes: A man in his 70s with arthritis felt fine after receiving cortisone. But his doctor stopped the medicine and he fell apart again. So long as the remedy made him feel so well, why did the doctor stop it?

REPLY

You and I may never know why it was stopped unless we ask the physician or the patient. There is a possibility that it was discontinued because of side reactions or as a test to determine whether the man's arthritis was cured.

KIDNEY INFECTION

T. J. writes: My doctor says I have pyelitis. Is this the same as inflammation of the kidneys?

REPLY

Pyelitis is inflammation of the pelvis and other parts of the kidney.

SUGAR CUBE EATER

N. W. writes: I don't care for candy but I eat a sugar cube every day. Will this harm my teeth? I'm 24 years old.

REPLY

Yes, but you could nullify the effect by rinsing the mouth with water or brushing the teeth.

Year's Probation On Morals Charge

A year's probation was given Edward Silva, 66, by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Silva originally was charged with felony lewd and lascivious behavior with a 9-year-old girl last Feb. 13 at his home, 360 Bell Lane, Mill Valley. He pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of contributing on Nov. 21.

Poison's Effect Seems To Depend On Timing

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A poison is always a poison. Or is it?

It may depend on the time of day it is given.

By the same token, a lifesaving drug, administered to a dying man at the wrong hour, may lose all its healing powers.

Circadian rhythms, natural peaks and valleys in the daily cycle of physiological activity, account for this phenomenon, which has far-reaching applications for medicine and science.

As physiologists gain greater insight into man's time scale, it will be possible to know not only what dose of a drug to give patients, but also at what time of day it should be given.

Studies of rats given potentially lethal doses of amphetamine, a common stimulant of the central nervous system, showed that its action varied significantly over a 24-hour day. Dr. Lawrence E. Scheving of the Chicago Medical School reported that up to 78 per cent of the rats died at certain hours, while at other times amphetamine was fatal to only 6 per cent.

Once the good and bad hours have been determined for one group of animals, it can be safely predicted that others of the same species will respond in the same way, Dr. Scheving told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here. Similar rhythmic results were found in animals tested with nicotine, strychnine and other drugs, he said.

The relation of body rhythms and susceptibility to drugs was first noticed by Dr. Franz Halberg and his colleagues at the University of Minnesota, who have also found reactions to physical stimuli such as noise vary rhythmically.

Some attempts to apply this knowledge to clinical medicine have been made, though no foolproof way to use it has been found.

Dr. Richard J. Wurtman, an endocrinologist at the National Institute of Mental Health, relates rhythmicity to the treatment of Addison's disease, which results when the adrenal gland fails to secrete enough hormones.

Hormone injections help, but patients seldom feel completely well, Dr. Wurtman said, and "one reason is that we can't quite duplicate the natural rhythms of these secretions."

Normally, though, they seem to be highest in the blood about 6 a.m. and lowest at about 10 p.m.

Earth May Have Fainter Version Of Saturn's Rings

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — A cloud of dust particles surrounds earth, giving it a halo like one of the rings around Saturn.

It's apparently not a very dense or even ring, but might be visible from space, under some circumstances.

Astronomers weren't sure of its existence until 1961.

But what astronomers for the last five years thought was only two blobs of matter in the area of the moon's orbit around earth now appears to be a continuous, if mottled and uneven belt.

The halo of matter was detected by an expedition of the Polish Astronautical Society under the direction of astronomer Dr. K. Kordylewski, Cracow, and his co-workers.

In 1961 Dr. Kordylewski had reported the discovery of two natural, cloud-like satellites circling earth in paths at the same distance as the moon.

They found then that two cloud-like satellites can be seen as faintly luminous patches with the unaided eye under favorable conditions. Now they have found that the light-reflecting material exists not only at the two points where the cloud satellites are located, but also along the entire lunar orbit.

This terrestrial ring can be detected only at specified times, Dr. Kordylewski reported to the world center for astronomical discoveries in Cambridge, Mass. His group has calculated that the next time for favorable observations is Jan. 7 through Jan. 21 in the constellations of Leo, the lion, and Virgo, the virgin, which will be in the southwestern sky at that time.

The visual observation of earth's far-out halo was made by Dr. Kordylewski's group from Africa on 15 nights between Oct. 9 and Dec. 14, 1966. The zodiacal band was not homogeneous, but had a mottled structure that was observed independently by 10 members of the expedition during at least 1,000 determinations.

Circling Saturn Probe Spotted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered a 10th satellite circling Saturn just outside the rings that are its trademark.

The satellite apparently is the closest to the planet and the rings, collections of particles that reflect light.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, a clearing house for information about celestial discoveries, confirmed the discovery last night.

A spokesman said the satellite is between 100 and 200 miles in diameter, but not visible to the naked eye on earth.

Saturn, about 71,500 miles in diameter, is some 886,700,000 miles from the earth. Its largest ring is 170,000 miles in diameter.

Big Jewelry Theft From Hotel Suite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jewelry worth between $25,000 and $40,000 was reported stolen last night from the Nob Hill hotel suite of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laggren of Hartford, Conn.

Police said the Laggrens discovered the loss when they returned from dinner.

Another Lively Labor Front Year Seen

By SAMUEL SHARKEY JR.
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Outgoing 1966, contrary to early expectations of a "quiet labor year," turned out to be one of the liveliest in a decade.

Incoming 1967 seems certain to be even livelier. This means:

1. More strikes or threats of strikes.
2. More potential public distress and inconvenience.
3. Higher wage and fringe benefit increases, completing the demolition of the Johnson administration's 3.2 per cent anti-inflation guideposts.
4. Stronger efforts in Congress for anti-strike legislation.
5. New attempts to extend "right-to-work" laws to more states.

The contracts that expire in 1967 indicate the increased action is due on the labor front.

More than 700 major agreements, each covering 1,000 or more workers, will run out. They directly involve 3.1 million union members. Potential sympathy walkouts or refusals to cross picket lines could affect many thousand additional workers.

In 1966, by comparison, contracts affecting only 976,000 workers came up for renewal.

Yet the "quiet" year saw the New York City transit and newspaper strikes, the massive airline tieup, waves of walkouts by public employees, including firemen, nurses, teachers, sanitation workers and others, the 16-week bituminous coal strike, sporadic tie-ups at General Electric and Westinghouse, and many others.

In the first nine months of the year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics says, strikes caused 18.8 million man-days of idleness, for a lost-time ratio of 0.19 per cent. This was up substantially from 1964's 0.14 per cent.

The 1967 list of contract openings includes autos, machinery, trucking, apparel, communications, electrical products, food products, meat-packing, paper and tobacco.

First on the list is James R. Hoffa and his International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the country's largest union.

He's said flatly he wants at least a 5 per cent wage increase in negotiations scheduled to begin in January. The contract, the national freight trucking pact, involves some 400,000 of his 1.7 million members, and expires in March.

Union and industry sources have voiced alarm over Hoffa's imminent departure for prison, where he faces 13 years and fraud and conspiracy in handling union funds. He is regarded as a shrewd but realistic negotiator who understands the trucking business perhaps better than the owners themselves.

Indications are Hoffa will push briskly for an early accord before the prison gates clang, both to insure better benefits for his men and to strengthen his hand for continuing to control the union from his cell.

The biggest bloc in contract renewals covers 623,000 members of the United Auto Workers, starting in September against General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Walter Reuther's control of his union is under intense fire from his skilled workers. They have wrung from him a veto over any contract they do not like. This has had the effect of giving the 100,000 or so skilled workers minority control over agreements — and the majority of workers are thoroughly unhappy with Reuther.

Reuther, like Hoffa, has indicated he wants at least a 5 per cent pay increase. He plans to fight hardest for putting hourly-wage workers on regular salaries like white-collar workers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has given his blessing to the 5 per cent concept, even though it is well above President Johnson's 3.2 per cent guideposts.

There are strong indications that the President's Council of Economic Advisers will move in 1967, at least for the one year, to a more flexible guidepost policy. The council is understood to expect the economy to level off enough by 1968 to permit a return to the 3.2 figure.

The miltancy among the auto workers is a reflection of general union unrest, sparked in considerable measure by rising prices. The consumer price index has increased 3.7 per cent since January.

This was a factor in the strike by the International Assn of Machinists against five major airlines and led to the union's insistence on a cost-of-living escalator clause.

The 38,000 machinists in that strike, and 210,000 electrical workers who also won escalators, brought the total now covered by such benefits to 2.2 million, highest since 1962. Numerous unions have vowed to insist on escalators in 1967 as a hedge against inflation.

Labor's power waned on capitol hill last year, and union chieftains are candid in expressing their fears of what the new, more conservative Congress might do.

One group of labor's most important allies, Negro civil rights leaders, are slipping out from under Meany's tent because they charge he is not pushing union integration quickly enough.

And any break in the labor bloc could help the drive or right-to-work advocates to put the issue on state ballots. Initial targets are New Mexico, Idaho and Oklahoma. Drives also are planned in three big industrial states, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania, but prospects are dimmer there.

The overall picture for labor in 1967 is for an active, troubled year that, directly or indirectly, will affect most nonunion Americans, too.

Courtroom TV Cameras Blasted

ATHENS, Oiho (AP)—Associate Justice Tom Clark of the U.S. Supreme Court said today that television cameras in the courtroom would make jurors, lawyers and judges nothing more than ham actors.

Clark delivered the majority opinions in both the Billy Sol Estes and Samuel Sheppard cases establishing guidelines for coverage of jury trials.

He elaborated at a news conference by saying the public must grow accustomed to the television technique before the camera is permitted in the courtroom.

82-Year-Old's Span Leap Foiled

Discouraged by declining health, failing sight and hearing, an 82-year-old man walked away from Aldersly Danish home in San Rafael yesterday and tried to jump off the Golden Gate Bridge.

George J. Vidar may have taken a bus part of the way but was seen walking out on the bridge, where he climbed over the main rail to the outside rail below the east side of the span.

Two bridge painters, Rosenaldo Salazar and William Gavre, grabbed him and pulled him back to safety.

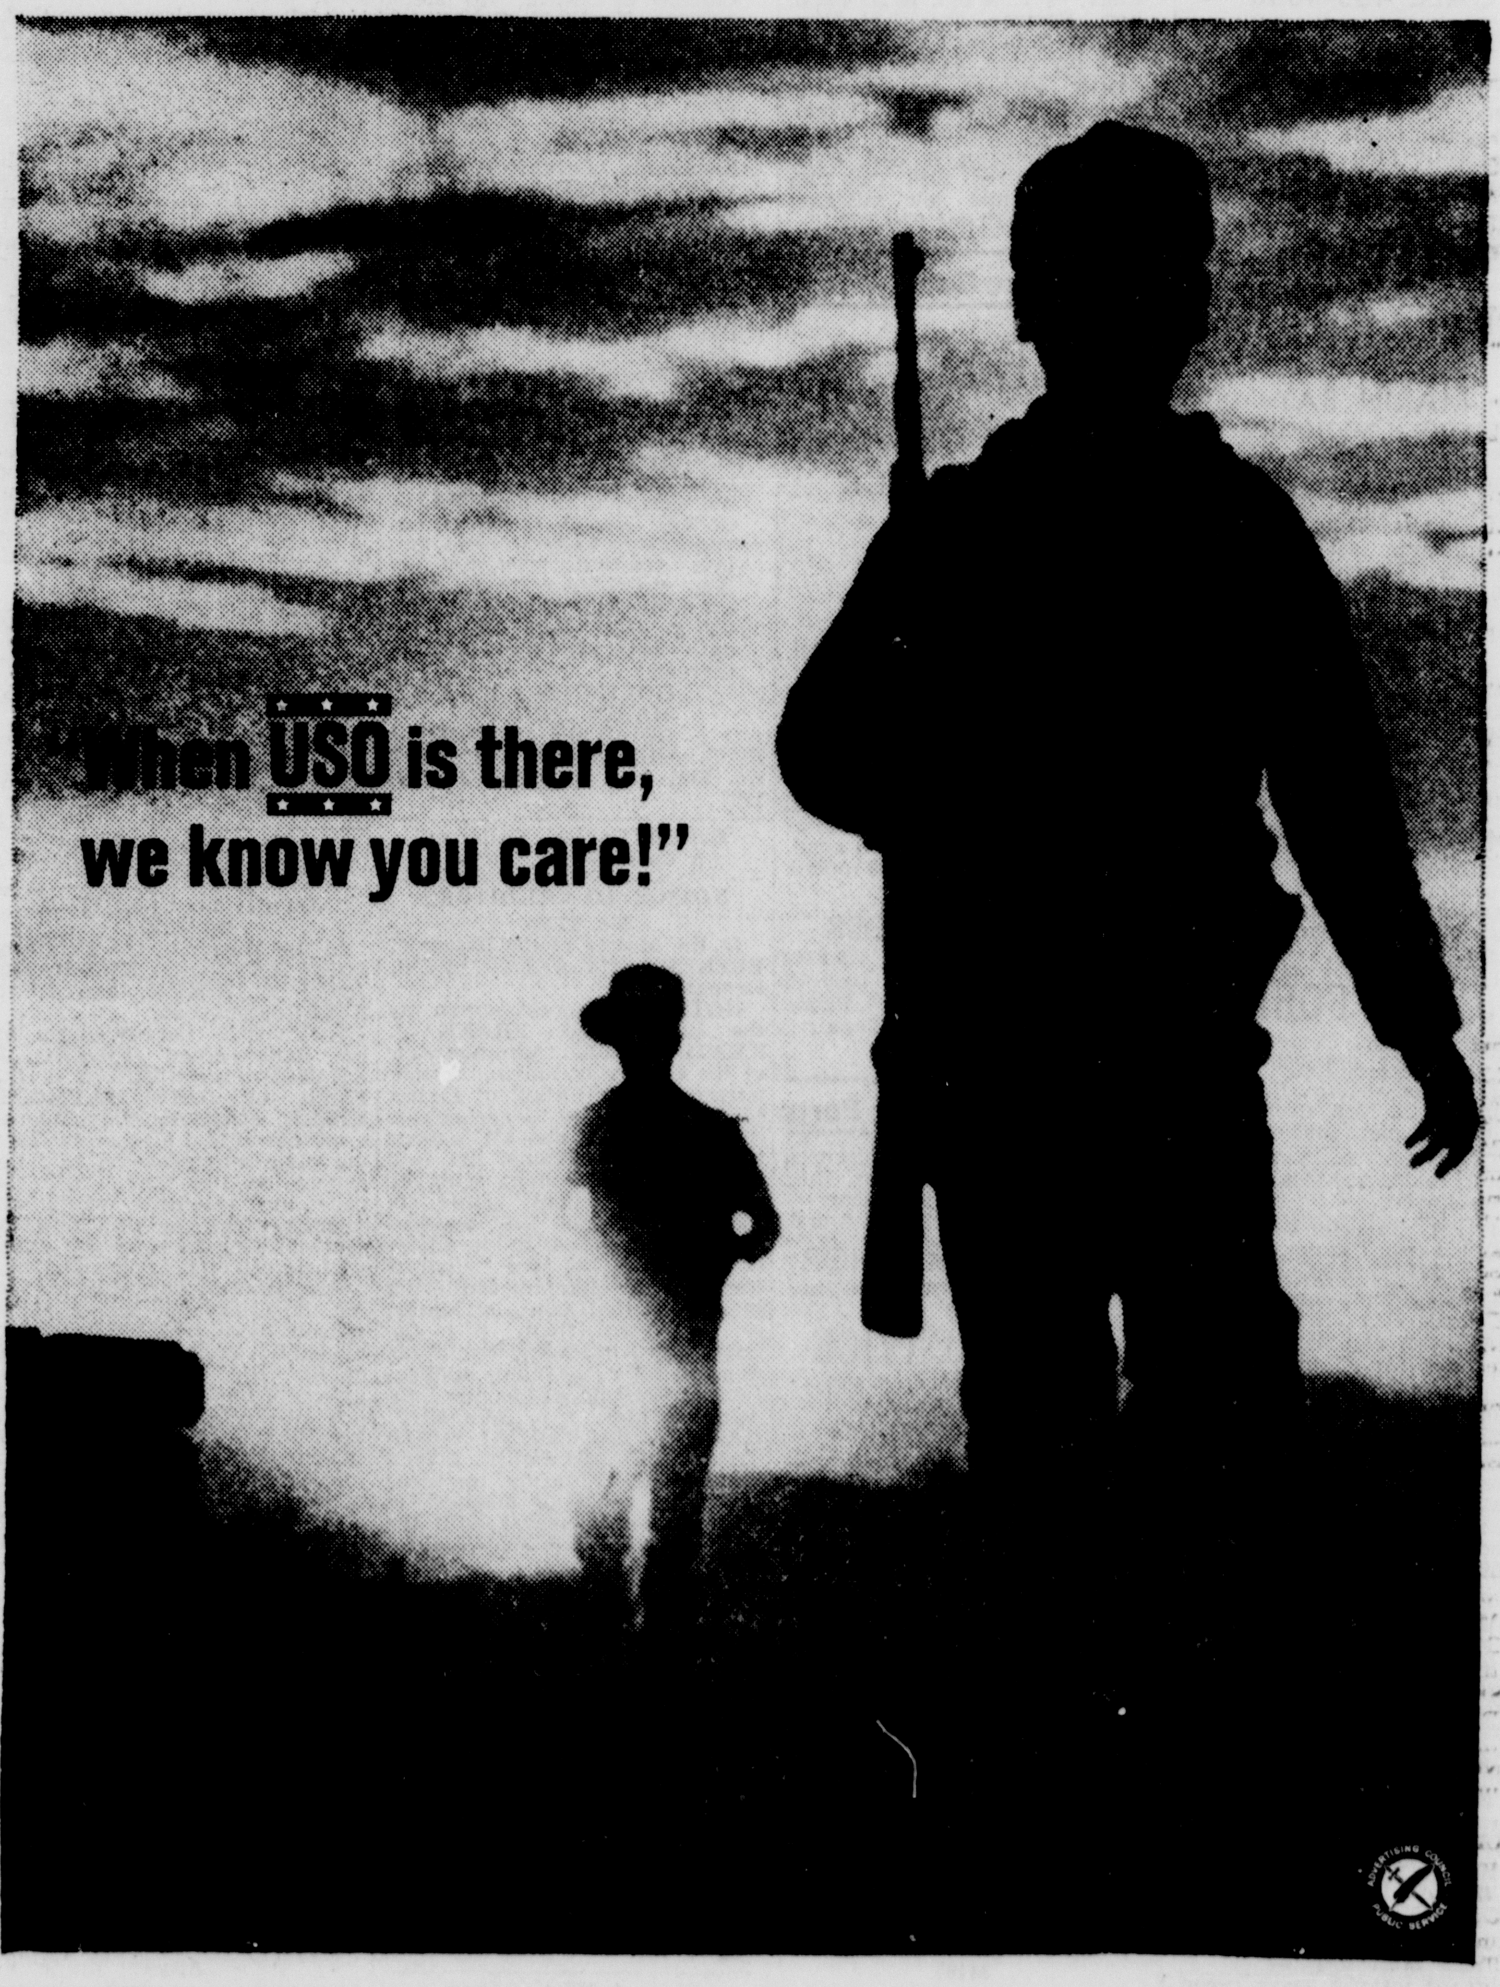
California Highway Patrol officer Lawrence R. McGuire released Vidar to the manager of the Danish home.

Auto Accident Causes Blackout

A driver suffered facial cuts and a fractured nose in an accident which cut off electricity from 50 homes Sunday.

David Griffin, 18 of 10 La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, was driving west on North San Pedro Road, according to California Highway Patrol, when his car went off a curve and sheered off a power pole at 1 a.m.

Service was out uni.until 10 a.m. while Pacific Gas and Electric Co. repairmen replaced the pole and its lines. Griffin was treated for his injuries at Marin General Hospital.



How many miles from home are they now? The soldier in the steaming canebrake. The youngster on the Arctic icecap. The sailor in the teeming foreign port? The displaced, lonely millions who serve our nation, defend our freedoms across the world.

Just as far as their nearest USO. For wherever they go, USO is there. With warmth and friendship, with interest and concern, with a welcome choice of conduct. And with famous entertainers giving shows that spice his loneliness with joy.

USO is your way of saying "thank you" to the men and women who serve us all. As it has been for 25 years. This year, give more, because the job is so much bigger. Remember, USO gets no government funds. It is supported by voluntary contributions through your United Fund or Community Chest. U.S.O. is there, only if you care.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Viewers Showing Series Rebellion

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The latest national television ratings seem to verify the increasing suspicion that viewers are growing weary of imbecilic little series, and are seeking out special programs more than ever.

It is true that the pre-holiday period covered in these ratings is known for its added number of specials, but the audiences for the one-shot broadcasts were still impressive—and no one forces viewers to watch, no matter what the season.

SPECIAL TALENT

Perhaps most impressive was the fact that even among the top regular series listed, viewers sought out the special talents—Red Skelton, Lucille Ball, the late Walt Disney, Jackie Gleason, Dean Martin, Andy Williams.

Only a relative handful of the run-of-the-mill situation comedies were well up in the statistics. In fact, most of the worst junk ground out weekly by the film factories was pretty well down in the ratings, which might make certain key network executives ponder a big on past programming cliches. Are they behind their audiences?

THE FILMS

As for one favored branch of "special" broadcasting—movies—the ratings substantiated the continuing popularity in this area, with four of the five weekly network motion pictures finishing among the top 41 shows—a strong public endorsement.

With "Bonanza" ranking No. 1 again, the second-rated show was a special that was also seen last season, "A Charlie Brown Christmas," based on the characters of the "Peanuts" comic strip.

Next in the rankings was a Danny Thomas special—his third annual edition of "The Wonderful World of Burlesque." And following his program in the ratings was the Frank Sinatra musical special.

Another one-shot broadcast, "Dr. Seuss' how the Grinch stole Christmas," came in sixth in the ratings. And a Bob Hope comedy special from Acapulco finished 12th.

NOT HAPPY

Disenchantment with the regular series of the new season was indicated again when the show, "Family Affair," came in 24th among all entries. The next highest new seris, "Rat Patrol," which ranked third early in the season, finished in the 30th position this time out.

But "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol," a holdover special from past seasons, was No. 27; a National Geographic documentary about insects, "The Hidden World," was No. 28, and a first-run holiday outing entitled "Christmas with Lorne Green" was No. 33.

Perhaps, though, the most interesting statistics were those that indicated that quality specials—or at least those that try to be of quality—needn't finish at the very bottom of the ratings even though they may not rank at the top.

NO FLUKE

For example, of h te 106 programs listed in the ratings, the drama "The Glass Menagerie" came in No. 60, which actually is a heartening development—and seemed to prove that the success last year of "Death of a Salesman" was no fluke.

Furthermore, a rerun of "The Nutcracker," the ballet with Tchaikovsky's music, was No. 63. And "The Hallmark Hall of Fame" production of "Blithe Spirit" was No. 65—and this series often in the past has finished much further down.

"Christ is Born," a beautiful telling of the story of the nativity, ran up against "Blithe Spirit," yet managed to come in No. 76, with a rating better than that of "The Green Hornet," "Candid Camera," "The Monroes" and many other weekly series.

Husband Follows Wife In Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lawrence Edward Smith, 43, who survived the All Hallow's church fire in which his wife died nearly three years ago with 16 other victims, took his own life yesterday.

The coroner reported Smith's body was found in his car with a hose leading from the exhaust pipe. A note on the dashboard said, "I'm sorry, I hate to do it this way. This is the very best way out."

After the death of his wife, Margaret, 35, Smith arranged for the boarding of his children—Lawrence Jr. 6 and Felicia Margaret 5—at the home of a neighbor.

Mrs. Ernest Gotlieb, who cared for the children, said Smith was away much of the time working as an inspector for the Military Airlift Command.

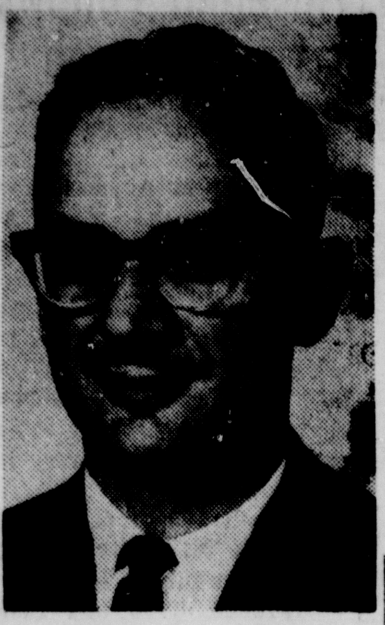
Marin Republicans Elect Michals Committee Head



CHARLES MICHALS
Chosen by acclamation

Charles Michales of Greenbrae was elected chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee last night at the organizational meeting in the county courthouse.

The expected struggle for leadership between Michals and outgoing chairman Gerald E. Misner of San Anselmo did not materialize, at least on the surface.

Misner pulled out of the running and left the field to Michals, who was elected by acclamation.

Misner, who served four years as vice chairman and four years as chairman, said he would bow out in the interests of party unity. He said he also owes his family and his business more of his time and attention.

Michals is a public affairs specialist with Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco. Michals headed the Marin campaign last year for George Christopher, then swung his support behind Ronald Reagan after Reagan's primary victory.

Michals is former president of Marin County Young Republicans and Marin Republican Council, and was vice chairman of the Marin Republican Central Committee until his promotion last night.

Elected to serve with Michals are:

Charles I. Daniels Jr. of San Rafael, vice chairman; Genevieve Grunstrom of Novato, women's vice chairman. David B. Allison of Mill Valley, secretary, and Matthew A. Graham of San Rafael, treasurer.

District chairman in the five supervisorial districts are: Herbert K. Walton Jr. of San Rafael, first district. James McNab of Ross, second; Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon, third; Colin Claxon of San Rafael, fourth; and J. Wallis Madocks of Novato, fifth.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, commended outgoing chairman Misner for a job well done and pleged support to new chairman Michals. Describing the new administration in Sacramento, McCarthy declared: "I think you're going to be proud of this legislature and proud of the new governor. We just have one helluva governor!"

Paul R. Haerle, San Rafael attorney who headed the Reagan campaign in Marin, announced that James McNab of Ross is the new chairman for Reagan in Marin. McNab's job will be coordination with Sacramento and helping make Marin County appointments for the Reagan administration.

Haerle has been promoted to chairmanship of the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan Committee. He last night named Edwin Thomas of San Rafael as treasurer for the Northern California Friends of Governor Reagan.

Bond Election On School Board Agenda

A resolution setting a $275,000 bond election March 21 is scheduled for adoption by Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees when they meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Bolinas School. The bonds would be to meet district needs over the next 10 years.

Also to be considered are procedures to screen seven architects who applied for the district building program.

Supervised Probation On Morals Charges

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Eugene J. McCann Jr., 39-year-old television announcer, on five years supervised probation for lewd and lascivious behavior with minors.

He also ordered McCann to take psychiatric treatment.

McCann, arrested last Feb. 21 at his home in Millbrae, pleaded guilty Oct. 11 to two counts of the misbehavior in Sausalito and San Rafael in the summer of 1965.

Benny To Join Symphony Tonight

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Violinist Jack Benny and the San Francisco symphony orchestra are featured performers tonight in the Governor's inaugural concert.

Benny, the veteran comedian, is an expert violinist but affects not to be in his act. He's scheduled to solo in the 8:30 p.m. performance.

The major events of Gov. Ronald Reagan's inauguration week come on Thursday, including the 11 a.m. public inaugural ceremony on the west steps of the Capitol and the 9:30 p.m. inaugural ball.

Time Served Sentence Given

Dennis Allen Thomas, 20, was sentenced to time already served in county jail yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Thomas, of 322 D Street, San Rafael, originally was charged with felony possession of marijuana and narcotics on April 7 after sheriff's officers halted his car on Highway 101.

Thomas first pleaded guilty, then changed his plea to innocent, but on Dec. 12 re-entered the guilty plea.

Meeting Postponed

The Marin Assn. of School Administrators' meeting, usually held on the first Wednesday of each month, has been indefinitely postponed, County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis announced today.

Racer Don Campbell Believed Dead After Explosion

CONISTON, England (AP) — Donald Malcolm Campbell, who flirted with death on land and water, vanished and was given up for dead today when his jet hydroplane boat, Bluebird, somersaulted and sank racing about 200 miles an hour on Lake Coniston.

Shore witnesses said there appeared to be an explosion and "Campbell must be considered killed."

Wreckage of the boat and parts of Campbell's clothing — including his oxygen mask — were found but there was no sign of the 45-year-old racer.

Friends said Cambell had a premonition that he would be killed in talking with them last night.

His last words radioed from his speedcraft were:

"I'm giving her full power. I can't see much. I'm going."

Campbell, who was out to break his own record of 276 miles an hour, was strapped in the Bluebird.

He had made one run up the lake and was making a return run when the boat struck disaster.

While playing cards with friends on the eve of his record attempt he turned up the ace of spades followed by the queen of spades and remarked:

"Mary, Queen of Scots, turned up the same combination of cards and knew from it that she was going to be beheaded. I know that one of my family is going to get the cop. I pray to God it is not me."

Campbell appeared in a cheerful mood this morning, however, as he got set for his record attempt.

He was the son of Sir Malcolm Campbell, who gained fame in the 1930s for his racing exploits on land and water. The younger Campbell took pride in being known as one of the "fanatical Campbells."

Shore observers said that Campbell's last words "I'm going" could have meant that he sensed disaster or that he was going all out in trying for the record.

An explosion was reported as the boat went down.

Wreckage strewed the surface but there was no sign of Campbell.

Campbell's shoes, helmet, and oxygen mask were recovered.

Frogmen were called in an attempt to find Campbell, who was strapped in the boat.

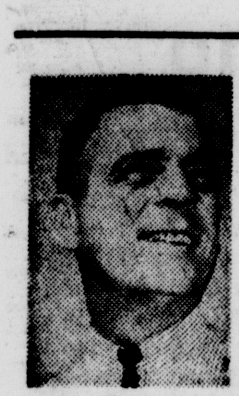
Leo Villa, a lifelong friend of the racer, was the first on the scene and picked up parts of Campbell's clothing but by the time he got there the boat had sunk.

A witness on the shore said:

"The boat appeared to become airborne before somersaulting. A rescue boat circled the spot but appeared to find no sign of life.

"As the boat hit the water there appeared to be an explosion," the eyewitness said.

A Dismal Day For Marin County Prep Cagers



ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Reg Carolan Is The Best-Paid Substitute Teacher In County

JACKPOT—I know a substitute teacher in Marin County who has earned $5,308.39 already this year. And in a week-and-a-half he'll increase his earnings for 1967 to either $12,808.39 or $20,308.39.

No, teachers' salaries aren't that good. It's just that my teacher friend, Reg Carolan, also happens to play football for the Kansas City Chiefs and has earned the privilege of playing in the Jan. 15 Super Bowl at Los Angeles Coliseum.

BY WINNING the American Football League title last Sunday each Kansas City player earned $5,308.39. In the upcoming Super Bowl against the National League champion Green Bay Packers each member of the winning team will get a $15,000 bonanza while each loser will get $7,500.

So, you see Prof. Carolan, who teaches in this county when he isn't busy footballing, should be a soft touch when he returns to the Bounty County later this month.

A RESERVE tight end, Carolan didn't get much opportunity to play during the regular season but he was ready, willing and able to do his share Sunday when first string tight end Fred Arbanas injured his shoulder.

It was Reg's big chance of his pro career, getting in a championship game on National TV. I think I saw only one pass thrown in his direction, which a Buffalo player knocked down, but the former Drake High School Super Star was busy in other departments, blocking for teammates Mike Garrett, Len Dawson et al. Big Reg also played on punting situations, and his No. 80 jersey could be seen on TV screens all across the land.

CAROLAN ALSO made a beautiful exit at the conclusion of the game. When players lifted the team's star quarterback to their shoulders for the traditional championship ride to the dressing room, big Reg trotted up in back of him and gave him a couple of congratulatory pats on the anny-fay. Beautiful, Reg, beautiful.

CAROLAN MAY see some action in the Super Bowl if Arbanas' shoulder doesn't heal, but even if the teacher has to warm the bench for the whole game, it will be worth it.

LOCAL ANGLE—Marin County visitors to the San Mateo Auto and Boat Show tomorrow through Sunday should be on the lookout for three San Rafael entries.

Frank Volta will enter his minibike and go-cart. The former, a 1960 Caper cycle, was completely rebuilt and redesigned, is in chrome and red with a "flea" gas tank and features continental fenders and a two-cycle engine, according to show publicist Warren Wynkoop, who sounds like an entry himself. The minibike sports a Honda tail and a bicycle luggage rack.

VOLTA'S GO-KART also was rebuilt and has an FKE fiberglass body, six-inch wheels, butterfly steering wheel and disc brakes. The upholstery is green, metalflake naugahydes and the exterior is metallic green and gold.

BOBBY WILSON, also of San Rafael, will enter a Bonneville T-120 Triumph motorcycle, a 1964 turquoise custom street job that has a complete, chopped and filled frame, specially-formed diamond tuft seat and Harley Sportster fuel tank. A dazzler, it is completely chromed and painted with crushed glass.

St. Mary's Five Falls To Loyola

RICHMOND (AP) — Invading Loyola of New Orleans, led by Barry Gerhehty and Charley Powell, downed a fighting St. Mary's basketball team 76-71 last night at Richmond Memorial Auditorium.

The Gaels made it a close game and trailed the Wolfpack by only two points with 1:30 to go. The score was Loyola 34, St. Mary's 32 at halftime.

Gerhehty and Powell, a sophomore from Baton Rouge, each scored 23 points for the winners. Gerhehty also got 16 rebounds.

Jerry West entered the game in the second quarter and scored 19 points for St. Mary's. His teammate Joe Callaghan, who played only the second half, was runnerup with 15.

Frosh Basketball

San Rafael High School's frosh basketball team downed the Terra Linda frosh, 32-25, for its sixth practice win against one loss. Bruce D'Ambra with eight points and Jim Wade and Kris Bonner with six points each led the Bulldogs.

HARDY BOYS AND GIRLS—The first group of a brave pack of swimmers and skiers brave the 41-degree waters of Bel-Marin Lagoon along with a melancholy dog as they celebrate 1967 and the first Bel-Marin Yacht Club "Icicle Day" on New Year's Day.

(Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Happy--Brrr--New Year

And a brisk top of the new year to you, too.

Bel-Marin water skiers and swimmers started the New Year off with a big, cold splash by celebrating their annual "Icycle Day" on New Year's Day.

Hardy guests and residents of the Bel-Marin Keys opened 1967 by jumping into the lagoon.

All the brave young and old swimmers received embroidered shoulder patches emblazoned with icicles.

The event was sponsored by the Bel-Marin Yacht Club.

Fifty-eight swimmers braved the 41-degree water, according to committee chairman Robert Buetzow. The icicle winners ranged in ages from six to sixty.

Participating guests included Stan and Norman Faria, Robert, Kenneth and Henry Abbadie and William Barradas, all from San Leandro and all members of the Golden Gate Ski Club and Robert Lindsey of Fairfax.

Bel-Marin adult swimmers and skiers were Archie Austin, Fred N. Wills, Charles Oliver, Mrs. Trugard Browne, Donald Wiffin, Colin and Gloria Kosock, James T and Betty Zoeller, Robert and Tommy Buetzow, W. R.Browne, N. A. Wiffin, and Delmar P. Dabney.

Also Daphne Jewell, Stephen Jewell, Nick Williams, Susie Walker, Bill Roberts, Bill Weiss, Mark Ochiziger, Frank Walpoc, Mike Telegin, Greg Valentine, Tim Telegin, Chrisie Sarganis, Jeff Henricks and Linda Lee Henricks.

Ski and patrol boats were provided by Carl Boivie, Bill Fries, and Bill Weiss. Roy Hosking skippered the Weiss boat.

Icicle committeemen were Colin Kosock, Patricia Boivie, Phyllis Hosking, Mrs. Robert Buetzow, Norma Wandt, Carl Wandt, and W. E. Browne.

12 Raiders Named For All-Star Tilt

OAKLAND (AP)—John Rauch of Oakland, coach of the West squad for the Jan. 21 American Football League All-Star game, named a dozen members of his Raider team to the club today.

West faces the East in the AFL battle at Oakland's new Coliseum Stadium on Jan. 21.

Eight of those picked by Rauch were automatically members of the squad because of their selections in the All League aggregation chosen by the players. In addition, Rauch chose quarterback Tom Flores, linebacker Dan Connors, defensive end Ike Lassiter and fullback Hewitt Dixon.

Automatic selections to the 33-player squad were offensive halfback Clem Daniels, split end Art Powell, offensive guard Wayne Hawkins, center Jim Otto, defensive tackle Tom Keating, defensive end Ben Davidson and defensive backs Kent McCloughan and Dave Grayson.

Other members of the squad will be named later, and include players from the champion Kansas City City Chiefs who meet Green Bay in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles on Jan. 15.

EX-TAM STAR COLLETT SIGNS 49ER CONTRACT

Elmer Collett, former Tamalpais High School star from Mill Valley and a standout guard at San Francisco State College, was signed to a contract by the San Francisco 49ers yesterday.

Collett, an All-Far Western Conference guard for two straight years, was drafted by the 49ers as a redshirt in 1965 in the 15th round.

Collett is a son of Elmer Collett, a U.S. attorney who serves as chief federal prosecutor. The senior Collett was a member of the 1924 Olympic Water Polo team.

Collett was the third redshirt to be signed by the 49ers. Also signed and sealed were Don Parker, Virginia guard, and Kentucky end Bob Windsor.

For Sale: One Used Pro Basketball Team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ben Kerner, one of two individual owners of a National Basketball Association club, says he's putting his St. Louis Hawks on sale.

An attorney for Kerner made the announcement yesterday at a news conference which the 50-year-old owner did not attend. Kerner suffers from arthritis and his health was given as a primary reason for the decision.

"The operation of a team in the NBA now demands more than just one man," said Michael J. Aubuchon, the attorney for the club. Aubuchon denied that falling attendance precipitated Kerner's decision.

"There has been a profit every year since the club moved here in 1955. Last year the Hawks made a profit of $243,975 and a comparable profit is expected this season," said Aubuchon.

Kerner wants local interests to buy the club, said the attorney, but is willing to discuss reasonable offers from any city. He said the price for the second-place Hawks, who trail the San Francisco Warriors in the Western Division, was a matter for negotiation.

The Hawks, who have won five divisional championships and one league title, have been in St. Louis since 1955.

Kerner reportedly has been unhappy that the city has not helped provide the club with an adequate new arena and has been unwilling to grant to the Hawks the consideration given the NFL St. Louis Cardinals, whose new stadium is part of an urban renewal program downtown.

But, said Aubuchon, "we want to state categorically that no definite offers have been received from anyone, in any city, including St. Louis, for the relocation of the club.

"Nor are we evolving or instituting any definite plan for relocation under the present ownership," he added.

Ow! Four Games And Four Losses

It was a bad day for Marin Athletic League basketballers yesterday afternoon as four cage squads trekked to enemy courts, and each returned feeling the lumps of defeat.

Defending MCAL champ Drake, fresh off an amazing 55-48 upset win over AAA League favorite Poly (S.F.), lost out to Santa Rosa 38-57; Vallejo trimmed Terra Linda 65-52; San Rafael's hoopsters were stunned by powerful Petaluma 81-69; and El Molino of Forestville stopped Novato, 73-56.

Santa Rosa, figured to repeat as champions of the North Bay League, exploded for 20 points in the first period to double the Pirate point-production. The Drake quint rushed to narrow the gap 22-26 at the half, but after an even third stanza its offense collapsed completely and the home team surged 18-4 to put it on ice.

Karl Stein with 13 points and Chet Carlisle, who slipped a few notches from his 15.7 average, with 10 points, paced the Drake cagers as they dropped to a 5-4 non-league record. Center Jerry Sprout chipped in with 5 points and had 8 of Drake's 22 rebounds.

It was the biggest margin Drake has lost by this season; the previous high point-spread was 9 at the hands of Balboa (S.F.) in the Drake Invitational Tournament.

The outcome of the Terra Linda-Vallejo tilt shouldn't come as a shock to the prognosticators, but the Trojans stayed surprisingly close behind the shooting of Fred Smith and Steve Congdon who pumped in 13 and 11 points respectively.

Vallejo built up a 30-23 edge at intermission, then slowly pulled away from the Trojans in spite of their full-court zone-press tactics.

Terra Lindan Paul Lee, a fine marksman who had converted 50 per cent of his attempts from the field (32x76 for an 11.0 average) until yesterday, contributed nine points for the Trojans whose practice record now stands at 3-7.

Vallejo's Fred Manuel topped all scorers with 16. And Vallejo had the edge percentage-wise from the field, 44-39.

Behind Mike Donahoo's 27 hard-earned points including 12 field goals, San Rafael's Bulldogs were no doubt game. But with Drake Invitational All-Tourney selection Jim Rudolph going for 34 points, all but seven of them in the first half, the Petalumans turned it into a rout as they zoomed to an unsurmountable 54-38 halftime advantage.

Roger Widmer's 15 points, Dave Smith's 22 and Chip Tyson's 11 rounded out the bulk of the Bulldogs' scoring, while Bob Hatfield and Tom Nelson were next in line for Petaluma with 14 and 13 in order.

Novato's Hornets trailed just 14-15 in the early stages of action but were victimized by a 17-26 second quarter spurt by the El Molino quint and never regained their full momentum after playing the host team on an even 19-19 keel after the first half.

Novato, a team which has not one returning starter, was paced by John Howard and center Tom Herrnberger with 13 apiece, the latter also grabbing 8 of his team's 32 rebounds.

The Hornets won the battle of percentage from the field, 44-38, but El Molino cashed 23 of 32 free throws for 71 per cent. Novato had 38 per cent from the charity line, (10x26).

Tim Costello of El Molino tallied 29 markers, 11 through the courtesy of free throws, to win high scoring honors.

Celts Beat Warriors In Overtime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors take a bead on the improving Los Angeles Lakers tomorrow night in Oakland hoping to overcome a Tuesday night National Basketball Association loss to the Boston Celtics.

The Warriors dropped the game in overtime 126-121 despite the return of injured superstar Rick Barry to play, who led the losers with 31 points. Observers said his hurt ankles looked fine.

The Celtics now have a 28-9 season record and are 4-0 this year over San Francisco. The win enabled the Celtics to keep pace with the Philadelphia 76ers who won against New York.

The Celtics were led to victory by the shooting of guard Sam Jones and the rebound and defensive play of center Bill Russell.

The Warriors had led all night going into the fourth quarter, then fell 10 points behind midway in the fourth quarter. Led by Tom Meschery, the Warriors caught up with 33 seconds left to put the score at 114-114 through regulation play.

Boston settled the matter by outscoring San Francisco 10 points to two in the first three minutes of overtime. The winners played keep-away for the remaining two minutes and the Warriors were unable to start up any offense of their own.

On Friday the Warriors return home to play the St. Louis Hawks, second in the Western Division. The Warriors now hold a six-game lead over the Western Division.

Rick Barry Still Tops NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Barry, San Francisco's hot-shooting sophomore, is the only player in the National Basketball Association to have passed the 1,000-point plateau this season but he is about to get some company.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain are on the 1,000 point threshold, figures released by the NBA showed today.

Barry led the league with 1,312 points through Sunday's games. Robertson was second with 953 and Chamberlain third at 928. Both should pass the 1,000 point mark this week with the Royals playing two games and the 76ers three.

Chamberlain, Barry and Chicago's Guy Rodgers led the other individual categories.

Chamberlain held fat margins in field goal percentage and rebounds. He was averaging .689 from the field with Willis Reed of New York second with .524. Chamberlain had grabbed 923 rebounds, 103 more than Nate Thurmond of San Francisco.

Barry's .891 free throw percentage put him in front of Adrian Smith of Cincinnati, who was shooting .888 from the foul line.

Rodgers led in assists with 467 to 347 for Robertson.

Kansas City Begins Drills For Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kansas City's champion Chiefs open practice in suburban Long Beach today for their Super Bowl battle Jan. 15 with the powerful Green Bay Packers.

The American Football League champs planned to arrive at Los Angeles International Airport at 10:30 a.m., then head to Long Beach for a 3 p.m. workout. All drills will be closed to public view.

The Chiefs were reported in good physical condition after their 31-7 victory over Buffalo Sunday for the American Football League crown.

The Packers, who won the National Football League title Sunday by whipping Dallas, 34-27, planned to work out in Wisconsin this week before heading west. The Packers are favored.

SATURDAY NIGHT MEET

Army Of Thinclads In Cow Palace Meet

More than 100 of the nation's finest trackmen, bolstered by the late entry of four outstanding runners, are set to go in Saturday's All American indorr track meet at the Cow Palace.

"This is the best field we've had in four years of a fine meet," claimed director Jim Terrill as he surveyed his entries. "It's an excellent mixture of world record breakers and national champs and the younger athletes who are the champs and record holders of tomorrow."

Latest additions to an already star-studded roster which is beginning to read like a Who's Who of track are two excellent long sprinters and a pair of talented middle distance men.

Jim Kemp of the 49ers has been added to the 440, replacing out-of-shape Mike Larrabee, and assumes the favorite's role. Kemp has blasted a 47.1 indoor relay leg already this winter and the 1965 NCAA quarter-mile king seems headed for his best year.

Another recordman will be in the 600. Ray Saddler, a big star at Castlemont High in Oakland and at Texas Southern, is American record holder in the indoor 440 at 47.6. The 1000 adds Jim Dupree, a veteran who has run 1:47.3 for the 880, while the mile gets Tom Von Ruden, who placed second in the NCAA for Oaklahoma State.

Also added is a team form the Athens Track Club of Oakland. Director Darrell Horn sends British Okympian Menzies Campbell in the 60 and 160 dashes, Tom Wyatt and Larry Livers in the hurdles, Al Biancani in the 160, and the four of them into the mile relay. In the relay they will tangle with Tommie Smith and Lee Evans of the favored San Jose State quarter, Stanford, Youth Village and UOP.

Terrill, already enthused over the talent he has lined up, was particularly pleased to note the new world record established by Bob Seagren last week. The meet director had predicted a new indoor vault record by either Seagren or Paul Wilson, the other half of the Heavenly Twins form the Univeristy of Southern California.

"We were thinking of something like 17-2 or 17-3 for Seagren," commented Terrill. "But now the sky is the limit. Even though he broke his own world mark Bob was terribly frustrated. He said he felt good for 17-7 and was disappointed in not making it.

"San Francisco is as good a place as any for Seagren and Wilson to continue their avowed assault on 18 feet. We have always had fine vaulting at the Cow Palace, including a world record in this meet last year by John Pennel."

Terrill prophesies two all-time indoor bests. He is absolutely certain either Randy Matson, the outdoor king, or Neal Steinhauer, and quite possibly both, will blast the shot put standard. And where he once felt there was a 50-50 chance in the vault he now feels it is approaching the sure thing category.

Tickets are available still in all prive ranges, from $3 to $6. They are available at the Cow Palace. Crane Box Office in San Francisco, Downtown Center Box Office in San Francisco, Ina Thrams (Sherman Clay) and Bay Ticket Office in Oakland, The San Jose Box Office, and Dixie Roberts (Sherman Clay) in Hayward.

Super Bowl Factor: Poise

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City may have super personnel, but the outcome of pro football's world championship game very likely could depend on how superbly the Chiefs match the Green Bay Packers in poise.

That's the opinion of Wally Lemm, one of only three active head coaches who have served in both the American and National Leagues.

Lemm coached the Houston Oilers of the AFL in 1961, then left for the NFL and four years with the St. Louis Cardinals before returning to the Oilers this past season.

"Kansas City has fine personnel, which many consider the finest personnel in pro football," Lemm said last night in a telephone conversation from his home in suburban Chicago.

"But Green Bay has the savvy — just like the old New York Yankees. They have that championship game experience. That's a definite advantage. If there's any real difference, that's it.

"A team like Green Bay isn't going to make many errors, and they're not going to choke up. When a team doesn't have that experience, like Kansas City, let something go wrong and they can lose their poise and have trouble."

The Packers, who meet the Chiefs in Los Angeles Jan. 15 in the first meeting between the two leagues, have won four NFL titles in the past six years and have played in five title games in the past seven seasons.

The Chiefs, on the other hand, have only two championship games on their side, both of which they won.

Aside from those facts, Lemm doesn't see much difference between the Super Bowl teams.

"Kansas City has wonderful size," he said, "good speed, a good quarterback in Len Dawson, great running in Mike Garrett and great receivers in Otis Taylor and Chris Burford.

"Kansas City's offensive line is tremendously big. Whether it's any better than Green Bay's is open to conjecture, but they have tremendous size.

"Green Bay has an excellent defense, which has proven itself over a number of years. Kansas City has a good defense, but whether it has the fluidity of having been together for a long time I don't know.

Both teams have good front fours, good linebackers and good secondaries."

Lemm scoffs at the rap against Dawson that he can't be very good because he didn't make it with Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the NFL.

"That's so much baloney," he said. "He never got a chance to make it in the NFL. That's one of the biggest fallacies when it comes to comparing the two leagues. There're a lot of quarterbacks in the NFL who didn't make it with one team and who made it with another."

Asked to compare Dawson and the Packers' Bart Starr, Lemm said:

"It's hard to rate them. They're different. They're both exceptionally good passers. But again Starr has the championship game ability.

"If Kansas City can keep its poise and not choke up because of the size of the game, which Green Bay won't do, it will be a real good game."

So who's going to win, Wally?

"Don't ask me. It's going to be hard for anyone to pick a winner."

Duke Coach Suspends Nine Of His Cagers

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — "It's a privilege, not a right to play college basketball."

That's now Duke Coach Vic Bubas summed up his feelings last night after telling newsmen he had just suspsnded nine players, four of them starters, for training violations.

His announcement preceded Duke's game with Penn State.

Despite the suspensions, Duke won 89-84 as Bob Verga, the only starter to survive Bubas' house-cleaning, scored 38 points, the second highest in his career. He had tallied 41 the week before, when Ohio State nipped Duke 83-82.

Bubas did not specify what training regulations were flouted, nor how long the suspensions would last, but said starters Mike Lewis, Bob Riedy, Dave Golden and Tim Kolodziej were "temporarily suspended," along with reserves Tony Barone, Warren Chapman, Ron Wendelin, Joe Kennedy and Jim Liccardo.

Bubas said he had conferred about the training situation with Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director, the night before the game, and then made up his mind the day of the game. He added:

"A position of leadership is a lonely one, and I have been lonely for the last couple of days."

The victory brought Duke's record to 5-4, the first time it has gone over the .500 mark this season, but Bubas said he would have made the same suspension decision at any point in the season.

Duke, having one of its worst years in several seasons, had only seven players in uniform for the game, and used six, including Bob Francis, who had never played for Duke before. He scored five points.

Two players who had never scored for Duke before were C. B. Claiborne with 13 points and Fred Lind with nine.

Bleachers For Tamalpais High Football Field

Installation of permanent bleachers on the west side of Tamalpais High School's new football and track field began last week, Principal Robert H. Prather said today.

Designed for 1,700 persons, they are being built by Beattie Industries of San Francisco at a cost of $20,170. The seats, of Alaskan Port Orford cedar, are supported by steel I-beams with tubular steel bracing.

The bleachers should be completed in about a week, Prather said.

Addition of temporary bleachers on the east side of the field will allow some varsity football afternoon games to be played at the school next fall instead of at College of Marin, he noted.

Giants Sign Oakland Boy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bernard Williams, 18, high schol and American Legion baseball star from Oakland, has been signed to a bonus contract by the San Francisco Giants.

Playing center field, Williams batted 3.59 in his senior year at St. Elizabeth's High School and .390 with the Oakland American Legion post team which won the national title last year. He bats right-handed and hit 31 home runs in high school and American Legion play last year.

Phils Sign Jim Gentile Just In Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have added controversial slugger Jim Gentile to their roster as a backup man for first baseman Bill White, injured in an off-season accident.

General manager John Quinn of the National League Phillies, announced yesterday that Gentile, 33, had been acquired from the Cleveland Indians' Portland farm club for a player to be named later or cash.

He said the deal was made for Gentile due to "the need to go into spring training with an experienced first baseman."

White, who drove in more than 100 runs and hit more than 20 homers last season, injured his ankle while playing handball in St. Louis Dec. 19. Doctors said he is expected to miss part or all of spring training this year.

Gentile, whose explosive bat often matches his volatile temper, was placed on the Phillies' San Diego farm club but will report to spring training with the Major League team, Quinn said. Quinn said this procedure was necessary because of roster committments.

The big first baseman slugged most of his 179 lifetime homers with the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Athletics in the American League.

Conference Play On Tap In West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Rene Herrerias of California says that if guards Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins continue to play as they have so far "we can stay with anybody."

He added later, however, that he hasn't yet started to worry about undefeated and top ranked UCLA since "we don't play them until Jan. 13."

Critchfield was named the Most Valuable Player in the holiday Rainbow Classic basketball tournament in Hawaii, and the surprising Bears have compiled a 7-2 record to date.

California draws Oregon State and Oregon as its foes at Berkeley on the opening of the Pacific-8 conference season friday and Saturday nights. The two play at Stanford in reverse order.

University of the Pacific and the University of San Francisco go into the West Coast Athletic Conference season in top roles with the the Tigers of UOP favored to repeat as titlists.

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Pacific's Dave Fox and Dennis Black of USF as the co-players-of-the-week for their play in the tournament which UOP captured with a 59-51 triumph over the San Franciscans.

Making up for last week when they didn't meet, the writers honored Santa Clara's Mike Gervasoni, the 5-9 guard who scored 21 points against Providence and 42 against Missouri.

After the meeting, Coach Phil Vukicevich of USF learned that senior guard Larry Blum had suffered a broken bone in his right hand during the tourney finale and would be out six weeks.

Only action in the WCAC on Friday finds Pepperdine at Loyola in Los Angeles. Saturday, it is UOP at St. Mary's USF at Santa Clara, and San Jose at UC Santa Barbara.

North Gridders Will Be Passing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — South Coach Otto Graham is being closed mouthed about his plans for Saturday's 18th annual Senior Bowl football classic as North Coach Norm Van Brocklin asserts his team will play a passing game.

Graham, of the Washington Redskins, didn't verbally indicate what his strategy would be, but yesterday's workout preparation appeared to be both in the air and on the ground.

Van Brocklin, of the Minnesota Vikings, said his squad "will definitely play a passing game" against the South.

One Senior Bowl official termed the North's practice as "one of the hardest workouts in at least 10 years here." The South squad worked on passing and running while emphasizing the old-fashioned draw up the middle.

Sidelined for the practice was Alabama's All-America end Ray Perkins who has signed a contract with the Baltimore Colts after catching nine passes for 159 yards against Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

In the North's workout most of the passes went from quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young to Chet Anderson of Minnesota. North Dakota's Corey Colehour pitched to Iowa State's Eppie Barney to set up another pass combination.

The four-man defensive from the South seems about set. Playing in this slot are North Carolina's Bo Wood and Louisiana State's Tommy Russell at ends; Gene Trosch of Miami of Florida and Baylor's Dwight Hood at tackle.

Georgia's All-America George Patton, Tennessee's Paul Naumoff, and Ken Avery of Southern Mississippi are the linebackers.

Both coaches admit there may be changes before the game.

San Diego Charger Coach Sid Gillman and six of his assistants watched the workouts. Gillman commented, "I like 'em all."

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Many Sturgeon Hooked, Missed; A Choice Recipe To Cook Them

STEVENS

I could be mistaken, but I have a strong hunch that more sturgeon have been hooked and lost and hooked and landed the past week than for any like period of time in the past several years. I talked with Hal Miller, skipper of the Phil Ray out of Rodeo yesterday, and was told that he boated four keepers and lost more than that. Hal also reported the boat Sunfish, working the waters near the Petaluma Creek mouth, landed nine of the big fish. Hal had a rewarding day on Thursday, I understand. Landed two sturgeon going 47 and 51 pounds.

Hal Boenner at Lee Anderson's reported that "Bud" Foster took one sturgeon of 40 pounds and one striped bass of 18 pounds.

I BELIEVE IT WAS last Thursday that Hal Miller boated two sturgeon and five stripers weighing between 15 and 20 pounds. All fish, bass as well as sturgeon, were taken on grass shrimp. Miller mentioned that while they were used for bait, no bass were taken on Bullheads.

BUT WHAT I really wanted to do today was to give, for the first time, a good recipe for fixing sturgeon for the table. So, read the following and enjoy a wonderful repast: (This is a dandy way to have a fresh sturgeon steak marinade.) Take a slice of sturgeon two inches thick; let it stand in hot water five minutes; drain, put it in a bowl and add a gill of vinegar, two teaspoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, a saltspoon of black pepper and the juice of half a lemon. Let this stand for about six hours, turning it occasionally. Drain and dry on a napkin; dip in egg; roll in bread crumbs and fry—or really boil—in very hot fat. Now beat up the yolks of two eggs, add a spoonful of French mustard and by degrees, half of the marinade, to make a smooth sauce to serve with the fish.

YOU MAY REMEMBER that just before Christmas I mentioned how the women of Orlando, Fla. had gone in for a course on safe handling, proper care of and the firing of firearms. Well a day or so after that column appeared, John L. Rothrock, chief instructor of a gun safety course conducted by the San Leandro Junior Optimists Club, called to announce that his group of instructors decided to launch a pilot course slanted only for the women in his area. A letter was sent to a large number of women calling attention to the proposed pilot course. The course will extend for 16 hours and the .22 caliber rifles (furnished by the club) will be used. The course embraces the Basic Marksmanship Course taught throughout the United States.

I NOTE in John's letter the expected restricted attendance for the women's course is stated as only 12 to 15 students. If the course proves as popular as did the Orlando course, when an estimated 1,500 women showed up to learn about guns and gun safety, Instructor Rothrock and his fellow instructors will have the unwanted chore of turning away a great many women.

It will be interesting to learn how popular this pilot course will be.

A gun safety course will get under way in several locales this month. I will try to pass along the information for Marin County and other locales in my next.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Small, Fast...Dangerous

(Last in a series on Marin Athletic League basketball prospects.)

By GARY TISCHLER

San Rafael is the type of basketball team you barely notice until after you're on the wrong end of the score.

There are no 6-6, 6-8 or even 6-4 giants wandering around. There is no one single man who will bomb in 30-footers all night.

But the Bulldogs are likely to run you to death, overwhelm you on sheer numbers and press you tighter than a book-marker on "War and Peace."

Although Coach Mike Diaz' charges have been in the doldrums lately, they have amassed a 6-5 record, which is not too bad for a team that was lightly regarded at the start.

Diaz has no stars, just supporting players. But three of the San Rafael cagers are averaging in double figures, with redheaded Chip Tyson topping the list at 12.4, followed by Rich Schau at 11.5 and Mike Donahoo, a part-time starter, at 10.2.

Schau and Roger Widmer will have to be the cogs in Diaz' plans for a full-court press and fast break. They are both smooth ball-handlers, tenacious on defense and good shots.

Tyson, at 6-2, plays the pivot along with John Farrar, a 6-3 shot-maker. Donahoo will spot start at forward along with Dave Smith and Paul Leete. Sam Crowell comes in at guard to spot either Schau or Widmer. Smith at 6-3 is the tallest of the lot in a small-sized crew.

Defense, with the exception of the Montgomery game, has been San Rafael's forte so far.

"I think we'll pick up our early season form again once league play starts," Diaz said. "We had a letdown after that tournament, but I think we can get back right where we started from."

That early season form included a surprising 66-49 rout of highly-touted Santa Rosa and a four-game win streak, including three straight victories at the Healdsburg Invitational Tournament which the Bulldogs won with remarkable ease. They took apart the host team in the finals, 80-60, for the tournament trophy.

But right after that they went into a three-game tailspin culminating in a sorry game against Montgomery in which nothing much went right.

"It seems as though everybody has a shot at the title," Diaz said of the Marin County Athletic League race. "I think we have a good chance."

Like their light-weight football counterparts, the short but surprising Bulldogs may do some surprising things during the coming season.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Year's Resolution Might Be Kindness To The Opponents

There is still time to make a resolution for the New Year: Be generous to your opponents.

Give them a trick they don't expect to win.

Opening lead — ♣ K

If you played this sort of hand last year you ruffed the second club, drew trumps and tried to develop the spades.

East got in with a high spade to lead the queen of diamonds through your king.

The defenders got one club, one spade and two diamonds, defeating your contract.

YOU'RE MODEST

Of course you gloated quietly and modestly about this triumph because the opponents could have made a slam in diamonds or clubs if you hadn't shut them out by bidding four hearts.

This looks very generous, but it is really just an exchange of tricks.

You have given up a club trick instead of a spade. A little string is tied to your gift.

If West leads a trump at the third trick (his best defense), you win, take the ace of spades and ruff a spade.

You lead a trump to dummy's nine to ruff another spade and lead another trump to dummy's ten to ruff still another spade.

By this time dummy's last spade is good. You lead a trump to dummy's ace and throw a diamond on that good spade.

Now you lose only one diamond trick, and you therefore make four hearts.

A good way to start the year.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ J 10 9 6

♦ A 9 8 4
♣ A K 9 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. You have 12 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton, eonugh for an opening bid — particularly since your high-card structure is excellent. With three four-card suits, open with the suit beneath the singleton.

Togetherness Goes All The Way To Hospital

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Togetherness is the word that best describes the families of Barney Cecil and Al Wohlleb.

They first lived side by side in one neighborhood for five years.

The Cecils then bought a lot in a new subdivision and the Wohllebs moved next door.

Later, Wohlleb moved his bakery to a new location and Cecil followed, opening an adjoining real estate office.

Recently, Cecil was hospitalized with a mild heart attack. A short time later Wohlleb showed up for minor surgery.

The hospital placed them in the same room in neighboring beds.

They also had the same doctor.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 4, the fourth day of 1967 with 361 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and the new stage. The morning stars are Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the law of gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed history's first appendectomy. The patient made a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T. S. Eliot died at the age of 76.

A Thought for the Day — Poet Carl Sandburg said: "Sometimes an expert is only a damned fool a long way from home."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

A Closer Look At Super Plane Contract

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards. President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

Despite years of work on how to eliminate the boom that accompanies the smashing of the sound barrier, the problem remains. The supersonic, if it were used on domestic flights, would shake up millions of people and send shivers through hundreds of square miles of landscape.

A question, then, that conservative members of Congress will be asking is whether the nation should commit enormous sums of money to build this craft while also pushing a costly space program and a war in Vietnam.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

Present indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount —a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its take off city at subsonic speed, reaching sound-breaking speed out over the ocean.

If the Boeing supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of an nusiance.

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demands of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Three other nations are involved in building supersonics: the Soviet Union, Britain and France. American companies already have signed contracts to buy the supersonic Concorde, a product of a French-British alliance.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Fit Your Stocks To Personal Needs

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My husband is 60 years old and I am 50. We have accumlated $9,000 in cash, own our home and have no debts outstanding. Recently my husband retired and began to draw a good pension. I still work so we don't need this money right now. Are we too old to start investing?"

L.M.

A. Most certainly not. In my opinion, there is never any question of being either too old or too young to invest. Rather, it is a matter of fitting the right type of investment to each person's particular needs. You and your husband are in good financial shape, and I see nothing to prevent you from buying sound stocks where the risks of ownership are fairly low.

There are available a number of strong issues, which offer a moderate yield and have good growth potential. Commonwealth Edison and Corn Products are two such stocks that I like and recommend to you. I would put half my funds into these shares and the balance into a savings account.

Q. "I'm confused. Many people have sold stocks short expecting prices to decline, but I hear that this is in itself a bullish sign. Would you be willing to comment on this?"

J.C.

A. Short selling is a timely subject and I'm glad to comment. Basically, the argument runs like this: Any trader having shorts outstanding must eventually cover his position. Therefore, he is a potential buyer of stocks. Since most short selling is done after a decline is well under way, it follows that the overall short position will usually be largest at or close to market bottoms. As a result, the reservoir of purchasing power builds up at the lower limits of a significant move, and when the outlook brightens — as it always does — the normal upswing will be accelerated by the frantic covering of the bears who waited a little too long.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Anselmo's Cycle Town To Move To Larger Quarters

Moving to larger quarters sometimes this month will be Cycle Town, now at 116 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

Owner William Verbiscio needs more room for his motorbikes, Yamaha, B.S.A., Montesa and Taco Minibikes — for this is a business that has grown just as rapidly in Marin County as elsewhere.

He's moving to San Rafael and getting twice as much space (4,500 square feet), including a separate service department, at 933 Francisco Boulevard, which he has leased through Mock Associates.

This is the building formerly occupied by Marin Surplus. Magic Carpet Co. is moving in here and Verbiscio has taken all the space that's left.

ANOTHER BUSINESS that has recently acquired more area, improved its facilities — but still remains at the same location as before — is the Fairfax Veterinary Clinic at 2084 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Veterinarian Dr. P. J. McDermott has bought the building here and enlarged his quarters for both cats and dogs. And since these two are notoriously noncompatible, even when they have plenty of space, he has separate front doors for each, as well as separate operating rooms and separated convalescent and boarding accommodations.

It must be, too, that either the room service here is very good — or else there is particularly good soundproofing. I don't seem to hear many complaints from the patients from out of the back rooms.

SOMETIME THIS YEAR — possibly this spring — Page Construction Co. in Novato has plans for a sub-contractor's center.

This will be developed at 834 Vallejo Avenue where Page moved last August into a 5,200 square foot building the company had purchased, next to some leased property it also occupied for warehousing.

Proposal is to add a second story of 3,500 square feet and move the construction offices upstairs. The downstairs will then be converted into the "center" where small subs in the Novato area who ordinarily work out of their homes can have desk space, telephone answering service and the use of plans and specifications rooms.

All this in preparation for a surge in building activity which Novato apparently expects to have during 1967.

PBX ANSWERING SERVICE at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael, has been sold by Barbara Evans to Mrs. Alberta Damas, who lives in Sausalito. She has already taken possession of the operation.

The transaction was handled by young Mervyn Attell of Gallagher-Sturiale Realty.

CORRECTION. The San Rafael manager of Morris Plan Co. who was recently elected assistant secretary of the company is Jakob J. Meinders — not John H., as contained in this column last week.

INSURANCE AWARDS. Alfred Weiss of San Rafael received a "Scroll of Generosity" from Hearthstone Insurance Co. of Massachusetts for selling a record number of new policies during a drive to earn a basket of food for a distressed family at Christmas . . . Robert L. Johnson of Larkspur has received Metropolitan Life's designation as a "Metropolitan Millionaire" for 1966.

Market Finishes Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a late rally and closed higher today.

Trading was active in the closing minutes as prices recovered from a slow slide.

The late recovery was said to be mainly technical.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.8 million shares compared with 6.11 million yesterday. Leading issues lost from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The market was irregular at the start then showed a lower trend which showed a consistent although slight loss on average as trading wore on.

Among wider declines, IBM dropped 5, Sprague Electric almost 4 and Continental Airlines nearly 3.

Losses of about two points were shown by some of the airlines, including United, Northwest and National.

Also down about 2 were Raytheon and Collins Radio.

Chrysler held a gain exceeding a point. General Motors was almost a point lower.

Boeing sagged more than a point, virtually wiping out yesterday's gain on news it had been chosen to develop the supersonic air transport.

General Electric was a fractional gainer along with Union Carbide, Du Pont, U.S. Steel, Royal Dutch and Lockheed.

Gulf & Western, down a point, looked like the volume leader.

Off a point or more were Texas Gulf Sulphur, SCM, International Nickel, Pennsylvania Railroad and City Investing.

Libby Resigns His Business Bureau Post

Vernon A. Libby of Fairfax, who last September retired as general manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau but remained as management consultant, has now completely retired from the organization.

Libby, who relinquished his posts of executive vice president and general manager due to ill health, had been with the San Francisco bureau since 1955.

His retirement was announced by David N. Plant, president, who paid tribute to Libby for his 12 years of service to the organization and to the business and professional communities.

Libby, a graduate of Brown University, is vice chairman of the board of managers of the San Francisco Central Branch of the YMCA, a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and for years has been active in the San Francisco Advertising Club, Rotary Club, Golden Gate Breakfast Club, and Press Club.

The Better Business Bureau's new general manager is Charles R. Thurber of Terra Linda.

Christmas Seal X-Ray Unit Makes Debut

OAKLAND (UPI) — A new $70,000 "Christmas Seal Chestmobile," the first of its kind in the nation, went into service here yesterday and will remain at 30th and Broadway for the next two weeks.

The chestmobile is a 40-foot aluminum trailer costing $30,000 and carrying equipment costing $40,000, all paid for by Christmas Seal funds.

Subway Rites Set

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will hold ground-breaking ceremonies Friday morning at 19th and Broadway for the start of subway and underground construction here, mostly beneath Broadway.

Reed Trustees Extend Filing For Vacancy

The deadline for applications for a Reed School District trustee vacancy was extended to Jan. 13 by district board last night. Only one application has been received so far, the board learned.

Trustees found it sad news that a house count survey showed the district does not quite qualify for state school building aid, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington.

Edgington said today if any new school is needed in the near future, a bond issue will be required to finance it. He said a building and finance study committee will meet tomorrow night to discuss the matter.

Trustees talked about the advanced planning budget and decided to add one more bus and increase provisions for operation and maintenance.

Granada School activities were reviewed by Principal John C. Fitch and the school's team leaders. Trustees discussed the inflexibility of personnel in the teaching clusters and expressed the desire to have the curriculum be more "individualized."

Coeds Pleading Cooking Cause

STANFOR D(AP)—A group of coeds contended yesterday that the Stanford University administration was keeping them from learning to cook.

Janice Howell, spokesman for the Women's Committee for Equal Rights, said the university refuses to let women live off campus and that dormitories have inadequate cooking facilities.

Miss Howell said females planned to protest at a day-long rally in conjunction with registration today and not to pay room and board bills until the last possible day, Jan. 17.

Male students at Stanford are allowed to live off campus — which may be part of the trouble.

"My boyfriend is a better cook than I am," said Miss Howell.

Hiker Rescued From Mountain

RENO (AP)—A fallen hiker, pinned on a mountain ledge by a 150-pound boulder, was found by a search party last night.

His rescuers transported Frank Hill, 17, of Reno, from the slopes of Peavine Mountain, northwest of Reno, to Washoe County Medical Center.

Hill's leg was being X-rayed for a possible fracture. Otherwise, his condition was reported as good.

Stray Robot Flies Over Cuban Soil

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An unarmed missile was accidentally fired over Cuba today from a U.S. air base in Florida. The Pentagon, disclosing the accident, said the missile was not armed with explosives and presumably landed harmlessly in the ocean 100 miles south of the Cuba coast at 11:21 a.m. EST.

But officials said an hour after the presumed landing that this had not been verified.

The robot, research missile, one of the oldest types in the U.S. arsenal, was inadvertently fired from Elgin Air Force Base near Valparaiso, Fla., the Pentagon said.

The missile, called the Mace, is 45 feet long and has 23-foot-long wings. It is an air-breather, and thus has been outdated by missiles using liquid and solid fuels which need no air intake.

The Pentagon said the missile was being used in a research test. It took off on an unprogrammed course that would cause an impact about 100 miles south of the southwest coast of Cuba, the announcement said.

Although the Mace is regarded as generally obsolete, the United States still has one squadron of them on Okinawa. They are powered by jet engines. In effect they are robot planes.

Water Directors Order Repairs

The North Marin County Water District board last night authorized three additions to the budget.

These are $600 to dig a ditch and install drainage pipe at the corporation yard, $1,500 for supplemental painting on the Sunset tank, and $100 for repair of an air conditioning intake in the office building.

The board authorized the purchase of a compact Dodge Dart at $2,169 from Nave Garage in Novato, the only bidder.

Medical Men Torpedo Fallacies About LSD

The alleged "virtues" of LSD (lysergic acid Diethylamide) have been widely publicized.

Some of those who claim to have taken "trips" and studied the effects of LSD would have us belive that it is not only harmless but also helpful. They see no need for restrictions on the use of LSD.

Now comes a member of the Marin Medical Society, who torpedoes some of this nonsense.

Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, writing in the December issue of the Medical Society Bulletin, warns of suicides, automobile accidents and mental aberrations that can be caused by the use of LSD.

How does LSD work and what does it do? The ordinary barrier between the conscious and the unconscious usually present in waking life is extinguished, and, as in a waking dream, all manner of unconscious thoughts, feelings, and memories also flood consciousness. Along with this goes a loss of discrimination between external and internal reality.

"As a result of this," Dr. Gutstadt points out, "the subject fails to be aware that his sensation of flying is only a sensation and that he therefore is not capable of walking out of a third story window into the air, or driving an automobile 30 feet above the highway."

In a guarded understatement, the doctor observes: "There seems to be much more evidence to controvert . . . the claims for the harmlessness of LSD."

For example, the experience of six psychiatrists practicing in Marin County revealed one known suicide, two acute paranoid psychotic episodes requiring hospitalization, and a rough estimate of at least 25 cases of adverse reaction to LSD seen at one hospital in the East Bay.

"The Chief Probation Officer of Marin County informs us that there were four admissions recently in one month to Juvenile Hall of juveniles under the influence of LSD," says Dr. Gutstadt. "There is no question but that these brief statistics do not start to tell the story."

From Los Angeles comes a similar report. Of 70 patients seen at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute in a six-month period for serious LSD reactions, more than half had become psychotic or neurotic or had developed character disorders. Symptoms included hallucinations, severe anxiety and depression, confusion, suicidal tendencies and paranoia.

It is fashionable now to discount the evils of marijuana. Likewise, it is considered "in" among high society, especially the young, to be more than casually acquainted with LSD.

But before you indulge in the latest fashion, it might be well to heed the warnings from responsible medical men on the dangers of LSD.

As you blithely step off a third floor window ledge and "float" through the air, you may be the height of fashion, but only for the brief instant it takes to hit reality—on the sidewalk below.

The Odorous Language Of Insects

The vocabulary of chemical odors used by insects as signals, protection devices and mating lures is believed to be one of the richest in the entire world of life. Man is only beginning to interpret this odd language. When he eventually masters it, it is conceivable that he might be able to tell the aphids, "Run away from this rose bush; it's full of aphid-eating ladybugs," just by dropping a drop of a certain chemical nearby.

Fantastic? Perhaps. The world is full of fantastic ideas come true.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan's Agriculture Choices Show Depth In Top Appointees

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—One by one, the posts of state government are being filled by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In filling them, Reagan is carrying out his expressed campaign statements to the effect that he would find men from the ranks of business and industry, well-qualified for the jobs to which they are appointed, to assist him in guiding the state through the next few years.

LATEST IN THE LIST of appointments are the names of Earl Coke, as director of agriculture, and Allan Grant, as president of the State Board of Agriculture.

Coke, 66, is a former assistant secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower administration, and resigns as president of Consolidated Agricultural Industries to become state director.

Grant is president of the State Farm Bureau, and a rancher in Tulare county. Both men have had wide experience in the problems confronting the agricultural industry of California, which, incidentally, is the largest single industry in the state despite the phenomenal growth of other forms of business, industry and manufacturing.

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT was one of the original departments of state government and as such, has maintained its place of importance in the governmental field throughout the years. One of its outstanding directors was the late George Hecke of Woodland, who brought the department to a level of service to agriculturists within the state unequalled in the nation.

Since the beginning of the department, its activities have been marked by co-operation not only with the federal government, but also with other states, and educational institutions in this and the rest of the nation to provide the latest and best information available to the farming community of California.

PROBLEMS ARE nothing new to the department of agriculture and the state board. In fact, that department faces them at all times as a matter of routine. Consequently, when Coke and Grant take over the department, they can expect to be confronted by problems which have been with the state for many years.

But new problems advance with the progress of civilization, the use of automation and with new methods of growing the food that supplies California and a great part of the nation with food and fiber.

For instance, it has been discovered that smog is responsible for heavy losses in agricultural crops. Here is a comparatively new problem upon which the department and other state agencies involved, must work.

AND AGAIN, there is the problem of developing new strains of fruits and vegetables to automated devices for harvesting. Here again, co-operation with other agencies is imperative.

While the department of agriculture has little to do with the farm labor situation, its influence can and is felt through study and recommendation. And farm labor no doubt today is one of the crucial matters in the agricultural industry.

In these key agricultural posts, Coke and Grant have a wide opportunity to work for the advancement of agriculture, and if they accomplish this work, the entire economy of California will benefit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Appreciation From Bay United Crusade

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In 1966, United Bay Area Crusade volunteers raised $14,014,890 for 176 voluntary agencies — an increase of $560,000 over last year.

This job, a vital one to our community, could not have been done without the outstanding support given our campaign by your newspaper. Through your columns, readers were informed of the great need that exists for United Crusade services and were made fully aware of this opportunity to give once for the benefit of all.

We are grateful, both for the generous donations from these citizens and for the fine cooperation of your newspaper.

Speaking for our 50,000 United Crusade volunteers — and for the million Bay Area residents who will be served in the coming year by United Crusade agencies — I say, "Thank you."

Taxpayer Resents Curtailing Carols

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," they say—and the recent Christmas carol fiasco at San Rafael High makes me even more convinced of it.

How, in the name of all that is logical, could anyone ever construe the singing of Christmas carols in the halls by a student choral-group on the day before the start of Xmas vacation as being a form of religious service? Yet that, it would seem from your reporting, is exactly what the school administrators and one of the "higher ups" in the office of the County Counsel did—and the caroling was canceled!

I really don't enjoy controversy and take little pleasure in criticizing the judgment of others—but this seemingly insignificant but, in my judgment, most revealing and important "faux pas" was just a bit too much for me to witness without protest.

Is this the kind of legal and administrative incompetence we can expect from our high-paid local officials? If it is, at least one more indignant and resentful taxpayer has now been added to the already large list of same.

Civil Liberties Union Explains Yule Stand

Editor, Independent-Journal:

My attention has been called to an editorial in the Dec. 24 issue of your paper entitled "Merry Christmas To All — ACLU, Anti-Carolers." It charges that the ACLU is "trying to kick Christ out of Christmas" because it has objected to religious symbols being placed on public property, and it claims that our reasoning would result in eliminating chapels and chaplain service on military bases, as well as religious markers on graves in military cemeteries.

Contrary to what the editorial suggests, the ACLU defends religious freedom and with it the right of Christians to observe Christmas as a religious holiday. At the same time, under the establishment clause of the First Amendment, as well as our State Constitution, we oppose the portrayal of Christmas by religious symbols on public property. After all, the Government is neutral as far as religion is concerned and it should not express a preference for any religion — Mohammedan, Buddhist, Black Muslim, Jewish, Christian, etc.

This does not mean that in State institutions and the military, where inmates and personnel do not have the normal access to churches, the Government may not provide a reasonable means of permitting them to engage in worship and other religious activities as they see fit. Neither do we find any objection to religious grave markers in military cemeteries which are provided as a special benefit to our military personnel.

The Government may not "aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another" by allowing Christmas symbols of a religious nature to be placed on public property. On the other hand, Americans may celebrate Christmas as a religious event in their own homes, churches and, generally, on private property. They may not involve the Government in a religious observance.

"It is proper to take alarm at the first experiment on our liberties," said James Madison in his great Remonstrance against religious assessments. "The freemen of America did not wait till usurped power had strengthened itself by exercise, and entangled the question in precedent. They saw all the consequences in the principle, and they avoided the consequences by denying the principle."

Religious conflict has been and can continue to be avoided in this country by separation of Church and State. That separation should be scrupulously maintained in the interest of true religious freedom.

Highway 101 Is The Big Problem

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I cannot allow your editorial comment to pass without reminding you that the "Aginers" represent the voice of the people, interested people and your readers.

You have taken the opportunity to voice a minority opinion in a fashion that would lead some to believe that the only solution to Marin development is an east-west route.

The east-west route would be a tragedy for it would, necessarily, create a tremendous traffic stream in to Highway 101, which is already congested.

I do not agree that commuters curse each morning while on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Cursing begins when they reach Highway 101.

I believe that the east-west development is a function of the ability of the central corridor communities to take care of their local problems and and that the development of a north-south artery on the western slopes of the Marin Peninsula to the Point Reyes/San Geronimo area is the real solution of the "free-way" problem. Such a route would receive present and future traffic by minimizing the east-west flow and not contributing to the present jam on 101.

Editorially, you should encourage the highway engineers to really look to the future and not limit their studies to the enlargement of present routes through small rural communities.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

NATHANIEL BENCHLEY, the man whose novel forms the basis of that wonderful movie, "The Russians Are Coming," has been doing a little research into the deal by which the Dutch bought the whole of Manhattan along about 1626 for the sum (still considered exorbitant by curmudgeons) of twenty-four dollars—in trinkets and firewater.

The Indians who sold the island did just fine for themselves—because they didn't own it. Peter Minuet's agents made their offer to a passel of Canarsees, in from Long Island to gander the 1626 equivalent of Radio City Music Hall, whereas the real owners were the Weckquaesgeek Indians, centered around what is now Washington Heights and the Bronx, and blissfully unaware until too late that their property was being sold right out from under them.

It turns out that the Canarsees were strictly small-time con men at that. The real sharpies were the Raritan Indians. They sold STATEN Island to the Dutch SIX consecutive times!

Demos May Play It Cautious During Coming Hill Season

By WALTER R. MEARS
(Marlowe is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—There's a slowdown sentiment among Democrats and it could help create a season of caution and reflection on Capital Hill.

Still in congressional command despite a stinging election setback, the Democrats themselves seem worried about the shape of the "Great Society" programs they produced for President Johnson.

ITS MOST explosive expression came Dec. 15, when 18 Democratic governors talked until midnight at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and agreed that the Great Society is moving too fast for the voters' taste.

They blamed anti-administration sentiment for the election returns which gave Republicans 47 new seats in the House, 3 in the Senate and 8 governorships.

"I think the programs are coming too fast, without proper crystallization and organization," said Gov. Otto Kierner of Illinois.

And complaints about the administration of Johnson-launched programs apparently dominated the President's 4½-hour talk with nine of the party's governors at the LBJ Ranch a week ago.

SENATE DEMOCRATIC Leader Mike Mansfield has harshly criticized the governors' political assault on Johnson. But Mansfield, too, is a member of the slowdown school.

He said his words of caution—in a letter to Senate committee chairmen—were not prompted by election day setbacks or by the governors' grumbling.

Mansfield said he had been uging for more than a year that Congress slow down and assess what it has done.

ON JAN. 7, just before the last session convened, Mansfield said Congress probably would face only a limited agenda of presidential requests, "because we passed so much legislation last session.

"It's time to stop, look and listen now," he said then. It didn't turn out that way.

Now Mansfield has offered the same message on the eve of the 90th Congress. He told the committee chairmen it should be a session of "dispassionate restudy" and a thorough, second-look at major domestic programs.

IT IS AGAINST this backdrop, and with a 90th Congress in which Republicans will have the House voting power to influence more significantly the shape and pace of legislation, that President Johnson is working now on his budget and his plans for the year ahead.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Dodd's Financing Is Causing Concerr

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — First order of business facing the Senate Ethics Committee in the impending new congressional session is what to do about investigating the political finances of Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn.

Authority to probe is being Vigorously challenged backstage by Dodd's attorney and several of the six-member committee.

It is contended this phase of Dodd's embattled affairs falls within the jurisdiction of the Senate Rules Committee — which conducted the sensational "Bobby" Baker investigation.

THAT'S FLATLY refuted by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution establishing the committee.

Cooper, a member of that committee as well as the Rules Committee, maintains the Ethics Committee has full authority to probe anything relating to senators, and cites as proof the debate on his resolution. He was asked this specific question by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and answered with an unequivocal affirmative. It was later approved.

While the committee has taken no formal action on this challenge, its staff has been compiling information on Dodd's finances. This was begun in the fall at the direction of Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, with the concurrence of Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, vice chairman.

THIS DATA WILL be available should the committee decide to proceed with the probe.

In that event backstage reports have hinted at possible court action against the committee. There are successful precedents for that. In a notable case years ago, then-Sen. Hugo Black, D-Ala., was blocked by the Supreme Court from poring over files and records he had seized in an investigation.

In the event of a court contest, the Senate's lengthy discussion of Cooper's resolution would be certain to play a key role.

Indicative of that is the emphasis Dodd's attorney put on this debate in his brief to the committee challenging its authority to explore Dodd's political finances. The lawyer repeatedly cites the Senate discussion in support of his position.

THERE IS ample ground for his doing that. A number of senators voiced their misgivings.

Foremost among them were Sen. Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill.; Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Labor Rackets Investigating Committee that conducted the sensational probes of Teamster boss Hoffa; Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., member of the Rules Committee and a leading liberal.

Senator McClellan, while stressing he was not against setting up an ethics committee, was sharply critical of the broad scope of Cooper's resolution.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Neil J. Brodsgar was elected president of the Marin County Real Estate Board.

Marin County supervisors adopted a resolution abandoning the county right of way and easement along the roadbed of White's Hill tunnel west of Fairfax, and instructed County Fire Chief Charles Reilley to seal off both entrances to the tunnel.

Martha Smith, assistant superintendent of Marin County Schools, resigned after a 55-year career in the schools of the county.

20 YEARS AGO

William R. and Charles T. Cook opened Cook's Plumbing and Hardware store in San Rafael.

Ground was broken for a $52,000 warehouse and retail stores building for Golden Gate Distributing Co. on West Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Fred Cairns of San Rafael proposed that San Rafael, San Anselmo, Ross, Fairfax, Larkspur and Corte Madera be consolidated into one city.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

I-J Article Beats Couple To Their New Saipan Home

The Independent - Journal's circulation blankets a greater area than we realized. When Mr. and Mrs. John G. Cooke of Belvedere arrived in Saipan this fall, the I-J article about their plans was already posted on the bulletin board of John's new office.

Cooke, an architect, was sent to Saipan to assist in site planning and architectural development for docks, hospitals and schools under the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Since nobody claimed the little red plastic telephone found in my desk three months ago, it was given away at Christmas to a child who lives in Hilarita Housing.

IT RODE AROUND on the dashboard in my little red car for a few days and almost looked like a color-keyed telephone that was "for real."

Two mysteries have unraveled this week. I learned at last our office phone does have a similar number to one used by the little old wine merchant around the corner. I pinned down a caller to finally explain why we keep getting orders for cases of wine and complaints that shipments of wine are not arriving on time!

A light has also dawned on why I want to call the I-J's Mill Valley reporter Peter Paulzell instead of Paul Peterzell. The names Peter and Paul have a connotation stemming from a well-known candy bar with coconut in mounded shapes covered with milk chocolate.

The new Main Street Merchants Assn. will have a tough problem to cope with if they plan future community parties at night. The tiny street of shops was warm and colorful and friendly on the Sunday Santa came to town on a boat and rode around on an elephant train.

With the same preparations for parking an policing, the party on the Twelfth Night before Christmas lacked warmth and color.

FOR ONE THING the weather was uncooperatively damp and cold that night. Some residents gathered around the Christmas tree at one end of the street to hear the Salvation Army band and to join in the drawing when it occurred. But Main Street needs different, more emphatic treatment at night.

More lights and decorations and shops open—maybe music at both ends of the street — would do for starters.

Better organization would, I hope, eliminate the unsporting activity of some merchants participating in their own drawing. It seemed unfair to their visitors and was certainly the reverse of good public relations.

Lynch Foresees Battle On Water

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Lynch says he foresees a legal battle between California and the Pacific Northwest states over surplus Columbia River basin water.

Lynch said yesterday that while the California Water Plan will pump two million acre-feet additional water a year into Southern California, the Los Angeles area soon will need other sources.

He called the fight for water a major California problem.

Lynch's comments came at oath-taking ceremonies in his office. Re-elected, he was the only Democrat voted to a statewide office last November.

Judge Schedules Extortion Trial

Jury trial for Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, charged with three counts of extortion and a fourth of attempted extortion, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of April 3. The trial is expected to take four days.

Mrs. Fritz, of 223 Redwood Drive, Ross, allegedly threatened exposure of intimacies with Joseph M. Walker, owner of Walker-Built Homes, Inc., Berkeley. Charge against a codefendant on the attempted extortion count, Henry Jacob Soderlind, 55, of 85 Poplar Avenue, Ross, was dismissed earlier because of insufficient evidence.

Upper House Decked Out In New Finery

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "So effective ... it's beautiful," a woman tourist exclaimed last last week as she caught her first view of California's ornate Senate chamber.

This week 22 new senators sat down in plush blue leather chairs at antique desks in the gas-lighted upper house.

They saw a room decked out in 19th - century finery, lighted by old-fashioned bulbs and gas jets and shuttered from 20th-century traffic noise and glare. Exclamations have been common among senators as well as visitors.

"They were a little astounded when they came in and saw it," a legislative aide said of the senators' first reaction after the room was redecorated two years ago.

The Senate Rules Committee decided to fix up the room and left much of the detail to Clarence D. Alexander, the committee's executive officer.

"I went to Desilu Studios and asked if they would help me," Alexander said. The studio recommended Robert Hanley, who supervised the $90,000 to $100,000 remodeling.

The result was a red carpet with California's blue and gold state seal woven in. The walls are rose and gold. The old desks, dark polished wood.

Alexander started work in the Capitol in 1948. He said he thought the Senate chamber with its slate gray walls and flourescent lighting "was the most bland - looking Senate I'd ever seen."

"The idea was to try to redecorate the Senate as it was when the Capitol was built 100 years ago," Alexander said.

His research included a trip to Virginia's House of Burgesses and a study of English Parliament, where the House of Lords, the upper house, is decorated in red.

Alexander said he wanted to try to fix up the Senate chamber long ago.

The rules committee decided two years ago to repair the wiring and replace worn carpeting. Alexander saw his chance and the committee approved the idea.

"I found we used pretty bold colors in the old days," Alexander said.

Some Capitol observers report the women's Assembly powder room equals the Senate chamber in luxury. The ladies' room, used last year by lone Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, now has two more eligible users — new Assemblywomen March K. Fong, D-Oakland, and Yvonne W. Braithwaite, D-Los Angeles.

But the red, blue and gold Senate remains open to all—visitors in the gallery and the 40 senators, their aides, guests and newsmen on the floor.

Suspended Jail Term On Fighting

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday gave Philip Craig Scott, 19, a suspended six months county jail term and placed both Scott and Edward Boon Green, 20, on a year's probation for obstructing sheriff's officers in an April 4 Marin City melee.

He also gave Scott, of 50 Cole Drive, Marin City, a concurrent suspended six months jail term for resisting a sheriff's officer in a June 17 fracas, also in Marin City.

A co-defendant, Daniel J. Hayden, 18, now in the Army in Colorado, still faces a felony assault charge in that matter. Judge Wilson scheduled plea entry by Hayden for Jan. 23.

Scott and Green, 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, were originally charged with felony battery on deputies April 4 after an estimated 100 Marin City youths and some 28 officers tangled during an attempt to arrest James Otis Ames, 17, Marin City, for allegedly chucking a rock at a sheriff's car. Ames' case has been returned to juvenile court.

Both Scott and Green pleaded guilty Nov. 14 to the misdeanor charge of obstructing an officer in his duties.

Scott also had faced a felony complaint in the June 17 incident, but pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor of resisting an officer last Oct. 31.

Crusade Nears Historic Mark

United Bay Area Crusade this month completes its first year of operation on a regional basis, and, according to UBAC President Nils Eklund, "we think our changes have proved themselves."

He noted that the crusade's fall campaign raised $14,014,890, 4.1 per cent more than raised the year before when all five counties in UBAC conducted separate campaigns.

He also said the crusade has been able to "make substantial economies in our operating expenses, reducing staff by combining responsibilities."
